The Conservative papers of Toronto, especially the Toronto World, show an anxiety, much to be commended, that the judges persist in the investigation of the municipal election frauds. The World demands the employment of more judges so that the investigation may continue without interruption caused by the demands of other judicial duties—an interruption which might facilitate the escape of the guilty. The Conservative papers are quite right in demanding thorough and full investigation by judges, and without explicitly expressing it, asserting that the judges are the proper medium of conducting such an investigation. They do not demand that the irregularities be investigated by a Committee of the City Council, but insist on having judges—as many as are necessary. In taking this position the Conservative journals only emphasize the insincerity and hypocricy of the attitude they assumed, now nearly, a year ago. In the matter of the charges made in the House on March 10th, 1903, these newspapers and the members of the House in political sympathy with them scoffed at the idea of a thorough investigation conducted by judges, a course that would permit of the most searching inquiry and lead to definite results. They demanded the reference of the charges to the Committee of Privileges and Elections—a partizan committee—which, under the party animus that would have full play, would make the investigation a bear garden scene—a perpetual scene of squable and recrimination—with the result that no result would be reached, except, perhaps, the rousing of partizan bitterness and some political capital for the party proposing such a reference. The demand of the Conservative press for investigation by judges in the Toronto scandal shows the absolute absurdity of their demand a year ago that the Gamey charges should be referred to a partizan committee of the House. The World, especially, knows the crookedness by which Conservative election methods in Toronto have been characterized and doubtless feels that reference of the investigation to a Committee of the City Council, would be only a farce.

There are certainly some uneasy Conservatives in Toronto over the revelations probable to result from the investigation into the civic election scandals For the second time an attempt is being made to block the proceedings If there were not some, and perhaps a good deal of dark guilt, there would not be this persistent endeavour to shut off the search light. This is not the attitude of conscious innocence of wrong doing. The investigation should go on So far only the stool pigeons have been trapped—the underlings. The big game is yet to be flushed.

THE GOVERNMENT DESERVES CREDIT.

Ontario Government Stands by the Soo.

Has Helped Out the Affairs of the Consolidated and Promises to Again.

The Sault Ste. Marie News commenting on the bill introduced by the Ontario Government to loan the "Soo" Company $2,000,000 says:—

"While the policy of The News has, for reasons that are obvious, been to refrain altogether from commenting on Canadian political questions, it still feels that it should give credit where credit is due, and is thus impelled to remark that the Ontario Government deserves an amount of credit for the manner in which it has stood by the "Soo" through the financial trouble which at present is and has been for months uppermost in the minds of the people of the Soo. It first came to the rescue of the employees and paid them wages that might otherwise have been still owing and at the same time removed from the town a grave danger of losing by reason of the men who might have become desperate, more than was the case, in being continually kept out of their pay; and now, according to despatches received from the city of Toronto, the legislature is about to assist the Algoma Central Railway company directly, and the other companies indirectly, by lending the railway a substantial sum of money with which to carry out the programme previously set and well begun.

The Government being in a position to do this with its own security established is doing what can be considered a great act of kindness to the people of the Soo and district, and while their acts in this connection may receive criticism from other parts of the province in the matter of their details they are in the main most satisfactory and acceptable here, and the people should not be backward in giving credit where credit is due."

AN APPEAL FOR BETTER CHEESE BOXES.

Those at Present Being Manufactured are Too Flimsy.

At the dairy conventions recently held. Mr. J. A. Ruddick, chief of the Dairy Division at Ottawa, made a strong appeal for better cheese boxes. Boxes are, said he, necessary to protect the cheese from injury in transportation, to facilitate their handling, and to permit their being piled several tiers deep in a warehouse without being crushed out of shape. Without the boxes the cheese could not be delivered in Great Britain in a presentable condition. Now, if it is desirable to have cheese in boxes at all it is surely important that the box should be strong enough to reach its destination in a sound condition. A great many shipments of cheese are landed on the other side with twenty five per cent of the boxes broken. Indeed, some reports from the inspectors show a large percentage. This simply means that one quarter of the money paid for the boxes has been spent to no purpose. And that is not all, for the broken boxes in a shipment, while detracting from the actual value of the cheese which they once contained, make the whole lot less attractive to a purchaser.

What are the reasons for this unsatisfactory state of affairs? In the first place we have increased the weight of our cheese and at the same time reduced the strength of the box by using thinner veneer and an inferior quality of elm. It is evident also that there are many box makers who have never properly learned their trade, as a large proportion of the boxes is only half put together.

The increasing cost and scarcity of elm, and the demands of cheese manufacturers for a cheap box, have induced the veneer cutters to reduce the thickness of the veneer until now much of that now offered for sale is entirely too flimsy for the purpose. It should never be cut less than full five to the inch. A great deal of it is six or some even seven to the inch.

Another fault in the veneer is that the log is not boiled sufficiently to soften the wood, consequently the veneer knife shatters it while cutting and gives it a tendency to split easily. Another result of insufficient boiling or steaming is that the salts of the wood are not extracted, consequently boxes made from such stock mould very readily.

When I began buying boxes for the cool curing room, said Mr. Ruddick, I insisted on getting heavy selected veneer. The box-makers tried to persuade me to accept the thin veneer, some claiming that it would stand more rough usage than the thicker material. I have had to give two cents above ther egular price for such boxes but it paid to do so, for the reports on shipments from the curing rooms showed only one or two per cent. broken. Of course these shipments were all carefully loaded into the cars, and not left standing four or five tiers high to be thrown down and smashed by the first shunt. Hundreds of boxes are broken in that way. I believe there is almost enough wasted in trimming boxes, either in the cheese factory or at the warehouse to make up this difference of two cents. Boxes are now worth at least one cent per inch in depth and that part which is cut away is absolute waste.

If boxes are not thoroughly dry when put on the cheese, the growth of mould is started. This is particularly the case in cold weather when the boxes dry slowly.

In aiming to have the cheese fit the boxes without trimming, it is well to remember that a box, which measures twelve inches deep when newly made, will shrink to eleven and a half inches as it dries out. The same box will expand again to nearly its original depth after it has been in a warehouse for a week or so, because it absorbs moisture from the cheese. In fitting dry boxes to the cheese it is necessary, therefore, to have the cheese project at least one-quarter of an inch above the edge of the box. One would think it hardly necessary to call attention to the importance of having the box of the proper diameter to fit the cheese snugly. No box will stand the handling that is not supported by the cheese on the inside.

SAFETY FOR YOUR CHILDREN.

When a mother finds it necessary to give her little ones medicine she cannot be too careful as to the remedy employed. The so-called "soothing" medicines always contain poisonous opiates and these should never be given to a child. Strong drugs and harsh purgatives should also be avoided. An ideal medicine for young children is Baby's Own Tablets, which cure all the minor ills of childhood, and the mother has the guarantee of one of the foremost analysists of Canada that this medicine contains no opiate. Milton L. Hersey, M. A., Sc., Demonstrator in Chemistry, McGill University, says: "I hereby certify that I have made a careful analysis, of Baby's Own Tablets, which I personally purchased in a drug store in Montreal, and said analysis has failed to detect the presence of any opiate or narcotic in them." Analysis is proof therefore, mothers know that in giving their little ones Baby's Own Tablets they are giving them an absolutely safe medicine. TREATMENT FOR SMUT IN OATS

Different Methods Used to Overcome this Evil.

Many enquiries have been made by Ontario farmers regarding the treatment of smut in oats. Experiments have been conducted at the College in order to ascertain the most effectual remedies which can be used for this pest. Two varieties of oats were selected in the spring of 1902, and again in the spring of 1903, and uniform samples from each variety were submitted to special treatment with the object of killing the spores of smut adhering to the grain. The various treatments were as follows:

1.—Immersion in Hot Water. For this treatment the grain was placed in a bag which was then immersed in water at about 115 degrees F. Soon afterwards it was placed in water which was kept at a temperature between 130 degrees and 135 degrees F. The grain was occasionally stirred and was allowed to remain in the water for a period of fifteen minutes. It was then spread out on a clean floor to dry, where it was stirred occasionally.

2.—Immersion in Blue Stone Solution for Five Minutes. For No. 2 treatment a strong solution was made by dissolving one pound of Copper Sulphate (Bluestone) in one gallon of water, and then immersing the oats in the solution for a period of five minutes.

3.—Immersion in Bluestone Solution for Twelve Hours. In this treatment the Bluestone Solution was made by dissolving one pound of bluestone in 25 gallons of water, and the oats were immersed in this solution for a period of twelve hours

4.—Sprinkling with Bluestone Solution. This solution was made by dissolving one pound of bluestone in ten gallons of water, which was used for sprinkling over the oats until they were thoroughly moistened, after being carefully stirred.

5.—Immersion in Potassium Sulphide Solution. The potassium sulphide treatment consists in soaking the seed for two hours in a solution made by dissolving 8 pounds of potassium sulphide in 50 gallons of water.

6.—Immersion in Diluted Formalin (Formaldehyde.) The solution of formalin used for this immersion process was made by pouring one half pint of the formalin into 21 gallons of water, and the seed oats were immersed in the solution for twenty minutes.

7.—Sprinkling with Diluted Formalin. One half pint of formalin was poured into five gallons of water. The oats were then sprinkled with this solution and carefully stirred until 8.—Untreated. One sample of oats of each variety was left untreated in the grain was thoroughly moistened order that the influence of the various treatemnts might be observed.

Eight lots of oats of each variety were therefore used for this experiment. After the treatments had been completed a few hours the oats were carefully sown on different different plots. When the oats were coming into head they were examined frequently, and all smutted heads were removed and carefully counted from day to day. The following table gives the total percentage of smutted heads of oats from each treatment:

Treatments.	Per ct of crop smutted
1—Hot water	0
2—Bluestone, five minutes	1.3
3—Bluestone, 12 hours	3
4—Bluestone, sprinkled	1.4
5—Potassium sulphide, 2 hours	1.7
6—Formalin, 20 minutes	0
7—Formalin, sprinkled	0
8—Untreated	4.7

The smut in oats very frequent-causes a great reduction in the yield of grain. The treatments with hot water, formalin, and immersion in bluestone for twelve hours, have given the best results in the Colllege. The formalin is a clear liquid, which can be obtained from almost any drug store. The treatment with formalin is easily performed, comparatively cheap, and very effectual. Farmers would do well to treat their oats before sowing in the spring.

Look on the Bright Side.

The sufferer from nervous exhaustion is generally blue and discouraged. He looks on the dark side of things and fears paralysis, locomotor ataxia or insanity. All this is changed by the persistent use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which gradually and naturally rekindles and revitalizes the wasted nerve cells and instils new vigour and energy into the whole system.

REPORT OF THE G.T.R.

Earnings and Expenses of the Last Six Montns.

FULL DIVIDENDS AND BALANCE

The Most Satisfactory Statement Ever Presented By Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson and His Colleagues—Gross Expansion in Past Eight Years Has Been About 50 Per Cent—Train Earnings Jumped.

London, March 5.—(C.A.P.)—The Grand Trunk Railway report was issued yesterday. The directors statement of accounts for the half year ending Dec. 31 shows that the gross receipts were £3,138,468, an increase of £326,•90. The passengers carried numbered 5,139,073, an increase of 151,422, while the weights of freight and live stock totalled 6,738,702 tons, an increase of 590,172. The working expenses, including a special charge of £30,-000 on bridge renewal account amounted to £2,514,084, the net receipts being £924,000. There were no revenue charges for the half year.

Less the credits of £526,000 the balance of revenue is £398,400, to which has to be added the Detroit, Grand Haven & Milwaukee surplus for the half year of £100, thus making the surplus on revenue account £398,800. For maintenance and equipment there is an increase of £52,485; in cost of transportation an increase of £179,616, due to the increased price of materials of all descriptions, and the higher wages affecting all the railroads on the North America continent. The total increased expenditure is £239,263. To the surplus of £398,800 is added the balance of £5,500 from June last, which makes the total amount of £404,300 available for dividends. This permits of payment in full of the dividends for the half year of 1 per cent. on the guaranteed stock, and of the dividends in the first and second preference stocks and the declaration of a first dividend for the year for third preference stockholders, leaving a balance of about £2,800 to be carried forward.

Most Satisfactory Statement.

The Financial News says that the half-yearly report of the G.T.R. is the most satisfactory statement in many respects Sir Charles Rivers Wilson and his colleagues have ever been able to present. In eight years there has been a gross expansion of £827,000, or 50 per cent., which speak volumes for the industrial progress made in the Dominion, and the ability and vigor with which G. T. R. affairs are handled.

The Financial Times praises the development of the short distance traffic of the G.T.R. The earnings per train mile jumped from 5¾ pence to 7 pence. The increased cost of transportation, chiefly due to the £90,000 additional price paid for fuel, was neutralized by many minor economies.

Great Western Railway.

London, March 5.—(C.A.P.)—The accounts of the Great Western Railway Company for the half year to Dec. 31 show a surplus of £2,300 carried forward to the current half year.

How in the Cabinet.

London, March 5.—(C.A.P.)—Lord George Hamilton, M.P., late Secretary of State for India (Conservative Free Trader), asked if he still adhere to his statement that Premier Balfour submitted to the Cabinet two separate pamphlets on fiscal reform, wired in answer that "the statement I made at Ealing is correct," and that on Monday Mr. Balfour will be asked to give the House a full account of the Cabinet resignations.

Send Doctors to Parliament.

London, March 5.—(C.A.P.)—A large section of British medical men want a Minister of Health, and concur in urging that a fund be raised to send doctors to Parliament to give attention to the nation's health, food and physical culture. Sir Frederick Treves is suggested as Minister.

CAUGHT BY THE GRIP. RELEASED BY PE-RU-NA.

Congressman Geo. H. White's Case. A Noted Sculptress Cured.

The world of medicine recognizes Grip as epidemic catarrh. — Medical Talk.

LA GRIPPE is epidemic catarrh. It spares no class or nationality. The cultured and the ignorant, the aristocrat and the pauper, the masses and the classes are alike subject to la grippe. None are exempt—all are liable.

Have you the grip? Or, rather, has the grip got you? Grip is well named. The original French term, la grippe, has been shortened by the busy American to read "grip." Without intending to do so a new word has been coined that exactly describes the case. As if some hideous giant with awful GRIP had clutched us in its fatal clasp. Men, women, children, whole towns and cities are caught in the baneful grip of a terrible monster.

Pe-ru-na for Grip.

Mrs. Theophile Schmitt, wife of the Ex-Secretary of the German Consulate, writes the following letter from 3617 Wabash avenue, Chicago, Ill.:

"I suffered this winter with a severe attack of la grippe. After using three bottles of Peruna I found the grip had disappeared."—Mrs. T. Schmitt.

Mrs. Celeste Covell writes from 219 N. avenue, Aurora, Ill.:

"Only those who have suffered with la grippe and been cured can appreciate how grateful I feel that such a splendid medicine as Peruna has been placed at the door of every suffering person."—Mrs. C. Covell.

Noted Sculptress Cured of Grip.

Mrs. M. C. Cooper, of the Royal Academy of Arts, of London, England, now residing in Washington, D. C., is one of the greatest living sculptors and painters of the world. She says:

"I take pleasure in recommending Peruna for catarrh and la grippe. I have suffered for months, and after the use of one bottle of Peruna I am entirely well."—Mrs. M. C. Cooper.

D. L. Wallace, a charter member of the International Barber's Union, writes from 15 Western avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.:

"Following a severe attack of la grippe I seemed to be affected badly all over.

"One of my customers who was greatly helped by Peruna advised me to try it, and I procured a bottle the same day. Now my head is clear, my nerves are steady, I enjoy food and rest well. Peruna has been worth a dollar a dose to me."—D. L. Wallace.

Lieutenant Clarice Hunt, of the Salt Lake City Barracks of the Salvation Army, writes from Ogden, Utah:

"Two months ago I was suffering with so severe a cold that I could hardly speak.

"Our captain advised me to try Peruna and procured a bottle for me, and truly it worked wonders. Within two weeks I was entirely well."—Clarice Hunt.

Congressman White's Letter.

Tarboro, N. C.

Gentlemen:—I am more than satisfied with Peruna and find it to be an excellent remedy for the grip and catarrh. I have used it in my family and they all join me in recommending it as an excellent remedy."—George H. White, Member of Congress.

Mrs. T. W. Collins, Treasurer Independent Order of Good Templars, of Everett, Wash., writes:

"After having a severe attack of la grippe I continued in a feeble condition even after the doctors called me cured. My blood seemed poisoned. Peruna cured me."—Mrs. T. W. Collins.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

ANNUAL MEETING OF COLD SPRINGS S. S.

Officers Elected and Reports of Officers Received.

The annual meeting of the Cold Springs Sunday School, was held on Wednesday evening, February 24th.

There was a good attendance of the members and much interest and enthusiasm were displayed in the work.

The officers of the ensuing year are:—

Superintendent—Miss L. Bennett.
Asst.-Supt.—Mr. F. Kitney.
Sec.Treasurer.—Miss J. A. Gillespie.
Home Class Secretary — Miss E. Long.
Organist—Miss M. Gillespie.
Assistant—Miss E. Long.
Librarians—Mr. P. Gillespie and Mr. W. Huston.

The report of the Secretary-Treasurer, was as follows:

"Fellow Workers, — In reviewing the work of our school for another year we feel we have abundant reason to thank God for his great goodness to us. It has indeed been a time of encouragement and progress. The work has gone steadily on and a deeper interest is being manifested in the work than ever before. There are enrolled on our class books 8 teachers, with an average attendance of 7; and 55 scholars with an average attendance of 40, making a total average attendance of 47, or almost 75 per cent. of our school. The largest attendance was on May 31st, when 61 per present, and the smallest on August 30th, when there were but 21 present.

"We have noted with pleasure the earnest work of the teachers and regular attendance of the scholars. Two of our teachers and 9 scholars have been added to our honour list, they having attended the required required 50 Sundays or over.

The class collections amounted to $53.68, an average of over $1.22 per Sunday. We gave $10.00 to the Township Association; $5.00 to buy comforts for an aged couple, and our Christmas collections, amounting to $3.55, was sent to the Free Consumptive Hospital.

Receipts from all sources, $136.07; expenditures $120.00 leaving a balance of $16.07 on hand.

We have placed in our library between 75 and 80 books, and purpose adding a similar number this year.

The Home Class work has proved very helpful to our school. Several of its members are now enrolled on our class books, and regular attendants at our school.

Both teachers and scholars are being benefitted by the Normal drill, taken up for ten minutes each Sunday by our instructor.

By the removal of Miss Ambrose the school has lost one of its most helpful workers one who has been actively engaged in the work since the organization of the school.

We rejoice in what we have accomplished, and hopefully enter the year praying that it may be one of more zealous work, more liberal giving and more earnest prayer for blessings upon every branch of this work undertaken in His name.

Secretary-Treasurer.

FOR SEVEN YEARS A DYING WOMAN

Terrible Suffering Follows Neglected Indigestion—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Make a Complete and Permanent Cure

"I have Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have made a sound cure of me after being for seven years almost a dying woman.

"Now, thank God, I am able to do my daily work as usual. I cannot praise Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets too much."

So says Jossia Louisa Sellars, of Western Bay, Nfld. She was one of those sufferers who wait for their Indigestion to cure itself. But that's something Indigestion won't do.

Unless you give the tired stomach a rest it keeps on getting worse. The Indigestion becomes Dyspepsia and the sufferers find their strength gone and their days filled with despondency and suffering.

Rest the stomach by using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. They do the work of digestion while the stomach recovers. One or two of them taken after eating is the surest safeguard against discomfort now and suffering later.

Sir Joseph Trutch Dead.

London, March 5.—(C.A.P.)—Sir Joseph William Trutch, K.C., M.G., Governor of British Columbia from 1875 to 1876, is dead. He was born at Ashcot, Somerset, in 1826, and was by profession a civil engineer. Sir Joseph was a member of the Legislature and Executive Council of British Columbia, and was Surveyor-General and Chief Commissioner of Lands from 1864 to 1870. For twelve years, from 1876, he was agent for the Dominion in London.

War Office Quick Change.

London, March 5.—Replying to F. Wilson, M.P., Bromley Davenport, Thursday announced that the new service rifle is being fitted with a wind-gauge sliding bar, to ensure greater accuracy in marksmanship. Thus the advent of Mr. Arnold-Forster to the War Office, continues to make itself felt. Less than a year ago Lord Stanley assured Mr. Wilson in the House that the question of a sliding bar on the sight had been fully considered, but such an arrangement was found unsuitable for service conditions.

Naval Officer Disappears.

Victoria, B. C., March 5.—The master-at-arms of H.M.S. Flora has disappeared, leaving with him considerable cash which should have been paid as wages to members of the ship's crew. He escaped on the Seattle steamer from here Last Tuesday, and his whereabouts is now unknown.

Cruiser at Nassau.

Havana, March 5.—The British North American squadron, under command of Admiral Douglas, has left here for Nassau.

It All Depends.

He—There is nothing that interests a woman so much as a man's love. She—Oh, I don't know. Sometimes there is nothing so disinteresting. He—For instance? She—When he happens to be in love with some other woman.

Six Books for the Sick.

What I Learned After 30 Years

Which Shall I Send?

Book 1 on Dyspepsia.
Book 2 on the Heart.
Book 3 on the Kidneys.
Book 4 for Women.
Book 5 for Men (sealed.)
Book 6 on Rheumatism.

No money is wanted.
Simply select the book you need.

It is my experience as a specialist of 30 years. In the book I tell how at last I found a way to reach difficult deep-seated diseases. Thirty years of earnest, ardent toil in hospitals and at bedsides made it possible for me to write these books.

The books tell how I perfected my prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. How by scientific experiment I traced out the causes that bring on chronic diseases.

I found invariably that where there was a weakness the inside nerves were weak. Where there was a lack of vitality, the vital nerves lacked power. Where weak organs were found I always found weak nerves. Not the nerves commonly thought of, but the vital organs' nerves. The inside—the invisible nerves.

This was a revelation. Then my real success began. Then I combined ingredients that would strengthen, that would vitalize these nerves.

That prescription I called a restorative. It is known the world over now as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. After that I did not fail to cure one case in each hundred. In the extremely difficult cases my failures for five years were one in each forty treated. I found cancer incurable. Cancer is for surgery, not medicine.

Then how to get this prescription to sick ones everywhere was my thought. I must announce it in the public press. But, thought I, will they realize the real truth of my discovery, the real power of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Then a way came to me—like an inspiration. "I will offer it to the sick on trial. Then they will know I am sincere—that my prescription is unusual."

I wrote a reliable druggist in each city and village in America. They agreed to co-operate with me. Now by any sick one Dr. Shoop's Restorative can be taken at my risk. For a full month I will let you use it entirely at my risk.

Send me no money. Just write me for the book you need. When I send it I will tell you of a druggist near by who will permit the month's trial. Use the Restorative a month. Then decide. If you say to the druggist, "It did not help me," that will relieve you of any expense whatever. He will bill the cost to me. This is my way of clearing your mind of all doubt as to what Dr. Shoop's Restorative can do.

No matter how prejudiced, you cannot dispute this absolute security I offer. You cannot resist an offer like this if you are at all sick. If you have a weakness, write me. If you can't do things like you used to do them, tell me about it. Write in confidence. As a physician I will tell you a way to help.

Get my book now—to-day. Address Dr. Shoop, Box 47, Racine, Wis.

Mild cases not chronic, are often cured with one or two bottles. At druggists.

SILAS STANLETTE FOUND DEAD.

C. Lee of Yorkton Shot Dead By His Brother.

Winnipeg, March 5.—The body of Silas Stanteate, an Alameda settler, was found in his cabin yesterday. He had not been seen for some days, and neighbors on visiting the farm made the discovery. Deceased was about 55 years of age, and came to Canada from Nottingham, England.

C. Lee, a young man of Yorkton, while hunting with his brother Thursday, knelt down to fire at a deer ahead. The young brother also fired as Lee arose, and the latter received the full charge in his head, causing instant death.

EXPRESS LEFT THE TRACK.

Accident at Forks Station, East of Chapleau—One Killed.

Fort William, March 5.—At two o'clock yesterday morning the westbound C.P.R. express left the track at Forks Station, about 100 miles east of Chapleau. One man named McGowan, who boarded the train at Biscotasing, is reported killed, and six people more or less injured. It is also reported that the colonist car was wrecked or burned. None of the passengers in the sleepers were hurt.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

The rebels in Uruguay have sustained a severe defeat.

The Middle West Brewing Co., with liabilities exceeding $100,000, has failed at Joplin, Mo.

Hawaii will not exhibit at St. Louis, needing the $30,000 appropriated for other purposes.

The convention of the International C. E. will be held next year in Baltimore, as originally arranged, with 50,000 expected delegates.

Amy Marquitz of St. Louis received word of her fiancee's death in the New York building collapse on the first anniversary of a former fiancee's death.

Revolution For Mexico.

New York, March 5.—The Herald says, Mexico is on the eve of a revolution, according to Col. H. H. Thompson, who just returned from that country, prospective upon President Diez release of the reins of Government to Limantour, his present Secretary of War, as Vice-President.

"Limantour is a sympathizer of the church," said Col. Thompson. "The belief prevails that Limantour will return to the church the lands which have been confiscated and this will be a signal for a revolution."

Mineral Lands Tied Up.

Toronto, March 5.—At the meeting of the Mining Institute last night, President Coste said mineral lands are tied up by the greed of speculators, only one-half of one per cent. of 400,000 granted being developed. He proposed a work assessment of $5 an acre as the remedy, but the Institute divided sharply on the proposal. Director of Mines Gibson said that in the older portions of Ontario they could never hope to find coal of value, but peat briquetting had given great satisfaction.

O'Neil Found Guilty.

Toronto, March 5.—"Unanimously guilty!" was the verdict of the jury at the sessions yesterday in the case of Michael J. O'Neil, the man charged with attempting to hold up the C.P.R. by making the statement that he would fix the jury in the Dillon inquest. T. C. Robinette, K. C., put up a good defence for O'Neil, but Crown-Attorney Drayton had the evidence. Judge Winchester's charge was straight against the prisoner.

True Bills Returned.

Toronto, March 5.—The grand jury brought in true bills against A. W. H. and Louis Gianelli and Frank A. and John Gray, on the charge of conspiracy in connection with the voting at the last municipal election. The enquiry into the assessment branch of the investigation will be resumed this morning, before Judge Morgan.

A GUARANTEED CURE FOR PILES.

Itching, Blind, Bleeding and Protruding Piles. No cure, no pay. All druggists are authorized by the manufacturers of Pazo Ointment to refund the money where it fails to cure any case of piles, no matter of how long standing, ordinary cases in six days; the worst in fourteen days. One application gives ease and rest. Relieves itching instantly. This is a new discovery and it is the only pile remedy sold on a positive guarantee, no cure no pay. Price 50c.

If your druggist hasn't it in stock send 50 cents (Canadian stamps accepted) to the Paris Medicine Co., St. Louis, Mo., manufacturers of Laxative Bromo Quinine; the celebrated cold cure.

Majority Favor Treaty.

Paris, March 5.—La Presse has tabulated the responses it has received to a query addressed to members of the Chamber of Deputies, which show that 270 out of 333 of the members favor the treaty of alliance with Russia. Only 11 of the 63 members who were not in favor of that instrument expressed hostility to it.

Hurt in Mutiny at Sea.

London, March 5.—A despatch received by Lloyds yesterday from Bahia, Brazil, says that the British steamer Arabiston (Capt. Roberts, from New York, Feb. 12, for Montevideo, Buenos Ayres and Rosario) has arrived there and reports that a mutiny occurred on the vessel, in which the captain and four men were injured.

A HEALTHY OLD AGE

The Goal of Every Man's Ambition

THOUSANDS of human beings are suffering under the burden of a sickly, premature old age, because of diseased kidneys. These organs once diseased give out to all parts of the body a deadly slow-acting poison. The face loses its color, the eye its luster, the brain its ambition, and the muscles their energy, and many of the most troublesome ailments result.

Bu-Ju cures all forms of kidney trouble, and brings back youth and vigor by rooting out the evil. It is a never-failing cure for every form of kidney ailment. It cures rheumatism by eradicating the cause of rheumatism, kidney disorders. If you are suffering from any form of kidney trouble, commence taking Bu-Ju, The Kidney Pill, at once. You cannot afford to neglect the many symptoms that point to diseased kidneys.

Markham, Ont., Dec. 1, 1903.

Claflin Chemical Co., Windsor, Ont.

Gentlemen:—I had suffered almost continually for seven years from kidney trouble. Could scarcely walk and was unable to attend to my farm duties. Saw Bu-Ju, The Kidney Pill, advertised and procured a box from my druggist. After taking the first few pills I felt much relieved and after taking half a box was able to do a full day's work. I know one box of Bu-Ju saved me $40 doctor bills, and think they are the finest pill made. I give this testimonial freely.

Yours very truly, JAMES ABBOTT.

$80 for One Potato.

London, March 5.—There was considerable excitement in Peterboro market over the sale of a specimen of the famous Edgecombe potato. The tuber weighed a little under half a pound, and was disposed of at the record price of $80.

Ireland's Salt Mines.

Within a radius of less than three miles from Carrickfergus, Ireland, there are no fewer than twelve salt mines, although only about half of these are in operation at the present time. The rock which started at this point has been traced under the bed of the sea across the English channel, past the Isle of Man, until it ended in the salt cliffs of North Wales.

Mr. Williamson spent several days in Toronto this week, giving a series of lectures on Educational Work at the Provincial Y.M.C.A. School of Instruction for Physical Directors and General Secretaries. This is the school's second year. The Peterborough students are Messrs. Maguire, and Mann, both promising well as successful Y.M.C.A. men.

Was a grand success last evening. The studio was crowded with admirers of the beautiful and artistic poses. You will be well repaid to visit Mr. Whiten's studio this evening or following days, as everyone said that it was a rare treat to see such works of art which have never before been equalled in Peterborough.

Y. W. C. A.

The Gospel meeting on Sunday afternoon, will not, as stated previously, be addressed by Miss Macdonald, Dominion Secretary, but by Miss Roberts, convenor of the Devotional Committee, and will be held in the George street rooms. It is expected that Miss Macdonald will address the meeting on the following Sunday. There will be a special meeting of the Board on Monday, March 7th, at 3 o'clock.

FINANCIAL CONDITION OF PETERBOROUGH.

Fourth of March Found Bills Well Met.

The Bank Managers Well Pleased with Yesterday's Settlements — Local Merchants in Good Position.

The severe weather of the last two months, coupled with the unusually heavy falls of snow, which have rendered the country roads almost impassable, and the almost continual blockade of the railways, which has made it most difficult for merchants to receive shipments of goods, has had a decided effect on the business of January and February, in which months was not nearly as good as it was in the corresponding months of 1903. This condition of things has not been disastrous to the prosperity of the town, however, as was evidenced by the fact that yesterday, March 4th, the great spring settling day, was tided over very successfully by the local business men. Inquiry at the banks yesterday gave the pleasing information that all paper maturing was well met, and bank managers are expressing themselves as being well pleased with yesterday's business, which demonstrated the fact that the merchants of Peterborough are in good circumstances, and prepared to stand a few months of dull trade. Last fall and winter's business was most satisfactory, and the largest in the history of the town, which, to a great extent, is responsible for the prompt-itude with which paper maturing yesterday was met.

On the other hand it was pointed out that the great settling days of twice a year, have largely been eliminated by the 30 days method of payment. When the country was younger and in less prosperous condition, longer credits had to be given retail merchants, but in recent years retailers do not ask nor require long credit, because of the fact that the farmer's revenue is coming in continuously throughout the year and they do not run long accounts, as was the case formerly.

On the whole the banks are well pleased with the town's business, which will compare very favourably with any other city in Ontario. Advices received from Toronto state that bills due there yesterday were not well met.

Peterborough's custom returns for February, as published yesterday, show an increase of nearly $1,500 over the same month in 1903.

An Opening

St. Patrick's Day.

St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society intend holding their annual concert on St. Patrick's Day, and besides the best of local talent they have secured the services of Master Harvey Gahan, the boy violinist, who will be remembered with pleasure by all who attended the Oddfellows' concert last December. They have also secured "Bob" Wilson, refined humorist in song, stories and sayings. Programmes will be out in a few days; watch for them.

The postponed final game in the T.V.L. will be played here on Monday night between Napanee and T.A.S. This will be one the fastest games of the season. Be sure you see it. Game starts at 8.15 sharp.

Don't Forget to Look

As you pass Messrs. H. LeBrun & Co's window, don't forget to look at the pyramid of new fashionable spring suitings piled up in the south window. There ought to be choice enough for any man, no matter how hard to please he may be. It's the largest display of imported cloths for spring to be seen in town.

Another attraction is the exhibition of fine cambric shirts in the north window of the City Clothing Store. They are principally for big men with lots of neck, the sizes being 16 and 16 1-2. The selling price is only 50c., although 75c. and $1.00 are the regular prices. d

MR. R. R. HALL AT OTTAWA YESTERDAY.

In Connection With Transfer of Dams to Dominion Government.

Mr. R. R. Hall, and Mr. R. B. Rogers, Superintendent of the Trent Valley Canal, waited upon the Department of Railways and Canals at Ottawa yesterday, with respect to the terms and conditions upon which the dams, locks, slides and waters of the Trent Canal could be transferred to the Dominion Government. Before a definite announcement can be made some further information will have to be gained from the Ontario Government.

YOUNG MEN GIVE PLEASING CONCERT.

The Guild of Charlotte Street Given Entertainment of Rare Merit.

The Young Men's Guild of the Charlotte street church gave a very successful entertainment in the Sunday school rooms last night. The programme, which was given entirely by male talent, was of a high order of merit, and the large audience evidenced distinct pleasure in the various numbers given.

The pastor, Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, occupied the chair, the school room being filled, and it is safe to say that all present thoroughly enjoyed the evening's programme, which opened with a recitation given by Mr. J. T. Anderson, and which was heartily applauded. Mr. Anderson responded with a humorous selection to a demand for an encore. A decidedly pleasing number was that given by the Charlotte street Male Quartette, the selection being "Pale in the Amber West." The different voices in the quartette blended well together, and this selection was one of the most enjoyed numbers on a programme of rare merit. The next number was a reading by Mr. H. Latimer, followed by a vocal solo, well rendered by Mr. Walter Stocker. This number was also received with hearty applause, and an encore demanded. A reading by Mr. J. Robinson created considerable amusement. "The Bitter End," a duet given by Messrs. E. A. Froude and R. N. Jolliffe gave the audience distinct pleasure, an evidence of which was found in the enthusiastic demand for an encore. A humorous reading by Mr. W. D. Campbell literally brought down the house. Mr. Leroy Gowie rendered a flute solo, of which the audience showed its appreciation. The concluding number was a solo, "This," by Mr. A. E. Froude, in which his pleasing tenor voice was heard to good advantage.

The Young Men's Guild is to be complimented on providing such a meritorious programme, and one in which the reputation of the Guild for providing first class entertainments is so well sustained.

ANOTHER PIONEER HAS PASSED AWAY.

Mr. John Brown, Springville, Died Yesterday at 82 Years of Age.

Another of the pioneers of Peterborough County passed away yesterday afternoon, in the person of Mr. John Brown, who died at Springville, after only about two weeks' illness. Mr. Brown, who had attained the ripe age of 82 years had been a resident of Peterborough County about 50 years, and was one of the prominent men in Monaghan where he lived for so many years. He was at one time a member of the Township Council, and always took a deep interest in municipal and public affairs, although for a number of years he has not been actively associated with municipal matters.

The late Mr. Brown was born in Ireland in 1822, and removed to Canada 11 years later with his family. Practically all his life since his arrival in Canada has been spent in Durham and Peterborough Counties. He lived for a time in Port Hope, and afterwards in Manvers. For a short time he made his home in Rochester, but came to Springville 50 years ago, and lived there ever since. One sister and four nephews survive him, the sister being Mrs. Ellis, of Port Hope, while John, Thomas, James and Harry Brown are the nephews.

The deceased who was unmarried, made this home with his nephew, Thomas, from whose residence the funeral will take place on Monday, March 7th, at 1.30 o'clock to the Front Church Cemetery.

The deceased was a member of the Presbyterian church.

FORESTER'S CARNIVAL WAS A GREAT SUCCESS.

Brilliant Event in the Brock St. Rink Last Night.

Under the Auspices of Court Peterborough C. O. F.—A Very Large Attendance of Spectators.

The Foresters' carnival in the Brock street rink last night was a very brilliant affair and was patronized to a far greater extent than was perhaps generally anticipated. About one hundred persons in costume figured on the ice while the seating capacity of the rink was heavily taxed, there being in the neighbourhood of 1,200 persons present. The 57th Regimental Band was in attendance and during the evening rendered a delightful programme of music, giving at frequent intervals a large number of enlivening airs. The rink itself was beautifully decorated with flags of different nationalities, designs, shapes and colours. The effect was very pretty and it was evident that much expense had been incurred in decorations alone. This was the work of Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, to whom much credit is due for their creditable display. But the decorations beautiful as they were could not, of course compare with the many artistically dressed figures which glided over the smooth ice. There were impersonations from the chimney sweep to the circus clown, from the copper faced Indian to the stately person of Britannia, clad in flowing robes of red, white and blue. On the one hand were the comic figures and on the other the artistic. The former were all funny and the latter as beautiful as the others were humourous. The effect of the mixed crowd on the ice was indescribably beautiful, and the monotony of art was relieved by the presence of the comical. Never before has this annual event been as successful especially from the financial point of view. The sudden change in the weather yesterday, perhaps, helped to attract the skaters as the disagreeable ice of a day or two ago was delightfully firm and the skates of those in costume rang out clearly.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Campbell and Mr. D. Hughes-Charles, who had kindly consented to officiate as judges had a most difficult task as there were so many competitors whose "get up" seemed good enough for a first or at least some prize. They awarded the prizes as follows:

Best dressed lady in fancy costume — 1st, Mrs. M. H. Snider, as "Princess of Kensington," 2nd, Miss M. Hay, "Dame Durden."

Best dressed gentleman, in fancy costume — W. Mellish, "Richard I."

Best dressed girl, in fancy costume —Miss M. Brightman, "Indian Girl."

Best dressed boy, in fancy costume —W. E. Martin, "French Nobleman."

Best dressed lady, in comic costume—1st, Miss Effie McWhinnie, "Miss Buttercup;" 2nd, Miss Olive Chambo, "Red Riding Hood."

Best dressed gentleman, in comic costume—Mr. Geo. A. Wesley, "Soubrette."

Best dressed girl in comic costume —Miss Jessie Spence, "Quaker Oats."

Best dressed boy, in comic costume —F. and C. Halpany, representing "It was the Dutch."

Best representative of Canada — Master Earl Fredenberg.

The judges gave out their decisions shortly after nine o'clock and directly this was over a hundred boys, skates already strapped on, jumped the fences and invaded the ice in spite of the efforts made to exclude them. It was not before long that the ice was crowded by a dense crowd from the spectators' benches and the persons in costume seemed to be few and far between.

Undoubtedly the affair was an unqualified success and the Foresters are to be heartily congratulated in their triumph.

FALL ON THE ICE RESULTS PAINFULLY.

Miss Throop Sustained a Compound Fracture of the Leg Yesterday.

Miss Throop, daughter of Mr. John Throop, of the Hiawatha road, Otonabee, met with a very painful accident yesterday afternoon, the result of which will be that she will be laid up for some time. Miss Throop slipped and fell on the ice near her father's residence, and sustained a compound fracture of the leg below the knee.

JURY EMPANNELED ON THE GAROW CASE

Inquest Will be Held on Monday Afternoon at Havelock.

Dr. Gray, coroner, went to Havelock yesterday to empannel a jury on the Edith Garow case. Mr. Sexsmith was chosen as foreman of the jury and a sitting was held yesterday after the jury had viewed the body.

Dr. Crawford was questioned as to whether he could give the cause of the girl's death. Answering, he said it would be impossible unless a post mortem examination was made. This he was instructed to make, and the inquest will be resumed at Havelock on Monday at one o'clock.

PETERBOROUGH'S MODERN STORE

Embroideries

We have just passed into stock our spring importation of Embroideries, DIRECT FROM THE MANUFACTURERS AT St. GALL, SWITZERLAND, and we are pleased to say that never before in the history of Peterborough has there been such an assortment of pretty Embroideries shown at such reasoanble prices. Our assortment comprises EDGINGS, INSERTIONS, BEADINGS and ALL-OVERS, worked on both Swiss Muslins and Cambrics. We would particularly ask those who admire fine work and handsome designs in Embroideries to see our assortment.

Veilings

Our spring assortment is now to hand, including the very newest ideas in Veilings, both from Paris and New York, as well as the popular Sewing Silk Veilings for March winds, in all the new shades. The Veil is only a small item in a lady's outfit, but a very important one. We are very particular about having the correct thing in Veilings.

Dress Goods

New importations are arriving daily. One of the strong points in favour of buying your Dress Goods at this store is our goods are decidedly different to what you see in other stores.

WM. HAMILTON'S VERSUS QUAKERS.

Will Have Tug-of-War Contest To night at 8 O'clock.

Great interest is being manifested in the tug-of-war to be pulled off to-night between the Quaker and Wm. Hamilton teams, at the drill shed. On the occasion of these teams coming together before, the contest was a very close one, each taking one pull, and the Quakers getting the third by a very narrow margin. Consequently the contest to-night will be more than usually exciting. Each team has a number of supporters, who claim that theirs is the superior aggregation.

It is certain to be a very close contest, and the team that wins will have to do some extraordinarily good work.

The personnel of the teams will be practically the same as in the last contest.

The first pull will take place at 8 o'clock.

NAPANEE—T.A.S. ON MONDAY NIGHT

Will Play the Final Game in the Trent Valley League Here.

Mr. E. S Clarry, secretary of the Trent Valley League, communicated with Napanee this afternoon, and arranged that the final game between that team and the T.A.S. should be played here on Monday night.

This is the game which should have been played on Thursday night, but which had to be postponed because of the fact that the Napanee team was snow-bound.

The game should be a fast one as both teams have won nearly everything this season so far. Chaucer Elliott will referee the game, which will commence sharp at 8.15 o'clock.

KEENE DEFEATED LINDSAY SEVEN.

Fast T. V. L. Team Took Lindsay Intermediates into Comp.

The Lindsay Post of Friday, writing on the Keefe-Lindsay game in which the latter were defeated by 11—9, says:—"Last evening the Lindsay Seniors again met defeat, this time at the hands of the fast and gentlemanly Keene team, members of the T.V.L. The ice was good and the night was a favourable one for hockey, but for some reason the crowd gave the game the go-by. The Keene players all pronounced the game to be the cleanest and best match they have played this season. The locals put up a good stiff game all the way, and especially in the first half. The Keene players are a very fast bunch and played swift hockey. In the last half their stick-handling was great and their combination was good.

"In the last half the Keene players put up a great article of hockey, getting in some fast "com," while the locals played more of the individual rush game and made many shots on goal, but luck seemed to be against them in this half."

PUCKERINGS.

THE RETURN GAME.

After carefully avoiding the Examiner staff for some weeks, presumably because they feared that the return game which the Review hockeyists promised, would be broached, the sporting man on the latter sheet has at last, when there are strong probabilities that there will be no ice, consented to play the game so long delayed, and unless the Review players succeed in squirming out of the agreement, which they are quite likely to do, the public may again have the pain of witnessing the Examiner's fast septette repeat the dose which they gave the Review some weeks ago. The defeated team hopes with the much-needed, assistance of Alf. Smith, the cover point, to defeat the Examiner team, the members of which, have given up practice because of the fact that there seemed to be but small prospects of the game being played this season, as the team which was so badly defeated in the last game has shown a decided disinclination to play the return match. It will be welcome news, therefore to learn that the official organ of the Review hockey team last night announced that they had at last succeeded in getting the necessary courage to meet their victors again, and if Jack Frost is good enough to give some ice next week, the game will probably be played.

* * * *

At Midland last night Stratford was defeated in a championship Intermediate O.H.A. game by 11—8. The return game will be played at Stratford on Tuesday night.

* * * *

The following team will represent the T.A.S. Juniors in their game to-night with the South Enders at the rink from Six to seven o'clock:—

Rev. Father Galvin, of St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough, has been the guest of Rrev. Father O'Sullivan, of St. Mary's Presbytery, during the past few days.—Lindsay Post.

Dr. R. S. Viaundierbourgh, who on his return from Germany, called on a flying visit to his sister, Mrs. S. Ray, left this morning for New York, from whence he will sail for his English home on Tuesday, March 8th. He greatly regrets his inability at being unable to prolong his stay in town with friends, but the fact that his practice and other business matters await his attention from which he has been absent for several months, renders it utterly impossible at present.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—Rev. Mr. Holah gave a splendid talk to the Y.M.C.A. boys yesterday afternoon.

—Piano tuning promptly attended to. Satisfaction guaranteed. A. F. Hoover. 'Phone, 199.

—The regular monthly meeting of the Ministerial Association will be held in the Y.M.C.A. Parlours at ten o'clock on Monday morning.

—Will the person who took the parasol from the dining room of the S.O.E. Hall last Wednesday evening, please return the same to the Examiner office and save further trouble.

—It was again below zero last night, this time eight below. The bad weather which has been our portion every Sunday for the past seven weeks, will probably be with us again to-morrow.

—We make a special and exclusive business of framing pictures, not merely one of our departments or a side line. Try the "Framery," 428 George street, and compare the service and prices.

—At the meeting of the George street Young Men's Guild to be held on Tuesday night, Mr. J. Jeffries will by special request give his lecture on "A Trip Through Paris." This announcement will doubtless result in bringing out a large number of young men. A musical programme will also be presented.

—The Trusts and Guarantee Company, Limited, Toronto, has been appointed administrator of the estate of Mary Jung, late of the town of Berlin, who died a short time ago. Miss Jung left a will in which the St. Louis Roman Catholic church of Waterloo, and her nephew, Lloyd Jung, are sole beneficiaries, but no executor was appointed, and at the request of those interested the company has consented to act. The estate consists chiefly of a bequest under the will of a deceased relative.

We Have Everything a Lady Wears.

Spring News

We have opened out the entire second flat as a Ready-to-wear Department this season, and even in that spacious area (which is by far the largest department in Peterborough) we find it exceedingly difficult to satisfactorily exhibit the profusion of beautiful goods that are now being opened up.

The various racks, circles and tables are laden with all the newest and latest Dress Skirts, Underskirts, Rain Coats, Wrappers, Spring Jackets and Waists of every description.

The New Dress Skirt this season is much fuller, and in many instances is trimmed with self-goods. Our Skirt Department is showing all the latest novelties.

The fashionable Waist this year is a work of art—the front, back and sleeves show a great deal of trimming in tasteful and artistic designs.

Our Lawn Waist stock is magnificently assorted, showing all the latest ideas and lingerie effects.

March is always the best month in which to pick up the high class goods; there are always a few exclusive designs—often just one or two of a kind that come in with the early stock—many of our customers appreciate this opportunity.

Our greatly increased space enables us to handle an immensely larger stock and to exhibit it much more satisfactorily.

Everything is conveniently arranged and it is quite interesting to see row after row, totalling up to a thousand waists of this season's most beautiful designs.

We invite you to come and look through them at your leisure.

You will not be asked to buy, and it will be interesting to you to see what is being done for the coming season.

See our Special Department of Children's and Girls' Coloured and White Dresses, Skirts, Hats, etc.

All this week we have a Special Sale of 50c and 75c Cushion Tops for 25c 10c Mercerized Cord for 7½c.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

HAPPY THE GIRL baby born on the last day of a Leap Year February. In years to come she will receive the benefit of this natal day, not unmixed with a few flies in the ointment. She will have a birthday only once in four years, and her stock of birthday presents will in consequence be diminished in quantity. But in after years she will have a distinct advantage over the generality of the sisters of her sex in dealing with the very personal and perplexing problem of a lady's age. Suppose fate should persist in enrolling her in the ranks of old maidenhood, she can deal with the question of her age with perfect candour and truth, without resorting to the "white lies," which the generality of ladies consider so airy a venial sin, where the question of their age is concerned. The lady with the leap year February birth-day may be on the shady side of forty a long way, and still, with perfect literal truth, be able to assert that she has yet to see her thirtieth birthday — for she will not reach her thirtieth birthday, according to the calendar, till she attains the rather ripe age of 120.

GOOD BUSINESS MEN are taking the Board of Trade more seriously lately than was the case some time ago, and the reason is that they are beginning to see through its medium a means of bringing additional prosperity to the town. Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce are usually pretty good indices of the progressiveness, or otherwise, of the towns or cities of the citizens of which they are composed, and judging by this standard, Peterborough should be one of the best towns in the country. The Board has shown its willingness and ability to tackle some pretty big problems, and the result of the deliberations of the members during the past year has been that the general public has become convinced of the fact that the Board is accomplishing something. The Board of Trade is a business body, and it would seem that its chief concern should be to make Peterborough a business town. The more industries that are attracted here, the better it will be for the business men, as well as for every class of citizen, and a company of business men should have greater influence with capitalists intending to locate here than men not so identified.

"MARCH FOURTH" has not now the significance to business men that it had a few years ago. Until quite recently the two great settling days were March 4th and October 4th, and practically all bills came due on these dates. The days of long credits, however, have passed, to a great extent, and few wholesale accounts of longer duration than 30 days are now carried. Notwithstanding this fact, there were a number of merchants' accounts maturing at the local banks yesterday, and it must be a pleasure to everyone interested in the welfare of the town to learn that on the whole the paper maturing yesterday was well met. As is stated in another column, inquiry at the banks gives the information that practically every bill coming due yesterday was paid. This is particularly pleasing news in view of the fact that the banks in Toronto report that a great many merchants in that city found themselves unable to meet the paper maturing yesterday. This is another evidence of the fact that Peterborough is one of the best business towns in Canada.

THE GREAT DEARTH of public entertainments in Peterborough during the winter has more than ever emphasized the necessity for the establishment of an opera house. Had it not been for the few hockey matches provided by the local club, this winter would have been almost intolerably dull, and even this form of amusement has been participated in by comparatively few. It is to be hoped that before another winter season approaches an opera house, which will be a credit to the town, will have been erected. That there is a need for a place of public amusement, no one will deny, and the establishment of one should prove to be a good investment to those who embark in the enterprise.

MR. HUGHES-CHARLES ON FALL FAIRS.

Prosperity of Financial Institutions Depends on Agriculture

A notable feature of the convention of the Canadian Association of Fairs and Exhibitions, says the Farmers' Sun, was the intelligent and active interest taken by those not farmers in purely farm work. This was first brought to the front when the Rev. C. R. Clarke (Metcalfe), one of the enthusiastic workers in developing the new idea in the Ottawa valley fairs, was speaking. Mr. Clarke said he felt he was not lessening the dignity of his profession by giving some time and thought to the work of improvement. He believed in doing that he was performing a part of the duty devolving upon him as a good citizen.

Mr D. Hughes Charles is another non-farmer who has a most creditable history in connection with agricultural fair work even outside of what he had done in Peterborough. He was the organizer of the Galt horse show, perhaps the best of its kind in Ontario. Like the Rev. Mr. Clarke he takes an active part in all agricultural matters in the neighbourhood in which he happens to be located for the time being.

"Why do I as a bank manager," he said, "spend time and thought on matters of this kind? Because I realize that the prosperity of the institution with which I am connected, and the prosperity of all financial and commercial institutions in the country, depend upon the uplifting of agriculture in the province."

WM. LECH & SONS'

Fur Reductions

Do you want GENUINE Bargains in Furs? Then try us.

We do not bluster or exaggerate, nor give out fictitious price lists of reductions.

All of our regular and reduced prices are GENUINE. Our guarantee is the reputation that we have held for forty-three years in business for turning out the finest made Furs in Peterborough at right values, and the dependence on our word. We do not sell our goods at half a dozen prices. Our motto is one price for all. The reason we say that we turn out our goods in the best make and finish in town is that both members of our firm are practical Furriers, and do not have to depend like other firms on others in our employment.

Any firm, and they are few, that, like ours, has made a continual success of their business since it was started, needs nothing else to bolster up their reputation for giving value for goods sold, and we guarantee no one can undersell us.

Only Two Weeks More

—OF—

GOUGH BROS'

"Good-Bye" Sale

We're nearing the finish—and the nearer we get the better the bargains. We want to emphasize this fact all we can. It's a case of compulsion now, more than ever. WE CAN SAVE YOU MORE MONEY ON SUITS, OVERCOATS, HATS, SHOES AND FURNISHINGS IN THE SHORT TIME LEFT THAN WE EVER COULD SAVE YOU BEFORE. It's worth your while to think this matter over quick. What you want is surely here, ready to carry home at

LESS THAN THE CLOTH COST TO-DAY

If you were a personal friend of ours and we wanted to do you a good turn, we would advise you to pick out one of the $16, $14, $12 or $10 Suits or Overcoats, marked down to just about one-half the price. Wouldn't that be like finding money?

Men have been buying two and three Suits at a time; others, a couple of Overcoats—and you should see the satisfied look on customers' faces.

The sale has had the effect of clearing out more of the medium and cheap-priced goods, leaving the best for the last. It's up to you now to do some quick looking around during Gough's Final Clean-up!

BIGGER BARGAINS THAN EVER IN BOOTS, SHOES, RUBBERS, etc. Yes, bigger than ever! And as the stock gets lower and the FINER goods remain, still deeper cuts are made in prices. The values in FINE Footwear will positively astonish you!

TWEED BY THE YARD—double and treble your money's worth. The time is so short now that we have quit taking measures, so we throw our whole stock of Tweeds on the market at less than one-third and one-half regular prices, by the yard. Remember, only two weeks more!

P. S. All Outstanding Accounts not settled before March 15th will be placed in our Solicitor's hands for collection.

President Joseph Smith of the Mormons Makes a Confession.

Washington, March 4.—Attorneys for the Protestants in the Smoot investigation yesterday said they expected to prove that the defendant is associated with a hierachy which practices polygamy and connives at violations of the law and that his very vote as a Senator of the United States is subject to the wish and command of the Mormon Church. President Joseph Smith confessed that he himself had continued to cohabite with his plural family since the manifesto of 1890, and that he realized fully that he was violating State laws. President Smith also testified that Reed Smoot had to get the consent of his associated apostles in the church before he could become a candidate for Senator.

The confession of President Smith was the sensation of the proceedings yesterday before the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections. Mr. Smith said that the manifesto of 1890 had left him and others with plural families in the unfortunate situation of being compelled to defy the law or desert their famailies. For himself he had preferred to "take chances with the law," rather than to disgrace himself and degrade his family by abandoning his wives and the children they had borne him. He admitted that he had had children by all of his five wives since the manifesto, and said he had acknowledged them openly without interference or disturbance from the people of Utah, whom he characterized as liberal and broadminded. The defence will take the witness to-day.

Dreyfus's Appeal Begins.

Paris, March 4.—The Court of Cassation began at noon yesterday the consideration of the appeal of Alfred Dreyfus for a revision of his trial. The court was crowded. Former Col. Picquart was present. Dreyfus was not present, his interests being in the hands of Lawyer Morhard. M. Boyer, reporter of the court, read his report, in which he presented the two new facts upon which the Minister of Justice M. Valle, recommended a revision of the case.

Ate Matches.

Woodstock, March 4.—Death visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Bigham, lot 28, East Zorra, Wednesday morning in a very sad manner. Their two-year-old daughter was suddenly taken with convulsions during the previous night, and died before medical assistance arrived. She had nibbled at sulphur matches.

SWEPT BY PRAIRIE FIRES.

3,000 Square Miles of Territory Swept in Oklahoma—Hundreds of People Are Homeless—Five Dead.

Lawton, Okla., March 4.—Reports indicate that five persons have been burned to death and 3,000 square miles of territory on the Kiowa and Commanche Counties swept by prairie fires. Hundreds of people are homeless, and it is impossible to estimate accurately the financial loss. A. W. Crawford, Mrs. Henderson and two daughters, living near Lawton, were seriously burned, one of the daughters probably fatal. More fatalities are expected, as reports from some districts are meagre.

At Hobart, the county seat of Kiowa County, the fire approached from the east, destroying several stables, fifteen residences, two business houses and various small buildings. Spreading to the southwest the fire swept 75,000 acres of Government military and timber reserve and Indian school reserve, destroying several Indian houses and 40 head of Government cattle.

Spreading westward, the flames covered miles of the homestead district, destroying houses, barns and stock. It was in this district that five persons are reported to have perished. In this district Dock and John Harmon, brothers, and a man named Fisher perished. Two others, women, also were killed.

Late at night the fire began moving southward towards this city. At midnight 5,000 people of the city were battling with the approaching flames. The advance line of the fire was fully two miles in length. A thousand men turned their efforts to checking the fire at the grass borders. Water from every source, carried in every conceivable way, was distributed along the line. This served the purpose of checking the advance lines of fire, but was of little avail in hindering the continual rolling of fire brands into the streets of the city.

In more than 100 places flames arose from dwellings, barns and outbuildings. Wherever a blaze grew men were put to quench it with water. As a result of the cool judgment of the fire fighters the city's loss was only $10,000. Families lay out on the prairie throughout the freezing night until the storm had passed with thin clothes on. Hundreds of people are destitute and suffering intensely from the cold.

HE'S WELL-KNOWN IN PORT HOPE

Mr. Chas. Gilchrist Declares Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured His Diabetes.

He Suffered for Ten Years and Could Get no Relief Till He Tried the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy.

Port Hope, Ont., March 4th.—(Special).—It has long been admitted that what will cure Diabetes will cure any form of Kidney Disease, and Dodd's Kidney Pills have cured the long-standing Diabetes of Charles Gilchrist of this place.

Mr. Gilchrist is easily one of the best known men in Port Hope. For fifteen years he was Chief of Police and for twenty-two years fishery overseer of the Dominion Government. When asekd regarding his cure he had no hesitation in saying it was caused by Dodd's Kidney Pills and nothing else.

"I had Diabetes and Kidney Disorder for ten years," he said. "My urine was like brickdust and I had a terrible backache. I tried doctors, I tried everything, but could get no help till I was advised to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I commenced taking them, soon began to get better, and am quite well now.

"If I had not used Dodd's Kidney Pills, I am sure I would have been in my grave."

Sound kidneys take all impurities out of the blood. Dodd's Kidney Pills make sound Kidneys. They are the greatest tonic of the age.

Dodging a Lion Hunter.

The fondness that some people have for contact with notables is not always shared by the notables themselves. It is told by the late Baron Huddleston that he once tried to obtain a seat next to a duke at the table d'hote in a hotel where both were guests. That this proximity to the great man might be brought about the baron gave the waiter a sovereign. The servant proved a traitor, and, an explanation being demanded, he confessed that the duke had given him two sovereigns not to give the baron the coveted seat.

Mexican Ruins.

Mexico has many ancient ruins, particularly in the states of Oaxaca, Chiapas, Yucatan and Morelia. Those of Mitla, in Oaxaca; Palenqua, in Chiapas; Uxmal, in Yucatan, and Xochimilco, in Morelia, are among the most famous and interesting. Some of them represent whole cities and are supposed to be from two to three thousand years old. They all show the most elaborate carvings, which closely resemble the Egyptian hieroglyphics.

Tortured with Pain.

Too Weak to Work.

ULCERS, BOILS AND PIMPLES ALL OVER HER BODY

Such was the condition of Mrs. Samuel Deitz, Zurich, Ont.

She happily found relief from her terrible suffering by using

Burdock Blood Bitters.

A remedy without a rival for the cure of all diseases and troubles arising from bad blood. A record extending over a quarter of a century and thousands of testimonials will prove this. Mrs. Deitz writes: "Too weak to work, tortured with the pain of ulcers, boils and pimples all over my body, especially on my face. I had almost made up my mind to give up trying to have them cured. I was ashamed to have any person come to see me, my face was in such a terrible state. I tried everything I could think of but got worse and worse. I was then led to try Burdock Blood Bitters and was surprised at the wonderful change the first bottle made. Altogether I took seven bottles and am now completely cured and am in perfect health again. I feel that B.B.B. saved my life."

MY VALENTINE.

Oh, why should I hide when all men may see
That I love my darling and my darling loves me?
The flower in its sweetness, the bird in its glee,
Have shared my heart's secret since my darling loves me.

The sun on the mountain, the star on the sea,
Are more in my vision since my darling loves me.
My brothers and sisters of ev'ry degree,
I am joined to your fortunes since my darling loves me.

The angels in Heaven, and God—even He—
Are more to my liking since my darling loves me.
Wide earth has no purpose and life has no plea,
But that I love my darling, and my darling loves me.

—Albert E. S. Smythe, in Toronto Sunday World.

LATE MOLYNEUX ST. JOHN.

Sketch of the Late Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod.

Molyneux St. John, Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod, who died at St. Luke's Hospital, Ottawa, recently of Bright's disease, had suffered for four years, and his death was hastened by an attack of grippe. Mr. St. John is not known to have had any kindred in Canada.

It would be a difficult task to convey an exact impression of the fact that in the work-a-day world of Canadian journalism and politics, Molyneux St. John wore at all times the panoply of a gentleman. That impression could have been created only in personal contact with the man himself. There it was never missing. He followed reserve to the point of taciturnity, except with his intimates, and even his intimates were unable to break quite through the crust of his personality. Now that he is gone to the place where the clean man is sure of his reward, it may be said of him that he was plainly a man of sorrows, not such sorrows as a clean man could ever prate about, but sorrows none the less. He was a son of honorable and noble English stock. He came to Canada some 25 years ago, and was editorial writer for The Toronto Globe, The Montreal Herald and The Winnipeg Free Press. As a journalist he held always to the higher ideals. A Liberal, even a Radical, in politics, he labored with his subordinates for the observance of the dictates of fair debate. On the walls of the Press Gallery at Ottawa, of which he was president in 1888, his portrait has an honored place, and in Ottawa, as in other Canadian cities where his work lay, there are many journalists to pay tribute to the value of his example in professional and personal conduct. Upon his retirement from active journalism about the time of the accession of the Liberals to power in 1896, he entered the service of the Government as author of the literature which assisted so largely in the furtherance of the emigration policy of the past seven years.

Mr. St. John's (he pronounced his name in the English fashion "Sinjun") appointment to the position which he had at the time of his death imposed on him a form of duty which he never found congenial. At the same time he was able to lend something of his personal dignity to a post which, in the present scheme of things Canadian, has sometimes seemed ridiculous. It is a fact that to the last he yearned for a fitting opportunity to return to the field of his journalistic usefulness. It was about ten years ago when Mr. St. John lost his dearly beloved wife. At that time he was living in Montreal. He was crossing St. Catharine street arm-in-arm with Mrs. St. John when a runaway horse picked her from his grasp and killed her instantly. It was weeks before he realized the nature of his loss. From its effects he never recovered. He was a favorite at all the higher social functions in Ottawa during the past few years, but his heart was evidently elsewhere. Mr. St. John had seen military service in China, enjoyed a shrievalty in the West for some time and in the early nineties had charge of the advertising branch of the Canadian Pacific. He retained to the last a keen interest in Imperial affairs, and his occasional letters to the press during the closing of his days were devoted to the correction of some one or other of the more glaring forms of popular error.

Mr. St. John was a son of the late Major St. John, of the 52nd Regiment, a Waterloo veteran. He had two sisters, one of whom was married to Sir Francis Burnand, editor of Punch, and the other to Richard Bell, manager of the famous Cobham stud in Surrey. His wife, whose stage name was Kate Ranae, was the daughter of a Devonshire clergyman, and a most charming, refined woman.

An Estimate of Sir Gilbert Parker.

The London correspondent of an American paper writes: It often seems that we are losing our great men, and finding no young men of the same calibre to fill their places. But, of course, it isn't so. Among the young men in politics whose promise seems great just now, I might name Sir Gilbert Parker, who is fighting hard for tariff-reform, supported valiantly by his constituency, and I should not be surprised to see him given a Ministerial post before many years have passed. Then there is Winston Churchill, who is fighting for the other side, though, perhaps, he lacks somewhat in breadth of view and in thoroughgoing sanity. Lloyd-George is another young man in politics whose great talent as a speaker will yet make his name well known on both sides of the Atlantic.

Stewed Prunes.

Here is a prize recipe for stewed prunes, given by a California fruit growing association: Wash the prunes in several waters, nearly cover with water and allow to stand overnight. Simmer over a slow fire until tender. Do not put in any sugar until before the prunes are done.

Serfs' Anniversary.

St. Petersburg, March 4.—For the first time since the emancipation of the serfs in 1861, the anniversary yesterday was officially observed throughout the Empire as a general holiday, and with special service in the churches. The newspapers declared the present celebration may be regarded as a turning point in Russian history, marking the recognition of a wider freedom in national life. At the big Central Market of St. Petersburg, thousands stood in the open air, uncovered, joining in the chanting of a te deum.

Well Again.

The many friends of John Blount will be pleased to learn that he has entirely recovered from his attack of rheumatism. Chamberlain's Pain Balm cured him after the best doctors in the town, (Monon, Ind.) had failed to give relief. The prompt relief from pain which this liniment affords is alone worth many times its cost. Sold by all druggists.

Suez Canal Blocked.

Port Said, Egypt, March 4.—As a result of a collision between a Russian torpedo boat and an Egyptian revenue cutter, at Kantara, in the canal, the latter was sunk. The Russians saved the crew of the cutter. The canal will be blocked for at least twenty-four hours.

Three of the four Russian torpedo boats, which returned here Wednesday after having sailed ostensibly for Algiers, were considerably weather-beaten. They were refused an additional supply of coal and ordered to leave port.

The Russian ships at Port Said and the Suez Canal repeatedly overstay their time limit, in spite of the protests of the Government.

The Solar Plexus

Is the largest nerve centre in the sympathetic nervous system, is situated just back of the stomach, and supplies nervous energy, the vital forces of the human body, to the stomach, heart, lungs, kidneys, liver etc. By creating nerve force Dr. Chase's Nerve Food directly aids the solar plexus in supplying the power which runs the machinery of digestion, and so cures nervous dyspepsia, headache, dizzy spells and bodily weakness.

WHAT HAPPENS AFTER FIVE HOURS.

Dr. Bouchard, the eminent French physician, has furnished facts which show that if food is retained in the stomach more than five hours it becomes fermentative and putrefactive,—not digestive,—and that this is the starting-point of disease.

This food mass becomes putrid.

Generates gas.

The stomach dilates.

There is a seeming lump—weight, burning, or belching.

Blood, fibre, tissue, and cells begin to absorb poison from the stomach and alimentary canal instead of nutriment, and right here is the producing cause of Constipation, Diabetes, Bright's Disease, Uterine and Ovarian troubles, Rheumatism, Gout, Nervous and Mental Distress, Bronchitis, Heart Affection, Pulmonary Consumption, Jaundice, Liver and Skin Diseases.

Inability of the stomach to properly handle food is mainly caused by overeating; drinking too much liquid, gases generated from slow digestion, preventing the mixing of food with gastric juice to properly prepare it for use in the body.

Dr J. S. Leonhardt worked for years in perfecting Anti-Pill, so that it would guarantee regular stomach action, and its astonishing cures are proof of its mission being fulfilled, of its being the greatest System Treatment in the world. 50 cents of druggists, or mailed to any address by Wilson-Fyfe Co., Niagara Falls, Ont. Purified by Suffering

BY MARY J. HOLMES,

CHAPTER IX.

On the morning of the 9th day of June, 18—, Wilford Cameron stood in his father's parlor, surrounded by the entire family, who, after their unusually early breakfast, assembled to bid him good-bye, for Wilford was going for his bride, and it would be months, if not a year, ere he returned to them again. They had given him up to his idol, asking only that none of the idol's family should be permitted to cross their threshold, and also that the idol should not often be allowed the privilege of returning to the place from whence she came. These restrictions had emanated from the female portion of the Cameron family, the mother, Juno and Bell. The father, on the contrary, had sworn roundly as he would sometimes swear at what he called the contemptible pride of his wife and daughters. Katy was sure of a place in his heart just because of the pride which was building up so high a wall between her and her friends, and when at parting he held his son's hand in his, he said:

"I charge you Will, be kind to that young girl, and don't for Heaven's sake go to cramming her with airs and nonsense which she does not understand. Tell her I'll be a father to her; her own, you say, is dead, and give her this as my bridal present."

He held out a small box containing a most exquisite set of pearls, such as he fancied would be becoming to the soft, girlish beauty Wilford had described. Something in his father's manner touched Wilford closely, making him resolve anew that if Kitty were not happy as Mrs. Cameron it should not be his fault. His mother had said all she wished to say, while his sisters had been gracious enough to send their love to the bride, Bell hoping she would look as well in the poplin and little plaid as she had done. Either was suitable for the wedding day, Mrs. Cameron said, and she might take her choice, only Wilford must see that she did not wear with the poplin the gloves and belt intended for the silk; country people had so little taste, and she did want Katy to look well, even if she were not there to see her. And with his brain a confused medley of poplins and plaids, belts and gloves, pearls and Katy, Wilford finally tore himself away, and at three o'clock that afternoon drove through Silverton village past the little church, which the Silverton maidens were decorating with flowers, pausing a moment in their work as he went by. Among them was Marion Hazelton, but she only bent lower over her work, thus hiding the tear which dropped upon the delicate buds she was fashioning into the words, "Joy to the Bride," intending the whole as the centre of the wreath to be placed over the altar where all could see it.

"The handsomest man I ever saw," was the verdict of most of the girls as they came back to their work, while Wilfokd drove on to the farm-house where Katy had been so anxiously watching for him.

When he came in sight, however, and she knew he was actually there, she ran away to hide her blushes, and the feeling of awe which had come suddenly over her for the man who was to be her husband. But Helen bade her go back, and so she went coyly in to Wilford, who met her with loving caresses, and then put upon her finger the superb diamond which he said he had thought to send as a pledge of their engagement, but had finally concluded to wait and present himself. Katy had heard much of diamonds, and seen some in Canandaigua; but the idea that she, Katy Lennox, would ever wear them, had never entered her mind; and now, as she looked at the brilliant gem sparkling upon her hand, she felt a thrill of something more than joy at that good fortune which had brought her to diamonds. Vanity, we suppose it was—such vanity as was very natural in her case, and she thought she should never tire of looking at the precious stone; but when Wilford showed her next the plain broad band of gold, and tried it on her third finger, asking if she knew what it meant, the true woman spoke within her, and she answered tearfully:

"Yes, I know, and I will try to prove worthy of what I shall be to you when I wear that ring for good."

Katy was very quiet for a moment as she sat with her head nestled against Wilford's bosom, but when he observed that she was looking tired, and asked if she had been working hard, the quiet fit was broken, and she told him of the dress "we had made," the "we" referring solely to Helen and Marian, for Katy had hardly done a thing. But it did not matter; she fancied she had, and she asked if he did not wish to see her dresses. Wilford knew it would please Katy, and so he followed her into the adjoining room, where they were spread out upon tables and chairs, with Helen in their midst, ready to pack them away. Wilford thought of Mrs. Ryan and the check, but he shook hands with Helen very civilly, saying to her playfully:

"I suppose you are willing I should take your sister with me this time."

Helen could not answer, but turned away to hide her face, while Katy showed one dress after another, until she came to the silk, which, with a bright blush, she told him "was the very thing itself—the one intended for to-morrow," and asked if he did not like it.

Wilford could not help telling her yes, for he knew she wished him to do so, but in his heart he was thinking bad thoughts against the wardrobe of his bride elect—thoughts which would have won for him the title of hen-huzzy from Helen, could she have known them. And yet Wilford did not deserve that name. He had been accustomed all his life to hearing dress discussed in his mother's parlor, and in his sisters' boudoir, while for the last five weeks he had heard at home little else than the probable tout ensemble of Katy's wardrobe, bought and made in the country, his mother deciding finally to write to her cousin, Mrs. Harvey, who boarded at the Revere, and have her see to it before Katy left the city. Under these circumstances, it was not strange that Wilford did not enter into Katy's delight, even after she told him how Helen had made every stitch of the dress herself, and that it would on that account be very dear to her. This was a favorable time for getting the poplin off his mind, and with a premonitory "ahem," he said: "Yes, it is very nice, no doubt; but," and here he turned to Helen, "after Mrs. Ryan's services were declined, my mother determined to have two dresses fitted to sister Bell, who I think is just Katy's size and figure. I need not say," and his eyes stiff rested on Helen, who gave him back an unflinching glance, "I need not say that no pains have been spared to make these garments everything they should be in point of quality and style. I have them in my trunk, and," turning now to Katy, "it is my mother's special request that one of them be worn to-morrow. You could take your choice, she said—either was suitable. I will bring them for your inspection."

He left the room, while Helen's face resembled a dark thunder-cloud whose lightnings shone in her flashing eyes as she looked after him and then back to where Katy stood, bewildered and wondering what was wrong.

"Who is Mrs. Ryan?" she asked. "What does he mean?" but before Helen could command her voice to explain, Wilford was with them again bringing the dresses, over which Katy nearly went wild.

She had never seen anything as elegant as the rich, heavy poplin or the soft lustrous silk, while even Helen acknowledged that there was about them a finish which threw Miss Hazelton's quite in the shade.

"Beautiful!" Katy exclaimed; "and trimmed so exquisitely! I do so hope they will fit!"

"I dare say they will," Wilford replied, enjoying her appreciation of his mother's gift. "At all events they will answer for to-morrow, and any needful alterations can be made in Boston. Which will you wear?"

"Oh, I don't know. I wish I could wear both. Helen, which shall I?" and Katy appealed to her sister, who could endure no more, but hid her head among the pillows of the bed and cried.

Katy understood the whole, and dropping the silk to which she inclined the most, she flew to Helen's side and whispered to her. "Don't Nellie, I won't wear either of them. I'll wear the one you made. It was mean and vain in me to think of doing otherwise."

During this scene Wilford had stolen from the room, and with him gone, Helen was capable of judging candidly and sensibly. She knew the city silk was handsomer and better suited for Wilford Cameron's bride than the country plaid, and so she said to Katy: "I would rather you should wear the one they sent. It will become you better." Suppose you try it on," and in seeking to gratify her sister, Helen forgot in part her own cruel disappointment, and that her work of days had been for naught. The dress fitted well, though Katy pronounced it too tight and too long. A few moments, however, accustomed her to the length, and then her mother, Aunt Hannah, and Aunt Betsy came to see and admire, while Katy proposed going out to Wilford, but Helen kept her back, Aunt Betsy remarking under her breath, that "she didn't see for the life of her how Catherine could be so free and easy with that man when just the sight of him was enough to take away a body's breath.

"More free and easy than she will be by and by," was Helen's mental comment as she proceeded quietly to pack the trunk which Morris had brought for the voyage across the sea, dropping into it many a tear as she folded away one article after another, and wondered under what circumstances she should see them again if she saw them ever.

Helen was a Christian girl, and many a time had she prayed in secret that He who rules the deep would keep its waters calm and still while her sister was upon them, and she prayed so now, constantly, burying her face once in her hands, and asking that Katy might come back to them unchanged, if possible, and asking next that God would remove from her heart all bitterness towards the bridegroom, who was to be her brother, and whom, after that short, earnest prayer, she found herself liking better. He loved Katy, she was sure, and that was all she cared for, though she did wish he would release her before twelve o'clock on that night, the last she would spend with them for a long, long time. But Wilford kept her with him in the parlor, kissing away the tears which flowed so fast when she recalled the prayer of Uncle Ephraim, with her kneeling by him as she might never kneel again. He had called her by name, and his voice was very sad as he commended her to God, asking that He would "be with our little Katy wherever she might go, keeping her in all the meandering scenes of life, and bringing her at last to His own heavenly home."

Wilford himself was touched, and though he noticed the deacon's pronunciation, he did not even smile, and his manner was very respectful, when, after the prayer was over and they were alone a moment, the white-haired deacon felt it incumbent upon him to say a few words concerning Katy.

"She's a young, rattle-headed creature, not much like your own kin, I guess; but, young man, she is as dear as the apple of our eyes, and I charge you to treat her well. She has never had a crossways word spoke to her in all her life, and don't you be the first to speak it, nor let your folks browbeat her."

As they were alone, it was easier for Wilford to be humble and conciliatory, and he promised all the old man required, and then went back to Katy, who was going into raptures over the beautiful little watch which Morris had sent over as her bridal gift from him. Even Mrs. Mrs. Cameron herself could have found no fault with this, and Wilford praised it as much as Katy could desire, noticing the inscription: "Katy, from Cousin Morris, June 10th, 18—," wishing that after the "Katy" had come the name Cameron, and wondering if Morris had any design in omitting it. Wilford had not yet presented his father's gift, but he did so now, and Katy's tears dropped upon the pale, soft pearls as she whispered: "I shall like your father. I never thought of having things like these."

Nor had she, but she would grow to them very soon, while even the family gathering round and sharing in her joy began to realize how great a lady their Katy was to be. It was late that night ere anybody slept, if sleep at all they did, which was doubted, unless it were the bride, who, with Wilford's kisses warm upon her lips, crept up to bed just as the clock was striking twelve, nor woke until it was again chiming for six, and over her Helen bent, a dark ring about her eyes and her face very white as she whispered: "Wake, Katy darling, this is your wedding day."

A Widowers' Home.

Glasgow has a widowers' home in which any poor man who has lost his wife and has no one to care for his children may rent two rooms for $1.30 a week and pay for meals at cost price. There is room in it for 140 motherless families, and nurses are provided free to take charge of the children.

How to Winter the Baby

A very important problem to which the answer is simple and obvious, viz: Clothe it warmly and feed it properly. Sounds easy, does it not? And yet it is safe to say that not one mother in a thousand understands the Baby's needs and how to feed it PROPERLY. In Baby the foundations of the future man or woman are being laid and everything depends on their being strong and secure. Every part must be developed; therefore, it is essential that the food given shall contain the elements necessary to produce good firm flesh, tough muscles, good hard bones, rich red blood and strong nerves. Then Baby's stomach must be considered. The food should be concentrated, palatable and easily digested. This is the ideal food and FERROL (The Iron-Oil Food) fills the bill to a nicety. If your Baby is not thriving as it should, if it lacks vim, energy and color, if it takes cold easily, in short if it is not real well, try FERROL and you will be both surprised and delighted.

FERROL is the ideal infant food, and, by the way, it is an infallible specific for Croup and Bronchitis.

We Offer $1,000

For a Disease Germ That Liquozone Can't Kill

On every bottle of Liquozone we publish an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill. We do that to convince you that Liquozone does as we claim.

Please note what that means. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and it cannot be taken internally. Medicine is, therefore, almost helpless in any germ disease. Liquozone alone can kill germs in the body without killing the tissues, too.

Acts Like Oxygen

Liquozone is the result of a process which, for more than 20 years, has been the constant study of scientific and chemical research. Its virtues are derived solely from gas, made in large part from the best oxygen producers. By a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time, these gases are made part of the liquid product.

The result is a product that does what oxygen does. Oxygen gas, as you know, is the very source of vitality, the most essential element of life. Liquozone is a vitalizing tonic with which no other known product can compare. But germs are vegetables; and Liquozone, which—like oxygen—is life to an animal, is deadly to vegetal matter.

For the American rights to Liquozone—the highest price ever paid for similar rights on any scientific discovery. We did this after testing the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, in this country and others.

That price was paid because Liquozone does what all the skill in the world cannot do without it. It does in germ diseases that which is impossible with drugs. It carries into the blood a harmless yet powerful germicide, to destroy at once and forever the cause of any germ disease. And no man knows another way to do it.

Liquozone is new in America, and millions who need it don't know of it. For that reason we are spending $500,000 to give the first bottle free to each of a million sick ones.

Germ Diseases

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquozone kills the germs, wherever they are, and the results are inevitable. By destroying the cause of the trouble, it invariably ends the disease, and forever,

The Happy Home.

Happiness must be founded on health. Where there is ill-health there will surely be unhappiness. The happiness of many a home has received its downfall at the table, spread with rich and dainty foods. The first symptoms of disease of the stomach are ignored as being disagreeable but not dangerous. Presently dyspepsia or some other form of disease fastens on the stomach.

At any stage Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. But the cure is quicker if the "Discovery" is used in the earlier stages of disease. If you have any symptoms of diseased stomach use "Golden Medical Discovery" and be cured.

"I feel that I would be doing an injustice to you if I did not send you a statement of my case," writes Mrs. David W. Guice, of Hamburg, Franklin Co., Miss. "I had liver complaint and indigestion. Everything that I ate disagreed with me. I suffered all the time with swimming in my head; heart beat too fast; my feet and hands were cold all the time. Did not sleep well at all. Was able to get about but very little. I commenced to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets' in May, 1897, and by December I could begin to get about very well. Have been doing my work ever since. Feel better than I have for several years."

BIBLE SOCIETIES.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In reading the several articles which have recently appeared in the press, regarding the centenary anniversary celebration of the British and Foreign Bible Society, to be held on Sunday next, one would naturally infer that the above society was the only organization that existed, with the same object in view, during the past century. However, as there were brave men before Agamemnon, so the Bible was circulated for long ages prior to the time that this great society came into existence. For a long period this object has been pursued to a considerable extnt by several religious institutions, such as the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Wales, founded by the Rev. Thomas Gouge, one of the two thousand ministers ejected by the Act of Uniformity in 1662; the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in New England, incorporated in 1649, and again in 1661; the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, founded in 1689; the Society for sending Missionaries to India, established in the year 1705 by Frederick IV., King of Denmark, and which numbered among its agents the celebrated missionary, Christian Frederick Schwartz; the society for Promoting Christian Knowledge in the Highlands and Islands of Scotland, formed in Edinburgh in 1709; the Moravian Missionary Society, founded in 1732; the Book Society for Promoting Religious Knowledge among the Poor, which was formed in London in 1750, and numbered among its earliest friends Dr. Doddridge and the Rev. James Harvey; and the Religious Tract Society, founded in 1779. But the first British association which had in view the single purpose of disseminating the Scriptures was the Naval and Military Bible Society as ablished in the year 1780 which has done immense service to the army and navy of Great Britain. The sphere of its operations, however, was comparatively limited. In 1804 the British and Foreign Bible Society was founded. The Edinburgh society originated in the controversy respecting the circulation of the Apocrypha, and was composed of Protestants professing their belief in the doctrine of the Holy trinity, disposed to co-operate in promoting the dissemination of the scriptures. The Scottish Bible Society was instituted upwards of forty years ago. At the time of the establishment the other Bible societies in Scotland employed their funds chiefly in circulating the Scriptures in foreign countries. This association was intended exclusively for the distribution of the Bible at home, and its funds were at first derived from collections made in the parish churches within the Synod of Lothian and Tweeddale.

The Scotch Bible societies were amalgamated in 1861 and took the name of the National Bible Society of Scotland. During the year 1874 the society issued 310,908 Bibles, Testaments and "Portions," its receipts, including the proceeds of sales, amounting to $111,160.

The first Bible society in America is believed to have been established by a few Baptists in New York in 1804, its object being to purchase and lend Bibles for a month at a time. The American Bible Society was formed at New York, May 8, 1817. It has numerous auxiliaries throughout the several States of the Union. In 1875 its income amounted to $577,569, and its issue during that year was 926,900 Bibles and Testaments.

The Hibernian Bible Society, founded in Ireland in 1806, largely supplements the work of the British and Foreign Bible Society.

It is believed that there are altogether about 75 Bible societies in the world.

Yours very truly,
W. H. G. ARMSTRONG.

A LULL IN WAR NEWS

All is Quiet at Port Arthur. Kinkow and Vladivostock.

BUT MAY BE CENSOR'S WORK

One Hundred Thousand Japanese Landed in Corea—Japanese Fleet Employed in Guarding Transports—Port Arthur Harbor Closed to All But Cruisers By the Retvizan—The Czar to King Edward.

St. Petersburg, March 5.—The following despatch, dated March 3, has been received from Major-General Pflug, commanding the Russian forces at Port Arthur:

"All is quiet at Port Arthur and Kinkow. According to information given by eye-witnesses, a Japanese cruiser having three funnels lies near Chemulpo, between islands, having recently sunk there."

All Quiet at Vladivostock:

Vladivostock, March 5.—All is quiet here. No Japanese warships have been seen since Feb. 25, when ten ships were sighted on the horizon, but soon disappeared. The inhabitants continue to leave Vladivostock for Nikolak, Khabarovsk or Europe.

100,000 Japanese Landed.

Vladivostock, March 5.—According to information received here, 40 Japanese transports, escorted by the entire naval fleet, have been energetically landing troops in Corea, at Fusan and Chemulpo. It is estimated that fully 100,000 men have disembarked, and it is supposed that an immediate advance into North Corea is contemplated. From the fact that the Japanese fleet is thus employed it is felt that no immediate attack on Vladivostock or Port Arthur will be made. The reported landing of 2,500 Japanese at Congchin, Plaksin Bay, on the east coast of Corea, has been confirmed.

Japs Rush in Forces.

London, March 5.—Little change in the Far Eastern situation is reported this morning. It is apparent that the Japanese are busily engaged in transporting their forces into Corea, and this work is being facilitated by the enforced inactivity of the navy.

According to the Sebastopol correspondent of The Daily Graphic, Admiral Skrydoliff has learned privately from Port Arthur that the Russian battleship Retvizan lies in such a position as to block effectually the exit of the battleships from the harbor, the passage being practicable only for cruisers. The correspondent adds that Russia's new battleships now building on the Baltic will not be ready for active commission before the end of August.

Japanese Foresight.

The Japanese official who has charge of Japan's financial and commercial interests in England declares that his Governement foresaw the possibility of coal being declared contraband of war, and that it has been collecting large stores of Welsh steam coal for years, so that to-day it has a supply sufficient for the needs of the navy for years to come.

The recent Japanese elections resulted rather favorably to the Ministerialists, without greatly changing the strength of political parties there. The returns are approximately 130 Constitutionalists, 96 Progressives, 70 without party and 83 members from small groups.

War Is to Secure Peace.

According to the Tokio correspondent of The Standard, the Mikado has sent a personal message to the Emperor of Corea, assuring him that war was declared solely with the view of securing permanent peace, and expressing the sincere wish that the recently concluded Japanese-Corean protocol should increase the intimacy of the two countries.

On the strength of a statement made by a missionary, the Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Chronicle sends in a doubtful report that 98 Japanese sailors have landed at Tongchau, saying that their vessel had sunk, as the result of an engagement with Russian warships, which also went down. No Russians were saved, but 200 Japanese were rescued by Chinese junks. This action is reported to have occurred between Port Arthur and the Miaoto Islands.

Great Britain's Neutrality.

London, March 5.—The Russian Ambassador, Count Benckendroff, who returned to London from St. Petersburg on Wednesday, yesterday visited King Edward and presented His Majesty with an autograph letter from the Czar. This was in answer to a letter sent by Kind Edward, in which, in the most friendly terms, he emphasized Great Britain's complete neutrality during the war in the Far East. Britain will not move unless compelled to do so by the entrance into Far East affairs of a third power.

The Wirenius Squadron.

Port Said, March 5.—Admiral Wirenius' squadron of Russian warships leaves here to-day for Cadiz, Spain. The torpedo boat destroyers will remain in the Mediterranean until June, awaiting the arrival of the Baltic squadron.

BOMBARDMENT BY JAPANESE.

This Time at Vladivostock—Little Damage Done.

FIVE RUSSIANS WERE KILLED.

The Japs Stood Off Five Miles and Fired Lydite Shells—It is not Known Whether Russian Fleet was in the Harbour or not—Russia Closing up to China.

Vladivostock, March 7.—A fleet of five Japanese battleships and two cruisers appeared off this place at 1.25 o'clock Sunday afternoon and bombarded the town and shore batteries for 5 minutes. The fleet approached from the direction of Askold Island, at the east entrance of Ussuri Bay and about 32 miles southeast of Vladivostock.

Entering Ussuri Bay the enemy formed in line of battle, but did not approach to a closer range than five and one-third miles. They directed their fire against the shore batteries, but no damage resulted, as most of their 200 lyddite shells failed to burst.

The Russians batteries, commanded by Generals Veropetz and Artamonoff, did not reply, awaiting a closer approach of the enemy. The Japanese fire ceased at 2.20 p.m., and the enemy retired in the direction of Askold Island. Simultaneously two torpedo boat destroyers appeared near Askold Island and two more near Cape Maidol.

The Japanese ships were covered with ice. The attack resulted in no loss to the Russians, but cost the enemy 200,000 roubles ($100,000) in ammunition. Most of the projectiles were six and 12-inch shells. The population of Vladivostock was warned this morning of the presence on the horizon of a hostile fleet and of the prospect of an attack during the day, but it remained tranquil.

Alexieff Confirms Bombardment.

St. Petersburg, March 7.—A communication from Viceroy Alexieff to the Czar, from Mukden, bearing yesterday's date, says:

"I most humbly inform your Majesty that the commander at the fortress at Vladivostock reports that at 8.50 this morning seven vessels were south of Askold Island. At 9 they were seen to be warships making for Askold Island. Above it on the enemy's squadron was under way between the coast and Askold Island, making for Ussuri Bay. They were out of reach of the shore batteries. At 1.30 the enemy opened fire. Two vessels in the squadron were probably the first-class cruisers Odzumo and Yakumo, but the names of the other vessels are unknown."

Official despatches concerning the bombardment of Vladivostock by a Japanese fleet yesterday afternoon do not mention any Russian losses, but private advices say that four sailors and the wife of an engineer were killed. It is apparent that Japanese were afraid to risk exposing their ships to the plunging fire of the land batteries, and it is considered probable here that the attack was really to draw the fire of the Russian forts, compelling the Russians to disclose the position and calibre of their guns, and also to ascertain whether the Russiah squadron is in port.

If this was the Japanese purpose, it is believed to have failed signally, as the batteries did not fire a shot, and if the squadron is in port it could not be seen from the Japanese position in the Bay of Ussuri.

The Cossack scouts say that a Japanese column from Plaksin Bay on arriving in the snow-blocked defile of the mountains separating Corea from Manchuria, was forced to halt owing to avalanches and other obstacles. The scouts say that one-third of the strength of this column is invalided. It is now supposed that the column is returning for the purpose of seeking an easier route.

Russian Squadron Not in Port.

London, March 7. Only Russian reports on the bombardment of Vladivostock have yet been received, and these give no indications whether the Russian squadron is still there. According to a report from Tokio, the squadron was seen off Gensan, Corea, last Thursday, but of this report there is no reliable information.

Speculation, however, inclines to the belief that the Russian squadron is not in port at Vladivostock, as neither the official nor the other reports of the bombardment mention Russian battleships.

The Standard's St. Petersburg correspondent telegraphs, under reserve, a story to the effect that a party of Japanese, disguised as Tartars, were arrested by a guard of the Siberian Railway bridge at the River Volga, having packages of dynamite in their possession.

A spacial despatch from Tientsin estimates there are 30,000 Tungese irregulars in southern Manchuria, largely led by patriotic Japanese, who volunteered for the dangerous work. The Russian cruiser Aurora has arrived at Suda Bay, Turkey.

Japs Lost Small Engagements.

Yinkow, March 7.—The removal of the furniture of the police and military quarters at Newchwang, the withdrawal of unnecessary rolling stock and equipment from the Newchwang railway terminus and the removal of silver from the bank, indicate an intended evacuation of Newchwang. The bank authorities have arranged to leave French and German agents in charge of their interests.

A large force of cavalry is expected to return to Newchwang before the river opens for the purpose of maintaining patrols between the main railway and the sea, and of reconnoitering the coast.

Russian private letters disclose the fact that in the recent engagements between the Yalu River and Pingyang the Russians with superior numbers defeated the Japanese, but lost heavily.

Refugees arriving here say that Port Arthur has not been attacked since Feb. 26, but that stores and ammunition are still arriving. Work on the mud docks in which it is expected to repair the battleship Czarevitch has been abandoned for the past three days, the foreign engineer being unable to raise the Retvizan, quitting Port Arthur together with the only other Anglo-Saxon there.

That considerable damage within the fortifications has been caused by the Japanese fire from Pigeon Bay is corroborated and the defences on that side are being strengthened by barbed wire entanglements and additional artillery. Street traffic in Port Arthur, the refugees say, is largely confined to ammunition carts. All the forts have been provided with naval signal officers to identify Russian ships and preventing the fort from firing on them when they arrive.

China Asserts Herself to Russia.

Tokio, March 7.—The Chinese Foreign Office has replied to the Mikado's Government regarding the protest filed by Russia against the despatch of troops to the northern provinces. The reply says that the object is to maintain order and enforce neutrality.

China has requested the Russian troops to withdraw to the eastward of the Liao River, as otherwise much disturbance might be caused to the Chinese inhabitants of those provinces.

A small number of Russian troops are reported to be at Newchwang. The influence of the Russians at that important port seems to be on the decline and they have expressed the desire that China shall declare Newchwang to be a neutral port, with the apparent object of embarrassing Japan. The arrival of the Japanese army is desired by all neutrals.

The Russian troops are greatly embarrassed by the scarcity of provisions supplied in Manchuria, owing to Japanese successes on the sea and the Chinese declaration of neutrality. The Russians rely largely on the Siberian railway for food supplies, and the transportation of troops is consequently impeded.

A Che Foo report puts the number of troops at Port Arthur as 11,100. They are prepared for a Japanese attack from the rear. Provisions are high; no coal is sold and the inhabitants and coolies are forced to remain.

According to trustworthy information from Pingyang, there are no Russian soldiers south of Anjou. A report from Tientsin says that 20,000 Russians have crossed the Yula River, but this cannot be confirmed.

Russians Leaving New Base.

Tokio, March 7.—The Russians are busily fortifying Antung, which, it is believed, they will make a base for resistance. Troops near Anjou are being withdrawn towards Antung. It is despatched here that the French Government, in behalf of the holders of concessions, has made any objection to Japan completing the Seoul-Wiju Railway.

RUSSIAN MINISTERS HASTILY SUMMONED

Bombardment of Vladivostock has Alarmed St. Petersburg.

British Embassy Staff at Russian Capital Practically Boycotted —Strong Feeling Against England.

(Special G. N. W. Despatch to the Examiner.)

Port Arthur, March 7.—There is no change in the situation here, the weather is fine.

St. Petersburg, March 7.—A special meeting of the Council of Ministers was convened suddenly in the winter palace last evening, to consider measures to protect Vladivostock, which was bombarded by the Japanese fleet yesterday.

Rome, March 7.—The Agenzia Libera publishes a telegram from its Chemulpo correspondent, who asserts that Japanese forces, probably under protection of the squadron which bombarded Vladivostock, have landed on the Island of Askold and neighbouring Islets to the south-east or opposite Vladivostock. The landing, says the correspondent, was effected at Lin Kin.

The Japanese squadron in the Yellow Sea, adds the telegram, still remains before Port Arthur. Three vessels of this squadron, with the Cruisers Kasuga and Nishin, have been sent to Vladivostock. It is believed a simultaneous attack will be made on both Port Arthur and Vladivostock to-day.

Manchester, March 7th.—The London correspondence of the Guardian quotes a private letter from St. Petersburg, in which it is stated that the English residents of the Russian capital think the situation there is alarming for England. The British embassy staff, says the writer, has been practically boycotted. The letter adds, "War with England would be highly popular in Russia; the war party greatly desires it as one feasible way of distracting attention from the disasters in the East, and making a fresh start, by means of alliances with other countries against Britain."

A prominent Southern lady, Mrs. Blanchard, of Nashville, Tenn., tells how she was cured of backache, dizziness, painful and irregular periods by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Gratitude compels me to acknowledge the great merit of your Vegetable Compound. I have suffered for four years with irregular and painful menstruation, also dizziness, pains in the back and lower limbs, and fitful sleep. I dreaded the time to come which would only mean suffering to me.

"Better health is all I wanted, and cure if possible. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me health and happiness in a few short months. I feel like another person now. My aches and pains have left me. Life seems new and sweet to me, and everything seems pleasant and easy.

"Six bottles brought me health, and was worth more than months under the doctor's care, which really did not benefit me at all. I am satisfied there is no medicine so good for sick women as your Vegetable Compound, and I advocate it to my lady friends in need of medical help."—MRS. B. A. BLANCHARD, 422 Broad St., Nashville, Tenn.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhœa, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

A Severe Case of Womb Trouble Cured in Philadelphia.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have been cured of severe female troubles by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was nearly ready to give up, but seeing your advertisement I purchased one bottle of your medicine, and it did me so much good that I purchased another, and the result was so satisfactory that I bought six more bottles, and am now feeling like a new woman. I shall never be without it. I hope that my testimonial will convince women that your Vegetable Compound is the greatest medicine in the world for falling of the womb or any other female complaints."—MRS. MAY COPY, 2660 Birch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Remember, every woman is cordially invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about her symptoms she does not understand. Her address is Lynn, Mass., her advice is free and cheerfully given to every ailing woman who asks for it.

MISLEADING THE PUBLIC.

The Conservatives are clamouring for a high protective tariff, and at the same time complaining that the Liberals have raised the taxes. The Mail and Empire says that the Liberals have raised the taxes "from $3.94 per head in 1896 to $5.94 in 1904." Taking these figures as correct, (some little risk, since they are used by the Mail for political purposes), the misleading character of their employment is palpable. The rate of customs duties, instead of being increased, has been greatly lowered, but the result that under the Liberal tariff the prospects resulting from, or at least coincident with, Liberal rule, has produced an accumulation of revenue — so great as to increase the revenue per head (not the tax per head) from $3.94 in 1896, to $5.94 in 1904. In other words, the commercial and industrial activities of the country increased so largely the consuming power of the people, resulting from increased employment and good times under Liberal rule, as to call for so much greater importations, as to cause the increase in revenue in the proportion mentioned. The Mail and its political confreres are deceiving the public when they seek to convey the impression that the rate of taxation has been raised by the Liberals. The latter have lowered the rate, yet, with increased prosperity, the people insisted in buying more, compelling merchants to import more, and thus we have the increase of revenue largely accounted for.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

If the Russians are bottled up in Port Arthur, Manchuria, Admiral To-Go is the corker.

Even New Ontario feels the thrill of prosperity. The customs collections at the port of Port Arthur (exclusive of out ports) for the seven months ending January 31st last were three times as much as they were for the whole year two years ago and $30,000 more than last year. This is Port Arthur, Ontario, not the Russian Port Arthur, where there is likely to be a slight falling off in customs receipts.

The report of the Bureau of Industries has been issued. The population of Ontario for 1902 is given as 2,037,267, as compared with 2,028,889 in 1901. The total assessment is $859,943,263, while in the preceding year it was $835,697,607. The taxes imposed for all purposes were $14,146,831, and in 1901 they were $13,311,355. Since 1886 there has been a steady increase in the rate per head of taxation. The rate was then $4.93, while in 1902 it was $6.94, and in the same period the rate has increased from 12.97 mills to 16.5 mills on the dollar. The debenture debt has also increased from $29,924,863 in 1866 to $35,496,650 in 1901. The rate of taxation varies in different parts of the province.

PULPWOOD.

The future outlook and present management of the pulpwood industry are matters of the utmost importance to Canada as a whole and to Ontario in particular, says the Globe. Any light that experts can throw on this question must be helpful, for the industry is new enough to be still in the formative stage. Not many years have yet elapsed since the discovery was made that the best of all woods for the production of paper is the spruce, and, as the great bulk of the world's supply of that wood is in Canada, it is obvious that it should be utilized with care and intelligence. In relation to this question the contribution made to the budget debate by the member for Parry Sound in Legislative Assembly was full of interest.

Mr. Carr has the advantage of knowing all there is to be known about the Canadian spruce, and he has obtained his knowledge in the best of all ways, from practical experience. He called attention to a peculiarity of the situation that is far too often overlooked, namely, that spruce has no value for pulpwood purposes, and very little for any other purpose, until it is brought into touch with a market. To use his own expressive language: "Pulpwood is worth, according to its distance from a railway, anywhere from twenty-five cents less than nothing up to two dollars a cord." He also called attention to the important fact that the spruce is not so gregarious as the pine, and that the trees are to be found in the northern part of the Province scattered singly or in small groups among the ordinary forest trees. As the settler clears this land these spruce trees disappear in the general destruction unless the creation of a local market makes it worth the farmer's while to preserve and sell it.

In Mr. Carr's opinion the present pulpwood policy of the Ontario Government is a sound one. Unless a railway is very close to the place of growth it does not pay the farmer to save his spruce, because the wood has to bear so much cost for transportation to distant mills that the buyer can afford only a very narrow margin of profit to the man who cuts, piles, and draws it to the station. For this reason it is very desirable to have local pulp mills established in the hands of strong companies. They can under the present regulations maintain a constant supply of spruce by carefully selecting trees from the areas covered by their franchises, and they can, in order to save their own growing trees, purchase from the settlers the spruce timber that would otherwise go to the log-heap in the fallow.

Mr. Carr disposed of two contentions regarding pulp companies put forward by those who have not carefully studied the situation. He made it clear that there can be no partisan benefit to the Government from the formation of the pulp companies, for in each of them there are Conservative as well as Liberal shareholders and directors. To ignore this fact is to taint the contention with dishonesty. Then a policy of putting up pulpwood areas to competition would certainly fail, because it is impossible to estimate the supply of spruce as pine is estimated. Moreover, a financially weak company would find it impossible to carry on the business profitably. The Sturgeon Falls Company, according to his information, has run its outlay up to a million dollars and did not receive any return for eight years. On the whole, Mr. Carr made out a strong case for the continuation of the present pulpwood policy, a case that cannot be successfully assailed.

ADVISES AGAINST FODDER CHEESE.

Its Manufacture Tends to Reduce the Price and is not Profitable.

Factorys Should Manufacture Butter Until May 1st—A Good Demand for Butter this Spring.

Mr. J. Stanley Cook, secretary of Montreal Produce Merchants' Association, has issued a circular letter to Dairymen, in which he strongly deprecates the manufacture of fodder cheese, and advises opening the season later, and closing it earlier. The letter reads:—

"The Montreal Produce Merchants' Association desires once more to record its objections to the manufacture of fodder cheese, either at the beginning or at the end of the season, believing it to be against the interests of all connected with the manufacture of full grass cheese, from the farmer to the exporter. It is the opinion of this Association that the time has arrived when the manufacture of fodder cheese should be discontinued, and a time for the opening and closing of cheese factories definitely arrived at.

"The amount of cheese manufactured in Canada last year reached the large total of 2,900,000 boxes, being about 350,000 boxes over the previous year. This was largely owing to the excessive manufacture of fodder cheese in March and April, and November and December. The uncertainty of the extent and time of the manufacture of these fodders, together with the inferior quality produced, tends to depress the market, creates a lowering of values, and affects the prices obtainable during the whole of the summer season. The opinion of this association is that it is strongly in the interests of the dairymen that the manufacture of cheese should not commence before May 1st, and should close not later than November 15th. If this were done a steadier market would result, and a better price would be obtained. The question of what to do with the surplus milk during the seasons referred to, is easily settled by the manufacture of butter. By giving closer attention than heretofore to the requirements of the trade in butter, the quality would be much improved, and we would soon gain a reputation and a quick market for goods made during the winter and early summer months. Most profitable use could be made of the skim milk for the feeding of stock.

"The prospects for the profitable manufacture of butter have never been brighter than they are at this season. The exportation of butter from Russia, which is assuming very large proportions, will probably be much curtailed by the war between that country and Japan, and this fact, together with the firm advices from England, should bring about higher prices in the near future. With the present good home trade demand producers of choice creamery butter will find prices profitable this spring. The stock of cheese in Great Britain and Canada is now almost double that of last year, and if many fodders are made it is bound to result in phenomenally low prices during the coming season."

PROSPEROUS SUB-ARCTIC PROVINCE.

What the Weather is Like in the Yukon Territory.

The Sanitary, Educational and Other Conditions of the Golden Land.

The annual report of Dr. J. N. E. Brown, territorial secretary of the department of the Yukon, is to hand. Some interesting facts are contained in the statistical tables. The highest temperature recorded during the year was 90 degrees Fahrenheit. The thermometer reached that figure three times, on the 19th of June, and on the 10th and 11th of July. The opposite extreme was reached on the 10th of February, when the thermometer crept down to 57 degrees below zero. The greatest fluctuation of temperature in 24 hours was recorded on the first of August, when a difference of 43 degrees was shown. During June, July and August, the temperature did not once fall to the freezing point.

The medical health officer's report notes the rapid disappearance of scurvy, and the decrease of typhoid. As might be expected, the larger class of cases treated at the hospitals was "accidents," of which there were 88; genito-urinary diseases, 87; lungs and respiratory organs, 53; rheumatism, sciatica, etc., 35; alcoholism, 26; malaise, 29. There were 15 commitments for insanity. The insane are sent periodically to New Westminster.

Besides the six teachers in the Dawson school, there are ten other teachers employed in the territory at salaries ranging from $1800 to $3000 a year. There are nearly 500 children in attendance. The total annual expenditure for schools was $67,654. The teachers who had not proper certificates are required to take a course of training. The Yukonites are determined to have as good schools as the other Territories and Provinces.

About two hundred thousand dollars of the territorial revenue was derived from the license and liquor permit accounts. The Dominion Government gave a grant of $131,000. About half of the total expenditure of $626,021 was on account of roads and bridges. The Dawson Free Library received a grant of $2,775.

THE WAR IN THE EAST

West, North and South That Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are Waging Against All Forms of Stomach Trouble, Can Only End One Way.

Dyspepsia Will Be Driven off the Earth.

The great and effective work of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is no longer confined to America. They are being used now all over the world, for their fame has spread throughout foreign countries and they cure dyspepsia in all lands and all climates just as well as they do at home. In fact, surroundings and conditions never interfere with the successful work of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, not even the conditions of the stomach itself. They go ahead of their own natural way regardless of the stomach, and digest the food that the bad stomach cannot digest and permit that organ to do just as it pleases, rest, take a vacation, get well or what not. The stomach, however, always makes it a point to get well when it has nothing else to do. That's what stomachs always have done and will continue to do when they have the opportunity.

A prominent Detroit physician says: "I prescribe Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets for all cases of stomach trouble. I have tried many prescriptions, including a number of my own, but find nothing which gives such universal relief as this remedy. They are natural, harmless and perfectly effective in their work, and while I have a natural antipathy to patent medicines, I do not hesitate to prescribe and recommend Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets on all occasions."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at fifty cents a box. They are so well known and their popularity is so great, that a druggist would as soon think of being out of alcohol or quinine. The testimonial of the physician is no exception. In fact physicians are prescribing them all over the land and if your doctor is real honest with you he will tell you frankly that there is nothing on earth so good for dyspepsia as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

A SUCCESSFUL WORK.

In the February issue of the National Waifs' Magazine to hand, Dr. Barnardo indicates the burdens of his work of Waif Rescue in the single statement that he has 7,100 young people under his care. Such a position must be unique in the annals of philanthropy! Yet still they come. No destitute child is ever refused admission, and at least thirteen fresh cases enter the homes every day. The photographs with which the pages of this issue are plentifully besprinkled tell their own eloquent tale of the abounding necessity for the work of the National Waifs' Association, and establish a strong plea for continued and enlarged support from the charitable public. At the Girls' Village Homes Barkingside, several new cottages are in progress to meet an urgent and an increasing need. One thousand girls are already in residence; but there is a call for more accommodation, and on a new area lately acquired quite a large number of cottages are waiting to be built, each of these to accommodate twenty girls. Among these is to be included a Sanitarium for Consumptives in which the open-air treatment is to be followed out. The contents of the magazine include an excellent "impressionist" sketch of the Annual Fete held by the Young Helpers' League last month at the Boys' Club in Hoxton; a statement regarding the work of Emigration carried on by the Homes, which has attained such large dimensions (already 14,794 boys and girls have been placed out in Canada and the colonies); a list of Deputation Secretaries; a part re-publication of Dr. Barnardo's well-known "Rescue of the Waif"; a record of last year's Waif Saturday, etc. A copy of the magazine will, we understand, be sent gratis and post free to any applicant on supplying name and address to the Honorary Secretary of the Institution, Mr. George Code, at 18 to 26, Stepney Causeway, London, E.

FRANK HILL, EMILY, SCENE OF WEDDING.

Nuptials of Mr. George Deyell and Miss Hanna Franks.

The marriage took place on Feb. 24th of Miss Hannah Franks, third daughter of the late Mr. Thomas Franks, to Mr. George Deyell, of Smith, at the residence of the bride's brother, James Franks, Frank Hill, the ceremony being performed in the presence of only the immediate friends of the bride and groom. The bride was given away by her brother and unattended and looked charming in a gown of brown costume cloth. After the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Mr. Teeney, of Omemee, a dainty wedding dejeuner was served and a pleasant time spent. Mr. and Mrs. Deyell left for their home in Smith.

OBITUARY.

William H. Best, of Pembina County, North Dakota.

An old Pembina county pioneer has gone to his final rest. The many friends of Mr. William H. Best, of Bay Centre, will be grieved to learn that on Thursday evening, February 16th, at 5.45 p. m., he breathed his last after a short and painful illness. The deceased had passed his 78th year, having been born on the 7th day of November, 1825, and was hale and hearty up to a few days previous to his demise. Thus passed away one of the sturdy pioneers of Pembina county, full of honour and full of years, surrounded by his loving family of four sons and two daughters, all of whom were present when the end came.

Mr. Best was an Irish-Canadian, having been born in Victoria County, Ontario. He was of original Holland Dutch stock, his forefathers having cast in their lot with William Prince of Orange, and for conscience sake left home and country and sought a refuge on the foreign soil of Great Britain, finally selecting the north of Ireland for a final resting place, and from the country of Armagh his grandparents emigrated to Canada, where the deceased was born and grew up to manhood.

In 1880 Mr. Best with his whole family, removed to what was then the wilds of Dakota, and settled on the fertile prairies of Pembina county, his sons all finding homes near by, so that in their western life the family were together and were not separated. The sons are Wm. D. George A., John E., and Howard R., all living on well-tilled farms in sight of the old homestead. The daughters are Mrs. Maggie Patterson and Mrs. Handley, also well and comfortably settled in life and both reside near by the rest of the family. The funeral was conducted on Thursday by Rev. Mr. Matheson, leaving the house at Bay Centre at 12 o'clock noon, and proceeding to the Walhalla cemetery where the remains were deposited beside those of his wife who had preceeded him only fifteen months before.—Grand Forks, N.D., Herald.

HARD UP FOR A HUSBAND.

One Russian Woman Pledges Him and the Other Goes Off With the Security.

Warsaw, March 7.—A peasant woman of Bielastotchek, in the Government of Vilna, wishing to raise some money for household expenses, went to an old maid who had made small loans to friends. The housewife had nothing to pawn, but at last thought of her shiftless husband, and suggested that he be the pledge. The money-lender consented and the money was advanced.

The peasant woman made her purchases and on returning home found her husband gone. The money-lender had been there and had taken away the husband, with whom she was preparing to take a long journey.

The wife complained to the village court, but the judge decided against her, and, as the sum borrowed was more than she could pay back, and as no one would go to her rescue, she had the mortification of seeing her husband depart with his captor amid the cheers and laughter of the towns people.

Dreyfus Will Have a Chance.

Paris, March 7.—The criminal chamber of the Court of Cassation has decided that a complete investigation of the Dreyfus case shall be made before the united three chambers of the court. Awaiting a final decision, the court stands adjourned until the investigation shall have been concluded, which will probably be next July.

Death and Destruction By Dynamite.

Latrobe, Pa., March 7.—As the result of an explosion of powder and dynamite at a magazine at Mead's Hill, one man was killed, and 31 others were injured. Jacob Squibbs, who was in his home half a mile from the scene of the explosion, was so badly hurt by his house being carried from its foundation that he will die.

Confessed Murder Over Phone.

Yorkville, Ill., March 7.—Standing over the body of his victim, Carl Nylen coolly called up the sheriff on the telephone and confessed to having murdered George Peace, a wealthy farmer. The murderer is now in the Kennedy County jail. Mrs. Nylen had been acting as Peace's housekeeper for some time past.

Claimed He Had Married 47 Times.

Elizabeth, N.J., March 7.—When James H. Shippie, 32 years old, a street car conductor, was arraigned on a charge of bigamy, he astonished the judge by saying he had been married about 17 times. Two of his wives were in court, and it was stated that he had married at least four other women.

High Priced Pictures.

London, March 7.—The sale of pictures belonging to the Fowkes heirlooms, from which the portraits of Anne Montgomery and Gainsborough Compton, both Marchionesses of Townshend, were recently sold, continues. Nine-weight portraits sold Saturday realized £300,000.

GREAT GERMAN GONE.

German Field Marshal Who Commanded the Allied Forces in China Passes Away.

Hanover, Prussia, March 7.—Field Marshal Count von Waldersee died shortly after 8 o'clock Saturday night.

Von Waldersee was the only subject not of a royal house, who was always cheered by the public, for he had to do with the things that made Prussia and the Empire possible. His partial estrangement from the present Emperor in the early part of the latter's reign, the reason of which still remains obscure, had long since disappeared and had been replaced by the Emperor's cordial friendship.

Count Waldersee (Valt der Zay) was born at Potsdam, April 8,

COUNT VON WALDERSEE.

1832. He was chief of the general staff of the 10th Army Corps in the Franco-German war, became quartermaster-general and deputy of the chief of staff in 1881 and succeeded Von Moltke as chief of staff in 1888. He became commander of the 9th Army Corps in 1891. He married an American, and was in command of the allied forces in China in 1901. He was made a G.C.B. in 1902.

The funeral will be held at noon on Wednesday. Emperor William and Empress Augusta Victoria, all the members of the House of Hohenzollern and the sovereigns of all the German states, and also many eminent persons abroad have telegraphed condolence to Countess von Waldersee.

One in Four Persons.

One person in every four suffers more or less from itching piles. Some do not know the nature of their ailment, and others have not heard of Dr. Chase's Ointment as the only absolute and guaranteed cure for this distressing disease. If you are a sufferer ask your neighbours about this great preparation. It has grown popular as a result of the news of its merits being passed from friend to friend.

As Wasps Do.

Jinks—I'll never get into an argument with him again. He's entirely too bitter.

Winks—Is he really?

Jinks—Oh, a regular wasp.

Winks—I see. He always carries his point.

Stopped Gambling

Blunt I hear Rhines has stopped gambling.

Front—That's true. I bet him $100 this morning that he couldn't stop, and he took me up.

KING EDWARD TALKS

And Draws Lessons to Be Learned From the War.

THINKS IT IS DEPLORABLE

But Sees a Silver Lining Through the Cloud—Understanding Between France and Great Britain Conducive to Peace—He Hopes Difficulties Will Not Be Aggravated By the Press.

Paris, March 7.—The Matin's London correspondent sends to his paper the report of a conversation held Saturday evening with a personage intimate with King Edward, who had just left the palace. This personage said the King spoke upon the subject of the war in the Far East and repeated His Majesty's words:

"I am much distressed at the Russo-Japanese war, which I consider a most deplorable event. On the other hand I consider that our good understanding with France has never been more useful than it is at present, and believe that it is likely to become more and more useful not only in the interest of France and Great Britain, but in the higher interest of general peace. Should complications arise, despite all efforts to prevent them, the union between France and England will render the greatest service. That union must be closely maintained for the good of all, whatever may happen. I hope the press of all countries, the English press included, will strive to attenuate difficulties rather than to aggravate them."

The correspondent adds that the interlocutor not only authorized a repetition of the King's words, but read the correspondent's despatch affirming that His Majesty's remarks were correctly rendered.

Russian Press on Great Britain.

St. Petersburg, March 7.—Advices from Vladivostock say that the 2,500 Japanese troops who landed at Plaksin Bay (on the east coast of northern Corea) are advancing toward Muson (218 miles from Gensan), with the intention of ultimately reaching Hunchun (on the left bank of the Tumen River, about 100 miles west of Vladivostock), and threatening the Russian flank. In order to checkmate this, a Russian outpost 100 strong, which crossed the Tumen, is advancing to occupy Koyrong, on the Tumen, a walled city commanding the trails along which the Japanese must pass.

The naval mobilization, foreshadowed in these despatches, was partially decided yesterday. Three eastern provinces of Eastern Russia, Viatka, Perm and Ufa, are included in the plan, the purpose stated being the strengthening of the crews of the Pacific squadron.

The Novosti prints a significant editorial, which is very conciliatory toward Great Britain. The paper argues that the understanding between the two countries with regard to an Asiac policy will assure peace in Asia, without which the moral development of Russian and British interests there would be impossible. If Great Britain, The Novosti says, would agree to an outlet for Russia to the Indian Ocean Great Britain's possessions in India would be unconditionally guaranteed by Russia.

The Novoe Vremya also discussed the offices of British friendship, but with bad grace, saying: "John Bull believes he has a better chance to reaching the winning post with Great Britain and Japan in double harness than with a trick including the American mustang."

Referring to the assistance rendered by the British cruiser Talbot to the Russian sailors at the battle of Chemulpo, The Novosti declares that all Russia respectfully acknowledges the noble and chivalrous conduct of the commander of the vessel—"conduct, the journal adds, "that does great honor to the British nation, which has always been a model of generosity and gallantry."

Turkey Causes Unrest.

Berlin, March 7.—Considerable concern has been caused in Berlin by a telegram from Vienna to The Tageblatt announcing that the Sultan has rejected the plan of organization for the Macedonian gendarmerie. His Majesty has also refused to ratify the agreement with Bulgaria. The Austrian Government is said to be looking forward to developments in the Balkans in the coming spring with great anxiety. The Cologne Gazette further announces that Turkey is assembling a flying squadron and warships, and has ordered the mobilization of her torpedo flotilla.

King Edward Better.

London, March 7.—King Edward, who is suffering from a cold, is much better and will preside at a sitting of the Privy Council at Buckingham Palace to-day.

Sir Francis Lakin, the King's physician, paid His Majesty another visit.

The King wanted to go to St. Paul's Saturday according to program, but his physician preferred that he remain indoors for a day or two.

The King Invites Edison.

London, March 7.—Edison is coming here in May and his agent here, Col. Gouraud, is arranging a reception for him. He already has a letter from Lord Knollys, the King's private secretary, saying that His Majesty will be pleased to do honor to the renowned inventor.

Postal Congress Postponed.

London, March 7.—The Times understands that the International Postal Congress (said to be the Rome Congress of 1906) has been postponed to April, 1905.

MIDLAND DIVISION OPEN FOR TRAFFIC.

After Being Blocked for Almost a Week.

After being tied up for nearly a week, the Midland Division of the G.T.R. is again open for traffic. Today for the first time since last Tuesday, the passenger train from Toronto to Port Hope, made it trip. The train reached here from Toronto about one hour late, the delay being caused by an obstruction on the track near Omemee. The Belleville line is also open and trains are running with fair regularity. Strenuous efforts have been made by the Company to keep this division open, but the recent storms have been so severe that their work was unavailing.

It is expected that no further trouble will be experienced unless the weather takes a sudden change for the worse.

A RECEPTION FOR THE YOUNG WOMEN

Will be Held at the Residence of Mrs. A. L. Davis To-morrow Night.

A general invitation is extended to the young women of the town to attend the reception given by the Y.W.C.A., at the residence of Mrs. A. L. Davis, Belmont avenue, to-morrow night at 8 o'clock. Owing to the uncertainty of Miss McDonald's arrival, the invitations were not sent out earlier, and it is hoped that the young women will accept this general invitation; in case the written invitation does not arrive. Mr. Gliddon's orchestra will play, and Miss Helen Davies will sing. It is also expected that Miss McDonald, the National City Secretary, will speak. Miss Little, National Student Secretary, will be present in all probability.

FINALS IN THE TRENT VALLEY SERIES

Will be Played To-night Between T.A.S. and Napanee.

The Napanee hockey team has sent word that they will be here to-night without fail to play the final Trent Valley League game with the T. A.S. The short spell of mild weather has not affected the ice to any appreciable extent, and there will be a good sheet to-night, when these teams come together to decide the League championship. Chaucer Elliott will referee the game, which will start sharp at 8.15. The T.A.S. team will be:—

Goal—McCoy.
Point—Meagher.
Cover point—Crowley.
Forwards—McGrath, George, Parnell and Lynch.

Tickets for the game may be procured from O'Brien's cigar store, Potvin's and Hooper's confectionery stores and the T.A.S. rooms.

SENIOR MARLBOROS HERE WEDNESDAY.

Will Play Local Team to Decide Whether Intermediates are Equal to Seniors.

On Wednesday night the last hockey match of the season in which the local senior team will participate, will be played, and it should be the fastest game of the season. The senior Marlboros team of Toronto, champions of the O.H.A., and late challengers for the Stanley Cup, will bring their best team to Peterborough. The local team has had to put up a big figure to secure this team, which is the best senior O.H.A. team, and a fast game is sure to be seen. The Marlboros have guaranteed to send their very best team, and this will be an opportunity of seeing the local team play against the best senior septette in the O.H.A. There are many persons, even outside of Peterborough, who believe that this team is equal to any O.H.A. senior aggregation, and the game here on Wednesday should decide the question.

The team will practice to-night, in anticipation of the game on Wednesday, for which tickets may be had at Clarke's, Sanderson's and at the Examiner office.

AN INTERESTING TUG-OF-WAR CONTEST

Wm. Hamilton's Team won From Quakers Saturday Night.

About 700 spectators in the drill shed on Saturday night, witnessed a very interesting tug-of-war contest between the William Hamilton and Quakers teams. Some few weeks ago these teams pulled for the Sykes Trophy, and after three pulls, the Quakers were decided winners. The defeated team was not satisfied however, and again challenged the Quakers, the contest taking place on Saturday night. The Hamilton team showed the result of training and in the first pull won easily, taking the drop quicker than the Quakers. In the second however they had to work harder, and only won by a very small margin, after a hard pull, in which the Quakers showed great staying powers.

The winners, although not as heavy as the losers, were quick in getting the drop, and made a good pull, the result greatly pleasing their supporters, of whom there were a large number present. The teams were:

Hamilton's — H. Elliott, J. Saunders, W. Lilly, N. Chambers, J. Wall, F. Reynolds, D. Harvey, C. Watt, J. E. Sharp, captain.

Quakers — John Murphy, James Murphy, J. McCauley, J. Kearns, J. Tetro, Thos. J. Grant, P. O'Donnell, D. McGrath, J. Munden, captain.

Mr. W. Lewis acted as referee.

QUAKERS CHALLENGE HAMILTON TEAM.

Mr. S. M. Laird Makes a Proposal on Behalf of the Quaker Team.

Mr. S. M. Laird, who has been elected captain and manager of the Quaker Tug-of-War team, writes the Examiner the following letter, in which he issues a challenege to the Wm. Hamilton team to pull for a purse to be given to a charitable institution:—

Peterborough, March 7, 1904.

Sporting Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir: The writer wishes to state to the sporting public of Peterborough that he did not attend the Tug-of-War contest held in the Armouries on Saturday evening, March 5th, between Wm. Hamilton's and the Quaker teams, to officiate in any capacity, but did attend merely as a spectator and, upon entering the armouries was met by Mr. J. Sharpe, representing the Wm. Hamilton team, who was enquiring for Mr. W. H. Cavanah, representing the Quakers, and when he was informed that Mr. Cavanah was called out of town, Mr. Sharpe asked the writer to act instead and get the Quaker team ready for the contest, which he readily consented to do, unaware that the agreement between both teams was that each team was to have both their captain and time-keeper in the arena during each pull. The writer's appearance did not seem to be the cause for any complaint during the first pull, but when both teams were getting ready for the second pull he called Mr. Sharpe's attention to a technical point which he thought was not in accordance with the rules governing a Tug-of-war, viz., that the Wm. Hamilton's were not pulling a genuine Tug-of-war, but were pulling what is commonly known as the hawser line pull, that is to say, taking a heave at every count in order to get the drop. Now if my memory serves me correctly (if not the book of rules can easily decide) Tug-of-war rules on cleats call for both teams to get down on the cleats and not stand up; and to take their positions and get their bearings at the word "ready" from the referee, both teams to take slack rope from centre block, then at the report of the pistol shot from referee rope is relayed from centre block and the Tug-of-war is on, either team to hold its opponents for a time limit.

My protest was taken up by the spectators instead of the referee and some very unpleasant remarks were made which must be overlooked with allowance as such remarks generally follow all sports. The referee finally decided that I had no right in the arena and called upon me to leave, which of course I did. After the contest the Quakers held a meeting and elected the writer as manager and captain of their team to look after their interests in the future, so in accordance I hereby challenge the Wm. Hamilton Tug-of-war team to contest against the Quakers for a final pull on any date after March 18th, in any place convenient for such contest, conditions of agreement to be in writing, and signed by both captains, also that some reliable sportsman, such as Mr. H. R. H. Kenner, officiate as referee, or any other gentleman that both captains decide upon, and that the timekeepers shall be named in the agreement. Under such conditions there should be no cause for complaint on either side, and I wish to add that the Quakers are lovers of good and true sport and are not in it for money, but I am willing to wager as a side bet $50 to $100 that the Quakers win the next pull on condition that the winner of the purse will give the same to any charitable institution in Peterborough that the Examiner or Review may decide upon.

Thanking the editor in advance for the space required to publish this statement and challenge, believe me,

Yours very truly,
S. M. LAIRD,
Capt. of Quakers.

CORSETS —FOR— SPRING.

THE Spring Dress-making season is here and new CORSETS are an indispensable adjunct in the production of a stylish perfect-fitting toilette.

Our Corset Department was never in better shape to meet the demands of Spring Trade than is the case this season.

Our Assortment includes all the latest models by expert corset makers such as CROMPTONS, B. and C., B and I. and C. P.

Designed to suit all shapes, to fit all figures and to correct all irregularities of outline without discomfort to the wearer and qualities to meet all classes of trade.

The New Figure is slim to the verge of leanness. Hips are obsolete, but must be softly curved for angularity in the human figure even in the widest stretch of artistic imagination could not be considered beautiful.

Consequently stout figures must be reduced, and angular ones softly rounded and this is where the CORSET must do duty.

New Features are the extended apron or habit hip intended to reduce stout figures, and of these we have made a specialty, and the woman with a girth measurment of thirty inches can obtain her correct model as readily as the one whose measurements are normal or average. We will be pleased to show you our assortment.

THE SUCCESSOR TO REV. W. L. ARMITAGE.

Rev. Wm. Major, of Toronto, has Accepted.

A Call Extended by All Saints' Church Preached Yesterday.

Rev. William Major has been engaged to succeed Rev. W. L. Armitage, as rector of All Saints' church, and conducted his first service there yesterday, when he preached at both the morning and evening services. There were larger congregations than usual.

In the morning he spoke from Ps. cxix, verse 129, "Thy testimonies are wonderful, therefore doth my soul love them." In the evening his text was from St. Luke xi, verses 24, 25, and 26, "When the unclean spirit is gone out of a man he walketh through dry places, seeking rest, and finding none, he saith, I will return into my house whence I came out; and when he cometh he findeth it swept and garnished. Then goeth he and taketh to himself seven other spirits more wicked than himself, and they enter in, and dwell there, and the last state of that man is worse than the first."

At the morning service Rev. Mr. Major read his license from the Lord Bishop, adding that he intended to do his duty, without fear or favour. He could not please all; that was not to be expected, but in everything he said or did he would do his best. He told his congregation that they must not expect him to recognize every one of them on the street the first day; that was an impossibility. They must not feel hurt if they passed them by without notice,, but they must themselves meet him half way in this acknowledgment.

Rev. William Major was formerly of Little Trinity Church, Toronto, and was curate to the late Canon Sanson. He is, a tall, dark, well built man of prepossessing appearance, and is in every way fully qualified to replace Rev. W. L. Armitage. Prior to his curacy to the late Canon Sanson, he was at Cannington. Rev. Mr. Major will not locate in Peterborough for two weeks, owing to his wife's illness.

A more extended report of Rev. Mr. Major's sermon will be published to-morrow.

ONE CENTURY OF ENDEAVOUR.

Celebration of Centenary of British and Foreign Bible Society.

SOCIETY'S UNIQUE ORIGIN.

Special Services in Protestant Churches Yesterday The Work of the Society Mass Meeting To-night.

The one hundredth anniversary of the establishment of the British and Foreign Bible Society was celebrated throughout the world yesterday, and in the Protestant churches in Peterborough, special services in commemoration of the event were held. The different speakers referred to the great work done by the Bible Society, and special offerings were taken in connection with the effort to raise $50,000 in Ontario to assist the Society.

The Methodist Magazine and Review, writing on the facts which led up to the establishment of the British and Foreign Bible Society, says:

A hundred years ago a little Welsh girl travelled thirty miles on foot to beg or buy from the Rev. Thomas Charles, a Welsh Methodist minister, a copy of the Word of God. Mr. Charles, after vain efforts to obtain a sufficient number of copies of the Scripture to feed the famine of the bread of life, proposed to organize a society for that purpose. "And if for Wales, why not for the kingdom, and for the world?" A public meeting was held March 7th in London and the British and Foreign Bible Society was organized with a fund of £700. In 1806 when the first wagon full of Bibles came into Wales "it was received like the Ark of the Covenant, and the people with shouts of great joy dragged it into the city."

That little Welsh girl by her thirty miles' walk across mountains and moor began a mightier work than she or anyone then or since living could conceive. How great a matter a little flame kindleth. The story of the world-wide operations of the Bible Society is one surpassing romance. It is fitting, after the passing of a hundred years, to review briefly that achievement, and to say, "What has God Wrought," and to forecast its mighty future, and say, "In the name of the Lord we will go forward."

We are in the habit of thinking that a book has achieved a great success when it attains a circulation of 100,000. When it reaches seven figures and the publisher announces the sale of one million, the fact is recorded by the press, and we regard it as something phenomenal. And when to this is added the boast that it has been translated into several European languages, we speak of it as one of the most remarkable books of the age. Yet how many people realize that there is one book of which hundreds of millions of copies have been circulated, complete or in parts, and this in hundreds of different languages.

The British and Foreign Bible Society was founded in 1804, its sole object being to translate the Bible into all the languages of mankind, to publish the versions and, finally, to circulate them over the whole face of the inhabited globe. The first book to be issued by the Society was St. John's Gospel in Mohawks, for the Red Indians on the Mohawk River.

Since that small volume went forth to carry the Gospel to a far-off people in their own tongue, the Society has issued over 180,000,000 copies of the Scripture, complete, or in parts. Two thousand volumes are sent out every working hour from January to December. A century ago the Bible was current in about forty different languages. To-day the Bible or some portion of it, is published in over four hundred languages; no fewer than three hundred and seventy appear on the society's list, which includes every great vernacular of the world. Over sixty different sets of characters are employed in printing these languages, some of which read from right to left, or from the top straight downwards in vertical columns, and some from the last page to the first.

When the Bible Society was founded, the Bible was a sealed book to four out of every five of the inhabitants of the earth; to-day the Bible lies open, more or less completely, to seven out of every ten human beings. And toards this result the British and Foreign Bible Society has contributed more than all other agencies put together. But the ideal of the Bible Society is not only to provide the Bible in every language, but especially to secure one Bible in each language. Whatever else divides Christian missionaries in a foreign field, at least they should be able to appeal to one and the same version of the Holy Scripture. At the present time about 1,000 linguist missionaries and native assistants are organized into translation and revision committees in many distant parts of the world, working under the Society's auspices and mainly at its expense.

The British and Foreign Bible Society came into existence in the year before Trafalgar, in the very gloomiest crisis of Britain's awful struggle with Napoleon and his Continental allies, while the poor were starving, trade was depressed and crippled by war, and the dread of invasion weighed upon all from the King on his throne to the labourer in his hut. Yet the new society not only won generous support from all classes in Great Britain, but the enthusiasm of its workers became a contagion which spread into Europe, and it was the direct inspiration to the formation of a Bible Society in the United States, which afterwards became the American Bible Society, organized and maintained on similar lines—that is for the publication of the Word of God, and that alone, without "note or comment." other Bible Societies have been formed since then, but the British and Foreign has remained the premier of them all, having circulated more copies of the Christian Scriptures than all the others combined, and having spent since its inception about fourteen million pounds sterling in its work. It and like institutions have been the means of reducing the Bible to such a low price that the poorest man may now have a copy. For some years the Society has had on the market a legible edition of the New Testament at a penny, and of this edition 7,500,000 copies have been sold. When the Society was established the price of an octavo English Bible in small pica type was twelve shillings — a sum equivalent in value to not less than five dollars in Canada at the present time. A century ago the Bible was a sealed book, and unknown, to four out of five of the world's inhabitants; now it is open, more or less completely in languages representing seven-tenths of the human race, and this year the British and Foreign Bible Society has issued over 6,000,000 copies. It is interesting to note, in connection with its spread, in new languages that in many cases the tongue into which it was rendered had never been reduced to writing before, so that the Bible, so that the Bible was the beginning and creation of the literature, as well as the instrument of re-creating the religion of the people affected.

The Society came into being just as British Christianity had received a new impulse to carry the Gospel of Christ to the heaten world, the London Missionary Society, the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, and the Baptist Missionary Society having created a demand for translations which it alone could supply. Its faithfulness in fulfilling its purpose, as the indispensable ally of all missionary organizations, will be acknledged when it is known that no genuine application for a grant of Scriptures from the foreign field has ever been wholly denied, and no missionary society's request to publish an authenticated version of the Scriptures in a new language, has ever been refused. Further than this, the Bible Society has been a wonderful influence in restraining the divergencies of the different Christian sects, for "those variations of the Protestant churches, which Bossuet denounced, shrivel into insignificance within the Bible Society. Under its auspices the reunion of Christendom has already, to some extent begun." It may be here observed that this effort to reinstate the Bible in the place it occupied in the hearts and homes of the people one hundred years ago coincides with the renewal of the missionary zeal among the Christian churches, and the time is therefore due for the restoration of true Christianity in the homes of the masses.

To-night in the Murray street Baptist church, a mass meeting in the interests of the Society will be held, when addresses will be given by representatives from the Church of England, Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist churches, on the claims of the Society.

SPECIAL SERVICES HELD YESTERDAY.

Centenary of the Bible Society Was Celebrated.

Reports of special sermons in a number of the churches are published below. Those not appearing to-day will be published to-morrow:—

GEORGE STREET METHODIST.

Rev. J. P. Wilson, pastor of George street church, preached from the text, "The Entrance of Thy Words Giveth Light; it Giveth Understanding unto the Simple." Psalm. 119; 130. This Psalm, the speaker said, had been called the great Bible Psalm. The facts connected with the founding of the British and Foreign Bible Society read like a romance, so remarkable had been its history. He spoke of the fact that the burning desire of a young girl to procure a copy of the Bible led to the founding of the Society, which now prints the Bible in nearly 400 different languages. No book, said the reverend gentleman, is as wonderful as the Bible. It dates back 500 years before the fall of Troy, and to-day is more widely read than any other book in the world.

Speaking of the reasons why the Bible was such a wonderful book, he said: (1) It was wonderful in its translation. The first translation was from the original Hebrew into Greek, made 280 years before Christ. A number of translations had subsequently been made, the present edition being started in 1604. A remarkable fact is that Rev. Jas. Evans, a Methodist minister to the Cree Indians, translated the Bible, by the use of a few simple characters, into the Cree language, so that an intelligent Indian could read the Bible though he had never seen his language in print.

(2) It is wonderful in its circulation. Time is the great test of literature. The Bible is the only book with a world wide circulation that is read by all classes. It is a remarkfact that the Bible was written by a people who made no pretence to literature.

(3) Its simplicity is wonderful. In it are books written by scholars, alongside those whose authors were herdsmen and fishermen, and no one can tell which were those written by the scholars and which by the herdsmen. Other reasons why the Bible was a wonderful book were, its conciseness, simplicity, unity and forcefulness.

The speaker attributed the great success of the British Empire to the fact that the British people supported the Bible, and if Canada would be great she must also be true to the Bible.

OBJECT TO CHINESE

Australians Protest on Their Importation to the Rand.

DR. JAMESON'S NEW MOVE

Hon. Alfred Lyttleton Talks on Educational Matters—Practical and Commercial Side should Be Kept Well in View—Australian Churches Aroused—Britain's Trade With New Zealand.

London, March 7.—(C. A. P.)—The labor organizations of Melbourne, at a meeting attended by 5,000 people, protested against the importation of Chinese into the Rand without its being sanctioned by a referendum vote.

Dr. Jameson Once More Counts.

London, March 7.—(C. A. P.)—The South African News says that Dr Jameson's leadership will take a direction towards a not untried precipice. Patriotic men must choose between him and England.

Lyttleton on Games.

London, March 7.—(C.A.P.)—Right Hon. Alfred Lyttelton, M. P., Colonial Secretary, speaking at Liverpool University, spoke of the educational value of talking to one another on the stimulating subjects that were taught. Nobody had enjoyed games more than himself, but he thought in later years it had been a little overdone. He urged the desirability of keeping the practical and commercial side of education well in view.

Churches in Australia Aroused

London, March 7.—(C. A. P.)—All the churches of Sydney are aroused over a sensational report of a New South Wales Commission, reporting that the practice of preventing maternity is common in all classes of the community, and that there is an alarming increase in the number of illegal operations.

English Trade With New Zealand.

London, March 7.—(C. A. P.)—Premier Seddon of New Zealand says that before the end of the year the working of the new preferential tariff will divert half a million pounds of New Zealand's trade to England.

No Chinese For Seddon.

London, March 7.—(C. A. P.)—Premier Seddon wants New Zealand to petition the King to veto the act of the Transvaal Legislature legalizing the importation of Chinese labor for the Rand mines.

DETERMINED TO DIE.

Shoots Her Husband, Tries to Burn Herself and Son, then Poisons and Shoots.

Elgin, Ill., March 7.—After shooting her husband three times and trying to kill her seven-year-old son, Mrs. Gustav Stanson, locked her wounded husband out of doors and carried the boy to her bedroom, where she wrapped him in blankets, applied a match and then lay down to die with him when the fire spread.

The boy struggled, but finding his efforts to free himself in vain, crawled under blankets to keep from inhaling the smoke. Mrs. Stanson heard the police pounding on the door, and then to make sure she would die, swallowed carbolic acid and fired a bullet into her throat. She died Saturday afternoon. Stanson and his son will recover. Domestic differences caused the trouble.

Three Burnt to Death.

Halifax, N. S., March 7.—(St. John, N. B., March 6.)—As the result of a fire which broke out early Saturday morning in an isolated farmhouse at Black River, five miles from Buctouche, three persons were burned to death and another fatally injured. The dead are: William Savoy, aged 22, J. Addus Savoy, aged 14, and Joseph Savoy, aged 12, sons of Louis Savoy. Alfred, who jumped from a wing of the burning building, is so badly injured that he is not expected to recover.

Killed in Knife and Pistol Fight.

Winterset, Iowa, March 7.—After a terrible fight, in which pistols and knives were used, John Thornborough shot and instantly killed Fred Peacock and perhaps fatally wounded Peacock's father, 60 years old. Thornborough is terribly gashed about the neck and face. He is charged with murder. Thornborough tried to induce his wife, from whom he had separated, to leave the Peacock house.

The Solar Plexus

Is the largest nerve centre in the sympathetic nervous system, is situated just back of the stomach, and supplies nervous energy, the vital forces of the human body, to the stomach, heart, lungs, kidneys, liver etc. By creating nerve force Dr. Chase's Nerve Food directly aids the solar plexus in supplying the power which runs the machinery of digestion, and so cures nervous dyspepsia, headache, dizzy spells and bodily weakness.

Joseph in Egypt.

Cairo, March 7.—Right Hon. Joseph and Mrs. Chamberlain, as guests of Lord and Lady Cromer, are attending all social events here. The other day Lord Cromer presented Mr. Chamberlain to the Khedive. A dinner followed in the evening in honor of the British statesman and his wife.

Strayed and Frozen.

Halifax, N. S., March 7.—Miss Margaret Hopkins, aged 72, was found dead in the woods at Mill Village on Saturday afternoon. She left her home on Thursday, and it is supposed wandered off the road and perished from cold.

Killed His Wife and Suicided.

New York, March 7.—Chas. Mehlanc, 40, shot and killed Lena Lissenden, his common law wife, and then himself. She was young and pretty.

The Sunlight Maids are always through their wash at twelve o'clock.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

With ordinary soap a woman has to work so hard and so long on wash day she has no time for preparing any of the family meals. Wash day is a trial, and the good wife faces each with a sigh of despair.

Sunlight Soap makes all the difference in the world. No toiling—no rubbing—no boiling—less than half the labor with much better results. Most women are all through their wash by twelve o'clock when they wash with Sunlight Soap the Sunlight way. It makes child's play of work.

ASK FOR THE OCTAGON BAR.

Sunlight Soap washes the clothes white and won't injure the hands.

Farmers' Co-operative Paid.

Rockwell, Iowa, March 7.—The sixteenth annual session of the Rockwell Co-operative Farmers' Society was held yesterday. The total volume of business transacted in the past year was $156,000, at an expense of $1,000. The business shows a decrease of $150,000 as compared with that of last year. The Society limited the capital to be invested in general merchandise to $2,500 in order not to infringe upon the rights of business men. The society made $6,000 net this year and paid $5,000 in dividends. The total assets are $35,000, with liabilities of $14,000. J. P. Brown was elected president.

Three Farms Burned.

Oklahoma City, Ok., March 5.—Three persons perished in Wednesday's prairie fire, and the financial loss by the fire and gale is estimated at half a million dollars. Further reports of loss by both fire and wind indicate that the first estimate was too low. The area from which reports of damage by wind come covers 100 miles square. The little Town of Francis, west of Mangon, was destroyed by fire, but no particulars are obtainable.

Sir Charles retires at the end of April. Sir Eldon Gorst (finance adviser to the Egyptian Government) will replace Mr. Harding in the Foreign Office.

Result of Convict Labor.

Kingston, March 5.—A stone wall in the Protestant chapel in the penitentiary gave way Thursday, smashing many benches. Five tons of debris cover the floor. Had this occurred during service, many men would have been killed. The wall was put up imperfectly by convicts.

King's Cold Hangs On.

London, March 5.—The cold from which King Edward is suffering has not improved, and it is thought now that he will not be able to attend St. Paul's Cathedral on Sunday, as planned months ago to take part in the centenary of the British and Foreign Bible Society.

Digestive System is Deranged

At this Season of the Year—High Living and Little Exercise Bring on Dyspepsia and other Troubles.

Disorders of the digestive system are not uncommon at this season of the year.

In cold weather there is a danger of overeating, and a tendency towards the excessive use of highly seasoned food and stimulants.

The result is much suffering from indigestion, liver and kidney derangements, and constipation.

If people could only understand how promptly and effectively such disorders are overcome by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, this great family medicine would be even more popular than it is to-day.

Unlike any other medicine, these pills have direct and combined action on kidneys, liver and bowels, and for this reason reach and cure the most complicated ailments.

Dyspepsia and biliousness, liver complaint and kidney disease, stomach troubles and constipation, backache and headache disappear in wonderfully short time when Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are used.

By assisting the kidneys in eliminating the poisonous waste matter by helping the liver to filter the bile from the blood, by regulating the bowels, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills prevent and cure the most painful and fatal diseases known to man.

Mrs Thomas Covert, Highland Grove, Peterborough County, Ont., writes.—"I was a sufferer for years with stomach troubles and terrible headaches and spent a good many dollars in medicine without receiving any benefit. Hearing Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills highly recommended I determined to give them a trial and did so with most satisfactory results as I was very greatly benefitted and do not hesitate to recommend this treatment as the best obtainable for such ailments."

Purified by Suffering

BY MARY J. HOLMES,

CHAPTER. X

There were more than a few lookers-on to see Katy Lennox married, and the church was literally jammed for full three-quarters of an hour before the appointed time. Back by the door, where she commanded a full view of the middle aisle, Marian Hazelton sat, her face as white as ashes and her eyes gleaming strangely wild from beneath the thickly dotted veil she wore over her hat. Doubts as to her wisdom in coming there were agitating her mind, but something kept her sitting just as others sat waiting for the bride until the sexton, opening wide the doors, and assuming an added air of consequence told the anxious spectators that the party had arrived—Uncle Ephraim and Katy, Wilford and Mrs. Lennox, Dr. Morris and Helen, Aunt Hannah and Aunt Betsy—that was all, and they came slowly up the aisle, while countless eyes were turned upon them, every woman noticing Katy's dress sweeping the carpet with so long a trail, and knowing by some queer female instinct that it was city-made, and not the handiwork of Marian Hazelton, panting for breath in that pew near the door, and trying to forget herself by watching Dr. Grant. She could not have told what Katy wore, she would not have sworn that Katy was there, for she saw only two, Wilford and Morris Grant. She could have touched the former as he passed her by, and she did breathe the odor of his garments while her hands clasped each other tightly, and then she turned to Morris Grant, growing content with her own pain, so much less than his as he stood before the altar with Wilford Cameron between him and the bride, which should have been his. How pretty she was in her wedding garb, and how like a bird her voice rang out as she responded to the solemn question:

"Will you have this man to be thy wedded husband," etc.

Upon Uncle Ephraim devolved the duty of giving her away, a thing which Aunt Betsy denounced as a "Piscopal quirk," classing it in the same category with dancing. Still if Ephraim had got it to do she wanted him to do it well, and she had taken some pains to study that part of the ceremony, so as to know when to nudge her brother in case he failed of coming up to time.

"Now, Ephraim, now; they've reached the quirk," she whispered audibly, almost before Katy's "I will" was heard, clear and distinct; but Ephraim did not need her prompting, and his hand rested lovingly upon Katy's shoulder as he signified his consent, and then fell back to his place next to Hannah. But when Wilford's voice said: "I, Wilford, take thee Katy to be my wedded wife," there was a slight confusion near the door, and those sitting by said to those sitting in front that someone had fainted. Looking round, the audience saw the sexton leading Marian Hazelton out into the open air, where at her request, he left her, and went back to see the closing ceremony which made Katy Lennox a wife. Morris's carriage was at the door, and the newly married pair moved slowly out, Katy smiling upon all, kissing her hand to some and whispering a good-bye to others, her diamonds flashing in the light and her rich silk rustling as she walked, while at her side was Wilford, proudly erect, and holding his head so high as not to see one of the crowd around him, until, arrived at the vestibule, he stopped a moment and was seized by a young man with curling hair, saucy eyes, and that air of ease and assurance which betokens high breeding and wealth.

"Mark Ray!" was Wilford's astonished exclamation, while Mark Ray replied:

"You did not expect to see me here, neither did I expect to come until last night, when I found himself in the little village where you know Scranton lives. Then it occurred to me that as Silverton was only a few miles distant I would drive over and surprise you, but I am too late for the ceremony, I see," and Mark's eyes rested admiringly upon Katy, whose graceful beauty was fully equal to what he had imagined.

Very modestly she received his congratulatory greeting, blushing prettily when he called her by the new name she had not heard before, and then, at a motion from Wilford, entered the carriage waiting for her. Close behind her came Morris and Helen, the former quite as much astonished at meeting Mark as Wilford had been. There was no time for conversation, and hurriedly introducing Helen as Miss Lennox, Morris followed her into the carriage with the bridal pair, and was driven to the depot, where they were joined by Mark, whose pleasant, good-humored sallies did much towards making the parting more cheerful than it would otherwise have been. It was sad enough at the most, and Katy's eyes were very red, while Wilford was beginning to look chagrined and impatient, when at last the train swept round the corner and the very last good-bye was said. Many of the village people were there to see Katy off, and in the crowd Mark had no means of distinguishing the Barlows from the others, except it were by the fond caresses given to the bride. Aunt Betsy he had observed from all the rest, both from the hanging of her pongee and the general quaintness of her attire, and thinking it just possible that it might be the lady of herrin' bone memory, he touched Wilford's arm as she passed them by, and said:

"Tell me, Will, quick, who is that woman in the poke bonnet and short, slim dress?"

Wilford was just then too much occupied in his effort to rescue Katy from the crowd of plebeians who had seized upon her to hear his friend's query, but Helen heard it, and with a cheek which crimsoned with anger, she replied:

"That, sir, is my aunt, Miss Betsy Barlow."

"I beg your pardon, I really do. I was not aware——" Mark began, lifting his hat involuntarily, and mentally cursing himself for not observing who was near to him before asking personal questions.

With a toss of her head Helen turned away, forgetting her resentment in the more absorbing thought that Katy was leaving her.

The bell had rung, the heavy machinery groaned and creaked, and the long train was under way, while from an open window a little white hand was thrust, waving its handkerchief until the husband quietly drew it in, experiencing a feeling of relief that all was over, and that unless he chose his wife need never go back again to that vulgar crowd standing upon the platform and looking with tearful eyes and aching hearts after the fast receding train.

For a moment Mark talked with Morris Grant, explaining how he came there, and adding that on the morrow he too intended going on to Boston, to remain for a few days before Wilford sailed; then, feeling that he must in some way atone for his awkward speech regarding Aunt Betsy, he sought out Helen, still standing like a statue and watching the feathery line of smoke rising above the distant trees. Her bonnet had partially fallen from her head, revealing her bands of rich brown hair and the smooth, broad forehead, while her hands were locked together, and a tear trembled on her dark eyelashes. Taken as a whole she made a striking picture standing apart from the rest and totally oblivious to them all, and Mark gazed at her a moment curiously; then, as her attitude changed and she drew her hat back to its place, he advanced toward her, making some pleasant remark about the morning and the appearance of the country generally. He knew he could not openly apologize, but he made what amends he could by talking to her so familiarly that Helen almost forgot how she hated him and all others who like him lived in New York and resembled Wilford Cameron. It was Mark who led her to the carriage which Morris said was waiting. Mark who handed her in, smoothing down the folds of her dress, and then stood leaning against the door, chatting with Morris, who thought once of asking him to enter and go back to Linwood. But when he remembered how unequal he was to entertaining any one that day, he said merely:

"On your way from Boston, call and see me. I shall be glad of your company then."

"Which means that you do not wish it now," Mark laughingly rejoined, as, offering his hand to both Morris and Helen, he touched his hat and walked away.

CHAPTER XI.

"Why did you invite him to Linwood?" Helen began. "I am sure we have had city guests enough. Oh, if Wilford Cameron had only never come, we should have had Katy now," and the sister love overcame every other feeling, making Helen cry bitterly as they drove back to the farm-house.

Morris could not comfort her then, and so in silence he left her and went on his way to Linwood. It was well for him that there were many sick ones on his list, for in attending to them he forgot himself in part, so that the day with him passed faster than at the farm-house, where life and its interests seemed suddenly to have stopped. Nothing had power to rouse Helen, who never realized how much she loved her young sister until now, when she listlessly put to rights the room which had been theirs so long, but which was now hers alone. It was a sad task picking up that disordered chamber, bearing so many traces of Katy, and Helen's heart ached terribly as she hung away the little pink calico dressing-gown in which Katy had looked so prettily, and picked up from the floor the pile of skirts just where they had been left the previous night: but when it came to the little half-worn slippers which had been thrown one here and another there as Katy danced out of them, she could control herself no longer, and stopping in her work, sobbed bitterly: "Oh, Katy, Katy, how can I live without you!" But tears could not bring Katy back, and knowing this, Helen dried her eyes ere long and joined the family below, who like herself were spiritless and sad.

It was some little solace to them all that day to follow Katy in her journey, saying, she is at Worcester, or Framingham, or Newtown, and when at noon they sat down to dinner in the tidy kitchen they said "She is in Boston," and the saying so made the time which had elapsed since the morning seem interminable. Slowly the hours dragged, and at last, before the sunsetting, Helen, who could bear the lonliness of home no longer, stole across the fields to Linwood, hoping in Morris's companionship to forget her own grief in part. But Morris was a sorry comforter then. He had ministered as usual to his patients that day, listening to their complaints and answering patiently their inquiries, but amid it all he walked as in a maze, hearing nothing except the words: "I, Katy, take thee, Wilford, to be my wedded husband," and seeing nothing but the airy little figure which stood up on tiptoe for him to kiss its lips at parting. His work for the day was over now, and he sat alone in his library when Helen came hurriedly in, starting at sight of his face, and asking if he was ill.

"I have had a hard day's work," he said. "I am always tired at night," and he tried to smile and appear natural. "Are you very lonely at the farm-house?" he asked, and then Helen broke out afresh, mourning sometimes for Katy, and again denouncing Wilford as proud and heartless.

"Positively, Cousin Morris, he acted all the while he was in the church as if he were doing something of which he was ashamed; and then did you notice how impatient he seemed when the neighbors were shaking hands with Katy at the depot, and bidding her good-bye? He looked as if he thought they had no right to touch her, she was so much their superior, just because she had married him, and he even hurried her away before Aunt Betsy had time to kiss her. And yet the people think it such a splendid match for Katy, because he is so rich and generous. Gave the clergyman fifty dollars and the sexton five, so I heard; but that does not help him with me. I know it's wicked, Morris, but I find myself taking real comfort in hating Wilford Cameron."

"That is wrong, Helen, all wrong," and Morris tried to reason with her; but his arguments this time were not very strong, and he finally said to her inadvertently: "If I can forgive Wilford Cameron for marrying our Katy, you surely ought to do so, for he has hurt me the most."

"You, Morris! you, you!" Helen kept repeating, standing back still farther and farther from him, while strange, overwhelming thoughts passed like lightning through her mind as she marked the pallid face, where was written since the morning more than one line of suffering, and saw in the brown eyes a look such as they were not wont to wear. "Morris, tell me—tell me truly—did you love my sister Katy?" and with an impetuous rush Helen knelt beside him, as, laying his head upon the table he answered:

"Yes, Helen. God forgive me if it were wrong. I did love your sister Katy, and love her yet, and that is the hardest to bear."

All the tender pitying woman was roused in Helen, and like a sister she smoothed the locks of damp, dark hair, keeping a perfect silence as the strong man, no longer able to bear up, wept like a very child. For a time Helen felt as if bereft of reason, while earth and sky seemed blended in one wild chaos as she thought, "Oh, why couldn't it have been? Why didn't you tell her in time?" and at last she said to him: "If Katy had known it! Oh, Morris, why didn't you tell her? She never guessed it, never! If she had—if she had." Helen's breath came chokingly, "I am very sure—yes, I know it might have been!"

Had to Give up and go to Bed.

Several Doctors Attended But Did No Good.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills CURED.

Read what Miss L. L. Hanson, Waterside, N.B., says: "I feel it my duty to express the benefit I have received from Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. A year ago last spring I began to have heart failure. At first I would have to stop working and lie down for a while. Then I got so bad I had to give up altogether and go to bed. I had several doctors attend me but they did me no good. I could get no relief until urged by a friend to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Before I had used three quarters of a box I began to feel the benefit and by the time I had taken three boxes I was completely cured."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cure nervousness, sleeplessness, palpitation of the heart, skip beats, and all troubles arising from the heart or nerves.

$500 REWARD! FOR WOMEN

WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they can not cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

Their financial responsibility is well known to every newspaper publisher and druggist in the United States, with most of whom they have done business for over a third of a century. From this fact it will readily be seen how utterly foolish it would be for them to make the above unprecedented and remarkable offer if they were not basing their offer on curative means having an unparalleled record. No other medicine than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription could possibly "win out," as the saying goes, on such a proposition. But they know whereof they speak. They have the most remarkable record of cures made by this world-famed remedy ever placed to the credit of any preparation especially designed for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments. This wonderful remedy, therefore, stands absolutely alone as the only one possessed of such remarkable curative properties as would warrant its makers in publishing such a marvelous offer as is above made in the utmost good faith.

"I want to tell you of the great improvement in my health since taking your Favorite Prescription," says Mrs. H. S. Jones, of Forest, N. C. "When I began its use I was a physical wreck and had despaired of ever having any health again. Could not sit up all day. I noted a great improvement before the first bottle was used. Was suffering with almost every pain that a woman is subject to; had inflammation of ovaries, painful and suppressed periods, and other symptoms of female disease. After taking six bottles of Favorite Prescription, I felt like a new person. Can ride horseback and take all kinds of exercise and not feel tired."

If you are led to the purchase of "Favorite Prescription" because of its remarkable cures, do not accept a substitute which has none of these cures to its credit.

If you are looking for a perfect laxative try Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

CHARTER GRANTED TO ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Mr. Wm. Fair Has Been Authorised to Sell the Stock.

A meeting of the Provisional Directors of the Peterborough Academy of Music was held recently at which Mr. Wm. Fair was authorized to sell stock in the Company. Mr. Fair states that Mr. A. J. Small, of Toronto, has signified his willingness to take a large block of stock in the Company, and will book all the best Companies showing in Toronto. This will be a guarantee that the best of entertainment will be provided, and Opera Houses similar to this have been successful in St. Catharines, Guelph, Brantford and Ottawa, the one at the latter place paying a dividend of 8 per cent.

Ten thousand dollars has already been subscribed and this is an opportunity for the citizens to demonstrate whether they really want an Opera House or not. Mr. Fair states that the Company will not start to build until 80 per cent. of the stock has been subscribed.

The charter for the Company will be received in a few days, and Mr. Fair will wait on the citizens and give them an opportunity of taking stock.

ONE CENTURY OF ENDEAVOUR.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.

Rev. J. A. Wilson, at the evening service, preached on the work of the British and Foreign Bible Society, taking as his text St. John v, 39, "Search the Scripfures." He spoke of the events leading up to the founding of the Society. There was a generally felt need of some such an institution, and although it was founded in stormy times, its growth was rapid and permanent. The Society will steadily move onward till there shall be "no speech nor language where their voice is not heard." The Bible Society tends to draw the different churches together, and in it the reunion of Christendom has its beginning.

In concluding Mr. Wilson counselled searching the Scriptures for help, if friendless, sorrowing, in doubt, tempted or tried, or burdened with sin. In the Scriptures also Salvation is to be found.

CHARLOTTE STREET CHURCH.

Rev. W. J. Jolliffe at the evening service spoke from Romans iv, verse 3; "For what saith the Scriptures?" In his opening remarks he dwelt shortly on the Centenary of the Bible Society. Speaking of the Holy Scriptures he said there was no need of discussing them, they had been assailed without any effect by higher and lower critics. The Bible was the great book which directed the course of our lives and shows God to be the greatest of all ideas—the comprehension of all which alone fills a rational mind for ever. It unfolds the doctrine of the Trinity, that God is a Being of such enormous personality that He is three persons yet one God. It unfolds the plan of Salvation through our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. We do not go to the Bible, he said, for chronology, science or history, but to be made wise for our Salvation. The Scriptures set forth the duties of men to God and the real certainty of the Judgment Day.

At the morning service Rev. Mr. Jolliffe, made a special appeal for the Superannuation Fund. He asked for $91 and the congregation responded with $95.

PARK STREET BAPTIST.

The centenary of the British and Foreign Bible Society was observed on Sunday morning. The pastor, Rev. A. H. Brace, preached the sermon, which was based upon II Tim. iii, 5, "the Holy Scriptures, which are able to make you wise unto salvation." The preacher dwelt with the origin of the Bible Society, its far-reaching influence and world-wide power. The miracle of languages at Pentecost was duplicated in the translaton of the Scriptures into three hundred and seventy languages, and again we hear it said, "We do hear them speak in our own tongue the wonderful works of God."

The points of the sermon were:

(I) The Bible is indestructible.

1. Its inspiration.
2. Its age.
3. Its oppositon.

And yet, "Its eye is not dimmed or its natural force abated."

(II) The Bible is doing what no other book has or can do—Saving men by the power of God.

(III) The Bible has a unique place; it stands alone, suited to the King and his subjects, the peer and his peasant, "Able to make them wise unto salvation."

Large congregations gathered, and at night the overflow filled the school room.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH.

Large congregations greeted Rev. Mr. Holah yesterday, and at the evening service he spoke on the special theme, the Bible Society and its work, taking for his text, "What advantage hath the Jew? Much every way, because unto them were committed the oracles of God." Rome 3; 1 and 2. Rev. Mr. Holah pointed out the fact that the Bible had been handed down by the Jews, and the acceptance of their Canon of Scripture, God spoke in times past by the prophets, but in the latter days through His Son, giving to us the Gospel in the New Testament. Mr. Holah spoke of the different translations of the Bible, mentioning particularly those of the 16th century, and the "Great" Bible. Speaking of the modern revised edition of 1881, he expressed the hope that it would eventually be used in the English Church in Canada. The necessity for the revised version was found in the fact that with greater knowledge of old manuscripts came better expressed thoughts.

Mr. Holah paid a high tribute to the great work done by the Bible, the greatest of all books.

MARK STREET CHURCH.

The congregations were exceptionally large at both services yesterday. The quartette by male voices at the morning service was rendered in a very sweet and impressive manner. In the morning Mr. Lewis dwelt on the work of the British and Foreign Bible Society, basing his discourse on the last clause of Acts ii, 11. He said it was possible for nine-tenths of the people of the earth to use these words with reference to the Bible. It is immensely the most widely circulated book extant. More than all other agencies the Bible Society has helped in this great work. After dwelling on the origin and early work of the society, he showed how great a work it was now doing, stating that it had expended $64,000,000, translated the Bible into nearly 400 languages and dialects, employed 870 colporteurs, and 650 Bible women. It was he said, the ally of all missionary enterprises, and without its help many of the missionary organizations would have been crippled in their work. By several instances he showed how the Bible is its own best interpreter, and is doing good work where the missionaries are not permitted to go. He exalted the noble and self-sacrificing work of the colporteurs. Mr. Lewis called attention to the vast work yet to be done, and commended the society as worthy of our sympathy and support. In conclusion he urged all to seek a double translation of the Bible into every language, that all men may read "The Book," and the other into life, that we may become "living epistles," taking in this Christ as our example.

WINNERS IN THE LEADERS' GYMN.

Results of the Examinations Recently Held in Y. M. C. A.

The examination of the members of the leader corp of the Boys' Department of the Y.M.C.A. has taken place and reflects much credit on the members of the corp. The interest in the work and classes has been exceedingly good and has proved of great assistance to the physical director in carrying on the physical work in a systematic way.

The work taken up this winter has been all elementary and next year this will be reviewed and more advanced work taken up. The number in the corp was twenty-two, seventeen took their examination and passed with good standing, and four were unable to attend and were given passing marks.

A silver medal, presented by the Director, to the member taking the highest percentage, was won by LeRoy Thornton, a silver Association button for second place was won by Douglas Loomis, and a bronze button for third was won by Hugh Maguire.

Following is the standing:—

Name.	Per Cent.
LeRoy Thornton	87
Douglas Loomis	85
Hugh Maguire	84
Stanley Fife	80
Maxwell Fife	79
Gordon Thornton	77
Wesley Elliott	77
Edward Mann	76

Melville Robinson	73
MurrayNicol	73
Ernest Wilson	72
Charlie Barrie	70
Chester Froude	66
LeRoy Turner	65
Gordon Stark	65
Gordon Hewson	60

Norman Darling, George Henderson, Norman Barrie and Elgie Currie were given pass marks, 50 per cent., without taking the examination.

Leaders' classes have been held for the past four months and the examination consisted of a test of knowledge of gymnastic nomenclature, form in gymnastic exercises on apparatus and manner, and ability to lead a squad in the gymnasium.

JAPANESE MAKE A MANOEUVRE.

The Squadron is Now Between Russian Squadron and Vladivostock.

RUSSIANS CRITICAL POSITION

Tumen River the Centre of Interest — Russian Squadron Engaged Covering Movements of Troops—Unconfirmed Report of a Second Bombardment of Vladivostock —Seven Japanese Warships Hover.

London, March 8.—It is believed at the Japanese Legation that the Japanese are now between the Russian cruiser squadron and Vladivostock, and there is reason to believe that the Russian squadron is in the vicinity of Possiet Bay. Russian official despatches do not mention this squadron, and this fact lends color to the belief that the Japanese warships have shut it out of Vladivostock. It is pointed out at the Legation that if this be true, the Russian vessels are in a critical position.

Fleet in the Tumen.

Tokio, March 8.—It is believed that the Vladivostock squadron is now in the vicinity of the mouth of the Tumen River, engaged in covering the movements of Russian troops from Possiet Bay to the Valley of the Tumen.

Russian scouts are reliably reported to have penetrated south as far as Kiungsung. The earlier Russian movement into Northeastern Corea was regarded as a diversion, but it now appears that a considerable force participated there.

It is thought that the Russians may occupy and fortify some strong position on the Tumen River. Reports regarding Russian movements in Northwestern Corea are meagre and unreliable.

The force north of the Yalu is being increased, but it is doubted if any considerable number of Russians have crossed the river.

Again Bombarding Vladivostock.

Yinkow, March 8.—An official despatch received here says the Japanese are again bombarding Vladivostock. This news lacks confirmation from other sources.

Japs Hovering About

London, March 8.—A despatch to The Central News from St. Petersburg says telegrams received from Vladivostock say that seven Japanese ships approached that port at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, entered Ussuri Bay at about noon and after some manoeuvring steamed out seaward.

Viceroy Reports No Damage.

St. Petersburg, March 8.—Viceroy Alexieff has telegraphed the Czar from Mukden, under yesterday's date, as follows:

"Supplementary to my telegram of March 6, I most humbly report that at 1.25 p.m. five out of seven of the enemy's ships opened fire on Forts Sqvaroff and Linevitch, on the town, on the roadstead and along the valley of the River Obyassenenciye.

"The firing lasted until 2.15 p.m., at which hour the Japanese squadron began to steam to the southward, disappearing out of sight at 5.30 p.m. There were no losses on the batteries or the fortifications. In the town one seaman was wounded and one woman was killed. According to information just received the enemy's squadron again appeared in sight of the fortress at 8 o'clock this morning."

A later message from the Viceroy says:

"The commandant at Vladivostock reports that yesterday's bombardment resulted in no serious damage to the port. The fortress did not return the enemy's fire.

"To-day at midday the enemy again entered Ussuri Bay and approached to point, from which they bombarded the harbor on March 6. They left again, making for the open sea."

Jap Cruisers Reported Sunk.

London, March 8.—A St. Petersburg correspondent of The Standard gives a rumor that the Czar has received a telegram to the effect that the Japanese fleet bombarded Vladivostock all day Monday. Only trifling damage was inflicted, according to this rumor, but one or two Japanese cruisers were sunk. Although there is nothing to show that there was not another bombardment of Vladivostock on Monday, this report is most likely an exaggerated version of Sunday's bombardment.

On the Banks of the Yalu.

London, March 8.—According to the Che Foo correspondent of The Morning Post, it is expected that the Japanese will reach the left bank of the lower Yalu about March 10. A large force of Russians is strongly entrenched on the hills in the Antung district, adjacent and parallel to the river. Their position is similar to that which the Boers held on the Tugela River.

Hunting for Japanese.

Vladivostock, March 8.—The Russians are hunting for Japanese in the town. Any person concealing them will be court-martialled.

Russians in Very Grutes.

Seoul, March 8.—The Russian soldiers operating in the vicinity of Anju are committing all manner of excesses, maltreating the native women and perpetrating outrages upon every opportunity. Corean officers are said to be fleeing from the districts on Friday last the Russians succeeded in killing thirty of them.

Vering Frontles.

Tokio, March 8.—A number of [illegible] to the Japanese [illegible]

[illegible] March 8.—The Associated Press learns that the Russian authorities have been approached indirectly by American shipping firms desiring authority to fit out privateers to prey on Japanese commerce, but that they met with no encouragement.

Balfour Asks For Light.

London, March 8.—Answering a question in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon, Premier Balfour said the Government considered that Russia's declaration that she proposed to treat coal as contraband of war was of the greatest importance. Mr. Balfour said the British Government was taking steps to obtain more precise information in regard to the interpretation of the Russian declaration respecting contraband of war.

DESCRIPTION OF THE CHAMBER OF HORROR.

Mr. Daniel Munro Gives Evidence at Garow Inquest.

Strange Farewell Note Left by Young Domestic—Verdict of Suicide was Returned.

The inquest into the death of Edith Garow, the seventeen year old domestic servant who was found lying dead across her bed on Saturday, February 27th, with her throat cut and an empty package of diamond dye on the counterpane, was held at Havelock yesterday afternoon, beginning at one o'clock, Coroner Dr. Gray, presiding.

But little evidence was taken and it was without doubt a premeditated act committed by her own hand. No reason could be discovered for the suicide. The jury, composed of John A. Sexsmith, foreman; Thos. Sexsmith, Harvey Reilly, George Rielly, Robt. Curry, Jas. Gilbert, J. Wesley Smith, John Johnston, Geo. Smith, Albert Woodbeck, Jas. Rannie, Thos. Armstrong, David Armstrong, David McQuaig and Albert Keene, returned the following verdict:

"We the jury selected of the Township of Belmont, have examined into the death of the late Miss Edith Edith Garow who was found dead at the residence of Mr. David Munroe on the 27th day of February, 1904, after hearing the evidence produced on the case, and after carefully considering the same, have found that the said Edith Garow came to her death by poison administered by her own hand."

It will be noticed that in the verdict no mention is made of temporary insanity which indicates that in the opinion of the jurymen it was a wilful act committed while she was in a sane frame of mind.

The following is a condensed report of the evidence which was taken:

David Munroe sworn: I live about two miles from Blairton and the deceased had been with me since Christmas Day. On Saturday, February 27th, the day of her death, deceased was left alone in the house. Myself, son and hired man George McGowan, worked in the woods all that day, not returning until after dark. My wife and daughter were in the house in the morning, but during the afternoon went out. When I returned at night the entire house was pitch dark. There was no light or sound and I began to feel afraid that something dreadful had happened. Everything was ominously quiet. Hastily striking a match I lighted the lamp and one by one searched the rooms. When at last I reached the sleeping apartment of our hired girl my eyes were transfixed with horror and a cold shiver went through my body so that I nearly let the lamp fall. There lying on her bed was Edith Garow—dead. For some minutes I could scarcely move. My eyes seemed to start from my head and I cowered back against the wall. Her head was thrown back, her mouth open and her eyes dilated. Her teeth and lips were purple. The fingers of her hands were curled up and a look of ghastly fear was spread over her features. Her whole attitude indicated a final and supreme struggle for a fleeting breath. An empty razor lay on the table of the living room downstairs, and on the sideboard was my razor case—but empty. I went to the chamber of horror again. My strength of mind had returned. My shaving mug lay on the bed and beside it was a spoon all stained with purple dye. The razor was open on the counterpane and was covered with blood stains. Plucking up my courage I made a closer inspection and found blood on both sides of her throat. There were no indications of violence or a tussle having taken place. A packet of strychnine marked "Poison," also lay on the bed and a trunk in the room which had been locked, I found broken open, while a tell-tale hammer lay on the floor. Just then I heard my wife coming in and I went downstairs and told her all the awful things I had seen. The deceased had occasionally expressed a desire to be dead. As soon as possible I drove to Havelock and informed Dr. Crawford, who returned with me. The body had not been touched or moved when the doctor saw it. We then noticed the dress waist was open in front and her breast was partly bared. Lying on the floor was a piece of paper on which she had written: "She will kill Uncle Dan. Someone just tell Aunt Olive. Poor Edith, Good-bye." I do not know what the deceased meant by the writing. I am the "Uncle Dan" referred to. Olive" is her married sister and the deceased was my niece. After I had made the gruesome find I examined the road but could find no foot marks. The writing on the paper was far from being clear and was written with a cinder.

Mrs. D. Munroe, wife of the first witness, testified to the same effect.

Dr. Crawford sworn: I was called to see the deceased and I could not ascertain the cause of death any more than deceased had purple Diamond Dye all over her mouth and hands. A package of strychnine was lying beside the body but I could not see that it had been opened. I could not swear what caused death.

The doctor also handed in in writing the result of his post-mortem examination.

Other witnesses were summoned but nothing further could be learned.

BOOKS THAT INFLUENCE.

"In future no text book will be published," says Premier Ross, "in which the Education Department does not hold the copyright of all the articles, except those on which the copyright has expired." This is the only safe course. It will throw the printing of school books open to the freest competition, and cause their production at the lowest possible cost.

The contents of the Public School readers should be selected with the greatest care, and with a full sense of the importance of the opportunity offered to those who are making the selections. Of all that a man has read the Scriptures alone impress him more than those things he read in the Public School readers. There are thousands of men in Ontario who know nothing about Venice except that the Bridge of Sighs is there. They can never forget about it, with its palace on one hand and its prison on the other, for they read of it in the old school reader. There are thousands who have never read anything by Addison except "The Vision of Mirza," which they studied at school. When these people think of Spain they think of it as a country where warriors are forever taming their hearts of fire and suing haughty kings to free long-imprisoned sires, and getting cheated in the negotiations. Much of Canada's ill-feeling towards Spain in the late war was probably traceable to this influence.

It is not necessary, however, to fill text books with such matter as that mentioned, to the exclusion of all else. There can be stamped for life on the memories of our school children stories of brave deeds and noble actions done in the making of our own country.

These need not all refer to battles, but to the heroisms of the home, to the pioneers who opened up the country, to the adventurers who explored it, to the efforts by which the country acquired self-government. The principles of good citizenship can be indelibly impressed on the consciousness of a boy so that if the man departs from them he will do it knowingly. If a boy knows he is being instructed in moral principles he will be inattentive; but if he is being taught to read, and spell, and pronounce he will divert his attention with delight to what the reading means. He will absorb real lessons, and tuck away in his mind impressions that will strongly influence his life. The fullest use should be made of the text books in raising up good Canadians.—Toronto Star

DAIRY PRODUCTS IN SOUTH AFRICA.

A Good Market if the Quality is Maintained.

"Commercial Intelligence," says that Mr. C. Valder, the commercial agent of New South Wales in South Africa, has sent home a detailed report on the import trade in cheese. The Gouda, or Flat Dutch, is, he says, the kind preferred for sale of Edam or Round Dutch being very small in comparison. These cheeses usually weigh from 9 to 12 lbs. each, and this size seems to be preferred, although he saw one good brand the cheeses of which weighed about 18 lbs each. These are all packed four cheeses in a case and in one layer. Dutch cream cheeses of about 2 lbs in weight, packed in the same way, but with a larger number in a case, are also imported, but the sale is not so large.

I have heard that it is the intention of some of our cheesemakers to attempt the manufacture of Dutch cheese, and provided it can be turned our equal in quality to the article imported from Holland, there would be a good prospect of a big trade for it here. Canadian cheese is very popular throughout South Africa, being of good even quality and keeping well. Much of the cheese imported from England is Canadian. Each cheese, which usually weighs from 60 to 70 lbs., is packed separately in brentwood cases, and each case is sewn in strong sacking. This method of packing has also proved very satisfactory. Prices of late for this cheese have varied from 10d to 1s. per pound, c. f. 7d to 9d. net. It might also be advisable for our cheese-makers to consider the question of putting up cheese in tins for export to this market. Of late a considerable trade has been done in tinned Dutch cheese. This class is usually put up in 12 oz. tins. Coloured cheese is generally preferred. For Cheddar cheese, Mr. Valder recommends landing cheeses of from 26 to 30 lbs in weight in preference to the larger sizes. The only complaint that he could hear of regarding Canadian cheese was that the size was too large for most of the storekeepers."

CANADIAN vs. NEW ZEALAND BUTTER.

Canadian butter suffers to some extent by comparison with that from New Zealand. Mr. J. A. Ruddick, chief of the Dairy Division, Ottawa, says the comparison is really not a fair one, because New Zealand butter is all grass butter and it arrives fresh in Great Britain during our winter season, so that any Canadian butter which comes into direct competition with it must necessarily be winter made or held summer stock. New Zealand butter, however, has a reputation in England for keeping quality, and it will be of interest to Canadians to learn how that reputation has been acquired.

In the first place having no natural ice, the majority of the creameries are equipped with mechanical refrigerating machines. Their creamery refrigerators are kept fairly cold, but they have no refrigerator cars such as we have. The secret of their success is that butter is shipped from the creameries twice a week to cold storage, where it is immediately placed in a chamber at ten degrees and held there until forwarded to England. It must be at least four full days on store before it is shipped, to give time for thorough freezing to the centre of the package. Although the butter is sometimes carried several hundred miles to the London steamer its temperature must be below the freezing point of water; otherwise it will be refused and sent to cold storage to be re-frozen. The temperature in the chambers of the steamer is about 10 degrees. It is placed in the steamer with the frozen mutton which must be kept at a low temperature. It is easy to understand that butter handled in such a manner, although it is two months old when it reaches the market, will have more life in it than some of our butter which has been held two or three weeks in a creamery at a temperature of 40 to 50 degrees. If our creamery owners and patrons expect to compete with the Danes, who are so close to the market, and with the New Zealanders who employ such low temperatures almost from the day their butter is made, it is time the ywere making a more serious effort to improve matters at their end.

IS IT CURABLE?

A Question Often Asked by Those Afflicted With Piles.

Is a strained joint curable? Is local inflammation curable? Of course, if properly treated. So as piles.

People often become afflicted with piles and ask some old "chronic" who has always persisted in the wrong treatment, and naturally he discourages them by telling them that their case is hopeless.

They in turn discourage others, and thus a disease that can in every case be cured by careful and skillful handling is allowed to sap the energy of thousands who might free themselves of the trouble in a few days.

Pyramid Pile Cure will cure the most aggravated case of hemorrhoids in an astonishingly short time. It relieves the congested parts, reduces the tumors instantly no matter how large, allays the inflammation and stops the aching or itching at once.

Thousands who had resorted to expensive surgical treatment have been cured by the Pyramid Pile Cure—in a number of instances persons who had spent months in a hospital under a pile specialist.

It is a remedy that none need fear to apply even to the most aggravated, swollen and inflammed hemorrhoidal tumors.

If you are afflicted with this stubborn disease you can master it and master it quickly.

This remedy is no longer an experiment, but a medical certainty, and is sold by druggists everywhere for fifty cents a package.

Write Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., for their free book on the cause and cure of piles.

SNOW SHOES EIGHT HUNDRED MILES.

Mr. George Boucher, Town, Returned to York Factory,

On the Hudson Bay—Describes the Country and its Inhabitants—Son of Dr. Boucher.

Short but sweet, was the visit which Mr. George Boucher made his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Boucher, of Brock street. He arrived from York Factory on Saturday, and left last night for the far north, where he is manager of the Hudson Bay Company's important post, York Factory. Yesterday afternoon he was seen by the Examiner,, and he gave an interesting account of that country and its inhabitants. In winter the lowest temperature is about 50 degrees below zero, but the climate is moist, and the cold very piercing. Winter begins in October and continues through to June, by which time the six feet or so of snow has disappeared, and summer commences. The months of June to September are almost as hot by day as in Ontario, but at night heavy dews envelop the district, bringing with them cold winds.

The country is mostly a desolate swamp, covered with shrubs, and is inhabited by half civilized Indian tribes. At York Factory there are some thirty white people, who see no class distinctions among themselves, and make what would otherwise be a dreary time pass very pleasantly. The business of the company is the purchasing of furs, chiefly of the beaver, from the Indians, who are given nearly the market value. The Indians generally live in tents, and exist by hunting. As Indians go, they are fairly clean in their ways. They are open-hearted, eager for money, and not more stealthy or underhand than the usual red-skin. Mails are received at York Factory some three times a year.

Mr. Boucher, in returning, goes via the C.P.R. to Winnipeg, thence travelling 800 miles to his destination on snow shoes.

WHAT THE BIBLE SOCIETY IS DOING.

A Meeting Held in the Murray Street Church Last Night.

All the Old Officers were Re-elected—Ten Minute Talks by the Local Clergymen.

A meeting for the purpose of celebrating the Centenary of the organization of the British and Foreign Bible Society was held in the Murray street Baptist church last night and was fairly well attended in spite of the bad condition of the roads and sidewalks. Mr. Sheriff Hall presided and the ministers present were Revs J. Bastow, J. L. Holah, Dr. Torrance, W. J. Jolliffe, J. A. Wilson, J. G. Potter, A. H. Brace.

For ninety-nine years the British and Foreign Bible Society has been giving God's Word to the world at cost, to those who can afford to buy, and as a gift to those unable to purchase. It has issued more than 180 million copies in whole or in part in 370 different languages and dialects, and at a cost of $68,000,000. Two hundred and sixty-three languages and dialects were added to the Society's list during the reign of Queen Victoria—the noblest achievement of that glorious reign. The Society supported last year in 27 countries in all parts of the world 850 Colporteurs, who have sold and distributed 1,890,000 copies. The Word of God is having free course, and is being more and more glorified. Six hundred and 50 Native Bible Women, connected with fifty Missionary organizations, are visiting and reading to an average of 620 heathen women and children regularly each week; 2,500 women were taught to read God's Word, and 23,346 copies of the Scriptures were sold. The Bible Society is the great ally of all branches of the church in Foreign Mission work. No application for a grant of Scriptures has ever been denied. Every request to print the Word in a new tongue has been granted. It spent last year over $50,000 in grants of Scriptures to different religious and philanthropic agencies at home. It constantly employs in translating and revising the different languages and dialects, a large number of the most eminent scholars in the world. It knows no denomination, as such, the Society is the willing servant of all. Its unalterable policy from the beginning has been to give "the Word," without note or comment, in the language of the people, to all the nations of the world.

The meeting opened with devotional exercises after which Rev. J. G. Potter announced a recommendation from the executive of the local branch of the Society, for the re-election of last year's officers. The resolution on motion of Rev. J. Bastow, seconded by Rev. A. H. Brace, was approved of by all present and the officers stand as follows:—

President—Sheriff Hall.
Vice-Presidents—Local clergy.
Secretary—Rev. J. G. Potter.
Treasurer—Mr. J. Crane.

Sheriff Hall opened the meeting with a short address on the work of the local branch of the Bible Society. It was begun in Peterborough in 1836 but the first annual meeting was not held until 1838. He outlined its growth and gave the names of those who had been prominent in its advancement, dwelling at some length on its very successful career, and the benefits that had been derived since its organization.

Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, pastor of the Charlotte street Methodist church, was the next speaker, and he dealt with the Bible, claiming it to be a book of sublimity. It begins with the beginning and the creation of the earth, and it concludes with a statement of the end which must be. It tells of immortality, perhaps one of the most sublime thoughts conceivable. Then it speaks throughout of the One who is God and Man, the Creator, not Builder, of the earth, and it tells of the Salvation through our Lord.

Mrs. Miller followed with a solo, after which Rev. Mr. Brace, of the Park street Baptist church, gave an interesting talk regarding the manner in which Bibles had been translated into various tongues and spread all over the world. The address was succeeded by a duet from Mrs. Miller and Miss Flossie Hall.

The next speaker was Rev. Mr. Holah of St. Luke's, who spoke along the same lines, pointing out particularly the excellent work which the society had done and the opportunities which lay before it in the future.

The last speaker was Rev. J. G. Potter, of St. Andrew's, who particularly asked for financial aid, urging the congregation to do all in their power in relieving the society of a large debt which it had incurred in doing its excellent work.

The meeting was closed with prayer by Rev. J. Bastow.

NOTHING I EAT AGREES WITH ME.

That is the cry of Thousands of People who can Find Relief and a Permenant Cure in Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

"Nothing I ate would agree with me." That was the deplorable condition Juliana Sandburg, of 221 John street north, Hamilton, was in. There are thousands of others in the same unhappy state, and to these she sends a message.

"I bought one box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. After taking part of the box I found relief, and after taking the whole box I was cured, and am still cured."

The way of escape is simple. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are especially prepared for building up run down stomachs. They do the digesting; the stomachs get a rest. In a short time it is strong and healthy and ready to do its regular work.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets bring quick relief and sure cure. They are easy to carry, easy to take, and make life easy for those who take them. One or two after eating is an insurance policy against discomfort.

Not a minute should be lost when a child shows symptoms of croup. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears will prevent the attack. It never fails, and is pleasant and safe to take.

APPLETON'S SUICIDE

Toronto Bank Clerk Shoots Himself in Montreal, Que.

ASKED TO EXPLAIN SHORTAGE

Was Teller in the Toronto Office of Molsons Bank and Went Down to Arrange Some Irregularities in His Accounts With the General Manager—Fatalities of a Day.

Montreal, March 8.—Lucas B. Appleton, a clerk in the Toronto ranch of the Molson's Bank, who had been summoned here by General Manager Elliott to explain an alleged shortage, committed suicide yesterday afternoon outside the door of the head office.

Appleton called upon Mr. Elliott yesterday morning, but was told by the general manager to come back in the afternoon, which he did, and while walking up and down the hallway outside the manager's office drew a revolver and discharged its contents into his brain

Appleton, who has a wife and family, died instantly. The remains were taken to the morgue and afterwards sent to Toronto.

A Teller in Toronto.

Toronto, March 8.—Deceased was one of the tellers in the Molson's Bank at King and Bay streets, and was well known He left for Montreal on Saturday, leaving word at his home that he would be home on Tuesday. He lived at 601 Spadina avenue. The local officials decline to make a statement.

Drowned Off a Ferry Boat.

Quebec, March 8.—There was a drowning accident about 8.30 o'clock yesterday morning from the S. S. Pilot ferry-boat. A woman was seen floating on the river and the captain of the steamer found that one of the three lady passengers on board when he left Levis was missing. The purser noticed a woman crying on board, but nobody had seen her jump overboard. Investigation has been ordered by the authorities.

HIS NECK WAS BROKEN.

Adam Havert's Sad Death in a Hanover Furniture Factory.

Hanover, March 8.—A sad accident happened here yesterday in the Knechtel Furniture Company's factory, resulting the death of Adam Havert, one of the company's oldest employes. Some of the bolts in the gearing of one of the elevators became loose and Mr. Havert, who usually attended to all repairing in the factory, went to tighten them. This being done, the elevator was started down the shaft, but caught on a projecting rod and stopped. When the elevator stopped the machinery went on and unwound the cable which held it. Mr. Havert then went under to see what was wrong, and catching hold of the swinging cable gave it a jerk. In doing so the elevator was loosened and commenced to fall. Seeing his danger he tried to get from under, but was too late, the elevator striking him, breaking his neck. He leaves a widow and six young children to mourn his untimely death.

Scalded to Death.

Cornwall, March 8.—An accident with fatal results occurred at the Toronto Paper Company's mill here. Gracie Hanton, the seven-year-old daughter of J. Hanton of Holyoke, Mass., recently of Cornwall, went into the mill to call her brother-in-law, G. Armstrong, to supper on Saturday night. In some way she fell into a drain used to carry off the exhaust steam, and was scalded so badly that she died next morning.

Fatal Emery Wheel Burst.

Hamilton, March 8.—Martin Quiatkoeski, an Armenian workman, had his skull crushed yesterday afternoon at the International Harvester Company's works. He was employed in the Malleable Iron Foundry, and was holding an iron bar on an emery wheel two feet in diameter, when the wheel burst and flew in all directions. One piece struck the unfortunate man on the head. Although it broke his skull he lived for several hours.

A Frightful Death.

Hamilton, March 8.—Ross Hall, aged 22 years, met a frightful death yesterday morning at the steel plant of the Hamilton Steel & Iron Co. About 4 o'clock his left arm was caught in a cog wheel, and was drawn in until the limb was wrenched from the socket at the shoulder. He lived only two hours after the accident. He came here a short time ago from Kincardine. His parents live at Bowmanville. An inquest has been opened.

Chopped Wife's Head Off.

Ottawa, March 8.—G. P. Menard, a C.P.R. section man, living in Clarence Township, Russell County, chopped his wife's head off with an axe at midnight Sunday and then slashed his own throat with a knife and gashed his forehead with an axe He will die. There were six little children in the house at the time.

Razors Brought Him 1 Year.

Arnprior, March 8.—John Clarke, who was arrested at Mattawa on Friday last for entering Poser's barber shop at Arnprior and stealing fourteen razors was brought here yesterday by Chief Mattson, and pleading guilty was sentenced by Police Magistrate Tierney to one year at hard labor in Kingston Penitentiary.

Big Steamer in Ice.

Halifax, N.S., March 8.—The steamer Mystic from Boston, which arrived at Louisburg, C.B., yesterday, reported having passed a large steamer either a passenger or a freight boat ashore on the ice on White Head, N.S.

HUMAN BAROMETERS.

A Rheumatic Mystery.

Here are some marvels of medicine!

A dose of Aconite will climax at three o'clock in the morning

Aloes will operate at five o'clock a. m., and sulphur at eleven o'clock.

No matter what time, in the preceding day, you have taken these medicines, they will climax at the fixed hours here stated and reveal certain symptoms always.

How do you account for this?

How account for a Rheumatic person's ability to predict a coming storm 24 hours ahead by the peculiar ache in his bones?

Rheumatism is simply Uric Acid in the blood. Can Uric Acid have its time limit, like other chemicals, but reflecting backward like a barometer?

Uric Acid is due to a lack of Alkaline material in the blood. This acid absorbs the debris, or waste matter, of the system.

It carries this waste matter into the blood, when there are not enough Alkaline elements, like salt or soda, to neutralize the Uric Acid, and to free the debris before it reaches the kidneys.

As the blood circulates through the system, it then deposits small particles of this waste matter in the joints and muscles.

These particles are like granulated sugar, or sand, and they grind between the joints and muscles at every movement.

This grinding causes intense pain and inflammation frequently. If the disease be not checked the inflammation will cause the Uric Acid particles to be coated with a fleshy cushion, which in time grows to the joints as well. Then "bony joints" and crooked limbs ensue.

The only way to cure Rheumatism is to convert the Acid condition of the blood into an Alkaline. Then to dissolve, and carry away the deposits in joints and muscles.

Then, to get the digestive organs into a normal condition, so they will secrete, without further help, less Acid and more Alkalines. Upon this condition depends cure, and the permanence of cure. But, it is useless to kill Rheumatism if we also kill the stomach in doing so.

Few drugs powerful enough to dissolve Uric Acid deposits are safe enough to take into the stomach. This is why so-called "quick cures" are dangerous.

Rheumatism is slowly acquired, and so, a cure cannot be expected in a few weeks' treatment, and never by external applications. The first essential in a Rheumatic cure is safety, the second, effectiveness: the third, permanence.

In a medical experience of thirty years I have known but one remedy which combined these three qualities. It took nearly ten years of my life to discover and perfect that remedy.

The chief ingredient I found in Germany, and to this I added, subtracted from and combined, until now I have a prescription on which I daily stake fortune and repute.

After 2,000 test cases I found that Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure" succeeded in 39 out of each 40 cases. Then I decided it was safe to supply it on a month's trial, at my risk, to Rheumatic sufferers everywhere.

If it fails, the treatment and six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure cost you not a farthing, and I bear the whole cost myself without question.

If it succeeds, the cost to you is but $5.50. This is no mere sample proposition, but a practical guarantee of success or no pay. Write me to-day—before you forget it—for my free Treatise on Rheumatism.

Address Dr. Shoop, Box 47, Racine, Wis. Simple cases often yield to one bottle of Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure, (Druggists, $1). But all druggists do not supply it on a month's trial. You must write me for that.

CANADIAN LIVE STOCK.

Breeders Form a National Association—Only One Record For Each Breed—Largest Stock and Dairy Cattle Shows.

Ottawa, March 8.—A meeting, convened for the purpose of forming a national association of stock breeders, opened yesterday morning in the City Hall, with an attendance of about eighty from all parts of Canada.

F. W. Hodson, Dominion Live Stock Commissioner, presided, and among those present were: Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario; J. R. Anderson, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Victoria, B.C.; W. Peterson, Calgary; G. H. Grey, Winnipeg; T. A. Peters, Fredericton; E. D. Elderkin, Amherst, N.S.; Mr. Turner, president Horse Breeders' Association, N.W.T., Hon. Wm. Beresford, president Cattle Breeders' Association, N.W.T.; A. P. Macdonald, president Western Stock Breeders' Association; Mr. Gigault, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Quebec.

The several Provincial representatives were called upon to deliver addresses, beginning with Ontario. Each speaker congratulated the stock breeders upon getting together in a national convention.

A Royal Welcome.

At the afternoon session of the National Convention of Stock Breeders, His Excellency the Governor-General received a royal welcome and was the recipient of an address read by Hon. John Dryden. His Excellency, in reply, expressed his strong interest in stock breeding and hoped a strong Dominion organization would be formed. Mayor Ellis extended a civic welcome. Hon. Sydney Fisher, who presided, in the afternoon, outlined the objects of the gathering.

The committee, upon records, which met during the lunch hour, placed in the hands of the meeting the following resolution: "That this convention advises the establishment of one record of live stock for each breed in Canada." Upon the resolution nearly all present spoke, opinion being unanimously in its favor.

The Fat Stock Show.

The fat stock and allied shows are now in full blast at the Exhibition grounds. Yesterday Bunk street took on its circus day and fall fair appearance, the procession of live stock men from the Canada Atlantic and Canadian Pacific Railway yards being an almost continuous one. At noon to-day all the stock will be in position, and judging will be commenced at 1 o'clock.

Many Exhibitors.

All the dairy cattle arrived yesterday and were placed in their quarters. The showing is a splendid one, the number of entries being double that of last year. In the Dairy Department the different breeds represented are the Holsteins, Ayrshires, Shorthorns and Grades. Several herds of beef cattle also arrived, including the crack animals from Senator Edwards' stock farm at Rockland, and the prize-winning herd of Shorthorns from Wm. Ormiston's stables at Columbus, Ont. More arrived during the afternoon.

Amongst the other cattle men represented are Reid & Co.; J. C. Smith of Hinterburg; James Lease, Greenbank; James Rennie, Brackwater; David McRae, and J. B. Hood, Guelph.

The principal exhibitors of swine are J. E. Brethour, Burford; Snell & Lyons, Snelgrove; J. A. Richardson, South March; W. H. Smith, Maple Lodge, and J. H. Jull and J. Lloyd Jones, Burford.

Among the sheep men represented at the show are A. W. Smith and John Gibson, Denfrith; W. E. Wright, Glenworth, and R. H. Harding, Thorndale.

Imports From Canada.

London, March 8.—The imports to Great Britain from Canada for the month of February, were as follows: Cattle, 5,158 head, valued at £88,279; sheep and lambs, 3,273 head, valued at £5,086, wheat, cwts., 475,000, valued at £172,093; wheat, meal and flour, cwts., 141,600, valued at £70,870; peas, cwts., 22,180, valued at £7,796; bacon, cwts., 53,064, valued at £117,511; hams, cwts., 13,496, valued at £35,910, butter, cwts., 2,205, valued at £9,728; cheese, cwts., 75,446, valued at £193,219; eggs, great hundreds, 150, valued at £75; horses, 15 head, valued at £600.

Mr. Smart Reports Progress.

London, March 8.—James A. Smart, Deputy Minister of the Interior, has returned from a visit to the Continent, and is enthusiastic over the prospects for a very largely increasing number of Continental emigrants. They will be a superior class. The mayor of one town is sending his four sons. In the countries visited by Mr. Smart he was treated with the greatest courtesy and attention. Mr. Smart personally interviewed the members of the Government. He is not returning to Canada as soon as he intended.

FOR ENERGY AND STRENGTH-- ANTI-PILL

Prevalent conditions that go to make people look old and fasten age marks before their time are described in the following letter from a woman who received immediate relief from a sample of ANTI-PILL.

"I would wake in the morning feeling tired. My feet and ankles would swell. I had a horrible dragged sensation My head ached as though it would burst. My bowels were never regular. I had a disagreeable feeling of overfulness after eating. Food would not digest, and caused great distress. Was nervous. I was treated for dyspepsia and constipation with little or no relief. A sample of Dr. Leonhardt's ANTI-PILL did me so much good I followed up its use, and two boxes has entirely cured me."

ANTI-PILL is sold by druggists, 50 cents, or mailed by addressing WILSON-FYLE CO., Niagara Falls, Ont Free sample mailed to any address.

PEDESTRIAN INJURED BY FALLING ICE.

Mr. R. J. Kidd Met with an Accident this Morning.

Mr. R. J. Kidd, of the Times, met with a painful accident this morning, while passing the town buildings, fifth ward. A piece of ice fell of the roof of the building, striking him on the head and injuring him to such an extent that he had to be conveyed to his home. Mr. Harry Evans, street commissioner, who was in the vicinity, drove the injured man to his home. It is not anticipated that any serious results will follow the accident.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MRS. HENDERSON.

Died on Sunday at Nicholls Hospital from Heart Failure.

The death of Anna E. Helson, relict of the late Robert Henderson, occurred on Sunday night at the Nicholls Hospital. The deceased lady had been in ill-health for about two weeks, but her condition on Saturday, appeared to be improved, and hopes were entertained of a speedy recovery, but she suffered a relapse on Sunday morning, and passed away Sunday evening. The late Mrs. Henderson was born a few miles from Keene, where she spent most of her life, moving to Peterborough about five years ago, and has lived at the residence of her mother, Mrs. Ellen Dickson, 97 Dickson street. Her husband predeceased her by about nine years. One daughter, Alberta Moss, is left to mourn the loss of a kind and loving mother. The mother, five sisters, and two brothers of the deceased, are also living.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock from 97 Dickson street and proceed to the Little Lake cemetery.

REV. F. RATCLIFFE DIED IN TORONTO.

The Former Resident of Peterborough County Passed Away.

Word was received in town this morning of the death of Rev. F. Ratcliffe, Stouffville, father of Mrs. George Matthews, which occurred early this morning in Toronto, at the residence of his son, Mr. F. L. Ratcliffe, where the deceased had been living recently.

The late Mr. Ratcliffe was 70 years of age, and had been ill only about 4 weeks. He will be remembered by many of the older residents of Peterborough as being the pastor of the Fourth Line Baptist Church some years ago. He left here a number of years ago, and has since then resided in Stouffville.

Mrs. George Matthews, who is the only daughter of the deceased, left for Toronto upon learning of the serious illness of her father, and was at his bedside when he died.

Three sons also survive him, F. L., of the firm of Douglas & Ratcliffe, Toronto, paper dealers; J. W., of Stouffville, formerly of Lasewade, and township clerk of Chandos; and J. H., a merchant of Stouffville.

A Pleasing Event at McCallum's Restraunt Last Night.

MR. CONROY, THE HOST.

Members of the Napanee and T. A. S. Team at a Banquet Players Congratulate on their Record - A Pleasant Gathering.

Last night at the conclusion of the hockey game a very pleasant gathering was held in McCallum's restaurant, when on the invitation of Mr. D. Conroy, the members of the Napanee and T.A.S. teams, and a number of members of the T.A.S. partook of a sumptuous supper served by Mr. McCallum in his usual good style. The event was one in which everyone who participated found perfect enjoyment, and it was an occasion upon which the members of both teams must look back upon with extreme pleasure.

The two teams have shown the best of good feeling for each other, and this feeling was greatly enhanced by the very pleasant event in which both paticipated last night.

The Trent Valley League came in for considerable well-earned commendation, and the officials of the League who were present must have felt gratified to learn that their management of the affairs of the second largest hockey league in the province had been so satisfactory. An announcement, however, was made last night, which will cause genuine regret not only to those to whom it was made directly, but to everyone connected with the League, or interested in it. Mr. E. S. Clarry, who, since the institution of the League six years ago, has held the office of secretary, and to whose untiring efforts a large portion of the success of the league is due, made the announcement last night that this season would be the last in which he would be able to give the affairs of the League attention, on account of the fact that his business required his entire time. Consequently he would find it necessary to retire from the office of secretary. His associations with the League and the teams in it had been most pleasant, and he had formed friendships which he prized highly.

There were, however, pleasant surprises as well as those not so pleasing, last night. One of these was when Mr. D. J. DeVine, the secretary of the club, read a letter received from Mr. Clarry, President of the Rugby Club, enclosing a check for $15.00 given to the T.A.S. hockey club, by the former. The letter explained that when the Rugby Club had been low in the treasury, they had received assistance from the T. A.S. Club, and now when the latter had experienced a somewhat discouraging season as far as receipts were concerned, the Rugby Club desired to assist them.

Following this came another pleasing announcement made by Rev. Dr. O'Brien to the effect that Mr. A. J. Gough had given the T.A.S. club five shares of stock in the rink in honour of their having won the championship.

Mr. McFadden, President of the club, occupied the position of toastmaster last night, and seated at his right was Rev. Dr. O'Brien, the Chaplain of the Club, while the host, Mr. D. Conroy, was on his left. About 50 gentlemen were present, including the members of the Napanee team.

The first toast honoured was that to the King, which was loyally responded to in the usual manner, after which Mr. McFadden, in an eulogistic speech, proposed the toast to the Napanee Hockey Team, the members of which, he said, were gentlemen. No one who saw the game last night could help admiring the playing of the Napanee team and their gentlemanly conduct had made them many friends here. Mr. J. McCabe also spoke along similar lines. Mr. Dafoe, the President of the Club, responded to the toast, and in turn complimented the members of the T. A.S. team. It had been a pleasure to meet the champions, and their conduct on the ice had been such as to merit the respect of the Napanee players. His team had been beaten fairly, and since the Napanee team could not win the cup he was glad it had gone to the T.A.S. again.

The "Trent Valley League" was next honoured, and responded to by Mr. W. Crowley, president, and Mr. E. S. Clarry, secretary. Mr. Crowley stated he considered it an honour to fill the office of president of the League. The season just closing had been a successful one, and he hoped the League would continue to grow.

Mr. Clarry in his reply made the announcement referred to above, to the effect that this would be his last season with the League in an official capacity. He congratulated the T. A. S. team upon winning the championship for two consecutive seasons. There had been many perplexing questions coming up during the season, in the settlement of which he had tried to act fairly with all the teams. He wished the League continued prosperity.

Mr. George Lynch then gave a humorous recitation, in which he was enthusiastically applauded.

"The Referee" was proposed by Mr. Waller of the Napanee club, and representative on the executive. Mr. Waller paid a high tribute to the impartiality of Mr. Elliott. The fact that he was on the ice was sufficient inducement to the players to refrain from indulging in questionable plays. Mr. Elliott had an enviable reputation, and he had fully sustained it by his work last night.

Mr. George Lynch also spoke to this toast, and repeated the words of Mr. Waller in speaking of Mr. Elliott's work as a referee.

In response, Mr. Elliott said that last night's game was the first in his experience as a referee that he had not found it necessary to penalize a player. He was very agreeably surprised by the way in which the teams handled themselves on the ice. He had started refereeing in the Trent Valley League, and he believed it was a splendid organization. The teams played the O.H.A. rules better than the O.H.A. teams themselves.

"The Ladies" was spoken to by Mr. McGrath and Mr. Elliott.

Rev. Dr. O'Brien, chaplain of the club, followed, and expressed his pleasure at being present. He thought no one need apologize for being connected with athletics; hockey, played properly was a manly sport, and St. Peter's T.A.S. had endeavoured to foster pure sport. He was much pleased at the way the teams had played, and although he was elated at the success which had come to the T.A.S. team for the second time, he would like to compliment the Napanee team on the showing which they had made.

"The Press" was then honoured, and Mr. D. Devine moved that the thanks of the T.A.S. be tendered to the press generally for their treatment of the Trent Valley League and the T.A.S. team. This motion was carried on a standing vote. Dr. O'Brien here made the announcement that Mr. Gough had presented to the club five shares of rink stock, for which Mr. McFadden, on behalf of the club returned his thanks.

The toast to "Our Host" was proposed by Messrs Devine and Shevlin, and enthusiastically honoured. Mr. Conroy replying said it was a pleasure to him to be able to meet the members of the team in this way. He congratulated the winners as well as the losers on the game they had played.

The last toast was that to the "T. A.S. Team," proposed by Mr. Waller.

The gatherind dispersed, after singing the National Anthem.

CORSETS —FOR— SPRING.

THE Spring Dress-making season is here and new CORSETS are an indispensable adjunct in the production of a stylish perfect-fitting toilette.

Our Corset Department was never in better shape to meet the demands of Spring Trade than is the case this season.

Our Assortment includes all the latest models by expert corset makers such as CROMPTONS, B. and C., B and I. and C. P.

Designed to suit all shapes, to fit all figures and to correct all irregularities of outline without discomfort to the wearer and qualities to meet all classes of trade.

The New Figure is slim to the verge of leanness. Hips are obsolete, but must be softly curved for angularity in the human figure even in the widest stretch of artistic imagination could not be considered beautiful.

Consequently stout figures must be reduced, and angular ones softly rounded and this is where the CORSET must do duty.

New Features are the extended apron or habit hip intended to reduce stout figures, and of these we have made a specialty, and the woman with a girth measurment of thirty inches can obtain her correct model as readily as the one whose measurements are normal or average. We will be pleased to show you our assortment.

Y. W. C. A. TO ERECT A NEW BUILDING.

Growth of the Work Demands Increased Facilities.

Generous Offer of Hon. Senator and Mrs. Cox Twenty-five Thousand Dollars Required.

About twelve years ago, sixteen Peterborough ladies met with Mr. Colville, the then secretary of the Y.M.C.A., with another young man, who had suggested the idea, to discuss the needs of an organization for young women. Of those, three, Mrs. Fairbairn, Mrs. Walsh and Miss Nicholls, are still connected with the work. At that meeting $68 was subscribed. Mrs. Fairbairn was appointed president, and the work organized. Rooms were taken down town, and opened during certain days of the week.

Amid ups and downs the work steadily increased until seven years ago an advance step was taken in opening a boarding department. Two years ago the work was enlarged again, through the generous offer of Senator Cox, of the use of a building on George street, in which the general work of the association could be carried on. Again the association is contemplating an important advance step, that the growing needs of the young women of Peterborough may be adequately met, namely, the erection of an association building.

The fact that during the last ten years, Peterborough has grown largely as a manufacturing centre, and that young women in increasing numbers are entering industrial and commercial life here, is making imperative a centre at which young women in all departments of life may meet for mutual benefit — Socially, educationally and spiritually. That the young women themselves are more and more realizing such a necessity is shown by the way in which the present facilities are being taxed to their utmost. During the past association year, 92 young women have been enrolled in the various educational classes and 70 in the special course of cookery, which has been carried on during the past month.

A Gospel meeting, with an average attendance of 27, during the past year is held every Sunday afternoon, and two Bible classes a week have met. In all a monthly average of 1300 young women have made use of the George street rooms for various purposes. This is some of the reportable work of the association. An influence which has been used to transform many lives, in the upbuilding and steadying of character, through the various agencies at work, such as the opening up of the mind, in order that young women may have resources within themselves, the development of the body by healthful exercise, the forming of true and wholesome companionships—these cannot be estimated, but are known to have been largely accomplished. With inadequate equipment much has been done, but the necessity of enlarging to better meet the needs, is urgently felt.

There are at least one thousand self-supporting women in Peterborough, as many more who are at home who can help and be helped to make other lives bright and nobler by natural contact. Probably no greater temptation come to young women than through their social natures, in the craving for companionship and pleasure. That a Young Womens' Christian Association can supply and has supplied in Peterborough a pure, wholesome atmosphere and that true companionships can there be formed, have been adequately demonstrated. The great necessity now is for enlargement.

The subscription list for a new building has already been begun with a subscription of one-fourth of any sum which would be raised, given by Senator Cox. Twenty-five thousand dollars is the sum which the ladies have named as necessary for a well equipped building which shall contain a boarding house, a gymnasium, class rooms, etc., and already some other large subscriptions have been promised. Through the kindness of Mrs. Cox the furnishing of the gymnasium has been provided for. During the next two weeks the public will be given the opportunity of assisting in this important work, and the ladies of the Board and the young women of the Association feel confident that they will meet with a liberal response in order that the important work of a Young Womens' Christian Association may be carried on with increased efficiency.

The enterprise and generosity of the McAllister Milling Co., is shown by their recent decision to give to purchasers of their Ultimator flour a choice of four or five very handsome pictures. These pictures will be entirely without advertising matter and will be appropriately framed. A contract has already been made with "The Framery," 428 George street, for framing several hundred of these pictures, samples of which will shortly be on view in "The Framery" window, 428 George street. 2dlw

NO SKATING TO-NIGHT IN BROCK ST. RINK

Don't Forget to Look

As you pass Messrs. H. LeBrun & Co's window, don't forget to look at the pyramid of new fashionable spring suitings piled up in the south window. There ought to be choice enough for any man, no matter how hard to please he may be. It's the largest display of imported cloths for spring to be seen in town.

Another attraction is the exhibition of fine cambric shirts in the north window of the City Clothing Store. They are principally for big men with lots of neck, the sizes being 16 and 16 1-2. The selling price is only 50c., although 75c. and $1.00 are the regular prices. d

T. A. S. Again Wins the Championship—Senior Marlboros Here To-morrow Night—Other Sporting News.

T. A. S. TEAM THE CHAMPIONS

Won T. V. L. Championship for Second Year in Succession.

DEFEATED NAPANEE TEAM.

A. H. Stratton Cup, Emblematic of Trent Valley Championship, Remains in Peterborough A Fast Clean Game.

Winners of the Trent Valley League Championship for two years in succession. T. A. S. team for 1903-1904:
Goal—McCOY.
Point—MEAGHER (Capt.)
Cover Point.—CROWLEY.
Rover—PARNELL.
Centre—LYNCH.
Right Wing—GEORGE.
Left Wing—McGRATH.

For the second time in as many years, the T.A.S. Hockey Team has won the A. H. Stratton silver cup, emblematic of the Trent Valley league championship. The deciding game was played last night in the Brock street rink, the opposing team being Napanee, and the champions won by the safe margin of 7—3, which just about indicates the standing of the two teams. The condition of the ice, which was somewhat heavy towards the last was not conducive to fast work, but considering this fact, the game was a fast one, and was without doubt the cleanest one played in the rink this season, not a man being ruled off either team for any cause. This is the first game this season of which this may be said.

That the T.A.S. deserved to win last night's game, no one who saw the play will deny. They played superior hockey, and although the visiting team pressed them hard at periods in the game, they were never within sight of winning. The T.A.S. played a good, clean and fast game, and deserved the honours which last night's game gave them. After the champions had defeated Keene, it was believed that they would have smooth sailing until they came up against the winners of the Southern District, which were believed to be fast, and although the T.A.S. supporters were confident of victory, they recognized the fact that they would have to work for it, as indeed they had, and to win they played better hockey than they have in any previous game this season.

MR. W. CROWLEY.
President of the Trent Valley League and Cover Point Player on the Champion T. A. S. Team.

The Napanee team started out like winners, scoring the first goal in 8 minutes, but they could not stand the pace set and maintained by the T.A.S., and after the first few minutes contented themselves with long lifts, and did not check as closely as they might have done. Their first was the only goal scored in this half, while the champions scored 3. In the second half, the Napanee team played a much better game, and the game was fast for almost the entire period. They succeeded in scoring only twice however, one of them being a long lift from centre ice by Dafoe, while the T.A.S. added 4 to those already to their credit.

The chief cause of the downfall of the Napanee team last night was the fact that the forward line was light, and could not penetrate the excellent defence put up by the T. A. S. team. They did not play as clever combination as the winners, and Williams, the left wing man, and the fastest man on the team, failed to be as effective as he otherwise would have been had the remaining forwards been as fast as he was.

The Napanee team, however, were playing under difficulties. They had not had a practice for more than a week, and as a consequence were not in the best of shape. They put up a game fight, however, and played hockey all the way through, winning for themselves the respect and sympathy of the 900 spectators. Stacey, in goal is a young player. He stopped a number of good shots, and played a good game, but was not in the same class as McCoy, who has never been more effective than he was last night.

Cortes, at point is the heaviest man on the team, and proved himself a good defence player. He was instrumental in breaking up some dangerous rushes. His effectiveness, however, is in his weight, as he does not clear as quickly as the T.A.S. defence. During the early part of the game he lifted well, but in the latter period this feature did not show up so prominently. Wager, who played cover point, is another heavy man, and played a good game last night. He confined himself with feeding the forwards, and did not attempt rushes on his own account. The forward line is light, and for their weight put up an exceedingly good game. It was seen early in the game, however, that they were outclassed by the speedier and heavier men on the T.A.S. forward line. Lake played rover, and followed up well, putting in some hot shots on McCoy, all of which he stopped. He was injured in the second half of the game, which to a certain extent interfered with his playing for the rest of the game. Dafoe, at centre, is a fast little skater and handled his stick well. George Lynch, however, who checked him was more than his match. The wing men, Trimble and Williams, particularly the latter, played a fast game. Williams scored the first goal for the visitors in 8 minutes. The great difficulty with the Napanee forwards was that they lacked effective combination, and relied too much on individual work. The team as a whole played well, however, and gave the T.A.S. a run for the championship.

For the home team it is sufficient to say, that there was not a weak spot on the line up. Every man played his position well. They played last night probably the best game for the season and certainly deserved their win. McCoy, in goal, was invincible, and stopped shot after shot. He was well supported by the work of Meagher and Crowley, both of whom played with good effect, each taking part in some good rushes. For the forwards it is impossible to particularize. Each man played the game as it should be played, cutting out everything not hockey, of which the game was a good exhibition.

Chaucer Elliott's work was light last night. For the first time this season, a game of hockey was played during the course of which no one was ruled off, and only once had a man to be warned. Mr. Elliott said after the game that it was the first time in his experience as a referee that such a thing had happened.

The Napanee team started out strong, scoring the first goal in 8 minutes. This ended their scoring for the first half, however, and the T.A.S. ran in three, making the half time score 3—1. After half time the home team put in two more, making the score 5—1, when Napanee scored again on a long lift by Dafoe from centre ice. T.A.S. then puctured the nets twice, and Napanee scored the last, Trimble doing the trick. This ended the scoring and the game, with the terms standing T.A.S. 7—Napanee, 3

The line up was:

T.A.S.	Napanee.
Goal.
McCoy	Stacey
Point.
Meagher	Cortes
Cover point.
Crowley	Wager
Rover.
Parnell	Lake
Centre.

A summary of the goals scored is as follows:—
1—Napanee, by Williams, in 8 minutes.
2—T.A.S., by George, in 5 minutes.
3—T.A.S., by Lynch, in 10 minutes.
4—T.A.S., by George, in 2 minutes.
Second half.
5—T.A.S., by Lynch, in 3 minutes.
6—T.A.S., by Lynch, in 4 minutes.
7—Napanee, by Dafoe, in 8 minutes.
8—T.A.S., by Parnell, in 2 minutes.
9—T.A.S., by George, in 3 minutes.
10—Napanee, by Trimble, in 1-2 minute.

SENIOR MARLBOROS HERE TO-MORROW.

O. H. A. Senior Champions to Play the Local Team.

The fact that the Marlboros will bring their full senior team here to-morrow night is sufficient guarantee that the game will be a fast one. The Marlboros are senior O. H. A. champions this year, and are without doubt the fastest senior team in the Association. The recent games between the West and East demonstrated that there is but a slight difference between the best Intermediate and Senior teams, and the general opinion is that the Peterborough team can give the best of them a hard run. To-morrow night's game should answer the oft-asked question "Is the best senior team better than the Peterboroughs?" This will be the last game in all probability, in which the local team will play this season, and there should be a good crowd out to see them demonstrate their ability to show the Marlboros a thing or two about hockey.

The local club is under a big expense in bringing the Toronto team here, but they expect a game worth the cost.

The line-up of the Peterborough team will be:—
Goal—Mercer.
Point—Haweil.
Cover point—Cavenah.
Forwards—H. Armstrong, Whitcroft, R. Armstrong, Morgan.

PUCKERINGS.

Last night in Toronto the Marlboros won the city championship from the St. George's by 8—3. The same Marlboros team that played last night will be here to-morrow night for their game with the local team.

INVITED TO JOIN CANADIAN BOWLING TEAM.

And Go to the Old Country to Play this Summer—Mr. T. F. Matthews Honoured.

This morning Mr. T. F. Matthews received notification from Mr. Q. D. McCulloch, the Hon. Secretary of the Ontario Lawn Bowling Association, to the effect that he had been chosen to play on the Canadian Bowling team which is to visit the Old Country this year and return the compliment of the Scotch Curlers. The team will sail on the S. S. Lake Manitou from Montreal on Thursday, May 26th, and will participate in the great tournament at the Crystal Palace. Mr. Matthews will likely accept the invitation.

CURLING.

The following are asked to play their games by to-morrow night at the latest:
Connal vs. Clegg.
Neill vs. Thompson.
Knapman vs. Rutherford.

REGULAR MEETING OF TOWN COUNCIL.

A Deputation from Board of Education Asks for the Collegiate Institute.

Canal Swamps Discussed by Council—A Heavy Program of Business—Communications Received.

Some matters of considerable importance were brought to the attention of the Town Council, which held its regular meeting last evening. A deputation from Cavan asked for a grant towards draining and building a road through the large swamp in that township, claiming that such road would bring considerable trade to Peterborough. The Board of Education waited upon the council, with the result that steps will be taken to present to the people a bylaw authorizing the expenditure of $50,000 for a new Collegiate Institute. Application will also be made for legislation to reduce the number of school trustees, the present number, 17, being considered cumbersome. The Fire, Water and Light Committee were authorized to purchase certain new appliances for the fire department, and an increase was made in the salaries of firemen, on the recommendation of the Committee of the Whole, although the report gave rise to some criticism relative to the council's general policy of expenditure. The above were the principal matters considered.

The regular monthly meeting of the Town Council was held last night when there were present Mayor Roger, Aldermen Best, McWilliams, Batten, Clinkscale, Adams, Scott, Mason, Rush, Johnston, Hicks and Morrison.

COMMUNICATIONS

From George L. Blatch and J. A. Jackson, auditors, suggesting that instead of charging all printing, advertising and stationery to one general account, as is now done, each account be charged directly to its respective department. The suggestion was on motion of Ald. Adams, seconded by Ald. Johnston, adopted.

From the Town Solicitor, E. H. D. Hall, enclosing a letter from the Assistant Provincial Secretary, in reference to the extension of the town limits.—Received.

From Dennistoun, Peck, Kerr and Stevenson, notifying the Council that the cellar of their clients, Ormond & Walsh, had been again flooded by surface water on Feb. 27, and that they would look to the town for damages.—Legal Committee.

From the Salvation Army, asking a grant of $100 for their band.—Finance Committee.

From W. H. Bradburn, suggesting that a catch basin be placed at the corner of George and Simcoe streets, to avoid the flooding of the cellar under the back portion of China Hall block.—Board of Works.

From the town teamsters, asking for an increase in salary.—Received.

From Geo. Sloan, secretary of the Trades and Labour Council, asking that the Council have inserted in the Lock Works, or any similar agreement, the condition that the minimum scale of union wages be paid.—Received.

Ald. Adams.—We might explain that the Lock Company pays the maximum, not the minimum.

From the Board of Education, enclosing a resolution passed at the meeting of the School Board relative to a new Collegiate Institute.—Received.

A NEW COLLEGIATE.

A deputation from the Board of Education was on motion heard. It consisted of Messrs. J. J. Hartley, Robt. Fair, R. B. Rogers, W. G. Ferguson, L. M. Hayes, J. Crane, H. P. Kennedy.

Mr. J. J. Hartley admitted that the council was a progressive body, but there was another, the Board of Education, which had the interests of the community at heart. He dwelt upon the importance of having the best possible buildings and equipments for educational objects. There should be such buildings as the town could look to with pride and which would demonstrate that there was a proper interest taken in the education of the rising generation. The proposal was to submit a bylaw to the people authorizing the expenditure of $50,000 for a new Collegiate building.

Mr. L. M. Hayes held that all were agreed a new Collegiate was an absolute necessity. There was now being expended something like $1500 a year rental for school accommodation. A Collegiate Instituute was a family want and the people would undoubtedly support it.

Mr. Crane regretted that Mr. V. Eastwood, chairman of the Property Committee, was not present to give the benefit of detailed information. He felt that money could not be better expended than in a Collegiate Institute.

Mr. Kennedy said the matter of

BRITAIN'S CABINET

Mr. Balfour Explains Recent Changes in His Administration.

ADMITS CABINET WAS DIVIDED

Mr. Ritchie and Lord George Hamilton Knew of Mr. Chamberlain's Resignation—Ups and Downs of Hope in the Premier's Mind—Duke of Devonshire a National Asset—Fiscal Reform Question

London, March 8.—(C. A. P.)—Premier Balfour, replying to a question put by John Edward Ellis, M. P. (Liberal), gave an explanation re the Cabinet split in the course of which he said the Government crisis was a matter that came about when Mr. Chamberlain made his memorable speech in May last. The Cabinet was divided on the subject of fiscal reform, "but it was practically decided among us that the subject should not be raised, but put on one side till the end of the session." In the beginning of August he circulated among his colleagues his notes on the position of insular free trade, and up to the date of the last Cabinet meeting for August he hoped to keep all his colleagues.

But no compromise being suggested on the fiscal question by the members of the Government who afterwards retired he began to abandon hope. His view at the time was that it was contrary to his public duty to leave his position as head of the Government, so long as he retained the confidence of the King and the House. In September, he came to the conclusion that some break up in the Cabinet was inevitable and Mr. Chamberlain arrived at the same view. In these circumstances the Cabinet meeting of Sept. 11 assembled. Mr. Chamberlain expressed his view clearly at that meeting that he would resign if a colonial preference was omitted. In his letter Mr. Chamberlain expressed the view that he preferred to carry on his propaganda in an independent position.

Another reason which made him feel there was a chance of keeping the Cabinet intact till the end of the session he spoke of with diffidence. All the gossip which reached his ears led him to believe that Lord George Hamilton and Mr. Ritchie had wholly abandoned hope of remaining members of a Government pledged to fiscal reform. He heard even speculation as to what would occur when in consequence of the break up in the Government he would resign his place as Premier. He then altered the views he had previously held and came to the conclusion that it was not within the range of practical politics to impose a food tax.

No human being denied that a conceivable concession on the part of Canadian protectionists, combined with a conceivable minimum duty on food, would enormously subserve the interests of free trade.

He sympathized with Mr. Ritchie and Lord George Hamilton and strongly denied jockeying them out of the Cabinet. He had reason to complain of the course pursued by Lord George Hamilton in charging that he kept them ignorant of Mr. Chamberlain's retirement. He knew it in writing, they by speech. He also complained that Lord George Hamilton had allowed Lord Rosebery to make misstatements regarding these documents. Mr. Balfour, referring to the Duke of Devonshire, said he felt sorry the correspondence of an unduly controversial nature occurred at the time of his resignation. The Duke of Devonshire was one of the assets of our public life and the country could never forget his great and permanent services.

Lord George Hamilton asserted without the possibility of denial that the document placed before the Cabinet contained proposals for the taxation of food, and he resigned because he could get no guarantee that protection would not form part of the Government program. The document he referred to was never so far as he knew withdrawn. Mr. C. T. S. Ritchie, Lord George Hamilton and Winston Churchill and other Unionists walked out not caring to vote against the Government whose majority was 65.

Purified by Suffering

BY MARY J. HOLMES,

"Of all the words of tongue or pen, The saddest are these—It might have been."

Morris involuntarily thought of these lines, but they only mocked his sorrow as he answered Helen: "I doubt if you are right, I hope you are not. Katy loved me as her brother, nothing more, I am confident. Had she waited till she was older, God only knows what might have been, but now she is gone and our Father will help me to bear, will help us both, if we ask him, as we must."

And then, as only he could do, Morris talked with Helen until she felt her hardness towards Wilford giving way, while she wondered how Morris could speak so kindly of one who was his rival.

"Not of myself could I do it," Morris said; "but I trust in One who says 'As thy days shall thy strength be, and He, you know, never fails."

There was a fresh bond of sympathy now between Morris and Helen, and the latter needed no caution against repeating what she had discovered. The secret was safe with her, and by dwelling on what "might have been," she forgot to think so much of what was, and so the first days after Katy's departure were more tolerable than she had thought it possible for them to be. At the close of the fourth there came a short note from Katy, who was still in Boston at the Revere, and perfectly happy, she said, going into ecstasies over her husband, the best in the world, and certainly the most generous and indulgent. "Such beautiful things as I am having made," she wrote, "when I already had more than I needed, and so I told him, but he only smiled a queer kind of smile as he said: 'Very true; you do not need them.' I wonder then why he gets me more. Oh, I forgot to tell you how much I like his cousin, Mrs. Harvey, who boards at the Revere, and whom Wilford consults about my dress. I am somewhat afraid of her, too, she is so grand, but she pets me a great deal and laughs at my speeches. Mr. Ray is here, and I think him splendid.

"By the way, Helen, I heard him tell Wilford that you had one of the best shaped heads he ever saw, and that he thought you decidedly good looking. I must tell you now of the only thing which troubles me in the least, and I shall get used to that, I suppose. It is so strange Wilford never told me a word until she came. Think of little Katy Lennox with a waiting-maid, who jabbers French half the time, for she speaks that language as well as her own, having been abroad with the family once before. That is why they sent her to me, they knew her services would be invaluable in Paris. Her name is Esther, and she came the day after we did, and brought me such a beautiful mantilla from Wilford's mother, and the loveliest dress. Just the pattern was fifty dollars, she said.

"The steamer sails in three days, and I will write again before that time, sending it by Mr. Ray, who is to stop over one train at Linwood. Wilford has just come in, and says I have written enough for now, but I must tell you he has bought me a diamond pin and earrings which Esther, who knows the value of everything, says never cost less than five hundred dollars.

"Your loving,
Katy Cameron."

"Five hundred dollars!" and Aunt Betsy held up her hands in horror, while Helen sat a long time with the letter in her hand, cogitating upon its contents, and especially upon the part referring to herself, and what Mark Ray had said to her.

Every human heart is susceptible of flattery, and Helen's was not an exception. Still with her ideas of city men she could not at once think favorably of Mark Ray, just for a few complimentary words which might or might not have been in earnest, and she found herself looking forward with nervous dread to the time when he would stop at Linwood, and of course call on her, as he would bring a letter from Katy.

Very sadly to the inmates of the farm-house rose the morning of the day when Katy was to sail, and as if they could really see the tall masts of the vessel which was to bear her away, the eyes of the whole family were turned often to the eastward with a wistful, anxious gaze, while on their lips and in their hearts were earnest prayers for the safety of that ship and the precious freight it bore. But hours, however sad, will wear themselves away, and so the day went on, succeeded by the night, until that too had passed and another day had come, the second of Katy's ocean life. At the farm-house the work was all done up, and Helen in her neat gingham dress, with her bands of brown hair bound about her head, sat sewing, when she was startled by the sound of wheels, and looking up saw the boy employed to carry packages from the express office, driving to their door with a trunk, which he said had come that morning from Boston.

In some surprise Helen hastened to unlock it with the key which she found appended to it. The trunk was full, and over the whole a linen towel was folded, while on the top of that lay a letter in Katy's handwriting, directed to Helen, who, sitting down upon the floor, broke the seal and read as follows:

"Boston, June —, Revere House.
Nearly midnight.

"My Dear Sister Helen: I have just come in from a little party given by one of Mrs. Harvey's friends, and I am so tired, for you know I am not accustomed to such late hours. The party was very pleasant indeed, and everybody was so kind to me, especially Mr. Ray, who stood by me all the time, and who somehow seemed to help me, so that I knew just what to do, and was not awkward at all. I hope not, at least for Wilford's sake.

"You do not know how grand and dignified he is here in Boston among his own set; he is so different from what he was in Silverton that I should be afraid of him if I did not know how much he loves me. He shows that in every action, and I am perfectly happy, except when I think that to-morrow night at this time I shall be on the sea, going away from you all. Here it does not seem far to Silverton, and I often look towards home wondering what you are doing, and if you miss me any. I wish I could see you once before I go, just to tell you all how much I love you—more than I ever did before, I am sure.

"And now I come to the trunk. I know you will be surprised at its contents, but you cannot be more so than I was when Wilford said I must pack them up and send them back—all the dresses you and Marion made.

"No, oh no!" and Helen felt her strength leave her wrists in one sudden throb as the letter dropped from her hand, while she tore off the linen covering and saw for herself that Katy had written truly.

She could not weep then, but her face was white as marble as she again took up the letter and commenced at the point where she had broken off.

"It seems that people traveling in Europe do not need many things, but what they have must be just right, and so Mrs. Cameron wrote for Mrs. Harvey to see to my wardrobe, and if I had not exactly what was proper she was to procure it. It is very funny that she did not find a single proper garment among them all, when we thought them so nice. They were not just the style, she said, and that was very desirable in Mrs. Wilford Cameron. Somehow she tries to impress me with the idea that Mrs. Wilford Cameron is a very different person from little Katy Lennox, but I can see no difference except that I am a great deal happier and have Wilford all the time.

"Well, as I was telling you, I was measured and fitted, and my figure praised, until my head was nearly turned, only I did not like the horrid stays they put on me, squeezing me up and making me feel so stiff. Mrs. Harvey says no lady does without them, expressing much surprise that I had never worn them, and so I submit to the powers that be; but every chance I get here in my room I take them off and throw them on the floor, where Wilford has stumbled over them two or three times.

"This afternoon the dresses came home, and they do look beautifully, while every one has belt, and gloves and ribbons, and sashes, and laces or muslins to match—fashionable people are so particular about these things. I have tried them on, and except that I think them too tight, they fit admirably, and do give me a different air from what Miss Hazelton's did. But I really believe I like the old ones best, because you helped to make them, and when Wilford said I must send them home, I went where he could not see me and cried, because—well, I hardly know why I cried, unless I feared you might feel badly. Dearest Helen, don't, will you? I love you just as much, and shall remember you the same as if I wore the dresses. Dearest sister, I can fancy the look that will come over your face, and I wish I could be present to kiss it away. Imagine me there, will you? with my arms around your neck, and tell mother not to mind. Tell her I never loved her so well as now, and that when I come home from Europe I shall bring her ever so many things. There is a new black silk for her in the trunk, and one for each of the aunties, while for you there is a lovely brown, which Wilford said was just your style, telling me to select as nice a silk as I pleased, and this he did, I think, because he guessed I had been crying. He asked me what made my eyes so red, and when I would not tell him he took me with him to the silk store and bade me get what I liked. Oh, he is the dearest, kindest husband, and I love him all the more because I am the least bit afraid of him.

"And now I must stop, for Wilford says so. Dear Helen, dear all of you, I can't help crying as I say good-bye. Remember little Katy, and if she ever did anything bad, don't lay it up against her. Kiss Morris and Uncle Ephraim, and say how much I love them. Darling sister, darting mother, good-bye."

This was Katy's letter, and it brought a gush of tears from the four women remembered so lovingly in it, the mother and the aunts stealing away to weep in secret, without ever stopping to look at the new dresses sent to them by Wilford Cameron. They were very soft, very handsome, especially Helen's rich golden brown, and as she looked at it she felt a thrill of satisfaction in knowing it was hers, but this quickly passed as she took out one by one the garments she had folded with so much care, wondering when Katy would wear each one and where she would be.

"She will never wear them, never—they are not fine enough for her now!" she exclaimed, and as she just then came upon the little plaid, she laid her head upon the trunk lid, while her tears dropped like rain in among the discarded articles condemned by Wilford Cameron.

It seemed to her like Katy's grave, and she was sobbing bitterly, when a step sounded outside the window, and a voice called her name. It was Morris, and lifting up her head Helen said passionately:

"Oh, Morris, look! he has sent back all Katy's clothes, which you bought and I worked so hard to make. They were not good enough for his wife to wear, and so he insulted us. Oh, Katy, I never fully realized till now how wholly she is lost to us!"

"Helen, Helen," Morris kept saying, trying to stop her, for close behind him was Mark Ray, who heard her distinctly, and glancing in, saw her kneeling before the trunk, her pale face stained with tears, and her dark eyes shining with excitement.

Mark Ray understood it at once, feeling indignant at Wilford for thus unnecessarily wounding the sensitive girl, whose expression, as she sat there upon the floor, with her face upturned to Morris, haunted him for months. Mark was sorry for her—so sorry that his first impulse was to go quietly away, and so spare her the mortification of knowing that he had witnessed that little scene; but it was now too late. As she finished speaking her eye fell on him, and coloring scarlet she struggled to her feet, and covering her face with her hands wept still more violently. Mark was in a dilemma, and whispered softly to Morris: "I think I will leave. You can tell her all I had to say," but Helen heard him, and mastering her agitation, she said to him:

"Please, Mr. Ray, don't go—not yet at least, not till I have asked you of Katy. Did you see her off? Has she gone?"

HEADACHES AND RUSHING OF BLOOD TO THE HEAD.

APPETITE WAS GONE.

TRIED MANY DIFFERENT REMEDIES BUT

MRS. WALTER MANTHORNE, BROOKLYN, N.S.

She says: "I suffered for three years with terrible headaches and rushing of blood to my head. I lost my appetite and became very thin and weak. I tried many different remedies and consulted doctors, but all in vain until I started to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I had not taken more than two bottles when I began to feel better, my appetite improved wonderfully and I increased rapidly in weight. I took altogether four bottles and am now as well as can be, for which I owe my thanks to Burdock Blood Bitters. I can recommend it to all those suffering as I did."

A HEALTHY OLD AGE

The Goal of Every Man's Ambition

THOUSANDS of human beings are suffering under the burden of a sickly, premature old age, because of diseased kidneys. These organs once diseased give out to all parts of the body a deadly slow-acting poison. The face loses its color, the eye its luster, the brain its ambition, and the muscles their energy, and many of the most troublesome ailments result.

Bu-Ju cures all forms of kidney trouble and brings back youth and vigor by rooting out the evil. It is a never-failing cure for every form of kidney ailment. It cures rheumatism by eradicating the cause of rheumatism, kidney disorders. If you are suffering from any form of kidney trouble, commence taking Bu-Ju, The Kidney Pill, at once. You cannot afford to neglect the many symptoms that point to diseased kidneys.

Markham, Ont., Dec. 1, 1903.

Claflin Chemical Co., Windsor, Ont.

Gentlemen:—I had suffered almost continually for seven years from kidney trouble. Could scarcely walk and was unable to attend to my farm duties. Saw Bu-Ju, The Kidney Pill, advertised and procured a box from my druggist. After taking the first few pills I felt much relieved and after taking half a box was able to do a full day's work. I know one box of Bu-Ju saved me $40 doctor bills, and think they are the finest pill made. I give this testimonial freely.

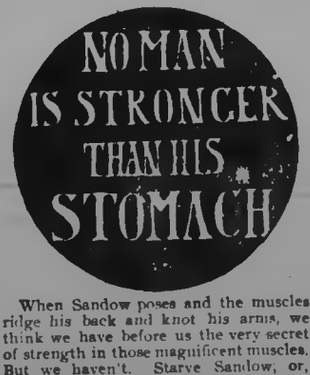
CENTRAL LIVERY STABLES and VETERINARY INFIRMARY

West of Oriental Hotel, 193 Hunter st.

Everything up-to-date in the Livery Line. When you want a Rig of any kind for any occasion, ring us up.

Office of DR. McKERCHER, Veterinary Surgeon and Dentist. Calls day or night promptly attended to. Horse and cattle medicine always in stock.



When Sandow poses and the muscles ridge his back and knot his arms, we think we have before us the very secret of strength in those magnificent muscles. But we haven't. Starve Sandow, or, what is practically the same thing, let him be dyspeptic, and his muscle would soon fail. Strength is made from food properly digested and assimilated, and no man is stronger than his stomach, because when the stomach is diseased digestion and assimilation are imperfect.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food so that the body is nourished into perfect health and strength.

"I had what my physician called indigestion. He gave me medicine for the trouble but it did me no good," writes Mr. W. H. Wells, of Willard, N. C. "I wrote to Dr. Pierce and stated my case. He sent me a descriptive list and hygienic rules. I carried out these as best I could, bought six bottles of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and commenced taking it. A few days later I noticed a great change. Felt like a new man. Before I began the use of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' I suffered greatly with pain in stomach, my nerves seemed all run-down, I was very thin in flesh, but now can eat heartily and sleep good at night."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the paper-covered book, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

The Gate to Health is a hale heart, and the better the blood pump the more vigorous the vitality.

Some know they have weak hearts; others only know that they're ill and don't suspect the heart.

But cure the heart cures every part. No heart is too sound; ninety-nine out of a hundred are disordered or diseased.

Doctors do not get to the heart of the subject; to be effective that is what medicine must do.

Dr. AGNEW'S HEART CURE enthrones health where disease reigned, in the great center of the system, the heart. Then good blood pumps in full measure, sends new life quivering through every organ and tissue of the body. It means new courage, new cheer, a new lease of life.

Dr. AGNEW'S PILLS scavengers of the digestive system and healers of the disordered apparatus. Purely vegetable and mild, forty doses for ten cents. One-fifth the price of the next best competing pill. 13

PROPERTY COMMITTEE

The following is the report of the Property Committee:

Gentlemen,—Your Property Committee begs leave to report that on account of the depth of snow, etc., they have considered it advisable not to make their annual report of the various properties with regard to repairs until the April meeting of the Board. We also report that the heating of the Central School is being provided for satisfactorily by stoves for the balance of the season. We have not as yet settled what action to take re repairing of heating system, as we have not as yet received complete tenders for same.

Your Committee begs to report re plans and estimates for Collegiate Institute building, that we have received the information asked for at last meeting as to the cost of similar property in other towns which is herewith presented. Your entire committee has had these plans fully explained by the architect and from our knowledge gathered as to the cost of site and buildings, we consider that we should ask for an appropriation of $48,000 and that this estimate is entirely in keeping with all data that can be obtained and that we should not incur further expense until the ratepayers shall have passed upon same.

All of which is respectfully submitted

V. EASTWOOD,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

COMMITTEE ON APPOINTMENTS

The following is the report of the Committee on Appointments:

Gentlemen,—Your Committee on Appointments begs leave to report and recommend as follows:

1. That the application of Mr. Doupe for an increase in salary be not considered at the present time.

2. That Miss Annie Weir, of Port Hope, be appointed to fill the vacancy on the Collegiate Institute staff at a salary of $1000 per annum (schedule A), duties to start after the Easter Holidays.

3. That Mr. T. J. Wallis, of Keene, be appointed to fill the vacancy on the Public School staff, at a salary of $600 a year, as per schedule revised, duties to commence after Easter.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. H. HILL,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

Moved by H. P. Kennedy, seconded by W. G. Ferguson, that whereas the Collegiate Institute is now paying $1,100 a year rent to the Public Schools for buildings that are not suitable, and whereas we are also paying $400 a year taxes, in all $550 for the Menzies School, making a total rental at present of $1,650, and whereas a new Collegiate Institute, modern and up to date, and that would meet all requirements for years to come could be built for about $50,000, and whereas our town can borrow that amount of money at at least four per cent. which will mean an annual expenditure of $1920 a year, which is a very small additional charge—$270 difference—and as the present collegiate institute building is needed for public school purposes, it is hereby resolved that the town council be asked to issue debentures for $50,000, or submit a by-law therefor to the ratepayers for a site, buildings and equipment for the collegiate institute and that a committee composed of the chairman and Messrs. Eastwood, Hill, Hayes, Crane and the mover and seconder be appointed to confer with the council in reference to the matter.—Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

REGULAR MEETING OF TOWN COUNCIL.

detail had been carefully gone into by the board. There was an absolute need, and a new public school or institute would have to be built. He hoped that the bylaw would be submitted at as early a date as possible.

Mr. Hill pointed out that the question had been considered some ten years ago and every little while it came up again. The schools were overcrowded and the lease of the Menzies school expired in July. Almost every town in Ontario had up-to date school buildings and nothing was too good for Peterborough. By submitting a bylaw an opportunity would be given the people to express their opinion. Should they not be favourable some other plan would have to be immediately adopted to meet conditions. Mr. Hill considered that $50,000 was a reasonable figure for a thoroughly up-to-date building.

Mr. Robert Fair pointed out that the matter had been forced upon the School Board. The Inspector had reported against the present building and had indicated that if there were no improvement a part of the Government grant would be cut off.

Mr. R. B. Rogers, on behalf of Peterborough East, spoke in support of the project. Other towns were away ahead of this in respect of school buildings.

Ald. McWilliams considered that the cost to the town annually for interest and sinking fund in paying for a Collegiate Institute would be about $3,000. He was heartily in favour of the project.

Ald. Adams also favoured the request of the Board of Education. In reply to a question he was informed that there would be nine teaching rooms. The building should be a credit to the town.

The remainder of the report of the Council meeting is held over until to-morrow's issue.

Only Two Weeks More

—OF—

GOUGH BROS' "Good-Bye" Sale

We're nearing the finish—and the nearer we get the better the bargains. We want to emphasize this fact all we can. It's a case of compulsion now, more than ever. WE CAN SAVE YOU MORE MONEY ON SUITS, OVERCOATS, HATS, SHOES AND FURNISHINGS IN THE SHORT TIME LEFT THAN WE EVER COULD SAVE YOU BEFORE. It's worth your while to think this matter over quick. What you want is surely here, ready to carry home at

LESS THAN THE CLOTH COST TO-DAY

If you were a personal friend of ours and we wanted to do you a good turn, we would advise you to pick out one of the $16, $14, $12 or $10 Suits or Overcoats, marked down to just about one-half the price. Wouldn't that be like finding money?

Men have been buying two and three Suits at a time; others, a couple of Overcoats—and you should see the satisfied look on customers' faces.

The sale has had the effect of clearing out more of the medium and cheap-priced goods leaving the best for the last. It's up to you now to do some quick looking around during Gough's Final Clean-up!

BIGGER BARGAINS THAN EVER IN BOOTS, SHOES, RUBBERS, etc. Yes, bigger than ever! And as the stock gets lower and the FINER goods remain, still deeper cuts are made in prices. The values in FINE Footwear will positively astonish you!

TWEED BY THE YARD—double and treble your money's worth. The time is so short now that we have quit taking measures, so we throw our whole stock of Tweeds on the market at less than one-third and one-half regular prices, by the yard. Remember, only two weeks more!

P. S. All Outstanding Accounts not settled before March 15th will be placed in our Solicitor's hands for collection.

SQUADRON'S ENGAGE IN A SEA BATTLE.

Russia's Vladivostock Fleet Destroyed by the Japanese.

NO DETAILS OF THE FIGHT.

Marquis Ito Goes to Seoul — Believed to Indicate a Virtual Protectorate Over Corea by the Japanese—Concentration of the Mikado's Troops—Vice-Admiral Makaroff Reaches Port Arthur.

London, March 9.—The Daily Telegraph publishes a despatch from Tokio, dated March 7, and saying: "It is reported that the Japanese fleet engaged the Russian Vladivostock squadron at sea yesterday. The result is not announced, but it is believed the Russian ships were destroyed or captured."

Would Appear Quite Likely.

London, March 9.—Far Eastern despatches make no further mention of the rumor that the Russian Vladivostock squadron has been engaged and the Tokio correspondent (Bennet Burleigh) of The Daily Telegraph cabling on the night of Tuesday, March 8, says: "No details have yet been received of the fight at Vladivostock."

The whereabouts of the Vladivostock squadron is still unknown, and it would appear quite likely that a naval battle has occurred, as every one places great faith in The Daily Telegraph's correspondent, Bennet Burleigh.

The sending of Marquis Ito on a mission to Corea is regarded here as the most significant news of the day, and it is believed to indicate a virtual protectorate over Corea, which will become the Japanese military base and source of supplies. Marquis Ito enjoys a great prestige in Corea.

It is reported from Shanghai that Viceroy Alexieff is preparing to re-

To Seize Newchwang.

London, March 9.—In Shanghai it is believed that the Japanese will attempt the seizure of Newchwang as soon as the ice clears. A correspondent of The Daily Express at Shanghai asserts that the Russians are throwing up a continuous line of earthworks at Kaiping to Liaoyang.

The Chefoo correspondent of The Daily Express reports that a large Japanese fleet has been seen proceeding towards Newchwang.

Among other unconfirmed reports, it is said at Yinkow that the Japanese have advanced to Fenghoangcheng (about forty miles northwest of Wiju). It is also reported that news has reached Osaka, Japan, of an engagement between Japanese and Russians at a point 100 miles from Vladivostock, in which the Russians fled.

A correspondent of The Daily Telegraph at Tokio says that according to reports from Port Arthur, the Russian battleship Retvizan and the cruiser Askold have been refloated.

Ito to Go to Seoul.

Tokio, March 9.—The forthcoming visit of Marquis Ito, as a special ambassador from the Emperor of Japan to the Emperor of Corea claims general attention. It was originally planned to send a prominent Japanese to Seoul as a permanent resident adviser to the Corean Government and various names were suggested. The announcement that Marquis Ito is going is a surprise. In official circles it is insisted that the object of Marquis Ito's visit to Corea is not politically important.

It is denied that Japan has any new plan to execute. It is thought, however, that Marquis Ito will make an investigation of the general conditions in Corea and formulate possibly some recommendations which will be useful in the adoption of a policy for the future.

Makaroff Arrives.

Port Arthur, March 9.—Vice-Admiral Makaroff, who takes command of the Russian Pacific fleet, arrived here yesterday and hoisted his flag on the cruiser Askold. Four merchantmen have been brought into Port Dalny.

Ordered to Vise Passports.

Vladivostock, March 9.—The military commandant here has ordered all foreigners to have their passports vized by the Local Government and commercial agents of their respective countries. Most of the residents of Vladivostock are sending their families into the interior. The girls' school and the boys' gymnasium will be transferred into the interior.

Hospital Ships for the War.

St. Petersburg, March 9.—The Russian Red Cross Society has offered to provide the Red Cross Society with dogs trained to find and relieve the wounded on the battlefield and in rough country districts. These dogs carry restoratives, and a first aid package attached to their collars. The offer probably will be accepted.

The offer of a society woman to raise a body of 2,000 Amazons to fight against the Japanese has been greeted with laughter at the War Office. The Gazette urges a boycott of British goods and ships.

Millinery Styles for Spring.

Miss Delaney is now ready with advance styles of high class novelties in ready-to-wear hats for Spring. There is also a fine showing of lovely new collars, with stole front. The styles will suit the most fastidious tastes — the prices the most economical. Everything is being done here this season to keep up the high reputation this store has for having the best and most stylish millinery in Peterborough.

Don't Forget to Look

As you pass Messrs. H. LeBrun & Co's window, don't forget to look at the pyramid of new fashionable spring suitings piled up in the south window. There ought to be choice enough for any man, no matter how hard to please he may be. It's the largest display of imported cloths for spring to be seen in town.

Another attraction is the exhibition of fine cambric shirts in the north window of the City Clothing Store. They are principally for big men with lots of neck, the sizes being 16 and 16 1-2. The selling price is only 50c., although 75c. and $1.00 are the regular prices. d

GOODS ALWAYS A LITTLE BETTER THAN SEEMS NECESSARY.

TAILORED SUITS

Not made haphazard, but with that touch and finish—that something in the "get up," that makes them the envy of every woman's fancy.

Suits made in newer cloths than can be found in most suit selections. We have Blacks and Blues in the proper weaves, but we show along with these the Smart Knapped All-Wool Eoloiennes in Creams, French Grays and dull but light shades of the Castor tints.

New York touches seem to crop out of every garment we show. We're proud to say they are "made in Canada" and we are pleased to see that Canada can so flatteringly copy the sought after American styles.

The prices of these Suits range from $15.00 to $35.00.

The styles are confined to us. That individuality that every lady dotes on can be yours if you express the wish.

THE RUSSIAN LAND FORCE MET DEFEAT.

Japanese Troops Rout Russians 100 Miles from Vladivostock.

THE U. S. ATTACHES DISTRUSTED.

Russian Government Has Refused Permission to U. S. Military Attacked to Accompany the Russian Troops—Latest News from the Seat of War.

(Special G. N. W. Despatch to the Examiner.)

RUSSIANS DEFEATED ON LAND.

London, March 9. — The Shanghai correspondent of the Telegraph states "News has reached Osaka of an engagement between the Russians and Japanese at a point 100 miles from Vladivostock. The Russians fled, abandoning their arms and stores."

UNITED STATES ATTACHES NOTWANTED.

Berlin, March 9. — The Lokal Anzeiger to-day asserts that Russia has refused permission to the United States to send military attaches with the Russian forces in the field, while permission to continental powers is freely given. This, says the paper, is considered a grave affront, implying, as it does, that U. S. officers are not fit to be trusted with Russian military secrets.

NAVAL BATTLE AT VLADIVOSTOCK.

Tokio, March 9. — It is believed here that there has already been a decisive naval engagement in the vicinity of Vladivostock, and tidings of it are anxiously awaited. The Japanese fleet did not, it is said, go to Vladivostock for the purpose of bombarding the town, but to locate and attack the battleships Gromoboi, Rossia, Rurik and the cruiser Bogatyr, the Russian fleet stationed there. It is understood here that when the Japanese fleet arrived there on Sunday last, it found the Russian squadron absent.

Tokio, March 9.—Japanese warships bombarded the forts at Talien Wan, Port Dalny, on the night of March 8, and then attacked Port Arthur.

A BLACK WILD RABBIT.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir, — Another freak arrived this winter, and before its owner calls for it, any one interested may see it at my residence. It is a black wild rabbit, or more correctly speaking, a black Alpine Hare. It should have donned its white robes during the winter, but on account of this winter being so extremely summer-like, it may have had justifiable reasons for this coat of mourning; or it may be that as our forests are rapidly disappearing through our stovepipes it assumed such a funeral like garb. Whatever the cause the freak is black, instead of white, except for a little white on the point of its nose, and a white streak upon the top of its head. It is no tame specimen escaped, for when skinning it the thinness of the skin was a most decisive mark. It was shot by Wm. Thompson in the neighbourhood of Mount Julian, and will be with me a few days yet owing to bad roads.

Yours truly,
E. ELLCOME.

—The special attraction for ladies this week will be the Turnbull Co's ready-to-wear opening on Thursday, March 10th, when all the latest novelties in ready-to-wear millinery, costumes, separate coats and skirts, will be on exhibition. 2d

Miss Agnes Miller, of Chicago, speaks to young women about dangers of the Menstrual Period.

"To Young Women:—I suffered for six years with dysmenorrhea (painful periods), so much so that I dreaded every month, as I knew it meant three or four days of intense pain. The doctor said this was due to an inflamed condition of the uterine appendages caused by repeated and neglected colds.

"If young girls only realized how dangerous it is to take cold at this critical time, much suffering would be spared them. Thank God for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that was the only medicine which helped me any. Within three weeks after I started to take it, I noticed a marked improvement in my general health, and at the time of my next monthly period the pain had diminished considerably. I kept up the treatment, and was cured a month later. I am like another person since. I am in perfect health, my eyes are brighter, I have added 12 pounds to my weight, my color is good, and I feel light and happy."—Miss Agnes Miller, 25 Potomac Ave., Chicago, Ill. — $5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

The monthly sickness reflects the condition of a woman's health. Anything unusual at that time should have prompt and proper attention.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 9, 1904.

A DEPUTATION ON THE CAVAN SWAMP

Interviewed the Town Council on Monday Night.

Assistance Asked for From the Town—Firemen to get Increase in Salary Regular Monthly Meeting.

Mr. Hill brought to the attention of the Council, the question of reduction in the number constituting the Board of Education. There were now some seventeen members, a rather cumbersome number. He thought legislation should be obtained effecting a reduction.

Ald. McWilliams suggested that this matter, together with other proposed changes in municipal organization, be brought before the Municipal Committee of the Legislature.

Mr. Hartley replied that the matter had not been considered until the inauguration of the Board. It was their desire that the Council should take action to have the application made to the Legislature.

Ald. Morrison pointed out that London was taking a similar step, and there was just a possibility of the change of the legislation being made general.

Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald Adams, that the matter referred to by the Board of Education be referred to the Legislative Committee with instructions to apply for the required legislation.—Carried.

THE CAVAN SWAMP.

A deputation, consisting of Reeve Charles McNeil, and Councillors Geo. Shields and W. H. Staples, of Cavan, was present to interview the Council relative to the proposal to drain the large swamp in the township and construct a road through it. Reeve McNeil presented the township's case and enlightened the Council with the assistance of a map. The swamp is situated about four miles west of Peterborough, and its natural outlet is about 1-2 mile across the line in North Monaghan. There were some 1,500 acres in the swamp and west of it were 7,000 acres, the farmers upon which would use the proposed road. The Government consented to give a grant, and municipalities interested had agreed to assist. It was pointed out that the drainage from the swamp would not increase the flow of the Peterborough creek, into which it would drain, to any great extent, and in a few years it was reasonable to believe that there would be no perceptible increase whatever. The road would shorten the distance from 12 miles to 8 miles between Mount Pleasant and Peterborough, it would prove a very great convenience and attract in this direction business which went in other directions. It was estimated that the work of drainage would cost in the neighbourhood of $12,000, and the road between $9,000 and $1,000. The Government had agreed to give $3,000 for drainage, and the Counties of Northumberland and Durham $600 towards the road. It was thought that, as Peterborough would benefit considerably from the road being opened, an amount larger than that last referred to should be her contribution. Until the engineer had completed his survey it was not known what amount Cavan would give. This would be determined by the benefit upon the land effected—probably $10 an acre.

Mr Shields and Mr. Staples both spoke on the proposition. Mr. Shields stated that he lived in the north-west part of Cavan township, and he pointed out that Mount Pleasant cheese factory, running about six months a year, had gone about 776 miles out of the way in that time in delivering cheese to Peterborough. The town would derive large advantages from the road. A general tax would be levied upon the whole township in meeting the expenditure upon the new road.

Mayor Roger in reply stated that the matter would receive consideration. The difficulty was that the town could not very well assist in outside project without special legislation. The town would undoubtedly view with favour the proposal.

R[illegible] that all kinds [illegible] to be contended [illegible] connection with the [illegible] questions were [illegible] consideration. He [illegible] the town would be in sympathy with the project. In reply to Ald. Best, Mr. McNeil said some 3,500 acres would be redeemed by the drainage.

The matter was referred to the Committee of the Whole Council, and the deputation expressed appreciation of the hearing accorded.

A number of accounts were presented and referred to the Finance Committee.

Ald. Morrison stated that the council should adopt some plan whereby accounts would be paid more promptly, as at present they were not settled until some two months after they were sent in.

This matter was the subject of a lengthy discussion but no action was taken.

TOWN WILL NOT SELL

Ald. Batten presented the following report:

Gentlemen,— Your Property Committee begs leave to report that they have considered the offer of Mr. W. Taylor to purchase and remove several of the buildings on the land purchased by the town from Mr. W. F. Hilliard and recommend that the town do not sell them.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOS. BATTEN,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT

Ald. Edgcumbe presented the following report:

Gentlemen,—Your Fire, Water, and Light Committee beg leave to report as follows:

1. With reference to the letter from the Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Company this committee is considering the advisability of establishing subsidary fire stations and does not wish to make any changes until their plans are completed.

2. We recommend that the chairman be authorized to purchase for the fire department 500 feet of fire hose, eight rubber coats, two chemical fire extinguishers, six smoke masts, one life-saving net, and hydrant keys, and also articles required for firemen's rooms.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

The report was adopted.

The appliances referred to in the report will cost about $600.

FIREMEN'S SALARIES.

Ald. Edgcumbe presented the following report:—

Gentlemen,—Your Committee of the Whole Council beg leave to report and recommend as follows:

1. That the request of the firemen for increase of salary be granted and that th salari s be as follows from January 1st, 1904: Chief of the Brigade, $250; Assistant Chief, including salary as fireman, $200 a year; other firemen, $150; and that it be a rule that in future the Brigade shall not admit a new member until approved of by the Town Council.

2. That the drivers in the fire hall be paid $450 a year from January 1st, 1904, and that the duties of the engineer and the drivers include keeping the sidewalks around the Town Buildings clear in the winter.

Ald. McWilliams pointed out that the above report meant an increased expenditure of $1000. The firemen he admitted were not any too well paid but by providing for several expenditures of this kind a twenty mill rate would soon be reached. A few years ago there had been an increase from 17 to 18 mills, and the general opinion was that this was due to causes beyond the control of the council. Such was not the case, however, and it was found that the expenditure was directly within control of the council. He advised that some consideration be given to the total expenditure as well as to the rate. He had no opinion to express as to whether the expenditures had been wise or not.

Ald. Edgcumbe replied that if the town was not to be protected it could get along without the firemen. He thought it a very small thing for anyone to get up and object to the increase in expenditure for fire protection.

Ald. McWilliams stated that he was not objecting to the matter referred to by Ald. Edgcumbe.

Ald. Adams considered that the council owed a debt of gratitude to Ald. McWilliams for going into the matter so fully. He agreed with his argument that attention should be given to the rate and hoped that it would not be raised to twenty mills.

Ald. Hicks believed in keeping down expenditure but thought the firemen were deserving of the increase.

Ald. Johnston considered that there was something wrong with the law which permitted the granting of property to manufacturing concerns but which objected to expenditures such as the one suggested. He favoured the increase of salary to the firemen.

Ald. McWilliams considered the expenditure advisable. He thought the town should have a new and more powerful fire engine as an auxiliary to the water works.

Ald McWilliams moved that the report be deferred until the striking of the rate.

Ald. Edgcumbe pointed out that if the firemen were not assisted, the town would have to pay more to the fire insurance companies. The resignation of the brigade was not an improbability.

Mayor Roger said that he had no fear that the town was running into a burden of expenditure. Affairs should not be conducted in a tuppeny-ha'peny village way, but along lines that would be adequate in meeting conditions, and such as to give the people reason to have some pride in the town.

After some further discussion Ald. McWilliams withdrew his amendment, and the report was adopted.

FINANCE REPORT

Ald. Adams presented the following report:

Gentlemen,—Your Finance Committee begs leave to report and recommend as follows:

1. That the Board of Education demand for 1904 be paid as asked upon the dates mentioned in the board's resolution.

2. That a by-law be passed to amend the by-law respecting hawkers and peddlers so as to increase the license fee for peddlers on foot to $10 a year.

3. That the overdraft of the Village of Ashburnham in the Canadian Bank of Commerce, amounting to $1,242.87, and the interest to the date of payment be paid.

4. That the following accounts be paid:

BOARD OF WORKS.

Ald. Best presented the following report:—

Gentlemen,—Your Board of Works begs leave to report and recommend as follows:

1. That the portion of Wolfe street from George street to a line in extension of the eastern boundary of the Leonard property be closed and conveyed to the Matthews Company upon their conveying a street in lieu thereof to the town adjoining the C.P.R. property to be not less than forty-five feet wide at George street and fifty-five at the rear, with a satisfactory turn to the wharf, the Matthews Company to build and maintain a close fence or wall ten feet high next the C.P.R. line and grade and water table to the new street such new street to be laid out and work to be done to the satisfaction of the Town Engineer.

2. That the chairman and engineer be authorized to advertise for tenders for the supply of cement to be deliveredf.o.b. at Peterborough and to be subject to inspection and test by the Town Engineer.

3. That the Town Engineer be instructed to take the necessary steps to carry out the proposed diversion of the stream through the east (No. 5) ward as Ashburnham and report to the council at the same time as he files the necessary plans and specifications with the Town Clerk.

4. That the clerk, under instructions by the chairman, get figures for the cost of a portable stone crushing outfit.

5 That Ald. Rush, Best and Mason be a sub-committee to consider the opening of George street south to Lansdown street and report on its advisability, and also on the opening of Aylmer street to Romaine street.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

The report was adopted.

Authority was given for the publication of a list of streets upon which it is the intention of the council to construct granolithic walks.

A bylaw to amend bylaw for licensing hawkers and peddlers in accordance with a recent report, was passed.

Authority to purchase the right of way leading through the Hilliard property was granted the Property Committee.

A bylaw appointing Geo. A. Blatch and J. A. Johnston, auditors, for the town of Peterborough, was passed.

On motion it was decided to have two hundred copies of the auditors' report printed.

The Market Committee was authorized to make arrangements for the sale of the market tolls for the year beginning April 1st.

On motion of Ald. Adams, seconded by Ald. Scott, the treasurer was instructed to obtain a statement from the County Treasurer as to lands returned to him by the collector of the village of Ashburnham for arrears of taxes.—Carried

Ald. Johnston was informed by the Mayor that the letter from the Trades and Labour Council had been received and could be taken up by any member when deemed advisable.

The council then adjourned.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

We have used "Sunlight Soap," and we want to tell you that it is the best soap made, that's why we are writing. We found out that the Sunlight way is the best way to wash with "Sunlight Soap." At first we used to wash with Sunlight Soap in the old way as we did with common soap, but after we washed according to directions printed on the package, we would never wash the old way again. We first soap the articles, leave them to soak and then rub out lightly on the wash board. Not much to do and it makes the clothes white as snow.

STOCK DYING IN HALIBURTON.

Great Scarcity of Feed Owing to the Blockade.

Even the People are Suffering Many Hardships Owing to Merchants' Stocks of Supplies Giving out.

The Lindsay Post of Monday said: "A report reaches us from Goodfham of the alarming scarcity of eed for cattle in that district. he settler was known to carry feed r his stock three miles on snow oes. Another lost thirteen head of ttle through starvation. Others re cutting tender shrubs from the rees in the bush and taking them ome to their cattle to keep them alive. Feed cannot be had at any price as it is not in the country, and the conditions will not improve until a good supply can be brought in by rail. Last season's crop of fodder was very light, and the result is that many have more stock than they can feed.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

There was no mail received in the village on the 4th inst. The storm of the 2nd inst. was severe, following so closely on the blizard of the 29th ult. No doubt railways find it almost impossible to keep their tracks clear. Passengers find very slow travelling. One passenger going to Peterborough had to wait 25 hours at Cavanville station on a train that many hours behind time. The employees on the railways have suffered severely from the extreme cold weather this winter.

"Open Thou mine eyes that I may behold wondrous things out of Thy law," was the text chosen by the pastor of the Presbyterian church on the 6th inst.

The storm of the 2nd inst. partially unroofed Mr. Chas. Lough's barn.

Mr. Morris Rosenburg, of Peterborough, was a visitor at his old home for a short time.

The 13th concession line through the swamp has been the leading road from here to Peterborough this winter.

The subject of a discourse given by the pastor of the Methodist church here on the 6th inst. will be found in the 18th verse of the 2nd chapter of Hebrews.

DRAINAGE OF CAVAN SWAMP

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

The draining of the Cavan swamp is to a certain extent occupying the minds of the corporation of Cavan; we hope no mistake will be made by them as was done before in levying such a "small amount" on the ratepayers of the township. The ratepayers should consider that the swamp lands are flooded from the high lands surrounding the swamp; that the owners of swamp lands are not responsible for the overflowing of the water in the spring from the high lands. The swamp has been and is the channel for carrying the surplus water from those excellent farms lying along each side of the swamp. The Creator of the universe, who made all things wisely and well, made it an outlet for the drainage of the adjoining farms. This fact in connection with the sums that owners of swamp lands will have to expend in draining their lands into the main drain before they will derive any benefit from their lands, and that their taxes on the swamp lands will be increased when they become (if ever) profitable to the owners.

THE WAR IN THE EAST

West, North and South That Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are Waging Against All Forms of Stomach Trouble. Can Only End One Way.

Dyspepsia Will Be Driven off the Earth.

The great and effective work of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is no longer confined to America. They are being used now all over the world, for their fame has spread throughout foreign countries and they cure dyspepsia in all lands and all climates just as well as they do at home. In fact, surroundings and conditions never interfere with the successful work of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, not even the conditions of the stomach itself. They go ahead of their own natural way regardless of the stomach, and digest the food that the bad stomach cannot digest and permit that organ to do just as it pleases, rest, take a vacation, get well or what not. The stomach, however, always makes it a point to get well when it has nothing else to do. That's what stomachs always have done and will continue to do when they have the opportunity.

A prominent Detroit physician says: "I prescribe Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets for all cases of stomach trouble. I have tried many prescriptions, including a number of my own, but find nothing which gives such universal relief as this remedy. They are natural, harmless and perfectly effective in their work, and while I have a natural antipathy to patent medicines, I do not hesitate to prescribe and recommend Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets on all occasions."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at fifty cents a box. They are so well known and their popularity is so great, that a druggist would as soon think of being out of alcohol or quinine. The testimonial of the physician is no exception. In fact physicians are prescribing them all over the land and if your doctor is real honest with you he will tell you frankly that there is nothing on earth so good for dyspepsia as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

The Book Tells You How To Get Well at My Risk.

If you want to feel better.
If you want more strength.
If you lack ambition.
If you can't do things like you used to.
If your nerve—your courage—is leaving you.
If your confidence in you is less.
If you lack vim, vigour, vitality.
If something is eating away your constitution.

Ask me by letter for the book.

Don't send a penny. Let me take the risk.

Let me tell you of a druggist near you who will give you six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month on trial. Take it and see for yourself what it will do. Then decide.

No cost—not a penny—if you say, "I am no better." Don't leave it to the druggist—nor to me. We might be prejudiced.

You, you alone shall say the word, whether you pay $5 50 or nothing. The druggist can't complain. He is to bill the cost to me if you say so.

Try Dr. Shoop's Restorative at my risk. No a penny if it fail.

It's a two-cent stamp—or a postal—against six bottles of my Restorative—against $5.50, their cost. Don's you begin to believe the Restorative can do something unusual for the sick? I have found long ago, how certain it is, how seldom it fails.

I'll risk my reputation on it. And the cost of the medicine too. I know, and I want you to know. This is my way of gaining your interest. Others don't do it that way. It's pay anyway with them. Ask me for the book you need. Write me. Now—to-day.

Simply state which book you want and address Dr. Shoop, Box 47, Racine, Wis.

MAN RUNS AMUCK.

Escapade of a Finlander at the Village of Rodney, Ont.

Rodney, March 9.—Dugald Currie, who lives about three miles north of Rodney, was driving home last Saturday evening and when out of the village about half a mile overtook three young men walking. Recognizing one, whom he was acquainted with, he asked him to get in and have a ride, and, not having room in the buggy, omitted to invite all. One, a young fellow who seems to be not long from Finland, took offence apparently from the partiality and insisted on getting in by first jumping on the back of the buggy, afterwards getting in front and taking hold of the reins and running the horse and vehicle to the side of the road. When Mr. Currie and the other young man — Robinson tried to protect themselves, the fellow pulled a knife and slashed Currie, cutting and tearing his coat, while Robinson got a slash into his flesh in the back and bled profusely. Monday each procured a warrant for his arrest, and Constable Ludy went to where he was working and brought him in, lodging him in jail. Booze, as Currie says, seems to have played a part on the desperate young fellow.

HARMONY IN FISH LAWS.

Conference Between Ontario and U.S. Lake States Now On.

Detroit, Mich., March 9.—A conference began here yesterday between S. T. Bastedo, Deputy Fish Commissioner of Ontario, and representatives of the Fish Commissions of several States bording on the Great Lakes with the hope of arriving at some conclusion that will result in a uniform closed season law.

At present each State fixes its own seasons, and it is difficult for the Canadian authorities to frame laws that will harmonize with the variety of game and fish laws of the border states. It is said that unless a uniform law is agreed upon soon, Ontario will abolish closed seasons and make the whole year open for fishermen.

RATIFY AGREEMENT

Grand Trunk Shareholders Endorse G. T. Pacific Contract.

BUILD FROM OCEAN TO OCEAN

At the Half-Yearly Meeting the Scheme For a Road Across the Continent Meets With Unanimous Approval—General Manager Hays Fine Work in London—Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson Explains.

London, March 9.—Charles M. Hays won over a hostile meeting of G.T.R. shareholders yesterday to the acceptance of the G.T.P. contract with the Canadian Government. Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson addressed the meeting, praising Sir Wilfrid Laurier's patriotic treatment of the project.

Several shareholders on the conclusion of the President's remarks, spoke, protesting that the shareholders were being rushed into an agreement of which they had very little information. Mr. Hays was called upon to answer the protesting shareholders, and he laid particular stress on the point that the question was not where the company stood to-day, but where they would stand if they did not agree to the proposed changes.

The meeting was packed, and at one stage of the proceedings the tone was unmistakably hostile to embarking in so huge an enterprise. General Manager Hays, who had come from Canada specially to attend this meeting, saved the situation, and when the final vote was taken there were only a few opponents to the Grand Trunk Railroad undertaking to build a transcontinental road.

Sir Charles Explained Plan.

Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson, president of the company, explained the plan to extend the Grand Trunk to the Pacific. He declared that it was the most important question ever put before the shareholders of the Grand Trunk Railroad. The new line, he added, was justified by the flow of prosperity from east to west and the increasing immigration into Canada from the United States. The Grand Trunk could not hope to receive such generous treatment from the Canadian Government as the Canadian Pacific Railway, but the Premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, had acted fairly, in spite of violent political opposition, with the object of attaining additional facilities for the development of Canada.

The President characterized the deposit demanded by the Canadian Government in connection with the agreement as an "extremely unnecessary and unreasonable demand."

Then, one after another, shareholders, representing blocks of 50,000 and more shares, rose and declared they had not had sufficient time to consider so huge an enterprise.

An amendment was proposed by George Allen, who had resigned his seat in the directorate on account of the proposition, in which Mr. Allen declared the intended action would ruin the Grand Trunk Railroad.

Rivals Investigated Opposition.

Several large shareholders withdrew their proxies and placed them in the hands of the directors.

The President, in reply to cries of "adjourn," explained that the Canadian Parliament, at its meeting, March 10, must have an answer one way or the other.

Vice-President Smithers openly attributed some of the criticism to the instigation of rival railroads.

Then General Manager Hays bluntly told the shareholders that if they did not accept the Canadian offer other influences would, and that without a transcontinental extension the future of the Grand Trunk would be gloomy in the extreme. Mr. Hays prophesied a great future for the new road, which would be able to hold its own in competition with the existing systems in Canada and the United States.

Ratified the Proposition.

After over two and a half hours' discussion Mr. Allen's amendment was defeated and the agreement ratified.

Previous to President Wilson's explanation of the Grand Trunk's plan the semi-annual accounts were passed, but not without criticism of the increased expenditure, which the President said was justified on account of the larger traffic, severe weather and higher prices.

PLEASING RECEPTION TO YOUNG WOMEN.

Mrs. A. L. Davis Provides an Evening of Enjoyment.

A Delightful Programme Miss McDonald Gives an Address—An Impetus to the New Building Proposal.

The beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Davis, was the scene of a large and representative gathering of the young women of the town in attendance at the reception tendered them last evening by Mrs. Davis in the interests of the Y.W.C.A work. No pains were spared to make the evening one of pleasure. An orchestra supplied delightful music during the evening, while Miss Helen Davies, Miss Florence Hall, and Miss Pedlar contributed several most enjoyable solos.

Miss Macdonald, National Travelling Secretary of the Y.W.C.A., was also present and gave a short address on the work with particular reference to the local organization, and the proposed new building. A plan plan of campaign for funds for the new building among the young ladies of the town, was presented, and entered into enthusiastically by those present.

Dainty refreshments were served in the dining room and a short time was spent in the inauguration of the campaign among the young ladies, and the evening as well as affording pleasure and entertainment resulted in a new impetus being given to the Y.W.C.A. work, as well as arousing zeal in the proposed new building.

The association wishes to thank Ald. E. F. Mason, for coffee supplied, to Mr. Harry Long, for his kindness in serving, and Mr. F. Mason for flowers supplied.

A BRUTAL ASSAULT BY PURSE-SNATCHER

Highway Robbery on Aylmer Street Last Night.

A Well Known Young Lady Brutally Attacked by Cowardly Villain who is Still at Large.

A well known young lady was brutally attacked by a purse-snatcher, knocked down and robbed, near the corner of Aylmer and Edinburg streets, about half past eight o'clock last night. She was walking along Aylmer street unaccompanied and heard a man walking rapidly up behind her. When near the Edinburg street crossing she stepped aside to let him past when he caught hold of her and threw her down. Grasping her by the throat he angrily threatened to kill her should she move or make the slightest sound. Not contented with this the villain hit her in the face with his clenched fist and knocked her head on the hard frozen ground. A woman with a baby in her arms was walking along the railway tracks at the time and it is believed she saw the cowardly assault. The man wasted no time in taking her purse and making off as fast as possible. His spoil, however, only amounted to a one dollar bill and some small change.

An Examiner reporter who investigated the affair found foot marks across a lot. By the length of the pace and the size of the boot-prints he is probably a heavy set man somewhat under six feet in height. He ran across an adjoining lot, but soon took to the road where his trail was lost. The young lady is unable to describe the man.

This is the second case of purse-snatching which has been reported within a week. Just a week ago to-night a woman complained to the police that a man had grabbed her purse after dark. The authorities hint that they have a clue and seem confident of running the man down.

A PETERBOROUGH BRIDE AND GROOM.

Wedding in Toronto of Mr. C. G. Graham and Miss Bertha Kennedy.

The wedding took place at St. Augustins Anglican church, Toronto, yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, of Miss Bertha Kennedy, only daughter of Mr. Wm. Kennedy, Peterborough, to Mr. Chris. G. Graham, son of Mr. Geo. Graham, also of town. The ceremony was a quiet affair and was performed by Rev. F. F. Plummer. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Arthur W. Graham, of Toronto, and after the event the usual festive celebration was observed. Mr. and Mrs. Graham left on the 6.20 train for Buffalo and other American cities to spend their honeymoon, and on their return will reside in the Grand Central Block.

The contracting parties are both well known and very popular in town and the array of wedding presents was exceptionally large and beautiful.

LADIES' AID GIVE PLEASANT "AT HOME."

Mark Street Ladies Hold Successful Event at Residence of Mrs. J. Smith.

A very pleasant "At Home" was given by the Ladies' Aid of Mark street church last night at the residence of Mrs. Jack Smith, Stewart street, fifth ward. There was a large number present, and a thoroughly enjoyable time was spent. A programme of more than usual merit was rendered, which, with the genial spirit prevailing helped to make the evening one of special pleasure. Miss Clara Belleghem opened the programme with a well rendered vocal solo, "Shoogy Shoo," in which she was heartily applauded, and in response gave a second selection, "The Four Leafed Clover." Miss Belleghem's solos were thoroughly appreciated by those present, and her reception was a pleasing one. An instrumental duet given by Miss and Mr. Torphy was the next number on the programme, and it too, was fully enjoyed. A very enjoyable selection was that given by little Miss Grace Cox, who was heard in a recitation with which the audience was heartily pleased. Following this Mr. J. Miller gave a cornet solo. A duet by Miss Belleghem and Mr. Doidge, "May-time," was the next number, and that it was appreciated was amply evidenced by its reception.

A duet, "Do You Think of Me Now?" by the Misses Chasty followed, and in it distinct pleasure was given the listeners. A male quartette from Mark street choir, composed of Messrs. J. Miller, J. Speer, W. Hooper and A. Watley, rendered a selection which was well received. Mr. J. Miller gave a vocal solo, "Babylon," after which the male quartette gave the closing number. The accompanists of the evening were, Miss Chasty, Miss Speer and Mr. Schneider.

The ladies served refreshments at the close of the programme and this portion of the evening proved to be not the least enjoyable.

The Never Learn Club will meet Thursday (to-morrow) night instead of this evening.

AMERICAN SILVER WILL BE REFUSED.

Local Bank Managers Take Action and Banish Yankee Coin.

In all the local banks are hung up printed notices, signed by Messrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot, J. Crane, P. Campbell and D. Hughes-Charles, stating that after April 1st no American silver will be accepted. Heretofore the banks have lost on American silver, as it has to be shipped to New York. Then as money it is inferior to the Canadian silver currency, and moreover, Dominion silver is on no consideration accepted anywhere in the United States. The local managers of the various banks resolved to take this action on the request of several Peterborough merchants.

There is apparently a large quantity of American silver in circulation around town, and this action on the part of the banks will have a tendancy to banish it from Peterborough at least, for ever.

AN INTERESTING TALK ON PARIS.

Mr J. Jefferies Gives one to Young Men's Guild of George Street.

The Young Mens' Guild of George street church met last night, and held a successful meeting. The special feature of interest in the meeting was an address by Mr. J. Jeffries on "Places of Interest in and Around Paris." The speaker described in a very entertaining way the many historic buildings in the French Capital. Mr. Jeffries has the happy faculty of arousing his hearers interest in the subject spoken on, and those who were present last night thoroughly enjoyed the evening. At last night's meeting, plans for the Guild Baseball League were discussed, and the Sports Committee was instructed to arrange for grounds early in the season. The Young Mens' Guild will also, in conjunction with the Girls' Guild, give a high-class concert at an early date, arrangements for which are now under way.

PETERBOROUGH'S MODERN STORE

CORSETS —FOR— SPRING.

THE Spring Dress-making season is here and new CORSETS are an indispensable adjunct in the production of a stylish perfect-fitting toilette.

Our Corset Department was never in better shape to meet the demands of Spring Trade than is the case this season.

Our Assortment includes all the latest models by expert corset makers such as CROMPTONS, B. and C., B and I. and C. P.

Designed to suit all shapes, to fit all figures and to correct all irregularities of outline without discomfort to the wearer and qualities to meet all classes of trade.

The New Figure is slim to the verge of leanness. Hips are obsolete, but must be softly curved for angularity in the human figure even in the widest stretch of artistic imagination could not be considered beautiful.

Consequently stout figures must be reduced, and angular ones softly rounded and this is where the CORSET must do duty.

New Features are the extended apron or habit hip intended to reduce stout figures, and of these we have made a specialty, and the woman with a girth measurment of thirty inches can obtain her correct model as readily as the one whose measurements are normal or average. We will be pleased to show you our assortment.

SCOPE OF THE COMMISSION.

Letter From Mr. John Bertram, Chairman of the Commission

Would Meet Here on March 24th, if the Date Would be Satisfactory - Commission to Discuss the General Question.

His Worship Mayor Roger has received the following letter from Mr. John Bertram with reference to the work of the Transportation Commission:

34 Victoria Street,
Toronto, March 8, 1904.

Geo. M. Roger, Mayor, Peterborough, Ont:

My Dear Sir,—Your favour of the 7th inst. received this morning, and in answer to your questions would say that the object of the Transportation Commission is to enquire into and report on the different routes of transportation from west to east and vice versa, the object being so far as possible to facilitate and cheapen the outflow of produce through Canadian territory; to do this we have to compare Canadian with American routes from the west to the ocean, the equipment of Canadian ports in transit, and the different routes by land and water to the St. Lawrence and Maritime province ports.

It has been represented to the Commission that the Trent Valley Canal if completed would form the most direct and cheapest route whereby grain could be carried from Fort William to Montreal and it is principally to hear evidence on this point that we propose to sit at Peterborough. No doubt if the canal were finished there would be incidental advantages to manufacturers and others in the district, and while giving due weight to any evidence offered on that point, it is more for the purpose of examining the general question that the Commission was constituted.

You quote universal opinion in the district that the best time to meet would be when the Canal is open during the summer; the work has to be taken up as the Commission can get at it, and while we by no means wish to force a meeting on the 24th of the month, if that date does not suit the parties interested, the meeting can be postponed indefinitely.

Yours very truly,
JOHN BERTRAM.

MRS. P. ROBERTSON DIED THIS MORNING.

Has been ill Since Christmas, but Death was Unexpected.

Mrs. Peter Robertson died at her home near Keene to-day, after an illness of about two months' duration. The deceased lady had been sick since Christmas, although few thought it to be of a serious nature. Complications, however, made her recovery impossible, and her death resulted this morning. The late Mrs. Robertson's maiden name was Mary McEwan, and she was very highly respected. She leaves a husband and a family of four girls and two boys.

PETERBOROUOGH PRESBYTERY MET.

Morning and Afternoon Session's Held Yesterday

In St. Paul's Church A Large Attendance of Both Ministers and Elders.

The quarterly meeting of the Peterborough Presbytery, was held in St. Paul's church yesterday morning and afternoon, with the following present: Mr. D. A. Thompson, Hastings, presiding, and Rev. Messrs. Dr. Torrance, Bennett, Thompson, Hastings; Lord, Grafton; Macdonald, Keene; Oswald, Pontypool; Campbell, Lakefield; Yule, Springville; Camp, Havelock; Macfarlane, Warkworth; Whitelaw, Omemee; Abraham, Port Hope; and Messrs. Madill, of St. Paul's Peterborough; Miller, of Keene; Anderson, of Cordova; Fowler of St. Andrew's, Peterborough; and Graham of Lakefield.

The matter of establishing a fund for the payment of expenses of delegates to the Assembly was handed to a committee to report at a future meeting.

It was agreed to recommend to the Committee on Augmentation that the minimum salary of ministers of augmented charges be $850 and a manse.

Rev. Jas. A. Wilson and Mr. Jas. Ross, being present, were invited to sit as corresponding members.

The question of the status of ministers on the appendix to the roll, and our assistant pastors, was considered, but no action decided upon.

A very interesting home mission report was read by Dr. Torrance giving facts regarding the field supply.

Steps were taken to reduce the indebtedness on the Cordova Mission church.

Interesting reports were given by the standing committees on Young Peoples' Societies, on Sabbath schools and on Forgign Missions.

Mr. Abraham was appointed to represent the Presbytery at the Women's Foreign Missionary Society's meeting in June next.

Mr. Clarke, of Port Hope, treasurer of the Presbytery Fund, gave in his resignation, and Mr. Harrison, of Peterborough was appointed as the treasurer in his stead.

The Presbytery considered at length their remit of Assembly on the enlarged powers of Synod, and generally approved of it.

The following delegates were appointed to the Assembly to meet in St. John, N.B., in June next: Rev. Messrs. Potter, Lord, Goodwill, Torrance, and Messrs. Harrison, of Peterborough; Graham, Lakefield; Thompson, Havelock; Russell, Cobourg, elders.

Rev. Dr. Milligan, of Toronto, was nominated as Moderator of the Assembly.

The next quarterly meeting will be held in the Walton street hall, Port Hope, on the second Tuesday in July, at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Abraham was appointed to represent the presbytery on the Synod's Committee of Business; Mr. Potter to represent the Presbytery on the Assembly's Committee of Business.

An adjourned meeting of the Presbytery was appointed to be held in Cobourg on March 22nd at two o'clock to complete the work left unfinished from this meeting.

LADIES' HOCKEY MATCH.

Two picked hockey teams of local ladies will play at the Brock street rink to-morrow night. The teams are known as the "Japs" and "Russians" and the game will be an interesting contest. POISONED SARDINES THE CAUSE OF DEATH.

Very Sudden Demise of Mr. James Craig

Occurred at Lakefield This Morning - Retired Apparently Well.

The very sad and sudden death of Mr. James Craig, nephew of Mr. J. C. Craig, proprietor of the Craig House, Lakefield, occurred there at an early hour this morning, the attending physicians pronouncing the cause to be poisoning.

Prior to retiring for the night, the deceased partook of some tinned sardines. He remarked at the time that they had an unusual and bitter taste, and only ate three, throwing away the remainder, together with the can. He then went to bed in apparently excellent health and spirits.

About one o'clock this morning he awoke shivering, and was so ill that Drs. Fraser and Baker were summoned. Nothing could however be done, and Mr. Craig gradually sank and finally passed away at 5.30 o'clock.

The deceased was a son of the late Thomas Craig, and was well-known in Peterborough as a country. He was born in this town and was aged 37 years. About fifteen years ago he married Miss Jamieson of Peterborough, and besides his sorrowing wife is survived by a daughter, aged thirteen. He was a member of the Ancient Order of Foresters, the Independent Order of Foresters and the Oddfellows.

Coroner Dr. Gray deems that the circumstances surrounding his death perfectly warrant an inquest, and left at noon to-day for Lakefield to empannel a jury. The inquest will probably be held to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock.

YOUNG MEN DEBATE ON SINGLE TAX.

Interesting Meeting of St. Andrew's Young Men's Guild.

The meeting of St. Andrew's Young Men's Guild held last night was one of more than ordinary interest, the chief feature being a debate on the question of Single Tax. The subject of debate was: "Resolved, that Single Tax is the most just method of taxation." The speakers were, for the affirmative, Messrs. W. A. Richardson and Geo. McDonald, and for the negative, Messrs. Hugh Robertson and W. Foster.

The pros. and cons. of Henry George's system were dealt with in a most intelligent and thorough manner, the affirmative showing plainly the defects and injustice of the present system and explained the advantages of single tax as proposed by Henry George, namely, that land only, according to value should be taxed, instead of improvements placed upon it, and so virtually abolish private ownership of land, which they claimed would discourage the holding of the natural resources of land for speculative purposes by the capitalist. They also showed the impossibility of assessors to accurately value property other than land.

On the contrary the negative debaters showed that the tendency of single tax would be to crowd people in cities and towns in living apartments, the difficulty of securing a land holder in possession of his property that single tax would not have a tendency to increase the wages of the labourer or decrease the cost of living, and that as land would increase in value its rate of taxation would also increase which they contended would only be another method of virtually taxing general improvements. While the judges were reaching a decision the subject evoked a spirited discussion among the members.

The judges brought in a decision in favour of the affirmative on the ground that although the negative brought out very strong points in favour of their contention, they failed to refute the arguments of the affirmative.

Mr. Robertson's address was given without notes of any kind, and he did himself credit. Mr. Richardson also evidenced a thorough knowledge of the subject.

The regular routine business was carried out, and at the close of the debate refreshments were served. The evening proved a most enjoyable one to the 40 or more young men present.

WE CAN SAVE YOU MORE MONEY ON SUITS, OVERCOATS, HATS, SHOES AND FURNISHINGS IN THE SHORT TIME LEFT THAN WE EVER COULD SAVE YOU BEFORE. It's worth your while to think this matter over quick. What you want is surely here, ready to carry home at

LESS THAN THE CLOTH COST TO-DAY

If you were a personal friend of ours and we wanted to do you a good turn, we would advise you to pick out one of the $16, $14, $12 or $10 Suits or Overcoats, marked down to just about one-half the price. Wouldn't that be like finding money?

Men have been buying two and three Suits at a time; others, a couple of Overcoats—and you should see the satisfied look on customers' faces.

The sale has had the effect of clearing out more of the medium and cheap-priced goods leaving the best for the last. It's up to you now to do some quick looking around during Gough's Final Clean-up!

BIGGER BARGAINS THAN EVER IN BOOTS, SHOES, RUBBERS, etc. Yes, bigger than ever! And as the stock gets lower and the FINER goods remain, still deeper cuts are made in prices. The values in FINE Footwear will positively astonish you!

Reserve Force

In these days of hurry and worry and bustle most people, men and women, are living up to the "limit." That is to say, they use up day by day all the force and energy nature provides, and consequently have NOTHING IN RESERVE to meet the extra demands of illness, bereavement or other nervous shocks. Of course, this is all wrong and we must either live differently or assist nature to furnish the RESERVE FORCE we should always possess.

It is easy to say live differently, but most people find that the demands of their business or social position render it practically impossible; then we must accept the other alternative and give nature a helping hand. In no other way can this be done so effectively as by taking a course of Bible Society's Centenary.

Toronto, March 8.—About 3,000 children assembled at the afternoon meeting of the centenary of the British and Foreign Bible Society yesterday afternoon in Massey Hall. The principal speakers were Rev. T. B. Hyde and Mr. J. L. Hughes. At the evening meeting His Honor the Lieut.-Governor, Bishop Sweatman and Rev. Robert Johnson, D. D., of Montreal, gave the addresses. Bishop Dumoulin of Hamilton, addressed the meeting on the fundamental principle of the society, and Rev. Dr. Carman delivered an address on "The Outlook."

Hustled to Esquimalt.

Victoria, B. C., March 8.—Cipher despatches by the naval authorities at Esquimalt yesterday from the British Admiralty, order the cruisers Grafton (flagship) and Bonaventure, now in Central or South American waters, to get to Esquimalt with all speed. The Bonaventure is coming out from England to succeed the Grafton as flagship on this station. The order is regarded here as ominously significant.

Second to Britain.

Washington, March 8.—The United States Senate yesterday passed the Naval Appropriation Bill. In speaking of the continued growth of the navy, Mr. Patterson, who presented several amendments, said the completion of the naval program would place the United States ahead of Germany and Russia in actual tonnage and ahead of France and next to Great Britain in effective fighting tonnage.

MERELY SALOONS.

Allegation re Licensed Hotels By Dr Barr in the Legislature—Temperance Measure Before the Liberal Caucus.

Toronto, March 8.—The Legislature was in session for only fifteen minutes yesterday afternoon. There was barely a quorum of members present, and none of those having private or public bills were prepared to go on with them.

A Liberal caucus will be held this morning, when Premier Ross will outline his temperance measure. The proposals of the Government in regard to the Algoma Central Railway guarantee and certain railway subsidies will also be considered.

Hotels Merely Saloons.

Dr. Barr moved for a return showing the number of saloon licenses in the cities and towns of the Province during 1902 and 1903, and also the number of wholesale licenses in rural municipalities. In doing so he said that it was a well-known fact that many licensed hotels were nothing more than saloons, for they had no accommodation for either bed or board. He threw out this as a hint to whoever might have in charge the temperance bill. He also declared that in Ontario licenses were becoming franchises worth fabulous amounts.

Mr. Stratton's Reply.

Hon. Mr. Stratton said the Department would readily produce the required official information. He might say, however, that no saloon license had been granted since 1900. In the act of 1899 abolishing the issue of saloon licenses there was a provision, however, allowing three existing licenses, that perhaps might be termed saloon licenses, to be continued. These were at the railway stations at Toronto, Hamilton and London. He was not aware that any licenses had been granted to hotels which had not the necessary qualifications, and if Dr. Barr or anyone else know of such cases the Department would be glad to be notified, and would at once see that the law was complied with or the license withdrawn. In 1901 there were six wholesale licenses, in 1902 five and in 1903 six.

Something Interesting Promised.

Eye Strain is Nerve Strain.

Seamstress and Stenographer Sewing Girl and Student Suffer Alike From This Trouble.

The eye is a complicated mechanism, made up of a regular network of the most delicate nerve fibres.

When an unusual amount of work is required of the eye, or when the eye is kept constantly at high tension, nerve force is consumed at a tremendous rate, and unless the system is strong and supported by an abundance of rich, red blood there follows physical collapse.

What hosts of pale and emaciated girls are found in our offices and factories, schools and workshops, and what a large proportion of them are wearing glasses!

Their health and sight cannot possibly be improved, except by a building up of the nervous system, and this can best be accomplished by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Whether you have strained your eyes and undermined your nervous system by needlework, office work or study you will be benefitted by a month's treatment with this great food cure.

As your form rounds out, and your weight increases, as you find new vigour of mind and body, as your eye sight improves, and you vitality returns, you will be for ever grateful that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food ever became known to you.

You cannot afford to delay the use of this great nerve restorative, for every dose is bound to be a benefit to you.

Mrs. Smeaton, 191 Rubidge street, Peterborough, Ont., and whose husband is employed with the Canadian General Electric Co., states:—

"My little son was very much run down in health, had no colour in his face, and was quite nervous. As his appetite was poor, and he seemed tired and listless, we became anxious about him and began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It was not long before I noticed a marked change in his appearance. His appetite improved, his colour became better, and his health generally was very much better than it had been for a long time. I have much pleasure in adding my testimony to the hosts of others who are praising this medicine."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 6

BY MARY J. HOLMES,

Thus importuned Mark Ray came in, and sitting down where his boot almost touched the new brown silk, he very politely began to answer her rapid questions, putting her entirely at her ease by his pleasant, affable manner, and making her forget the littered appearance of the room, as she listened to his praises of her sister, who, he said, seemed so very happy, and attracted universal admiration wherever she went. No allusion whatever was made to the trunk during the time of Mark's stay, which was not long. If he took the next train to New York, he had but an hour more to spend, and feeling that Helen would rather he spend it at Linwood he soon arose to go. Offering his hand to Helen, there passed from his eyes into hers a look which had over her a strangely quieting influence, and prepared her for a remark which otherwise might have seemed out of place.

"I have known Wilford Cameron for years; he is my best friend, and I respect him as a brother. In some things he may be peculiar, but he will make your sister a kind husband. He loves her devotedly, I know, choosing her from the throng of ladies who would gladly have taken her place. I hope you will like him for my sake as well as Katy's."

His warm hand unclasped from Helen's, and with another good-bye he was gone, without seeing either Mrs. Lennox, Aunt Hannah or Aunt Betsy. This was not the time for extending acquaintance, he knew, and he went away with Morris, feeling that the farm-house, so far as he could judge, was not exactly what Wilford had pictured it. But then he came for a wife, and I did not," he thought, while Helen's face came before him as it looked up to Morris, and he wondered, were he obliged to choose between the sisters, which he should prefer. During the few days passed in Boston he had become more than half in love with Katy himself almost envying his friend the pretty little creature he had won. She was very beautiful and very fascinating in her simplicity, but there was something in Helen's face more attractive than mere beauty, and Mark said to Morris as they walked along:

"Miss Lennox is not much like her sister."

"Not much, no; but Helen is a splendid girl—more strength of character, perhaps, than Katy, who is younger than her years even. She has always been petted from babyhood; it will take time or some great sorrow to show what she really is."

This was Morris's reply, and the two then proceeded on in silence until they reached the boundary line between Morris's farm and Uncle Ephraim's, where they found the deacon mending a bit of broken fence, his coat lying on a pile of stones, and his wide, blue cotton trousers hanging loosely around him. When told who Mark was, and that he brought news of Katy, he greeted him cordially, and sitting down upon his fence listened to all Mark had to say. Between the old and young man there seemed at once a mutual liking, the former saying to himself as Mark went on, and he resumed his work:

"I most wish it was this chap with Katy on the sea. I like his looks the best," while Mark's thoughts were:

"Will need not be ashamed of that man, though I don't suppose I should really want him coming suddenly in among a drawing room full of guests."

Morris did not feel much like entertaining Mark, but Mark was fully competent to entertain himself, and thought the hour spent at Linwood a very pleasant one, half wishing for some excuse to tarry longer; but there was none, and so at the appointed time he bade Morris good-bye and went on his way to New York.

CHAPTER XII.

If Katy's letters, written, one on board the steamer and another from London, were to be trusted, she was as nearly perfectly happy as a young bride well can be, and the people at the farm-house felt themselves more and more kindly disposed towards Wilford Cameron with each letter received. They were going soon into the northern part of England, and from thence into Scotland, Katy wrote from London, and two weeks after found them comfortably settled at the inn at Alnwick, near to Alnwick Castle. Wilford had seemed very anxious to get there, leaving London before Katy was quite ready, and hurrying across the country until Alnwick was reached. He had been there before, years ago, he said, but no one seemed to recognize him, though all paid due respect to the distinguished looking American and his beautiful young wife. An entrance into Alnwick Castle was easily obtained, and Katy felt that all her girlish dreams of grandeur and magnificence were more than realized here in this home of the Percy's, where ancient and modern styles of architecture and furnishing were so blended together. She would never tire of that place, she thought, but Wilford's taste led him elsewhere, and he took more delight in wandering around St. Mary's church, which stood upon a hill commanding a view of the castle and of the surrounding country for miles away. Here Katy also came, rambling with him through the village graveyard where slept the dust of centuries, the gray, mossy tombstones bearing date backward for more than a hundred years, their quaint inscriptions both puzzling and amusing Katy, who studied them by the hour.

One quiet summer morning, however, when the heat was unusually great, she felt too listless to wander about, and so sat upon the grass, listening to the birds as they sang above her head, while Wilford, at some distance from her, stood leaning against a tree and thinking sad, regretful thoughts, as his eye rested upon the rough headstone at his feet.

"Genevra Lambert, aged 22," was the lettering upon it, and as he read it a feeling of reproach was in his heart, while he said: "I hope I am not glad to know that she is dead."

He had come to Alnwick for the sole purpose of finding that humble grave—of assuring himself that after life's fitful fever, Genevra Lambert slept quietly, forgetful of the wrong once done to her by him. It is true he had not doubted her death before but as seeing was believing, so now he felt sure of it, and plucking from the turf above her a little flower growing there, he went back to Katy and sitting down beside her with his arm around her waist, tried to devise some way of telling her what he had promised himself he would tell her there in that very yard, where Genevra was buried. But the task was harder now than before. Katy was so happy with him, trusting his love so fully that he dared not lift the veil and read to her that page hinted at once in Silverton, when they sat beneath the butternut tree, with the fresh young grass springing around them. Then she was not his wife, and the fear that she would not be if he told her all had kept him silent, but now she was his alone; nothing could undo that, and there, in the shadow of the gray old church through whose aisles Genevra had been borne out to where the rude headstone was gleaming in the English sunlight, it seemed meet that he should tell the sad story. And Katy would have forgiven him then, for not a shadow of regret had darkened her life since it was linked with his, and in her perfect love she could have pardoned much. But Wilford did not tell. It was not needful, he made himself believe—not necessary for her ever to know that once he met a maiden called Genevra, almost as beautiful as she, but never so beloved. No, never. Wilford said that truly, when that night he bent over his sleeping Katy, comparing her face with Genevra's, and his love for her with his love for Genevra.

Wilford was very fond of his girlish wife, and very proud of her, too, when strangers paused, as they often did, to look back after her. Thus far nothing had arisen to mar the happiness of his first weeks of married life, except the letters from Silverton, over which Katy always cried until he sometimes wished that the family could not write. But they could and they did, even Aunt Betsy inclosed in Helen's letter a note, wonderful both in orthography and composition, and concluding with the remark that "she would be glad when Catherine returned and was settled in a home of her own, as she would then have a new place to visit."

There was a dark frown on Wilford's face, and for a moment he felt tempted to withhold the note from Katy, but this he could not do then, so he gave it into her hands, watching her as with burning cheeks, she read it through, and asking her at its close why she looked so red.

"Oh, Wilford," and she crept closely to him, "Aunt Betsy spells so queerly, that I was wishing you would not always open my letters first. Do all husbands do so?"

It was the only time Katy had ventured to question a single act of his, submitting without a word to whatever was his will. Wilford knew that his father would never have presumed to break a seal belonging to his mother, but he had broken Katy's and he should continue breaking them, so he answered, laughingly:

"Why, yes, I guess they do. My little wife has surely no secrets to hide from me?"

"No secrets," Katy answered, "only I did not want you to see Aunt Betsy's letter, that's all."

"I did not marry Aunt Betsy—I married you," was Wilford's reply which meant far more than Katy guessed.

With three thousand miles between him and his wife's relatives, Wilford could endure to think of them; but whenever letters came to Katy bearing the Silverton postmark, he was conscious of a far different sensation from what he experienced when the postmark was New York and the handwriting that of his own family. But not in any way did this feeling manifest itself to Katy, who, as she always wrote to Helen, was very, very happy, and never more so, perhaps, than while they were at Alnwick, where, as if he had something for which to atone, he was unusually kind and indulgent, caressing her with unwonted tenderness, and making her ask him once if he loved her a great deal more now than when they were first married.

"Yes, darling, a great deal more," was Wilford's answer, as he kissed her upturned face, and then went for the last time to Genevra's grave; for on the morrow they were to leave the neighborhood of Alnwick for the heather blooms of Scotland.

There was a trip to Edinburgh, a stormy passage across the Straits of Dover, a two months' sojourn in Paris, and then they went to Rome, where Wilford intended to pass the winter, journeying in the spring through different parts of Europe. He was in no haste to return to America; he would rather stay where he could have Katy all to himself, away from her family and his own. But it was not to be, and not very long after his arrival at Rome there came a letter from his mother apprising him of his father's dangerous illness and asking him to come home at once. The elder Cameron had not been well since Wilford left the country, and the physician was fearful that the disease had assumed a consumptive form, Mrs. Cameron wrote, adding that her husband's only anxiety was to see his son again. To this there was no demur, and about the first of December, six months from the time he had sailed, Wilford arrived in Boston, having taken a steamer for that city. His first act was to telegraph for news of his father, receiving in reply that he was better; the alarming symptoms had disappeared, and there was now great hope of his recovery.

"We might have staid longer in Europe," Katy said, feeling a little chill of disappointment not that her father-in-law was better, but at being called home for nothing, when her life abroad was so happy and free from care.

Somehow the atmosphere of America seemed different from what it used to be. It was colder, bluer, the little lady said, tapping her foot uneasily and looking from her windows at the Revere out upon the snowy streets, through which the wintry wind was blowing in heavy gales.

"Yes, it is a heap colder," she sighed, as she returned to the large chair which Esther had drawn for her before the cheerful fire, charging her disquiet to the weather, but never dreaming of imputing it to her husband, who was far more its cause than was the December cold.

He, too, though glad of his father's improvement, was sorry to have been recalled for nothing to a country which brought his old life back again, with all its forms and ceremonies, and revived his dread lest Katy should not acquit herself as was becoming Mrs. Wilford Cameron. In his selfishness he had kept her almost wholly to himself, so that her polish she was to acquire from her travels abroad was not as perceptible as he could desire. Katy was Katy still, in spite of London, Paris, or Rome. To be sure there was about her a little more maturity and self-assurance, but in all essential points she was the same, and Wilford winced as he thought how the free, impulsive manner which, among the Scottish hills, where there was no one to criticize, had been so charming to him, would shock his lady mother and sister Juno. And this it was which made him moody and silent, replying hastily to Katy when she said to him: "Please, Wilford, telegraph to Helen to be with mother at the West depot when we pass there to-morrow. The train stops five minutes, you know, and I want to see them so much. Will you, Wilford?"

A moment after he quitted the room, and it was then that Katy, standing before the window, charged the day with what was strictly Wilford's fault. Returning at last to her chair she went off into a reverie as to the new home to which she was going and the new friends she was to meet, wondering what they would think of her and if they would like her. Once she had said to Wilford:

"Which of your sisters shall I like best?"

And Wilford had answered her by asking:

"Which do you like best, books or going to parties in full dress?"

"Oh, parties and dress," Katy had said, and Wilford had then rejoined:

"You will like Juno best, for she is all fashion and gayety, while Blue-Bell prefers her books and the quiet of her own room."

Deranged Nerves AND Weak Spells.

Mr. R. H. Sampson's, Sydney, N.S., Advice to all Sufferers from Nerve Trouble Is

"GET A BOX OF MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS."

He says: "I have been ailing for about a year from deranged nerves, and very often weak spells would come over me and be so bad that I sometimes thought I would be unable to survive them. I have been treated by doctors and have taken numerous preparations but none of them helped me in the least. I finally got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Before taking them I did not feel able to do any work, but now I can work as well as ever, thanks to one box of your pills. They have made a new man of me, and my advice to any person troubled as I was, is to get a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills."

If Stands Alone.

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription stands alone, as the one and only remedy for leucorrhea, female weakness, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, so absolutely specific and sure in curing these common ailments of women, as to warrant its makers in offering to pay, as they hereby do, the sum of $500 reward for a case of the above maladies which they can not cure. This is a remarkable offer. No other medicine for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments is backed by such a remarkable guarantee. No other medicine for woman's ills is possessed of the unparalleled curative properties that would warrant its makers in publishing such an offer; no other remedy has such a record of a third of a century of cures on which to base such a remarkable offer.

Miss Emma Weller, who is Secretary of the Young People's Christian Association, at 1818 Madison Avenue, New York City, says: "Your 'Favorite Prescription' is a boon to sick and tired women, for it cures them when other medicines fail. I know whereof I speak, for I have had experience with it. For fourteen months I had constant headaches; seemed too weak to perform my daily duties, and when the day was over I was too tired to sleep well. I suffered from nervousness and indigestion, and everything I ate distressed me. Doctored with different physicians but received no relief. After reading one of your books I decided to give your 'Favorite Prescription' a trial. Am very glad I did, for I found it was just what I wanted. I commenced to improve at once and kept getting better until, after seven weeks, I was entirely cured. I have remained in perfect health ever since, and remain a firm friend of your 'Favorite Prescription.'"

The dealer who offers a substitute for "Favorite Prescription" is only seeking to make the little more profit afforded by a less meritorious medicine. His profit is your loss. Therefore, turn your back on him as unworthy of your patronage.

If constipated use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They cure constipation, biliousness and sick headache. They do not produce the "pill habit."

OPEN MEETING OF ANCIENT FORESTERS.

A Very Pleasant Evening Spent Last Night in S. O. E. Hall.

An open meeting of the A. O. F., local Court, was held last night in the S.O.E. Hall, when a very enjoyable time was spent. A game of carpet ball between the A.O.F. and Macabees teams resulted in a win for the former. The following programme was rendered:—

Opening selection by E. Williams.
Boxing Exhibition between Wm. O'Toole and Lewis Denny.
Wrestling match between Lewis Elliott and Geo. Smith.
Song by E. Williams.
Boxing exhibition between Archie Craig and Herb Metcalf.

Quite a few of the boys present spent the evening in card playing.

A number of applications were received for initiation into mysteries of Forestry.

CONSUMPTION CURABLE.

Good Blood Makes the Lungs Strong and Expels Disease.

The time to cure consumption is not after the lungs are hopelessly involved and the doctor has given you up. Consumption preys upon weakness. Strength is the only measure of safety. Do not let the blood become thin and watery. That is an opinion invitation to disease to take possession of your system. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the best tonic and strength builder known to medical science. The record of this medicine proves conclusively that taken when the symptoms of consumption develop it builds up, strengthens and invigorates the patient to a point where the disease disappears. Here is a bit of positive proof. Miss Blanche Durand, St. Edmond, Que., says: "While out boating in September, 1901, I got my feet wet and took cold. I treated the cold in the usual way, but the cough seemed to cling to me. As several months passed by and I was not getting better, I went to a doctor in January, 1902, and he told me that my lungs were affected and I was in consumption. Returning home a friend in whom I had much confidence strongly urged me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I began taking the pills and soon found they were helping me. The cough grew less severe; my appetite improved and my strength began to return. I continued taking the pills for about two months, when I found my health fully restored and I have not since experienced any weakness. I am sure Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved my life."

Such cases as these prove the power of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They make new, rich, red blood, and in this way cure all diseases due to bad blood and weak nerves. You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, by writing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

LATEST NEWS OF SPORT.

Last Senior Game of the Season To-night—Annual Meeting of Midland Football League.

FAST ICE FOR TO-NIGHT'S GAME.

The Senior Marlboros Will be Here to Play Local Team.

The cold snap of last night and this morning has put the ice in the rink in splendid condition for the game with the Marlboros to-night, which will be the last, and best, game of the season. The Marlboros have demonstrated their superiority over the St. George's in about the same proportion that the Peterborough team is superior to that team, consequently it would seem that the Marlboros and Peterboroughs are about in the same class, consequently the game to-night will be a very close contest, and one worth seeing. The Marlboros will bring their best team, and the game will without doubt be the most exciting of the season. They are being paid a big price for making the trip and have guaranteed to send their fastest team, which is a sufficient guarantee for the assumption that the game will be fast.

The local team is confident of being able to defeat the senior champions and the team that wins will have to work for it. Tickets purchased for the Midland game will be good for the game to-night.

The teams for to-night will be:

Goal.
Gerioux..... ....Mercer

Point.
Charlton..... ....Howell

Cover.
Lambe..... ....Cavanah

Forwards.
Reid..... ....Morgan
Birmingham..... ....H. Armstrong
Winchester... ... ...Roy Armstrong
Hynes..... ....Whitcroft

Ernie Wasson will referee the game to-night.

ANNUAL MEETING OF MIDLAND LEAGUE.

Will be Held on Saturday March 19th in Y. M. C. A.

Dr. Morgan, President of the Midland Football League has announced that the Annual meeting of the League will be held on Saturday afternoon, March 19th, at 1.30 in the Y.M.C.A., and representatives from each club desiring to enter the League this year are asked to be present. The probabilities are that ther will be a larger number of teams in the League this year than there were in 1903, and the meeting is called earlier in order that the schedule and other matters may be arranged before the season opens.

Any clubs which may not be able to send a representative to the meeting are requested to send word to the President or to M. J. Hutchinson, acting secretary, stating whether they intend to enter the League.

Captain—Walter Burritt.
Secretary-Treas.—Garnet Greer.
Executive Committee—Bert Laing, Arthur Wood, Harry Hall and Bert Carmichael.
Team Committee—Captain, W. H. Walkey, Graham Ferguson and Ross Cameron.

MR. LAIRD MAKES AN EXPLANATION.

The Captain of the Quakers States that no Slur was Intended to be Cast on Mr. Lewis.

Mr. S. W. Laird has written the following letter to the Examiner in which he makes an explanation re his letter of Monday.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Having read Mr. Sharpe's reply in last evening's issue of the Review, I beg to state that when I inserted the clause in my challenge that some true, reliable sport such as Mr. H. R. H. Kenner officiate at next contest I did not mean, as Mr. Sharpe states, to cast any slur on Mr. Lewis, who refereed the last contest, as I have never met the gentleman personally but did meet him once in a business way to my entire satisfaction and if Mr. Lewis entertains the same views I wish that Mr. Samuel Moore of the Review would kindly favour me with an introduction so I can apologise immediately.

Trusting controversy will end and that this is satisfactory to Mr. Sharpe, so Hurrah! Hamilton Boys, get into line as the Quakers are doing and let us hear from you for your final pull.

Again thanking editor for space required to publish this missive, believe me,

Yours Truly,
S. W. LAIRD,
Captain of Quakers.

THE RULES GOVERNING TUG-OF-WAR CONTEST

Taken From the Laws of the O. A. A. A.

In view of the fact that some interest is being taken in tug of war contests and the correct interpretation of the rules, the following rules are taken from the laws of the Ontario Amateur Athletic Association.

Tugs of war shall be pulled on cleats made of wood, same to be at least four inches thick, six inches high and at least six feet six inches apart. The distance from the clamp in the centre to the first cleat on either side shall be not less than six feet.

The cleats shall be set on edge and bolted to the board.

The rope shall be a Manilla three-stranded rope, not less than four and a half nor more than five inches in circumference; there shall be a clamp equidistant from the first cleat on either side, which shall be sufficient to hold the rope until released.

This clamp shall not make an appreciable kink in the rope. Any position may be assumed before the pistol is fired. No mechanical device shall be used for holding the rope. No belts shall be used. But the Anchor man may be allowed to use a single twist around the arm and below the shoulder. The rope must not be passed round the body. The flanges to hold the rope in place shall not be constructed so as to bind on the rope in any position that the anchor may assume. Leather shields and gloves may be used and adhesive substance may be put on the same. Competitors shall not use weights in unlimited pulls, but in pulls limited to specified weights competitors may use weights, providing the total weight of the team, including weights, does not exceed the limit.

The standard time limit for each pull shall be three minutes, and a rest of not less than ten minutes shall be allowed each competitor between trial pulls. A shorter or longer limit may be agreed upon for other than championship contests.

When tugs of war are limited to teams of a given weight, competitors shall be weighed before competing. They shall be weighed as they pull; i. e., including clothing, shoes, belt, etc.

The weighing in shall be done immediately before the pull.

No knot of any kind shall be tied in the rope, and the rope shall not be passed more than once around the body of the anchor.

In no case shall any man pull on more than one team in a contest, and no substitute shall be allowed to pull on any team that has pulled a trial.

In case a team gains three feet from its opponents it shall be awarded the pull.

In case of tie both teams shall be credited with a win and new numbers shall be drawn.

No pull shall be awarded by less than half an inch.

The individual tug of war shall also be governed by the team rules, and the contestants must pull from the first cleat from the clamp.

PUCKERINGS.

The Marlboros telephoned this morning to the effect that they would bring down a first-class team to-night, and expect to give the locals a good hard game. One or two vacancies on the team, caused by players being sick, will be filled by the best men from the other Senior City teams. So that it will practically be an "All Star" team.

Peterborough players will wear white sweaters to-night.

Stratford won from Midland last night by 5—0.

LACROSSE.

(Special to the Examiner.)

Havelock, March 8th.—On Saturday evening a lacrosse meeting was held in the town hall for the purpose of organizing a lacrosse team, also the promoters of it are going to try and organize a Trent Valley Lacrosse League, consisting of Peterborough, Belleville, Hastings, Campbellford and any other towns from this section.

TUG-OF-WAR.

Wm. Hamilton's Colts hereby challenge any team, average 150 lbs., to a tug-of-war. Members of Senior teams barred. Date to be agreed upon by captains of both teams. American Cereal Company team preferred.

W. MARKS.
Captain, Colts.

THE HAMILTON TEAM.

The Iron Dukes in tug of war
Can beat the Quaker team by far,
With Harry Elliott on the end
And Sanders next a hand to lend;
Then Libby next—he dug right in—
And Charlie Watt was bound to win.

Then next in line came Jimmy Wall;
If he had fair play could pull them all.
Chambers was there, firm and strong,
And Reynolds brought the rope along.
Harvey made them loop the loop,
Which left the Quakers in the soup.

Captain Sharp so brave and strong,
Is the boy to cheer the team along.
The spectators very numerous were
And hats went flying in the air.
And now I guess I'll close my rhyme
Until they pull another time.

JAPANESE ALSO WIN ON LAND.

The Russians Had to Retreat in the First Engagement.

FLEET CREATES A DIVERSION

Attack on Port Arthur and Talienwan a Ruse—Japanese Forces Outflank the Russians on the Yalu River — No Official News of the Russian Vladivostock Squadron — Fung-Wang-Chang Taken.

London, March 10.—A despatch to The Times from Wei-Hai-Wei, dated March 9, says: "It is reported on good authority that a collision between Japanese and Russian troops has occurred near Haiju, Corea (54 miles northwest of Chemulpo), which resulted in the defeat of the Russians."

Fleet Creates a Diversion.

Washington, March 10.—The Government has received advices by cables from Che Foo, opposite Port Arthur, to the effect that Japanese land forces have appeared at Fungwangchang and at Tashau. No details are furnished. The first named place is about 45 miles north of Antung in Manchuria, and the latter is a few miles inland from the mouth of the Yalu River, according to the calculation of the naval officers here. They believe that this movement has placed the Japanese on the Russian flank and perhaps in the rear and on their line of communications. It is believed that Tuesday's attack on Port Arthur and Talienwan was a division perhaps to cover this movement of the Japanese forces, who were probably landed from transports at some point west of the Yalu River.

Significant Silence.

London, March 10.—Up to a late hour last night the Japanese Legation had heard nothing of fighting at Port Arthur or of the Russian Vladivostock squadron. It is considered significant that none of the Russian officials despatches make any mention of the Vladivostock cruisers. The news from Washington of the appearance of the Japanese forces at Fungwangchang is regarded as important.

According to the Tienstin correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, the Japanese advanced from the Yalu River captured Fungwangchang and drove out the Russians in the vicinity of the Takuling Eastern Pass, and are in force 70 miles east of Newchwang. The Russians with 75,000 men are entrenched strongly at Liaoyang and Haicheng, where fighting is imminent. Some small engagements already have been fought, the Russians retiring with losses. This correspondent says further that the Japanese are using the same tactics and advancing along the same route they followed during the Chinese war.

Japs Well West of the Yalu.

The Yinkow correspondent of The Paris edition of The New York Herald also vaguely reports the Japanese to be 50 miles northwest of Antung and well to the eastward of the Yalu River. To some of the military critics it is inconceivable that Japan can really have executed such an unexpected and successful turning of the Russian position on the Yalu River, which is thought would have necessitated the employment of a much larger force than it is believed that Japan can possibly have at this point.

The Daily Telegraph says that if the news of this strange and marvelous collapse of Russian power on land is true, there is nothing to prevent the Japanese from seizing Mukden and the railroad. There has been nothing to compare with this move since Napoleon staggered Europe by appearing in the plains of Italy, from the Alps. Its effect throughout the east will be stupendous.

Rumors of mediation in the Far East continue to circulate, but evidently the British Government has no idea that mediation is possible. Foreign Secretary Lansdowne, replying to a letter on this subject, which suggested mediation under The Hague convention, said His Majesty's Government feared that such an offer could not usefully be made to the belligerents at the present time.

Under date of March 9, a correspondent of The Times at Tokio says the Russian advance south of Possiet Bay continues.

Fight East of Newchwang.

Yinkow, March 10.—The British consul strongly and officially urges the foreign women and children to leave Newchwang before the river opens. The British station gunboat Hepiagle will leave as soon as possible and will not be replaced. The family of the United States Consul, Mr. Miller, leaves to-morrow.

The tension among Russians also continues. There are circumstantial native reports of fighting east of the railroad, and there is strong evidence of a Japanese advance.

Russian Torpedo Lost.

Tokio, March 10.—It is reliably asserted that when the Japanese attempted to block Port Arthur, Feb. 24, a Russian torpedo boat destroyer, while trying to re-enter the harbor, struck a mine and sank. Of the 13 Russian warships inside, the harbor of Port Arthur, it is added, all are disabled except five. Finally, it is asserted, that Whoangkishan fort, at Port Arthur, was half destroyed by the Japanese shells, and that only three batteries are available. About 800 Chinese and Russian workmen have been rushing the repairs on the warships.

Off Vladivostock.

Port Arthur, March 10.—It is rumored here to-day that a Japanese squadron has appeared off Vladivostock.

Hole in Hull Repaired.

Port Arthur, March 10.—The hole in the hull of the Russian battleship Retvizan, which was made during the first attack by the Japanese, has been repaired and the battleship has been refloated.

Entire Island Kottlin to be Utilized for Fortifications.

An Attack on India—Czar's Confidants Said to Have Stated that an Attack is Imminent—Confirmation of Attack on Port Arthur.

Special G. N. W. Despatch to the Examiner.

FIRED ON PORT ARTHUR.

Port Arthur, March 10.—A message from the signal station at 11 o'clock last night announced the appearance of a Japanese squadron on the horizon. Fifty minutes later the shore batteries opened fire on the Japanese vessels. A gale sprang up and the attacking fleet soon withdrew.

WAR WITH ENGLAND.

Berlin, March 10.—The Tageblatt to-day asserts that the conviction prevails in Government circles in Russia that war with England will be the inevitable outcome of the war with Japan. Active preparations, says the paper, are proceeding on an elaborate scale including measures for the defence of the Baltic coast. The Minister of Marine is reported to have ordered the inhabitants of the Island of Kottlin in the Gulf of Finland to leave their homes which will be razed as the Government requires the entire island for fortification purposes. Prince Uchtomsku the Czar's confidante is quoted as stating that a Russian attack on India is imminent.

UNION LABEL TYPOGRAPHICAL PETERBOROUGH

Daily Examiner.

THURSDAY, MARCH 10, 1904.

EVADING THE POINT.

The Mail and Empire in an article on Tuesday tries to break the force of the Examiner's criticism regarding the attitude of the Conservative press in relation to pronouncing advance judgment on matters pending before judicial tribunals. It denies that there is any parallel between the investigations conducted by Judge Winchester into the Toronto election irregularities and the investigation conducted by Judges Boyd and Falconbridge. This is true only to a certain degree, but not true in the manner the organ intends. There is no parallel in this regard—the judges acting under the Royal Commission were clothed with extraordinary powers; special legislation was provided to ensure the most thorough and searching investigation of not only the formulated charges, but of any others that might be laid; even the time honoured law of evidence was revised and changed and a special act passed making every witness a compellable witness in respect to answering every question that might throw light on the subject without regard to the self criminating evidence such an answer might disclose. The judges acting under the Royal Commission had far more power, had authority to go farther in eliciting the truth than Judge Winchester, whose powers are restricted to the requirements of ordinary legal and court procedure. The Mail and Empire evades the real point, that in one case the Conservative journals shamefully prejudged it, pronouncing guilt in advance; and in the other the Liberal journals have refrained from hostile criticism of the accused parties. While the Gamey charges were under investigation, the Conservative journals were conspicuous sinners, using every means, even to the extent of committing contempt of court, to prejudice the public. Not only this, but after one of the most thorough judicial investigations ever conducted, these journals refused to accept the finding of the judges, which declared disproof of the charges made, and with full knowledge of the facts, assert as they did before the investigation was made, the truth of the disproved charges. Party journals so steeped in party bitterness that they will not accept the finding of eminent judges, if contempt of it can be used to injure a political opponent, will not be influenced by any considerations of fair play.

RECORD OF PAST WINTERS' DURATION.

That of 1903-04 is one of the Longest to Remain.

The Great Flood of 1870 Recalled The Cemetery Point Appearance of the First Robin not yet Recorded.

As the snow still remains with us in but little diminished quantities, and "gentle Spring" still reposes in the lap of winter, the Examiner has made some investigations as to the dates when the snow usually disappeared in other years, and other spring phenomena occurred.

Last year the snow was gone in town by March 4th, by the 12th it had completely disappeared in the country. The creek was in full flood on the 10th. The first robin was seen on the 12th, and were plentiful after the 17th. Blackbirds arrived on the 16th. Roads began to get dry on the 18th, and on the following day bicycles were on the streets. Watering carts were out on the 31st. Swallows did not arrive until April 17th.

In 1902, although there was considerable snow in the country on the first day of March, wheels were in use in town. The snow had disappeared entirely by the middle of the month. The creek began to rise on the 7th, and by the 13th it was at its highest. Robins came on the 14th, blackbirds on the 16th. Bicycles made their appearance on the 19th.

The spring of 1901 was a late one. There was sleighing during the whole month, though towards the end it was not of the best. Robins and blackbirds were seen on the 26th. The watering cart made its first appearance on April 11th. Maples began to leaf on April 16th.

When March of 1900 came in there was about three feet of snow on the ground. On the 15th there still remained 32 inches, and on the 31st 6 inches. In that year the first genuine thaw was on April 1st. Robins made their appearance on the 3rd of April and greybirds on the 9th.

On March 19th, 1899, we had the heaviest fall of snow of that winter, when about 9 inches fell. Spring birds did not arrive until April 9th.

March of 1898 was a particularly fine month. No snow whatever fell. Robins came on the 10th, blackbirds on the 18th, and greybirds on 24th. River navigation was open on the 27th.

In March of 1897 the snow had disppeared by the middle of the month, and the creek was at its highest on the 21st. Dust was flying on the street on the 31st.

It may not be out of place to remark here that the greatest flood that Peterborough ever saw was in the spring of 1870. A large quantity of snow had fallen during the winter, and this was augmented by a number of heavy falls in March. A heavy fall occurred on the 16th, and a particularly heavy one on the 26th. The Examiner is unable to give the weather official's figures for this snowfall, but there was at least over two feet, and we have been told it was four feet. Perhaps some old reader of this paper can furnish the exact figures. This great snowfall was followed by warm weather, and every stream overflowed its banks. Great damage was done to dams and bridges on the river. The Little Lake extended up towards the Ashburnham school, while the river flowed south over Crescent street, making an island of the Cemetery point. This was the year that Mr. S. Dickson was drowned.

HAVELOCK.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The shanty supper given last Friday evening in the Methodist church here was a very pleasing event, and the evening was enjoyed by a large number of people. An old time supper was given from six o'clock to 8, followed by a short programme. The special feature was the fact that the waiters were all dressed in old-fashioned styles.

Jas. W. Rose spent Saturday and Sunday in Toronto renewing old acquaintances.

Mr. Wm. Webster spent Monday and Tuesday in Toronto.

The social event of the season was that held in the Presbyterian church school room on Monday evening. It was call an Art and Conundrum Social, and was the most pleasant social of the year. A great amount of amusement was had at the way the questions and answers were put, Miss Chandler winning the first prize for ladies, and Dr. Crawford the first for gentlemen. After the guessing, refreshments were served, and a short programme followed.

At the regular meeting of the town council held in the town hall on Monday evening there were present, Reeve J. Knox, and Councillors William Cooper, F. Haig, J. Campney, W. Thompson.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and on motion approved.

Auditors W. Patterson and McMaster presented their report. It was moved and seconded that the auditors be paid $7.50 each for their services.

On motion $450 was deposited in the Sovereign Bank to the credit of the School Board.

On motion of Messrs. Campney and Thompson a number of small accounts were ordered to be paid.

An application was received from T. Liscombe for a license for a pool table. On motion the application was placed on file.

On motion it was ordered that 50 fire pails and two 32 feet extension ladders will be purchased through F. McMaster.

Moved and carried that Mr. W. Patterson's account be paid.

Clerk Bryan was ordered to have 200 copies of the auditors' report printed.

The council adjourned to meet again on Tuesday night at 7.30.

Personal Mention and Other Items of Interest at Lakefield.

Miss Morrison of Toronto, who has been the guest of Mrs. E. R. Tate, at "Harbourne," left for her home on Tuesday.

Miss E. Cox left on Monday for Toronto, where she will spend a couple of weeks with friends.

Mrs. Morrow, of Peterborough, gave a concert in the town hall here on Tuesday evening, which was high class and much appreciated by all who were fortunate enough to attend. Mrs. Morrow charmed the audience with her sweet soprano voice, while her instrumental selections were well received. She was assisted by Mr. E. A. Froude, also of Peterborough, and Mr. G. M. Markle, violinist, of Toronto. Should Mrs. Morrow ever appear before a Lakefield audience again she will undoubtedly be greeted with a full house.

Miss Hacket, of Peterborough, was in the village on Tuesday visiting friends.

Messrs. R. Graham & Son have secured the services of Miss Call of Toronto, to take charge of the millinery department during the coming season. Miss Call arrived in town on Monday, and is starting her preparations for the spring millinery openings.

Mrs. F. J. Tate and Miss Tate have returned from Battle Creek, Mich., where they spent the winter months.

Eight-Year-Old Drowned.

Toronto, March 10.—The Don River claimed its first victim for the year yesterday afternoon, when Stanley Moffatt, the 8-year-old son of P. C. Robert T. Moffatt of No. 1 Division, broke through the ice and was drowned. The accident occurred at about 10 minutes to 6 o'clock. The body has not yet been recovered.

Von Waldersee at Rest.

Berlin, March 10.—The funeral of Field Marshal Count Waldersee, at Hanover yesterday, was an imposing military pageant.

KEENE.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Mr. M. T. Miller, leaves for Calgary, N.W.T., this week. He has taken part in all the curling and hockey games of this winter, and will be greatly missed.

Miss Emma Lane had the misfortune to fall on the icy sidewalk and break her arm.

Mr. John Hope is quite ill from the effects of driving on a very cold day last week.

Mr. T. J. Wallace has resigned from the position of principal of the school here, which he has occupied for the past six years. He has accepted a position on the teaching staff of the Peterborough schools.

The assembly to be held on the 17th inst. in the town hall under the auspices of the local improvement association, promises to be a great success. The tickets are rapidly being bought up. The cause is a worthy one, the proceeds going to defray the expenses of improving the hall, and worthy of the patronage of all.

HAD TO BACK DOWN

British Government Quailed Before Ultimatum Presented.

MAJORITY REDUCED TO 46

Action of Chamberlainite Members of the Unionist Party Led to a Crisis—The Clear Issue Stated in An Amendment—Premier Balfour's Admission—Mr. Asquith's Reply—Retaliation the Policy.

London, March 10.—(C.A.P.)—The chamberlainite members of the Unionist party revolted Tuesday night, thus producing a Government crisis. Right Hon. J. L. Wharton (Conservative) in view of Captain Pirie's (Liberal) free trade motion, offered an amendment expressing approval of the explicit declarations of His Majesty's Ministers that their policy of fiscal reform did not include any general system of protection of preference based on food taxation.

112 Unionist tariff reformers, under the chairmanship of Right Hon. Sir Herbert Maxwell (Conservative), held a meeting and sent an ultimatum to the Premier, stating that the amendment was calculated to place the Government in absolute opposition to Mr. Chamberlain's proposals and they were prepared to offer it strenuous resistance. As the Unionist free traders were divided with regard to the amendment, Mr. Wharton's amendment was withdrawn entirely thus leaving the issue clear for Captain Pirie's resolution, which ran that the House noting the frequent and continued advocacy of the policy of preferential and protective tariffs which was encouraged by the language of certain of His Majesty's Ministers deem it necessary to express its condemnation of the scheme.

Twins on Main Principle.

C. A. Cripps, M. P. (Conservative) argued the case for a preference being granted to the colonies and maintained that there was not any difference between Mr. Balfour and Mr. Chamberlain on the main principle.

Right Hon. H. H. Asquith, Liberal leader, dealt with the famous unpublished document submitted to the Cabinet in September. The Premier, replying to Lord George Hamilton, jumped up and repeated that the two documents were before the Cabinet. He and some friends had put the second alternative first, that no mistake might be made, said Mr Balfour.

Mr. Asquith replied that "We know by the statement of Lord George Hamilton that the second document advocated the preferential taxation of food, therefore, we are entitled to assume that the Government policy does not exclude the preferential taxation of food."

Premier Balfour's Admission.

Premier Balfour, in reply, said that after a general election the Government would be able to adopt a policy of dealing with retaliation and dumping. We want a general election because of the great fundamental change of policy. He was surprised that many members of his party should think the declarations of the Government were not sufficiently explicit. He plainly propounded retaliation and stated that he did not think the public was ripe for the taxation of food or for a fiscal union with the colonies, based on such taxation. Never before had a Government been subjected to cross-examination not in its existing policy, but in its policy if returned after a general election. He did not appeal to certain members sitting with the Ministerial party, but not belonging to it, but the bulk of the party, he believed was willing to support the Sheffield program, which was the program he put before the country. In the elections to-morrow those fearing developments in the fiscal policy ought to use their influence to keep the change within reasonable limits.

Majority Forty-Six.

Lord Hugh Cecil said that as the leader of the House had not repudiated the Birmingham program he would vote for the resolution. The vote resulted in a Government majority of 46.

CANADA TO BRITAIN.

N. W. Hoyles, K.C., Toronto, Makes Presentation in London, Eng.

London, March 10.—(C.A.P.)—N. W. Hoyles, K. C., of Toronto, at the Bible Society's centenary banquet, expressed the loyalty of Canada to the Mother Country and presented a draft for £2,000 from the Upper Canada Bible Society as a birthday gift to the British and Foreign Bible Society.

After More Information.

At yesterday's meeting of the Association of Chambers of Commerce, on behalf of the Newcastle Gateshead Chamber, an amendment was proposed to the resolution of the London Chamber favoring the adoption of measures for negotiation, but urging the Government to appoint a Royal Commission to inquire into and report upon the whole fiscal policy of the nation. The amendment was adopted, 58 members voting for and 45 against.

One Form of Reciprocity.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, acknowledging the resolution passed by the Australian Free Trade League, said the lowering or abolition of tariff barriers constitutes one form of reciprocity which a free trade country can recognize or accept. Sir Henry firmly believes that England is irrevocably committed to free trade.

Some Get Sick This Way

Then My Book is a Help

The Book Tells A Way To Health.

Which Shall I Send?

Book 1 on Dyspepsia
Book 2 on the Heart
Book 3 on the Kidneys
Book 4 for Women
Book 5 for Men (sealed)
Book on Rheumatism

When you are losing strength.
When your nerves are failing.
When your vitality is slipping away.
When something is eating away your constitution.

Then my book will tell you a way to help.

And the book is free.

It will tell you of my past—of thirty years given to the sick.

It will tell you how I found the cause of all this weakness. It will tell you that the INSIDE nerves have failed.

And it will appear to you as clearly as the light of day.

Not the nerves you know about, that you feel with, that you command when you walk, when you move. But the vital organs' nerves. The nerves that operate, that regulate the heart. The nerves that mean either strength or weakness to the stomach, the liver, the kidneys, to all the organs that are essential to health, to life and happiness.

This was my great discovery. Then the way to health was clear. I must VITALIZE those weakened INSIDE nerves. In hospitals and at bedsides my work was to that end. At last my prescription was perfected. I called that prescription a restorative.

It is now

Known the World over as Dr. Shoop's Restorative

And why this unusual publicity?

What brought it so quickly before the people?

There are THREE vital reasons.

First, my individual—my personal application of a treatment to these obscure INSIDE nerves.

That was never done before—nor since.

Secondly, the prescription itself—the ONLY ONE that acts directly on these failing nerves.

Thirdly—and the most conspicuous reason is because I announced to the world that any sick one anywhere, was welcome to use Dr. Shoop's Restorative a whole month without the risk of even a single penny.

After this, my discovery, failures were so few that I could safely make this offer.

And the simple way to that help is: You write me for the book you need.

Send no money. A postal card will bring the book. If you need my advice it is free. Tell me of your ailments as you would your home doctor. Write to me in strictest confidence.

Then with the book I'll send the name of a druggist near you who will grant the month's treatment on trial.

All druggists keep the Restorative. All do not grant the trial though, so write for the name of one who does.

Six bottles will be offered for the test. If the Restorative satisfies the cost to you is $5.50. If it fails the loss is mine. The druggist will bill the cost to me. And you alone shall be the judge.

I know you will gladly pay $5.50 when it brings you the help you need.

Write me now—to-day. Dr. Shoop, Box 47, Racine, Wis.

Mild cases, not chronic, are often cured with one or two bottles. At druggists.

ORANGEMEN IN SESSION.

Progress of the Year Exemplified in Reports of Officers.

Brantford, March 10.—The Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario West opened here yesterday afternoon in Victoria Hall. The blockaded railways prevented a number of delegated residents on the routes of branch lines from attending. The Grand Master, John McMillan, in his address, referred with pleasure to the courtesy extended to him everywhere in the order.

Mr. Lee, the Grand Secretary, reported two new county lodges formed during the year, Sault Ste. Marie and Nipissing, and two new district lodges, Temiskaming and Thunder Bay.

The report of E. F. Clarke, M.P., Grand Treasurer, showed that, after paying all liabilities, the sum of $1,470 was still on hand.

Grand Master Snowed Up.

Dr. Sproule, sovereign grand master of British America, telegraphed he would be unable to be present, owing to the snow blockade. Many other delegates are also unable to be present for the same reason.

Killed By Sardines.

Peterboro, March 10.—The death of James Craig, a nephew of John Craig, proprietor of the Craig House, Lakefield, occurred yesterday morning under peculiar circumstances. Tuesday night, before retiring, he partook of a light lunch consisting of sardines. After he had eaten a small quantity he noticed a bitter taste and did not eat any more. He retired in his usual health, and slept for some hours, when he awoke, feeling unwell. A doctor was hastily summoned but Mr. Craig rapidly became worse, and died at 6 o'clock in the morning, death evidently being due to poisoning. The deceased was one of the most widely known men in the county.

For a Disordered Stomach.

"I have been troubled for some time with indigestion and sour stomach," says Mrs. Sarah W. Curtis, of Lee, Mass., "and have been taking Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, which have helped me very much, so that now I can eat many things that before I could not eat." If you have any trouble with your stomach why not take these Tablets and get well. For sale by all druggists.

Died While Wiping Machine.

Hamilton, March 10.—The inquest on the death of Ralston Hall, the young man who was fatally injured at the steel plant last Monday morning, was finished last evening. No one saw the accident, but the engineer, J. Polson, thought Hall must have been wiping the machinery with some waste which caught in a shaft and drew him in to the cog wheels. The arm and shoulder was purely accidental and caused no pain.

Fresh Roses.

Roses, carnations and all other cut bloom, fresh, at lowest prices in town, at the Aylmer street Greenhouses. Reduced prices still continue on all regular stock plants. Jos. Cobb.

THE LEGISLATURE.

Natural Gas Export—To Curtail or Prohibit—Appeal to Dominion Government—Matter of Railway Subsidies.

Toronto, March 10.—The Legislature spent practically the whole afternoon yesterday in a discussion of the exportation of natural gas. Hon. Mr. Harcourt suggested that as it was merely a local matter it might stand over in favor of something of more general importance, but Mr. Jessop persisted in his motion to memorialize the Dominion Government to curtail or prohibit the exportation, and no result was reached when the House adjourned.

Mr. Whitney, when the orders of the day were called, said that the Opposition were opposed to railway subsidies as a general thing, though they might support special cases. But it was wrong and unfair that the House should be asked in the last week of the session, as it usually was, to pass a large number of subsidies about which it knew nothing. The Opposition may feel inclined to vote against any subsidy submitted in this way.

The Premier said that the requests for subsidies were in proof form, stating the grounds of the request and the public ends which such railways might serve. The House would be in possession of this information Thursday or Friday. It does not follow, however, that every one of these applications will be entertained.

Hon. Mr. Davis, in reply to Mr. Beatty, said it was not the custom of the Department to publish the estimator's estimates of timber on Crown lands.

Receipts and Expenses For Game.

Hon. Mr. Latchford, in reply to Mr. Downey, said that the Province had received from the game warden from Dec. 31, 1895, to Dec. 31, 1903, $97,325, and the expenditure through the game warden was $62,257.

Hon. Mr. Davis, in reply to Mr. Gamey, said that out of the 36 square miles of timber limits in the Township of Lorne twelve and one-half square miles remained under license. The ground rents and dues were paid to date, and the Government had no information as to whether the licensees would allow it to revert to the Crown.

Hon. Mr. Gibson, in reply to Dr. Pyne, said that Mr. James E. Day, Crown Prosecutor at the late Assizes in Brantford, resides in Guelph; that he was called to the Bar in 1893; that he had acted as Crown Prosecutor at the Assizes of 1899 and at the Assizes in different places each year since; that he (the Attorney-General) could not say by whom he was recommended; that the policy of the Government is to engage competent counsel. Mr. Justice Street stated that Mr. Day had brought out all the facts thoroughly in the recent murder trial and had left nothing undone in that respect.

Hon. Mr. Davis, in reply to Mr. Whitney, said that timber berths 195 and 201 had been purchased at the recent sale by a Quebec firm, but there was a dispute over 201, and the terms of the purchase had not been complied with. No action was taken by the Department in the matter.

To Aid James Bay Railway.

Premier Ross and the members of his Cabinet received yesterday morning a deputation from the Town of Orillia and its vicinity, urging that the Government assist the construction of the James Bay Railway from Toronto to Sudbury. This is the third deputation received by the Government on the same mission this session. The deputation received the promise that the matter would be given due consideration by the Government.

READ IT THROUGH.

Twould Spoil This Story to Tell it in the Headlines.

To use an eighteenth century phrase, this is an "o'er true tale." Having happened in a small Virginian town in the winter of 1902 it is a story very much of the present. Up to a short time ago Mrs. John E. Harmon, of Melfa Station, Va., had no personal knowledge of the rare curative properties of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. "Last January," she says, "my baby took a dreadful cold and at one time I feared that she would have pneumonia, but one of my neighbours told me how this remedy had cured her little boy and I began giving it to my baby at once, and it soon cured her. I heartily thank the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for placing so great a cure within my reach. I cannot recommend it too highly or say too much in its favour. I hope all who read this will try and be convinced as I was." For sale by all druggists.

Charles Fielding Dead.

Halifax, March 10.—Charles Fielding, an old and respected resident of Noel, and father of the Hon. W. S. Fielding, Dominion Finance Minister, died yesterday morning. Deceased was about 80 years of age. The Finance Minister was with him at the time of his death.

The Evidence you Value.

By word of mouth from friend to friend Dr. Chase's Ointment has received more unsolicited recommendation than probably any medicine you may mention. The fact that it is an absolute cure for piles has put it in a class all by itself as a preparation of inestimable value and people recommend it knowing that it is a certain cure.

A HEALTHY OLD AGE

The Goal of Every Man's Ambition

THOUSANDS of human beings are suffering under the burden of a sickly, premature old age, because of diseased kidneys. These organs once diseased give out to all parts of the body a deadly slow-acting poison. The face loses its color, the eye its luster, the brain its ambition, and the muscles their energy, and many of the most troublesome ailments result.

Bu-Ju cures all forms of kidney trouble and brings back youth and vigor, rooting out the evil. It is a never-failing cure for every form of kidney ailment. It cures rheumatism by eradicating the cause of rheumatism, kidney disorders. If you are suffering from any form of kidney trouble, commence taking Bu-Ju, The Kidney Pill, at once. You cannot afford to neglect the many symptoms that point to diseased kidneys.

Markham, Ont., Dec. 1, 1903.

Claflin Chemical Co., Windsor, Ont.

Gentlemen:—I had suffered almost continually for seven years from kidney trouble. Could scarcely walk and was unable to attend to my farm duties. Saw Bu-Ju, The Kidney Pill, advertised and procured a box from my druggist. After taking the first few pills I felt much relieved and after taking half a box was able to do a full day's work. I know one box of Bu-Ju saved me $40 doctor bills, and think they are the finest pill made. I give this testimonial freely.

Yours very truly, JAMES ABBOTT.

PLEASING EVENT IN SPEAKER'S CHAMBER.

Mrs. Stratton was at Home to her Friends

The reception held by Mrs. Stratton in the Speaker's chambers Tuesday afternoon was a very brilliant affair. Mrs. Stratton received in a gown which had a distinct air of the Rue de la Paix, composed of a delicate shade of pink crepe, with beautiful trimming of cluny lace, edged with ermine and pearl ornaments, and was assisted by her niece, little Miss Alberta Gooding, in a fairy-like frock of white pointe d'esprit, ornamented with white satin ribbon; red shoes and stockings completed the costume. The rooms were profusely decorated with tall palms, American Beauty roses, and white carnations artistically arranged, the crimson carpet and hangings making a charming background. The tea table was done with a Maryot lace centrepiece, over faye de sole, on which a mirror was placed, surrounded by fairy lights, and on the centre a cut glass vase filled with crimson roses, and was in charge of Miss Loudon, Miss Temple Dixon, and Miss Vivian McLeod. Among those present were: Mrs. Mortimer clark, Mrs. Cattanach, Lady Edgar, Mrs. Janes, Mrs. H. S. Strathy, Mrs. Dignam, Mrs. E. F. B. Johnston, Mrs. W. Beardmore, Mrs. Kingsmill, Mrs. W. D. Matthews, Miss Davidson, Peterborough; Mrs. Harley, Halifax; Miss Mair, Mrs. Percy Beatty, Mrs. MacBeth, Mr. and Mrs. W. Houston, Mrs. D. D. DESIGN FOR A CORPORATE SEAL.

Mr. T. A. S. Hay Has Submitted One Which is Very Appropriate.

Peterborough may soon have a coat of arms all her own. One of the necessary adjuncts to a progressive town or city is the possession of a coat of arms, representing the characteristics of the place. Peterborough, hitherto has not been in possession of such a mark of dignity, and it has been felt that in this it was perhaps not keeping pace with other places of equal size or importance. But this is likely to be remedied very soon. Mr. T. A. S. Hay, the Town Engineer has designed a very appropriate coat of arms, which if approved of by the Council will be adopted and used as a corporate seal. The motto at the bottom of the design is "Nature Provides and Industry Develops," and at either side of the central shield is a figure one representing a woodsman, emblematic of nature, the other, a mechanic, representing industry. Surmounting the shield is the Canadian beaver, and entwined are the Canadian maple leaves, while a rising sun shines over all. On the shield which is quartered are scenes representative of the industries and natural advantages possessed by Peterborough. Perhaps the most interesting is that depicting a section of the Trent Valley Canal, upon which a tug-boat hauling two barges, are shown. Below this is a view of a large grain elevator and flour mill, a prophesy of the condition of things which will be seen when the canal has been completed. On the opposite corner is a very accurate representation of a modern express train. The view emphasizes the two great advantages possessed by this town, transportation facilities and industrial advantages. On the left upper corner is the National emblem.

The whole design is a most appropriate one, and Mr. Hay is to be complimented upon his skill.

BAGS WHICH ARE DESTINED TO ROAM.

Two Curios Received at the Canadian Express Office this Morning.

"A rolling stone gathers no moss." At noon to-day the Canadian Express Company, received two wandering Gladstone bags, which are travelling all over the world. It is said they were despatched from some that they were despatched from some place in South America about five years ago, and since that time have visited every continent. They are known in America, Europe, Africa, Australia and Asia, and are now in a very delapidated condition. Some hundreds of tickets are attached to them, and no one can imagine how many thousands have been torn off. They left town this afternoon on their endless journey.

ORILLIA TO SEND DELEGATES HERE

On the Occasion of the Visit of the Transportation Commission.

A very large and enthusiastic audience crowded the council chamber in Orillia Friday night to listen to a most interesting and instructive lecture under the auspices of the Board of Trade upon the subject of the Trent Valley Canal. The chair was occupied by A. B. Thompson, president of the Board of trade. The lecturer illustrated his subject by some 50 fine stereoptican views of the canal, hydraulic lift locks, maps of other routes, etc., and was greeted with much applause as he pointed out the great benefits to accrue to the province by an early completion of this national necessity and new route, not only for the purpose of bringing down the products of the immense territory tributary thereto, but also of much of the grain, minerals, lumber, etc., from the North-west and Upper Lakes which now finds its weary way to the seaboard via the lakes and Erie or Welland canals. It was pointed out that only five million dollars would be required to complete this great highway or a total of nine millions, and give an 800-ton barge capacity, while the new enlarged Erie Canal, after an expenditure of one hundred millions, will only accommodate barges of one thousand tons, and at the same time a much shorter route to the seaboard than either the Erie or the Welland routes. There will only be about eighteen miles of actual canal, the balance being through lakes and rivers, whereas the Erie has 257 miles of actual canal. The canal is a live issue in Orillia and district. The Board of Trade has a special Committee devoted to that question. Mayor McCosh and J. P. Secord were appointed delegates to represent the Town Council and the Board of Trade at the coming meeting of the Transportation Commission at Peterborough with instructions to press strongly for the completion of the Canal.—World.

INQUEST CONCERNING MR. JAS. CRAIG'S DEATH.

Was Held by Coroner Dr. Gray This Afternoon.

Coroner Dr. Gray went to Lakefield yesterday for the purpose of empannelling a jury to investigate the circumstances surrounding the death of Mr. James Craig, of that place, who died at an early hour yesterday morning shortly after eating some sardines which he said tasted peculiarly bitter.

After the jury had viewed the remains the inquest was adjourned until two o'clock this afternoon when the evidence in the case was taken.

MR. NUGENT'S UNCLE DIED IN LINDSAY.

Was Last Remaining Member of Family of Eleven.

Mr. John Nugent received word yesterday of the death in Lindsay, on Tuesday evening of his uncle, Mr. Robert Nugent, after a very brief illness. He had just received word of the death in Texas of his only sister, and the shock was so great that it caused his death. He went upstairs shortly after hearing the sad intelligence, and his family hearing a noise as if he had fallen, ran upstairs, and found him lying on the floor unconscious. He was placed in bed and a physician summoned. Nothing could be done for him, however, and he died in a few hours.

The late Mr. Nugent, who was 76 years of age, was the last surviving member of a family of eleven children, and was highly respected in Lindsay, where he was well known. He leaves four daughters and one son, Mrs. Nugent having died some years ago. The children are Alex., who is a medical missionary in Ahmedmager, India, Miss Bella, a missionary teacher in the same place; Mrs. John Lowes, Bethany; Miss Josephine, a Normal teacher in Boston, and Miss Evelyn S., at home.

The funeral will take place tomorrow at Lindsay. Mr. John Nugent will go to Lindsay to-night to attend the funeral.

Don't Forget to Look

As you pass Messrs. H. LeBrun & Co's window, don't forget to look at the pyramid of new fashionable spring suitings pied up in the south window. There ought to be choice enough for any man, no matter how hard to please he may be. It's the largest display of imported cloths for spring to be seen in town.

Another attraction is the exhibition of fine cambric shirts in the north window of the City Clothing Store. They are principally for big men with lots of neck, the sizes being 16 and 16 1-2. The selling price is only 50c., although 75c. and $1.00 are the regular prices. d

ASSISTANCE FOR THE CONSUMPTIVE POOR.

Friends in Peterborough who have Contributed to Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumption.

How true it is that "one touch of nature makes the whole world kin" is well illustrated in the response that is being made to the appeal of the trustees of the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives. Mr. J. S. Robertson, Secretary, at the head office, Mail Building, Toronto, tells that the contributions are coming from the most divergent points of the Dominion, east and west. In fact moneys have been received from the Artic Ocean, Bermuda, and the Yukon. It will be difficult, when one remembers the nature of tuberculosis, to think of a charity that is more deserving of support from every one. Recent contributions received from Peterborough include:—

St. Paul's Church.

Rev. Dr. Torrance occupied the pulpit Sunday morning in St. Paul's church when he spoke with reference to the centenary of the Bible Society, which was that day being celebrated. The reverend doctor's text was, "Oh how I love Thy Law; it is my meditation all the day." The Bible, said the speaker, may be regarded as one book or as a great variety of books, as it is the word of God, inspired by Him, and forming an organized whole. The tendency today is to give special prominence to the human element in the word of God, and there can be no doubt that as the result of some of the methods now employed in the study of the Bible there are parts of the Holy Scriptures invested with a freshness and interest such as they never had before. Dr. Torrance then reviewed the books off the Old Testament, recalling the characteristics of each. The practical lessons learned from the subject were: 1st, the importance of being acquainted with the Word of God, and 2nd, the obligation of sending the Bible to those who have it not. This obligation is brought before us this time in connection with the centenary of the Bible Society. This noble society deserves the sympathy and support of every Christian. Its history has been characterized by progress and success and it has been instrumental in circulating thousands of copies of the Word of God.

LENTEN SERVICES HELD LAST NIGHT.

Rev. Dr. Macklem at St. John's Church.

Preached on Christian Citizenship—Rev. Mr. Gustin at St. Luke's.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

Rev. Dr. Macklem of Trinity University delivered an address in St. John's church last night. There was a large congregation present and Rev. J. C. Davidson spoke in appreciation of the Provost's visit to the church. The subject was "The Call to Christian Citizenship" which he considered to be one of the great demands of the present day. He first of all proceeded to give the Bible grounds. In the Old Testament the connection of civil and religious life was so close as to be almost indistinguishable. The historical books of the Bible dealt with the Jewish nation as God's great instrument for moulding the religious life of the world and these books might be called the constitutional history of Israel. After illustrating this point the Provost passed on to New Testament times when the idea of the Kingdom of God came paramount for the establishment of which our Lord worked and died. At the same time He was careful to proclaim that His own kingdom was not of the world, but was placed as a permanent influence among the Kingdoms of the world for their moulding and betterment. After a glance at the teaching of the Epistles, the Provost took up this subject from another side. The State to-day had taken over many of the functions which had before belonged to and been originated by the church, as education, hospitals and other philanthropic work, which is now largely under the care of the state. It was, therefore of the first importance that religious men should bring their influences to bear so that these vitally improtant enterprises should be controlled and directed on right lines. Christians generally should wake up to a realization of their responsibility in regard to things secular and political, which were not really separated by any line of demarkation. They were to subject themselves to all the real influences of religion, not in order that these might be selfishly used for their own benefit, but that they might be spiritual storehouses for the healthy improvement of conditions in the municipality, and in all other departments of Ghristian life.

Rev. W. R. Tandy of Havelock, will preach next Wednesday on "The Call to Applied Churchmanship."

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH.

The service at St. Luke's church was conducted by Rev. A. W. Gustin, M.A., of St. Mark's Church, Port Hope. The subject of his sermon was, "Thou Shalt Not."

None of us like to be told that we must do this or that. We much prefer to do as we please. We also dislike to feel that we can't do as we like. Yet in both the moral and physical world we are brought face to face with the necessity of personal restraint and the duty of self discipline, contrary to the common though careless idea that by the opposite course true freedom is realized, honesty forces us to admit that true freedom is realized only by the exercise of self-restraint or discipline. Man's true position is found and human need manifested in accordance with the law.

A review of the human race justifies this view. In Eden there stood before our first parents the danger signal, "Thou shalt not." Eight of the ten commandments begin in a similar way. The history of man's fall and the story of his redemption proclaims the glory of restraint and self-control. By the one, Paradise was lost, and by the other Paradise was regained. Relations with our fellowmen teach the same doctrine. One man's liberty ends where his neighbour's rights begin and one of the greatest needs of the day is to bring forward into its proper place the spirit of "Thou shalt not," and to enforce its legitimate discipline in thought, word, and deed and to bring himself completely into the obedience of Christ, the great teacher, and exemplar. It is especially the wisdom of the Christian to bow to this law of God, most natural and revealed. It is his duty to follow the example of Christ, who pleased, not Himself, but for us endured the discipline of the wilderness and the cross and likewise bids us to take up the cross or burden of restraint and discipline and carry it, to do which he supplies his grace, so that it becomes to the true follower even easy and light.

The difficulties and things hard to be borne, will have proved, not hindrances, but helps to perfect freedom, and aids to development in regaining the Divine likeness, even the measure of the Perfect Man, the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ.

Big Fire at Montreal.

Montreal, March 10.—Fire, which did damage to the extent of $75,000, broke out in the premises of the Canadian Jewelry and Importing Co., 1,646 Notre Dame street, early yesterday morning. The premises of Genin, Trudeau & Co., wholesale tens, and the Metropolitan Furnishing Co., and a few other firms sustained slight injuries by smoke and water. The Jewelry and Importing Co.'s loss is estimated at $55,000, with insurance of $20,000. The balance of the loss of $20,000 is distributed among the other firms.

STOMACH TROUBLE

A Thorough Test of Iron-ox Tablets for a very Severe Case.

September 19, 1902.

I never tried anything that can be compared with Iron-ox Tablets for stomach trouble, as I had a very severe case of nervous dyspepsia, and they are more than I ever expected of them. Your Tablets have done me so much good that I am giving them to my little girl; she is troubled with nervousness.

Later—January 26, 1903.

I can truthfully say it is a wonderfully good remedy for any stomach trouble. Mine was a very severe case, as it troubled me four years, and your Tablets have done me a world of good.

THE ALGOMA CENTRAL.

Bonds Guaranteed—$2,000,000 For Two Years Absolutely Secured—Idiotic and Unreasonable, Says Mr. Whitney.

Premier Ross explained in the Legislature yesterday afternoon the Government's plan to assist in the rehabilitation of the Soo industries. It is proposed to guarantee for two years at 4 per cent. $2,000,000 of the bonds of the Algoma Central Railway. The Lake Superior Consolidated, when reorganized, with three Canadian directors, will issue bonds to the amount of $10,000,000. Of the proceeds $1,000,000 is to be reserved for working expenses, the Speyer loan and all the outstanding liabilities are to be paid off, the Government liability for the advancement of the banks of the wages of the workmen is to be discharged, and $2,000,000 of bonds are to be put in the hands of a trust company as collateral to the other securities of the Government. The securities, the Premier emphatically asserted, were of such value as to absolutely preclude the possibility of loss to the Province. They had the railway, which had already cost $6,750,000, and which was to be completed and extended 25 miles to the C.P.R., making 225 miles in all; the ships and barges of the company, valued at $725,000, and 13½ miles of railway from Sudbury to the Creighton mine. Should the Algoma Central fail to carry out its agreement, the Government could take over the road and sell the $2,000,000 bonds of the reorganized company. The Premier clearly explained the importance to the credit and development of the Province of the continuance of the Soo industries.

Mr. Whitney, in a brief criticism, declared that so "idiotic and unreasonable" a measure would not have been introduced had it not been for the Government's slender majority, and the bill was read a first time.

The House unanimously passed this resolution.

Moved by Mr. Ross, seconded by Mr. Gibson: That this House do respectfully memorialize the Government of Canada to grant aid by way of subsidy to the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway to the same extent as subsidies have been granted by the Parliament of Canada to other railways in the different provinces of Canada, and that the Honorable the Speaker of this Assembly be authorized to transmit such memorial to the Right Honorable Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Premier of the Dominion Government, for his early consideration.

Routine in the House.

Mr. James' bill respecting the Town of North Bay passed its third reading.

Mr. Latchford's resolution was adopted permitting the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council to lend to the Temiskaming Railway Company from the consolidated revenue fund to the amount of $2,000,000, and to accept the bonds of the Commission as security with interest at 3½ per cent.

Mr. Gibson's bill to amend the act respecting religious institutions passed Committee.

The House went into Committee on Supply after recess.

Mr. Whitney before adjournment asked whether the liquor bill would be introduced Thursday, and the Premier replied it would not. Mr. Whitney asked if the Premier could say with any degree of certainty when it would be introduced, and the Premier again replied in the negative.

The House then adjourned.

Colds are Dangerous.

How often you hear it remarked, "It's only a cold," and a few days later learn that the man is on his back with pneumonia. This is of such common occurrence that a cold however slight, should not be disregarded. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy counteracts any tendency towards pneumonia. It always cures and it is pleasant to the taste. For sale by all druggists.

Died While in a Fit.

WILL SEE THE CABINET.

National Live Stock Association to Present All Resolutions.

Ottawa, March 9.—Last evening's session of the National Live Stock Association was well attended and many important subjects were discussed, which eventually were crystalized into resolutions.

The matter of imported stock was dealt with in two resolutions.

The first was: That animals for breeding purposes may be admitted free from duty when pure bred and registered in the authorized books of record in the Dominion, or of the country in which they originated and when owned by a bona fide resident of the Dominion.

The second: That the Minister of Agriculture be urged to take steps to safeguard against the introduction of Texas fever, Texas tick and other contagious diseases through the importation of Mexican and stocker cattle.

Representative deputations will wait upon members of the Cabinet to-day to lay the proceedings of the association before the Government.

UNRIVALLED GUNS FOR INDIA.

Artillery and Rifles to Be Sent to Point of Danger Contract.

London, March 9.—On formally introducing the army estimates for the coming year in the House of Commons, War Secretary Arnold-Foster announced that a new field and horse artillery gun had been adopted, unrivalled in Europe. It was hoped to complete 108 field guns and 18 horse artillery guns during the financial year, practically the whole to be sent to India, the only possible place of contact with a great European army, and where long ranges were common. The guns would fire 18½ and 12½ pound projectiles.

A new rifle was also in course of manufacture, the Secretary further announced, and India would take 71,000 stands thereof the coming year.

Bombardment Brought Deaths.

San Juan, P.R., March 9.—A letter received here from San Pedro de Macoris, Santo Domingo, gives details of the bombardment of San Pedro de Macoris, Feb. 27, by the Dominican warships Presidente and Estrella. The captain of the Presidente, a Spaniard, and 60 men on board of her, were killed, only six of the crew escaping without injuries. In all 74 men were killed and 25 wounded on the two ships. The insurgents lost thirty-six men killed or wounded. The Presidente was driven away at daybreak, Feb. 28.

Big Fire at Collingwood.

Collingwood, March 9.—Fire started in the large three-storey block of stores and warehouses, owned and occupied by the T. Long and Bro. Company, Limited, on the west side of Hurontario street here yesterday morning at about 3.30. The total loss on building and stock will touch $100,000, and is said to be only partially insured. The insurance on the building was $32,000, and the loss will be 25 per cent. of its value; on the stock, $58,000, and loss will be 50 per cent. of its value.

The Children's Medicine.

A Cure for Cough's Colds, Cramp, Bronchitis and Whooping Cough, Which Children Delight to Take.

It is impossible to be too careful in selecting the children's medicine.

Many cough mixtures contain powerful drugs and opiates which should never be allowed to enter a child's stomach.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine was especially prepared for the children by one of the most skillful and conscientious doctors that has ever practiced medicine.

Experience taught Dr. Chase that some of the simple products of the vegetable kingdom possessed most extraordinary curative properties, and he succeeded in so combining these in Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, as to make a medicine that is at once pleasant to the taste and wonderfully effective.

Croup, bronchitis, whooping cough, asthma, severe chest colds and painful coughs yield to this great medicine when extraordinary treatments have no effect.

You can learn of the splendid results of this treatment in nearly every home.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, 25 cents a bottle, family size, (three times as much) 60 cents, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every bottle.

Purified by Suffering

BY MARY J. HOLMES,

Katy felt afraid of Bell, and in fact, now that they were so near, she felt afraid of them all, notwithstanding Esther's assurances that they could not help loving her. During the six months they had been together Esther had learned to feel for her her young lady that strong affection which sometimes exists between mistress and servant. Everything which she could do for her she did, smoothing as much as possible the meeting which she also dreaded, for though the Camerons were too proud to express before her their opinion of Wilford's choice, she had guessed it readily and pitied the young wife brought up with ideas so different from those of her husband's family. More accustomed to Wilford's moods than Katy, she saw something was the matter, and it prompted her to unusual attentions, stirring the fire into a cheerful blaze and bringing a stool for Katy, who, in blissful ignorance of her husband's real feelings, sat waiting his return from the telegraph office whither she supposed he had gone, and building pleasant pictures of to-morrow's meeting with her mother and Helen, and possibly Dr. Morris, if not Uncle Ephraim himself.

So absorbed was she in her reverie as not to hear Wilford's step as he came in, but when he stood behind her and took her head playfully between his hands, she started up, feeling that the weather had changed; it was not as cold and dreary in Boston as she imagined, and laying her head on Wilford's shoulder, she said:

"You went out to telegraph, didn't you?"

He had gone out with the intention of telegraphing as she desired, but in the hall below he had met with an old acquaintance who talked with him so long that he entirely forgot his errand until Katy recalled it to his mind, making him feel very uncomfortable as he frankly told her of his forgetfulness.

"It is too late now," he added; "besides you could only see them for a moment, just long enough to make you cry—a thing I do not greatly desire, inasmuch as I wish my wife to look her best when I present her to my family, and with red eyes she couldn't you know."

Katy knew it was settled, and choking back the tears, she tried to listen, while Wilford, having fairly broken the ice with regard to his family, told her how anxious he was that she should make a good first impression upon his mother. Did Katy remember that Mrs. Morey whom they met at Paris, and could she not throw a little of her air into her manner, that is, could she not drop her girlishness when in the presence of others and be a little more dignified? When alone with him he liked to have her just what she was, a loving, affectionate little wife, but the world looked on such things differently. Would Katy try?

Wilford when he commenced had no definite idea as to what he should say, and without meaning it he made Katy moan piteously.

"I don't know what you mean. I would do anything if I knew how. Tell me, how shall I be dignified?"

She was crying so hard that Wilford, while mentally calling himself a fool and a brute, could only try to comfort her, telling her she need not be anything but what she was—that his mother and sisters would love her just as he did—and that daily association with them would teach her all that was necessary.

Katy's tears were stopped at last, but the frightened, anxious look did not leave her face, even though Wilford tried his best to divert her mind. A nervous terror of her new relations had gained possession of her heart, and nearly the entire night she lay awake, pondering in her mind what Wilford had said, and thinking how terrible it would be if he should be disappointed in her after all. The consequence of this was that a very white tired face sat opposite Wilford next morning at the breakfast served in their private parlor; nor did it look much fresher even after they were in the cars and rolling out of Boston. But when Worcester was reached, and the old home way-marks began to grow familiar, the color came stealing back, until the cheeks burned with an unnatural red, and the blue eyes fairly danced as they rested on the hills of Silverton.

"Only three miles from mother and Helen! Oh, if I could go there!" Katy thought, working her fingers nervously; but the express train did not pause there, and it went so swiftly by the depot that Katy could hardly distinguish who was standing there, whether friend or stranger.

But when at last they came to West Silverton, and the long train slowly stopped, the first object she saw was Dr. Morris, driving down from the village. He had no intention of going to the depot, and only checked his horse a moment, lest it should prove restive if too near the engine; but when a clear young voice called from the window: "Morris! oh, Cousin Morris! I've come!" his heart gave a great throb, for he knew whose voice it was and whose the little hand beckoning to him. He had supposed her far away beneath Italian skies, for at the farm-house no intelligence had been received of her intended return, and in much surprise he reined up to the rear door, and throwing his lines to a boy, went forward to where Katy stood, her face glowing with delight as she flew into his arms, wholly forgetful of the last night's lecture on dignity, and also forgetful of Wilford, standing close beside her. He had not tried to hold her back when, at the sight of Morris, she sprang away from him; but he followed after biting his lip, and wishing she had a little more discretion. Surely it was not necessary to half strangle Dr. Grant as she was doing, kissing his hand after she had kissed his face a full half dozen times, and all the people looking on. But Katy did not care for people. She only knew that Morris was there—the Morris whom, in her great happiness abroad, she had perhaps slighted by not writing directly to him but once. In Wilford's sheltering care she had not felt the need of this good cousin, as she used to do; but she was so glad to see him, wondering why he looked so thin and sad. Was he sick? she asked, with a pitying look, which made him shiver as he answered:

"No, not sick, though tired, perhaps, as I have at present an unusual amount of work to do."

And this was true—he was unusually busy. But that was not the cause of his thin face, which others than Katy remarked. Helen's words, "It might have been," spoken to him on the night of Katy's bridal, had never left his mind, much as he had tried to dislodge them. Some men can love a dozen times; but it was not so with Morris. He could overcome his love so that it should not be a sin, but no other could ever fill the place where Katy had been; and as he looked along the road through life he felt that he must travel it alone. Truly, if Katy were not yet passing through the fire, he was, and it had left its mark upon him, purifying as it burned, and bringing his every act into closer submission to his God. Only Helen and Marian Hazelton interpreted aright that look upon his face, and knew it came from the hunger of his heart, but they kept silence; while others said that he was working far too hard, urging him to abate his unwearied labors, for they would not lose their young physician yet. But Morris smiled his patient, kindly smile on all their fears and went his way, doing his work as one who knew he must render strict account for the popularity he was daily gaining, both in his own town and those around. He could think of Katy now without a sin, but he was not thinking of her when she came so unexpectedly upon him, and for an instant she almost bore his breath away in her vehement joy.

Quick to note a change in those he knew, he saw that her form was not quite so full, nor her cheeks so round; but she was weary with the voyage, and knowing how sea-sickness will wear upon one's strength, Morris imputed it wholly to that, and believed she was, as she professed to be, perfectly happy.

"Come, Katy, we must go now," Wilford said, as the bell rang its first alarm, and the passengers, some with sandwiches and some with fried cakes in their hands, ran back to find their seats.

"Yes, I know, but I have not asked half I meant to. Oh, how I want to go home with you, Morris," Katy exclaimed, again throwing her arms around the doctor's neck as she bade him good-bye, and sent fresh messages of love to the friends at home, who, had they known she was to be there at that time, would have walked the entire distance for the sake of looking once more into her dear face.

"I intended to have brought them heaps of things," she said, "but we came home so suddenly I had no time. Here, take Helen this. Tell her it is real," and the impulsive creature drew from her finger a small diamond set in black enamel, which Wilford had bought in Paris.

"She did not need it, she had two more, and she was sure Wilford would not mind," she said, turning to him for his approbation.

But Wilford did mind, and his face indicated as much, although he tried to be natural as he replied: "Certainly, send it if you like."

In her excitement Katy did not observe it, but Morris did, and he at first declined taking it, saying Helen had no use for it, and would be better pleased with something not half as valuable. Katy, however, insisted, appealing to Wilford, who, ashamed of his first emotion, now seemed quite as anxious as Katy herself, until Morris placed the ring in his purse, and then bade Katy hasten or she would certainly be left. One wave of the hand, one more kiss thrown from the window, and the train moved on. Katy feeling like a different creature for having seen some one from home.

"I am so glad I saw him—so glad I sent the ring, for now they will know I am the same Katy Lennox, and I think Helen sometimes feared I might get proud with you," she said, while Wilford pulled her rich fur around her, smiling to see how bright and pretty she was looking since that meeting with Dr. Grant. "It was better than medicine," Katy said, when beyond Springfield he referred to it a second time, and leaning her head upon his shoulder she fell into a refreshing sleep, from which she did not waken until New York was reached, and Wilford, lifting her gently up, whispered: "Come, darling, we are home at last."

"The square peg in the round hole" figuratively expresses the use of means unsuited to the desired end. A great many people who have been cured of dyspepsia and other diseases of the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery say: "We tried many medicines with only temporary benefit. It was not until we began the use of 'Golden Medical Discovery' that we found a complete and lasting cure."

$3,000 FORFEIT will be paid by WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y., if they cannot show the original signature of the individual volunteering the testimonial below, and also of the writers of every testimonial among the thousands which they are constantly publishing, thus proving their genuineness.

"It is with pleasure that I tell you what Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pellets' have done for me," writes Mrs. T. M. Palmer, of Pecde, Kaufman Co., Texas. "Two years ago I was taken with stomach and bowel trouble. Everything I ate would put me in distress. I lived two weeks on milk and even that gave me pain. I felt as though I would starve to death. Three doctors attended me—one said I had dyspepsia, two said catarrh of the stomach and bowels. They attended me (one at a time) for one year. I stopped taking their medicine and tried some patent medicine; got no better, and I grew so weak and nervous my heart would flutter. I could not do any kind of work. Now I can do my house work very well; am gaining in flesh and strength, and can eat anything I want."

Accept no substitute for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Lame Back for Four Months.

Was Unable to Turn in Bed Without Help.

Plasters and Liniments No Good.

This was the experience of Mr. Benjamin Stewart, Zionville, N.B.

TWO-THIRDS OF A BOX OF

Doan's Kidney Pills

CURED HIM.

He tells of his experience in the following words: "For four months I was troubled with a lame back and all this time was unable to turn in bed without help. I tried plasters and liniments of all kinds but with no effect. At last I was induced to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and by the time I had used two-thirds of a box my back was as well and as strong as ever and has kept so ever since."

Backache, Frequent Thirst, Scanty, Cloudy, Thick or Highly Colored Urine, Puffing under the Eyes, Swelling of the Feet and Ankles, are all symptoms of kidney trouble that Doan's Kidney Pills will cure.

LATEST NEWS OF SPORT.

Peterborough Team Defeated the Senior O. H. A. Champions—Interesting Game To-night—Other Sport

SENIOR CHAMPIONS MET SUPERIORS.

Senior Marlboros were Outclassed by Peterboros 20-4.

STANLEY CUPPERS BEATEN.

Regular Senior O. H. A. Champion Team Taken into Camp by Peterborough Intermediates The Visitors were Unequal to Fast Work of Home Team.

The question as to whether the Peterborough hockey team is in the same class as the best senior team in the O.H.A. was answered fairly satisfactorily last night, when it was found that the senior teams were not in Peterborough's class, since the Marlboros, senior champions of the O.H.A., city champions of Toronto and challengers for the Stanley Cup, were defeated by the local team quite easily by the score of 20—4. The score just about tells the story of the game, which was a runaway victory for the fast home team. When it is known that the much touted Marlboro team consisted last night of Giroux, the famous goal keeper, and five other Marlboro men, who have played senior this year, including Birmingham, the centre player, of whom so much has been said, and Clemes, the fastest forward on the Bank of Toronto team, winners of the Bank League, it will be seen that the test of the teams was a fair one, and that the Peterborough team may now legitimately lay claim to being the best in the O.H.A.

The Marlboro team has been so long considered the best aggregation of hockeyists playing in the O.H.A. that the local team figured upon having a hard game, and were by no means confident of victory. It was soon seen, however, after the play began that the visitors were outclassed, and were no match for the speedy home bunch, who have never played a better game than that of last night.

The forward line of the Marlboros was, with one exception, identical with that which defeated the St. Georges in Toronto Monday night in the game for the City Championship, and the one exception was Clemes, who was not, however, a source of weakness to the team.

The fact must have been apparent to anyone who saw the game, that the local team is the peer of any aggregation playing hockey in Ontario. The visiting team was a fast bunch of players, and played good enough hockey to win from an ordinary team, which, however, the local septette is not, judging by the game last night.

The Marlboros promised to send their best team, and that which represented the Dukes last night was equal to any they have put on the ice this season, including the team that played for the Stanley Cup. They played a good, clean, fast game, but the best they could do with the local team was to score four goals on them, while the latter put twenty past Geroux, more goals than have been scored against him in the entire senior O.H.A. series this season.

The local team deserves the highest commendation for the quality of hockey displayed by them last night. They have never played a more effective game, than that in which they figured last night. The team was identical with that which represented Peterborough in the first game of the season in Picton, but the quality of hockey was of a much higher order. It is doubtful if even the Ottawas, the Stanley Cup team, could have defeated the local team last night. Mercer was not given as much to do as his companion at the other end of the ice, but he stopped some splendid shots from the sticks of Birmingham and Winchester, who were the most effective of the forwards. Mercer need take second place to no man in the business and his work last night was heartily applauded by the 1200 spectators who were in the rink. Harold Armstrong played a magnificent game, and once more demonstrated that there is not a point player in existence, as least as far as hockey in Ontario is concerned, who can equal him. Cavanah proved the rock upon which a great many Marlboro rushes were broken up. He has never played a more brilliant game than that of last night, and not only was a tower of strength to the defence but frequently assisted the forward line in rushes, which invariably resulted in a score. Harold Armstrong played his old position in his usual way, which is equivalent to saying that he played it well. Whitcroft was in the game to win, and although checked by the fastest man on the visiting team, more than held his own. He invariably got the draw in the face off. Morgan, particularly in the first half, played a splendid game. He was always on the puck and scored a number of the goals, by being in front of the goal to send the rubber in the net when he got a pass. Roy Armstrong gave an exhibition of his old-time speed and was the fastest forward on the ice last night. His work was a pleasure to witness and he checked Winchester one of the best men on the Marlboros so effectively that the latter's work was nullified.

Geroux for the Marlboros did his best to save the day for his team but shots came pouring in from every conceivable direction and it was impossible to prevent defeat. He stopped a great many good shots, however, and but for his excellent work the score would have been larger even than it was. Brown was a good point last night, said to be equal to Clarkson, whose position he took. He played in the same position in the game in which the Marlboros defeated the Barrie Seniors, and is a good defence man. Lal Earls, the captain of the team played, cover point, and gave a good account of himself in that position. The members of the forward line, Reid, Birmingham and Winchester, are regular senior men, and played a good fast game. The truth must be faced, however, that the fastest forwards on the senior champions of the O.H.A. were outplayed by the corresponding players on the Peterborough Intermediate team. Clemes who played right wing is the fastest forward on the Bank of Toronto team, and accompanied the Marlboros to fill Philips' place. He played a good game, but could not outshine Morgan.

The half time score was 10—2, an equal number being scored in the second period, making a record score for the season.

The teams were:—

Marlboros.	Peterborough.

A DOUBLE HEADER AT BROCK ST. RINK.

Russ vs. Jap Composed of Ladies, and Eko Camp vs. C. D. A.

The game to-night between the "Russians" and "Japs" at the Brock street rink, should be one of special interest. The teams representing the two countries now engaged in conflict, it may be mentioned, are composed of ladies, and the two teams will play to-night, the gate receipts to be devoted to a charitable purpose.

The line-up will be:—

Japs	Russians.
Goal
Jean Scott ... ...Mary Sheffield
Point.
Frankie Burritt ... ...Mabel Brogue
Cover Point
Nellie Whiten ... ...Mona Cavanah
Rover.
Lulu Scott ... ...Gwen Hall
Right Wing
Edith Scott ... ...Gertie McClellan
Left Wing.
Linda Hall ... ...Irene Perks
Centre.
Allison Hamilton ... ... Viva Hunter

Mr. E. Wasson will referee the game.

The Eko Camp—C. D. A. game will also be pulled off. These teams will line-up as follows:—

Eko Camp—Goal, J. Comstock; point, Clarke; cover point, Glover; forwards, Alf. Smith, J. Gemmell, J. Watt and R. Watt.

C. D. A.—Goal, James Hamilton; point, Ernie Clarry; cover point, H. Rush; forwards, L. Hall, F. Bradburn, O. Dumble and Milne Hamilton.

PUCKERINGS.

After seeing the game played last night between the Marlboros, senior champions of the O.H.A., and the Peterboroughs, the secretary of the Trent Valley League, Mr. F. S. Clarry, is trying to arrange a game between the Marlboros and the T.A.S., champions of the T.V.L.

HE'S A VETERAN OF THE CRIMEA

And he Tells What Dodd's Kidney Pills do for Him.

He Knows Others too who Have Been Troubled with Kidney Complaint, Have Used Dodd's Kidney Pills and are well People To day.

Birdell, Ont., March 9.—(Special.)—Postmaster Henry Bird of this place is one of those grand old men who carried Britain's flag to victory over the walls of Sebastopol. He tells many interesting tales of those terrible days and also how he escapes the pains and aches brought on by so many days and nights of hardships and exposure.

"I have been troubled for years," he says, "with Kidney Trouble brought on by lying in the trenches in front of Sebastopol where thousands of my brothers in arms lost their lives. But every time I feel my trouble coming on I use Dodd's Kidney Pills. I have found them do me good each and every time.

"I never took more than one or two boxes at a time and so never gave them a chance to make a complete cure in my case. But when I feel my trouble coming back I shall surely use Dodd's Kidney Pills again. For I know Dodd's Kidney Pills can do even more than is claimed for them. I know some of my neighbours who have used them for the same trouble as myself and who are well people to-day."

The following despatch was received to-day by Messrs. McMillan & Maguire:

Chicago, March 10. — Wheat. — The market gave evidence in the early trading that it would break away from the depression ruling in the coarse grains and after a slight hesitation gained strength which was added to as the session advanced. The foreign markets came higher and reports of the crop damage from south-western Kansas were very plentiful. This started some fair buying and made shorts feel uneasy. Crop damage scares are worse than war news to a short seller.

RUSSIAN STRONGHOLD AGAIN BOMBARDED.

A Japanese Fleet Shells Port Arthur on March 10.

OFFICIAL RUSSIAN REPORT.

Viceroy Alexieff Does Not Mention Damages Although Fourteen Japanese Ships Bombarded the Fortress and the Russian Cruisers—Another Skirmish near Ping-Yang—Russia Again Warns China.

St. Petersburg, March 11.—The Czar has received the following message from Viceroy Alexieff, dated yesterday, at Mukden:

"The commandant of the fortress at Port Arthur reports that at about 1 o'clock this morning the outlines of vessels, apparently torpedo boats, were seen at sea, within the area swept by our searchlights. Our batteries opened fire upon these vessels. Our torpedo boats put out to sea at 2.40 a. m., and about 4 o'clock met the enemy west of Liaotishin lighthouse. After firing several shots, the enemy retired to the south in the direction of Shantung. Our torpedo boats returned to the harbor at 6 o'clock.

"Later torpedo boats were again sent to sea to reconnoitre. They returned in half an hour, having learned that an enemy's squadron was approaching.

"At 8 o'clock the Japanese opened fire on our cruisers and fortress. The enemy had fourteen ships and fired the entire time from behind Liaotishin.

"I have the honor to report the above to Your Majesty.

"(Signed) Alexieff."

THE JAP ENROLMENT.

200,000 Troops of the Mikado Are Now in Corea.

London, March 11.—Speculation regarding the military situation on the Yalu River is most keen, but no news of a reliable character has been received. The Nagasaki correspondent of The Daily Express asserts that 200,000 troops have been shipped from Japan, and that a portion of the second army corps is now on its way to Corea.

The correspondent of The Daily Chron[illegible] at Tokio, evidently referring t[illegible]he same movements, cables that t[illegible] transportation to Northern C[illegible]a of three divisions of Japanese[illegible]ops has been completed, and that t[illegible]se men are beginning to advance, while ten divisions of the second army corps have already been mobiliz[illegible]d.

After Port Arthur Is Neutralized.

The Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says that the Japanese, after Port Arthur is neutralized, probably will move two armies to the north simultaneously, one from the southern part of the Liaotung Peninsula, and the other from the Yalu River. The Russians are now moving northward in Corea, this correspondent continues, with the intention of making Wiju their defensive base.

A correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, who was in Japan recently, wires from Seoul that the Japanese are making steady progress with their land movements. The roads are occupied by Japanese troops.

Withdrawing From Port Arthur.

According to a Tientsin correspondent of The Standard, the Russians are withdrawing all their superfluous troops from Port Arthur to Harbin and Kirin, because of the shortage of provisions, and because it is doubtful whether or not they would be able to hold either Port Arthur or Newchwang against a resolute attack.

Cabling from Tokio, a correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says the Jiji Shimpo has received a communication from Pekin declaring that Great Britain and the United States have protested against Russia sinking junks in the channel of the Liao River at Newchwang, on the ground that this prevents the egress of the warships of these powers from the river.

The Times publishes a despatch from Tokio saying the ice on the Yalu River has begun to melt. Japanese scouts have encountered forty Cossacks, the correspondent continues, at Kazan, 58 miles north of Pingyang, on the road to Wiju.

The Russians Retreated.

Tokio, March 11.—Russian and Japanese mounted scouts met south of Pingyang Wednesday. After a brief engagement the Russians retreated. No casualties are reported on either side.

There Was No Sea Fight.

Vladivostock, March 11.—The acting chief of the staff yesterday officially stated that the reports of a sea fight between the Russians and Japanese squadrons on Sunday last are absolutely unfounded.

News By the Olympia.

Victoria, B.C., March 11.—The Northern Pacific liner Olympia arrived from Yokohama yesterday. Among her passengers was Capt. Hill, who brought the Japanese cruiser Sisshin from Genoa to Yokohama, and he tells of a race with the Russian cruiser Aurora in the Red Sea and the escape of the Nisshin and Kasuga from possible capture by the Russian squadron.

Chinese Suffer.

Yinkow, March 11.—The concentration of troops at the Russian strategical base has resulted in much suffering among the Chinese inhabitants, especially at Liaoyang, where even private buildings have been appropriated to accommodate the soldiers, and thousands of Chinese are consequently without homes. Russian troops are encamped at all the essential points along the railroad.

Russia Warns China.

St. Petersburg, March 11.—Russia has served notice on China that the latter must not send troops beyond the great wall, and that she must exercise her influence to restrain the Chinese bandits, who are partially under the control of Chinese officers, from interfering with their railroad and telegraph lines. A refusal to heed this warning will be considered a breach of neutrality.

Bombardment Ineffective.

Tokio, March 11.—Vice-Admiral Kamimura, reporting the bombardment of Vladivostock on March 6, says the attack commenced at ten minutes of two in the afternoon, and the firing was kept up about forty minutes. He believed the bombardment was effective and demoralizing to the enemy.

Twice Since March 6.

Tokio, March 11.—Information obtained from private sources is to the effect that the Japanese squadron has bombarded Vladivostock twice since March 6.

Military Train Derailed.

Tomsk, Western Siberia, March 11.—A military train bound for Irkutsk, Western Siberia, was derailed yesterday. One person was killed and a number of soldiers were injured.

JAPANESE READY TO STRIKE RUSSIANS.

200,000 Soldiers Now Ready for Battle in Corea and Manchuria.

Russians are Discouraged on Account of Recent Severe Reverses —Attack Hourly Expected.

Special C. N. W. Despatch to the Examiner.

JAPANESE TO STRIKE BLOW.

London March 11.—News from the far East to-day conclusively shows that the Japanese are almost ready to deliver a crushing blow to the Russians. The Japanese have landed in Manchuria and Corea in large numbers. It is estimated that 200,000 soldiers are ready for battle. News of the contemplated attack on the Russian forces is hourly expected. The Russians are in a bad way in that they are not only unprepared for such an attack but have lost hope and courage in the several reverses they have suffered on land and sea.

Paris, March 11th. — A correspondent of the Figaro in St. Petersburg, writes that as a result of the recent letter from King Edward to the Czar, in which His Majesty expressed in cordial terms his desire for peace, the editors of several newspapers in St. Petersburg were summoned to the office of the censor and ordered to moderate their anti-British tendencies.

Women who work, whether in the house, store, office or factory, very rarely have the ability to stand the strain. The case of Miss Frankie Orser, of Boston, Mass., is interesting to all women, and adds further proof that woman's great friend in need is

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: — I suffered misery for several years. My back ached and I had bearing down pains, and frequent headaches. I would often wake from a restful sleep in such pain and misery that it would be hours before I could close my eyes again. I dreaded the long nights and weary days. I could do no work. I consulted different physicians hoping to get relief, but, finding that their medicines did not cure me, I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it was highly recomended to me. I am glad that I did so, for I soon found that it was the medicine for my case. Very soon I was rid of every ache and pain and restored to perfect health. I feel splendid, have a fine appetite, and have gained in weight a lot." — MISS FRANKIE ORSER, 14 Warrenton St., Boston, Mass.

Surely you cannot wish to remain weak, sick and discouraged, and exhausted with each day's work. Some derangement of the feminine organs is reponsible for this exhaustion, following any kind of work or effort. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you just as it has thousands of other women.

The case of Mrs. Lennox, which follows, proves this.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: — Last winter I broke down suddenly and had to seek the advice of a doctor. I felt sore all over, with a pounding in my head, and a dizziness which I had never experienced before. I had a miserable appetite, nothing tasted good, and gradually my health broke down completely. The doctor said I had female weakness, but, although I took his medicine faithfully, I found no relief.

"After two months I decided to try what a change would do for me, and as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was strongly recommended to me I decided to try it. Within three days I felt better, my appetite returned, and I could sleep. In another week I was able to sit up part of the day, and in ten days more I was well. My strength had returned, I gained fourteen pounds, and felt better and stronger than I had for years. I gratefully acknowledge its merits. Very sincerely yours, MRS. BERT E LENNOX, 120 East 4th St., Dixon, Ill."

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness.

THE GOVERNMENT AND THE SESSION.

The Government will meet Parliament this week under conditions which cannot be regarded as other than very favourable, says the Toronto Star. There is now no division so much as suspected in the Ministerial ranks. The great transcontinental project, which was looming large on the horizon when Parliament assembled last year, dislodged one Minister from the Cabinet — a small result for so vast an undertaking—but the effect of that is now fully over, the ex-Minister having taken office under the Government, and his friends having expressed themselves in a bye-election. The entire party is now solid behind the railway policy of the Government; and this year will see nothing but some alterations in the financial portions of the agreement.

No other great scheme is in the egg; and consequently this session may be expected to run its course in peace so far as the Ministerial circles are concerned. Mr. Fielding has quieted the country with an assurance that no general revision of the tariff will be undertaken without a thorough investigation. Relief where especially needed may be given, and evidences of suffering will be heeded; but the tariff schedules will not be flung into the fire and the business of the country subjected to a long period of costly uncertainty.

The British press seem to have inferred from the recent bye-elections that the Government is losing ground in the country. But this is a long-distance view of a poorly understood situation. The repulse in St. John the natural effect of Mr. Blair's retirement; and, at all other points, the Government held its own. Local questions increased Conservative majorities in a couple of Ontario constituencies; but there is no such sign of a change of sentiment here as the British newspapers have under their eyes at home.

The renewed health of the premier which has made the Government indifferent about how long the elections are delayed, are a great source of encouragement to the country. The now looks forward not only to a campaign led by a vigorous Sir Wilfrid, but to his practical permanence in the position which he now holds. That Sir Wilfrid is a political "asset" of unmeasured value even his opponents will admit.

Nor is there any reason for the Government to feel dismay in looking across the House. Mr. Borden has been industrious during the recess, and is winning the respect of the country; but he is not a great popular tribune, and it would be a gross flattery to pretend that he has succeeded in striking the imagination of the people to any considerable extent. Mr. Monk, his late lieutenant, is in retirement; and Mr. Tarte has taken his place. Again, it must be confessed that Mr. Tarte is a good political organizer. Sir Wilfrid Laurier was the first to recognize this when Mr. Tarte joined the Liberal forces in 1896. But the loss of Mr. Monk cannot strengthen the party, and it is yet to be seen to what extent Mr. Tarte will command the confidence of his new colleagues. As for the Ontario contingent, it is as hesitant and leaderless as it has been ever since the death of Sir John Macdonald.

The Senate is now overwhelmingly Liberal. There is no point at which the Government may fear obstruction of the legislative machine. In debating power the Government is much heavier in both houses. In position on all debatable questions it is admirably placed. Towards Chamberlainism it turns a face of manly friendliness, without assuming an attitude of suppliance before the British voter. On the tariff it is open to suggestion, but resolutely committed against turning our Customs houses into "forcing beds" for the "trusts," or disturbing the business of the country with a perpetual threat of a revision. It is for adequate protection, but against revolutionary changes. It can hardly fail to come out of the next session with increased strength.

The Evidence you Value.

By word of mouth from friend to friend Dr. Chase's Ointment has received more unsolicited recommendation than probably any medicine you can mention. The fact that it is an absolute cure for piles has put it in a class all by itself as a preparation of inestimable value and people recommend it knowing that it is a certain cure.

A GREAT SAVING IN FREIGHT RATES.

Would Result from the Completion of the Trent Waterway.

The Globe Convinced that its Completion Would Mean Much to the Transportation Interest Erie Canal Could Not Compete.

The Toronto Globe commenting editorially on the excellent address given in Belleville recently by Mr. R. B. Rogers, of Peterborough, says:

The question of a southern outlet for the Trent Valley Canal has become a bone of contention between Port Hope and the Bay of Quinte ports. The river outlet by Trenton is claimed as the best route by the people of that town, and the idea is naturally supported at Belleville and other points along the bay. Port Hope declares for a new outlet southward from Rice Lake to that town. At a public meeting recently held in Belleville to support the Trent River route an interesting address on the canal and its possibilities was delivered by the superintending engineer, Mr. R. B. Rogers, C.E., of Peterborough. The Port Hope Guide publishes a long report of the meeting for the purpose of showing that the case in favour of the Trenton route is too weak for serious consideration. While the local claims are matters of engineering detail, the commercial outlook of the enterprise is of general interest. Mr. Rogers sees a prospect of great traffic development following the completion of the canal, and his forecasts are entitled to careful consideration. In his opinion, the rates on bulk freight such as coal, grain, and iron would be reduced by at least two-thirds. At the present time the rate on grain from a point midway on the Trent is about seventeen cents per one hundred, or ten cents per bushel on wheat. The rate from Buffalo to New York by the Erie Canal is two and a half to three cents. This distance is over 500 miles, 352 miles of which is through an actual canal which the crudest equipment, and in barges the capacity of which is not much above a quarter of what barges on the Trent will be. The distance from a point midway on the Trent to Montreal is about 370 miles. With the open waterway by the Trent and with barges three or four times as large towed in fleets by powerful steamers, which is impossible on the Erie, there should be a lower rate than on that waterway.

There is raised in the district adjoining the Trent over 15,000,000 bushels of grain and 200,000 tons of hay, and there are consumed nearly 50,000 tons of coal. A saving of seven cents per bushel on grain, ten cents per cwt. on hay, and seventy-five cents per ton on coal would mean a gain of a million and a half dollars. In this Mr. Rogers calculates the removal of only half the present disparity of the St. Lawrence route as compared with the Erie Canal. He also makes some hopeful forecasts as to the part which the canal may play in the transportation of western grain to the seaboard. The feature of this traffic is the inevitable rush to get the crop to market before the close of navigation. The upper lake route, with its gigantic steamers, has a record of the cheapest freight transportation in the world. But through the succeeding season the canal would be not only an important means of transportation, but a regulator of rates by the railways. Canal traffic can never be monopolized. No combination can control it, as it must always be open to competing vessel-owners. For that reason an all-water route from Port Arthur and Fort William to Montreal, even if it involves transhipment to the smaller vessels of the canal, would play an important part in regulating the rates on transportation routes naturally monopolistic.

NOT MUCH CONSOLATION.

Electric Lines do not pay on Long Reaches.

Promoters and investors interested in electric lines will not find consolation in the last report of the Railroad Commissioners of Massachusetts. Out of 105 companies in that State no less than 65 — new and old— declared and paid no dividends. A gentleman of very large experience interested in electric line operations in Massachusetts, recently stated that electric lines do not pay, except when operated within densely populated city districts, or within a very short radius thereof — like Boston and its immediate suburbs. Judged by this standard electric lines in Ontario, outside of those operated within cities, will not be able to earn dividends, at least for many years to come, when the population of that province becomes more dense than Massachusetts, where so many electric lines are not profitable. At present there is in Massachusetts a population of 349 per square mile against approximately 10 per square mile in Ontario or roughly 34 to 1. Aside from this indication as to Ontario being an unfavourable field for electric line operation it si interesting to note that Ontario now enjoys three times as large steam railway mileage as Massachusetts to each one thousand of population. — Kingston News and Times, February 25th, 1904.

REV. FATHER GALVIN PREACHED AT LINDSAY.

A Peterborough Priest Officiated at St. Mary's Church.

The Lindsay Post of Monday says: "At St. Mary's church yesterday evening, at vespers, Rev. Father Galvin, of St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough, delivered a sermon, taking for his text the words found in the 9th chapter of St. Luke, sixty-second verse, "No man putting his hand to the plough and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of Heaven." To the young man he would say the same sentiment prevails to-day—no man revelling in the pleasures of the past can afford to look back. He must be whole-hearted in the way of religion. Luke-warmness in God's service will not lead to life eternal—we must love God with our whole heart and soul, strength and mind. It is commonly said by worldings, "God will not deal harshly with us—he will not be a severe judge," yet he expects us to earn our reward. The speaker more particularly appealed to the young men, and asked them to look back on the many who have started out in life after their first communion, determined to live up to the resolution made then, but who grew careless when forced to mingle with men of the world. He exhorted the half-hearted and luke-warm to walk closer to God and avoid an eternity of torments in hell. God wishes all to be saved and lavishes His grace on us, and in return for our small services to Him has a crown of glory awaiting those who love and serve Him.

THE WAR IN THE EAST

West, North and South That Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are Waging Against All Forms of Stomach Trouble, Can Only End One Way.

Dyspepsia Will Be Driven off the Earth.

The great and effective work of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is no longer confined to America. They are being used now all over the world, for their fame has spread throughout foreign countries and they cure dyspepsia in all lands and all climates just as well as they do at home. In fact, surroundings and conditions never interfere with the successful work of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, not even the conditions of the stomach itself. They go ahead of their own natural way regardless of the stomach, and digest the food that the bad stomach cannot digest and permit that organ to do just as it pleases, rest, take a vacation, get well or what not. The stomach, however, always makes it a point to get well when it has nothing else to do. That's what stomachs always have done and will continue to do when they have the opportunity.

A prominent Detroit physician says: "I prescribe Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets for all cases of stomach trouble. I have tried many prescriptions, including a number of my own, but find nothing which gives such universal relief as this remedy. They are natural, harmless and perfectly effective in their work, and while I have a natural antipathy to patent medicines, I do not hesitate to prescribe and recommend Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets on all occasions."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at fifty cents a box. They are so well known and their popularity is so great, that a druggist would as soon think of being out of alcohol or quinine. The testimonial of the physician is no exception. In fact physicians are prescribing them all over the land and if your doctor is real honest with you he will tell you frankly that there is nothing on earth so good for dyspepsia as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Not a minute should be lost when a child shows symptoms of croup. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears will prevent the attack. It never fails, and is pleasant and safe to take.

SUCCESSFUL CONVERSAT.

A Social Innovation at the Ontario Agricultural College.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The conversat — the social event of the O.A.C. — was innovated on the 2nd inst. under the most auspicious circumstances. For nearly a year past the idea has been growing in the minds of those socially ambitious but until last night fortune failed to favour the brave. King Quarantine laid his relentless grip on the students and threatened to deter the conversat indefinitely, but the committee, under the leadership of C. Logan, a well known leader in social circles, soon demonstrated the possibilities of such an event.

The night proved all that could be desired and the Eates ruled the boys a beautiful evening—so rare an occurrence this winter. The two buildings, Government and Massey buildings, were connected by a covered walk, and beautifully decorated for the occasion.

The crowd assembled in Convocation Hall, and listened to the following programme:

Part 1.

Solo, "Happy Days"... ...A. Strelezki
Miss Alvena M. Springer.

"David Garrick" act... ... ...Robertson
Frank R. Conklin.

Solo, "Bedouin Love Song"... ...Pinsuti
Mr. Croxall.

Selection... ... ...
Orchestra.

"David Garrick," act III... ... ...
Frank R. Conklin.

Solo, "Queen of the Earth"... ...Pinsuti
Miss Nellie Moore.

Reading, "That Oxen"... ... ...
Miss Jean Gunn.

Introductory... ... ...
President Creelman.

Following the programme the guests repaired to the Government building, where the sights of the museum, the entertainment of the promenaders, and last, but by no means lest, the dainty refreshments served to while away all too soon the evening. Then with a few parting trips, to the accompaniment of the orchestra, the party broke up at an early hour, well pleased with the success of the evening, and hoping for the coming of '05. The students returned to their books, the guests departed, but they have formed pleasant associations that may last far into other days, and 'tis these that make the evening doubly pleasant.

IS IT CURABLE?

Question Often Asked by Those Afflicted With Piles.

Is a strained joint curable; is local inflammation curable? Of course, if properly treated. So is piles.

People often become afflicted with piles and ask some old "chronic" who has always persisted in the wrong treatment, and naturally he discourages them by telling them that their case is hopeless.

They in turn discourage others, and thus a disease that can in every case be cured by careful and skillful handling is allowed to sap the energy of thousands who might free themselves of the trouble in a few days.

Pyramid Pile Cure will cure the most aggravated case of hemorrhoids in an astonishingly short time. It relieves the congested parts, reduces the tumors instantly no matter how large, allays the inflammation and stops the aching or itching at once.

Thousands who had resorted to expensive surgical treatment have been cured by the Pyramid Pile Cure—in a number of instances persons who had spent months in a hospital under a pile specialist.

It is a remedy that none need fear to apply even to the most aggravated, swollen and inflammed hemorrhoidal tumors.

If you are afflicted with this stubborn disease you can master it and master it quickly.

This remedy is no longer an experiment, but a medical certainty, and is sold by druggists everywhere for fifty cents a package.

Write Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., for their free book on the cause and cure of piles.

Protection For Stock.

Ottawa, March 11.—The National Stock Breeders' Association waited on Hon. Mr. Fisher and the Hon. Mr. Sifton yesterday and presented the resolutions passed by the convention, and which have been published before. In reply Hon. Sydney Fisher said the resolutions presented would be carefully considered, and whatever was possible to do to protect and foster the live stock interest of the country would be done. Mr. Sifton spoke briefly, saying that he would be glad to co-operate with his colleague, Mr. Fisher, in doing what he could to protect the live stock interests.

Rescued Nine at Sea.

New York, March 11.—The British steamer Cape Corientes has arrived in port from an eventful voyage, during which she rescued nine men from the Russian schooner Emilija of Riga while dismantling in mid-ocean. Two days, later a tremendous explosion occurred on the steamer which severely burned the third engineer, Neil McArthur. The hose was turned on the fire, and the crew and shipwrecked men working with buckets soon had the fire under control. The injured engineer and the shipwrecked crew were landed at St. Michaels, Azores.

Quebec Bye-Elections.

Montreal, March 11.—Four Provincial bye-elections were held in Quebec Province yesterday. As far as can be learned here at midnight, the result is a net loss of two seats for the Liberal Government. The result in Maskinonge seems uncertain. The G. N. W. service reports a Conservative majority of 200, while the C. P. R. wires give only 11, with six polls to report. At the last general election all of these ridings returned Liberals by acclamation.

Will You Write a Postal

So a Sick One May Get Wee?

Send no money—simply a postal card, giving the name of some one who needs help. Tell me the book to send.

Then I will do this: I will arrange with a druggist near him so that he may take six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. He may take it a month at my risk. If it succeed the cost is $5.50. If it fail, the druggist will bill the cost to me.

That month's test will show you what the remedy can do. It is the easiest way to induce all who need help to accept it.

I make this offer to multiply my cures, and I am willing to trust the cured ones to be fair with me.

In the past 12 years I have furnished my Restorative to hundreds of thousands of sick ones on just those terms, and 39 out of 40 have paid gladly because they got well. I pay just as willingly when one says I have failed.

The remedy is my discovery, the result of a lifetime's work. I have perfected it by watching results in thousands of the most difficult cases that physicians ever meet. I know what it will do.

My success comes from strengthening weak inside nerves, and my Restorative is the only remedy that does that. When an organ is weak I bring back the nerve power which alone operates every vital organ. It is like giving an engine more steam. I give the weak organ power to do its duty, and there is no other way to make a weak organ well.

Can you conceive of a sick one who will neglect such a treatment, when I take the entire risk?

Simply state which book you want and address Dr. Shoop, Box 47, Racine, Wis.

Book 1 on Dyspepsia
Book 2 on the Heart
Book 3 on the Kidneys
Book 4 for Women
Book 5 for Men (sealed)
Book 6 on Rheumatism.

Mild cases, not chronic, are often cured with one or two bottles. At druggists.

TALKS ON FORESTRY.

Fifth Annual Meeting of the Association Will Establish Official Organ.

Toronto, March 11.—The fifth annual meeting of the Canadian Forestry Association began yesterday. Hiram Robinson presided, and in an informal address called attention to fire as the greatest enemy of the Canadian forests. Careless settlers, smokers, and the railways were the chief offenders. Secretary Stewart reported a membership of 479, an increase of 79. Tree planting is being encouraged in the Northwest and 1,700,000 will be supplied to settlers this year.

On the opening of the afternoon session it was resolved to establish an official organ entirely devoted to forestry; and the executive was empowered to bring this about as early as possible.

A. Harold Unwin, Munich, of the Royal Saxonian College, Thaurandt, Germany, contributed a paper on "Forest Reproduction in Germany."

John Bertram, president of the Dominion Transportation Commission, read a paper on "Forest Management." The discussion which ensued brought out many points of interest.

Hon. E. J. Davis complimented the association and sought information from Mr. Bertram, who will think over the problems submitted and write to Mr. Davis.

The other speakers were Prof. Roth of the University of Michigan, Prof. London of Toronto University (his paper being "Education in Forestry"), Prof. Godwin of Queen's, and Prof. Hutt.

It was resolved, on the motion of Father Burke, to urge on the Federal and Provincial Governments to make a survey of the forest growths with a view to the preservation of the water power of Canada.

The banquet in the evening was a great success.

A Broad Statement.

This announcement is made without an qualifications. Hem-Roid is the one preparation in the world that guarantees it.

Hem-Roid will cure any case of Piles. It is in the form of a Tablet.

It is the only Pile remedy used internally.

It is impossible to cure an established case of Piles with ointments, suppositories, injections or outward appliances.

A guarantee is issued with every package of Hem-Roid, which contains a month's treatment.

Go and talk to Jas. Lynch, druggist, 166 Hunter street, about it.

LIEUT.-COL. SCOTT GRAND MASTER.

Orangemen at Brantford Elects Officers—Some of the Order's Plans.

Brantford, March 11.—The Grand Lodge of Orangemen of Western Ontario concluded its sessions here last night. In the afternoon a proposal was submitted by a special committee that a plan of sick and funeral benefits be established in connection with the order. All details were explained by the committee. During the next few weeks the various lodges will discuss the matter. The convention endorsed the scheme, and it is likely to be brought into force.

Another special committee proposed a plan of establishing an Orange orphanage in connection with the order.

Considerable excitment was caused by the election of officers. The new grand master, Lieut.-Col. Scott of Walkerton, got in by acclamation, but there were lively contests for most of the other offices. However, the gathering was a most pleasant and profitable one throughout. The meeting next year will be held in Midland.

Thamer Charged With Forgery.

Berlin, Ont., March 11.—John H. Thamer, who was arrested at Spokane, and brought here, was arraigned yesterday before Police Magistrate Weir on the charge of having forged the name of Jesse Clemens to two notes for $2,700 and $900. The case was adjourned until March 17.

Four Burned in Gasoline Fire.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 11.—Four unidentified men were burned to death in a box car containing gasoline which caught fire ten miles east of this city yesterday. Two others barely escaped with their lives.

One in Four Persons.

One person in every four suffers more or less from itching piles. Some do not know the nature of their ailment, and others have not heard of Dr. Chase's Ointment as the only absolute and guaranteed cure for this distressing disease. If you are a sufferer ask your neighbours about this great preparation. It has grown popular as a result of the news of its merits being passed from friend to friend.

An Explanation.

Respecting the interview with Mr. George Boucher, published in the Examiner of Tuesday, this paper had no wish to give that gentleman undue prominence in his remarks, which were merely answers to questions concerning the country about Hudson's Bay, and the inhabitants.

A Pastor Entertains.

Rev. A. H. and Mrs Brace entertained the deacons of the Park street Baptist church and their wives on Thursday evening at the parsonage. After supper a few items of business were attended to in the pastor's study, while the ladies held a round table. The party then united, and a most pleasant evening was spent.

LATE JAMES WATSON A FORMER RESIDENT.

Lived Here in the Fifties - Died in Lindsay.

Mr. James Watson, who died at Lindsay a few days ago, was a former resident of Peterborough. He was born at Irvine, in Argyleshire, Scotland, in 1821, and arrived in New York in 1849. He moved to Peterborough two years later. His uncle, Rev. John Gilmour was then in charge of the Baptist church here. He only lived in Peterborough for two years, moving in 1853 to Naperville, Que., where he joined his brother, Thomas Watson in the merchantile business. He started in business himself in Lindsay in 1557 and lived in that town since.

DID JAS. CRAIG DIE FROM STRYCHNINE POISONING?

Doctors Say the Symptoms Show Its Presence.

An Autopsy will be Held The Inquest was Adjourned.

The inquest into the circumstances surrounding the death of Mr. Jas. Craig, of Lakefield, was held in that place yesterday afternoon, with Coroner Dr. Gray presiding.

The jury was composed of Messrs. F. Lillicrap, foreman; Wm. Cox, J. Murdoo, John Balsdon, T. Webster, W. Reynolds, J. C. Grylls, John Richardson, Frank Richardson, Charles Shannon and J. L. Steele.

The inquest was adjourned in order that an autopsy might be made, both doctors giving their opinions that deceased showed symptoms of strychnine poisoning.

The following is a condensed report of the evidence taken:—

Dr. Fraser, was the first witness called, and on being sworn, said: — I am a practising physician in Lakefield, and was called on Wednesday morning about one o'clock to see Jas. Craig, the deceased. I found the deceased in his bed at the Craig House, in an unconscious condition, and I could only awaken him by using a wet towel. I had suspicions of strychine poisoning, as he took spasms whenever he was touched, and I told him so when I aroused him. He told me that he did not know where he got it. Half a grain of morphine did not stop the spasms. I could get him to say nothing about strychine, except that some weeks ago he had bought a small quantity to poison some rats, and that he had used it all for that purpose. Later he told me that he had had no tea, but had ordered a couple of boxes of sardines from Kennedy's shop. He had opened one can, and ate three sardines, with some bread and butter, but the fish were so bitter that he could not eat them, and threw them away. He also said he drank one glass of ale. My opinion is that he died from strychnine poisoning. Death occurred about 5.30 o'clock that morning. Dr. Baker was also called in shortly before his death, but he did not hear the deceased speak. Deceased denied taking poison in any shape, unless it was in the sardines.

Dr. Baker, sworn:—I was called in to see the deceased about five o'clock on Wednesday morning. He was then unconscious, and died about half an hour after I reached him. His symptoms indicated strichnine poisoning.

John Craig, sworn, said: — I am the proprietor of the Craig House, Lakefield, and am an uncle of the deceased. He had no tea and went to bed about 11 o'clock. He 'phoned for the sardines and the parcel came before he retired for the night. I was not present when he ate them. I first knew of his sudden illness was when I was called to go for Dr. Fraser.

Witness repeated the conversation deceased had with the doctor.

Edward A. Tanner, druggist, testified that he had sold deceased some strychine poison on Oct. 12th, of last year. He said he wanted it for the rats.

James Long, yardman, at the Craig Hotel, swore he had seen deceased about 8 o'clock on the night of his death. He was in apparently excellent health and spirits.

Irene Craig, daughter of the deceased, being sworn, said she had never seen a parcel labelled poison in her father's room. She knew nothing of the sardines, but was aware of the fact that her father had killed rats with strychine poison.

Mrs. Lily Craig, widow of the deceased, also testified to the same effect, adding that there was nothing strange in his actions that night. He behaved as usual.

Walter Bates, merchant, and Sadie Yates, dining room girl, employed at the Craig House, also testified, but nothing further was given.

GRAND TRUNK TRAIN WITH FOUR ENGINEES.

An Unusual Occurence this Morning on the Lindsay Division.

Naturally after the demoralization of traffic to which the railways have been subjected for a month or more, there is now a congestion of freight. The railways are, however, making strenuous efforts to relieve the blockade, and double headers are going through at all hours of the day and night.

Something unusual, however, was to be seen about 6.30 o'clock this morning, when a long freight pulled out for Lindsay with no less than four engines at its head, all with steam up. Needless to say, they made the grade.

"JAPS" AND "RUSSIANS" PLAY GOOD HOCKEY.

The Former Successful by Score of 2—0

A big double bill was presented at the Brock street rink last night, and it is doubtful if any hocket event this season has afforded more genuine amusement. The first contest was that between two teams of ladies, who had chosen for themselves the names of "Japs" and "Russians," and following out the lead set by the little Islanders, who are now engaged in conflict with the Russian "Bear" the "Japs" last night defeated the "Russians" by 2—0. It was a splendid game, and, as the score indicates, was closely contested. The young ladies did themselves credit, and since the object was to provide funds for a charitable purpose, are to be highly commended for consenting to play the game. Some surprisingly clever hockey was evidenced too, and some of the senior teams might well take a lesson from the ladies in the science of Canada's winter game.

The young ladies looked very becoming, the "Japs" in neat white sweaters, and dark skirts, and the "Russians" in pretty black and red striped sweaters, also with dark skirts. They handled their sticks like veterans, and put up a good article of hockey, which evidently met with the approval of the 400 spectators, who heartily applauded the work of the ladies. Although the "Japs" succeeded in scoring two goals against the opposing team's cipher, the play was not as one-sided as the fact would seem to indicate, and had it not been for the marvellously clever work of Miss Jean Scott in goal the story might have been different. She stopped some well placed shots, which would doubtless have resulted in scores with a less clever goal-keeper. Miss Lulu Scott, who played rover for the winners, scored the two goals credited to them, the first the result of a splendid rush from the opposite end of the ice, and the second scored on pass from the side. Miss Allison, Hamilton, at centre, proved her efficiency, and made some good rushes. The wings were looked after by Miss Nellie Graham, and Miss Edith Scott, both of whom played a splendid game. They were lighter than their checks but held them well, and gave ample evidence of their ability to play good hockey. The defence, Miss Frankie Burritt, at cover, and Miss Nellie Whiten, at point, assisted materially in preventing a score, and broke up some rushes, both combination and individual.

The losing team, although they failed to score, put up a splendid game, and the puck was in the opposing team's territory fully as much as it was in their own. Miss Gwen Hall and Miss Viera Hunter were the heaviest on the forward line, and both played a most efficient game. They were always in the right place at the right time, and their work was the subject of much favourable comment. On the wings, Miss Gertie McClellan and Miss Mabel Bogue played in a most satisfactory manner, and assisted in some nice combination rushes. The defence, composed of Miss Mona Cavanah at cover point and Miss Irene Perks, at point with Miss Jean O'Brien in goal, blocked well the rushes of the opposing forwards. Miss Cavanah frequently made some pretty lifts, and her rushes were very effective. The teams lined up:

Mr. E. Wasson refereed the game and gave splendid satisfaction to both sevens.

EKO CAMP CLUB CAMPED THE C. D. A.

Bachelors Defeated by 2-1 in a Fast Game Last Night

The hockey match between the ladies' teams was not the only interesting event at the rink last night. After the ladies had played their first half, the Eko Camp and C.D.A. teams, the members of which have been making sheep's eyes at each other for some weeks, came together and the result was the most amusing hockey contest of the season, not the least amusing feature of it being the costume of some of the players, notably that of Mr. E. S. Clarry, the cover point on the C.D.A. team. His costume, that of a Cavalier, was very fetching, and he was the centre of attraction for the large number of ladies present. The natty suits of W. A. Smith and J. Watt, on the Eko's, were also worthy of special mention and were especially attractive as they were apparently harbingers of spring. They were costumed in white duck trowsers and blue sweaters, while Mr. F. A. Clark, in a suit of the latest style of overalls, caught the public fancy just right. Mention must also be made of Mr. G. Jackson, who, after he could be persuaded to go on the ice, which was towards the close of the first half, played rover, and his work won the approval of the fair sex particularly.

The score after it was all over and the smoke of battle had cleared away was 2—1. The Ekos got the first goal, Comstock doing the trick. Shortly after the C.D.A. put one in evening the score, Bradburn locating the net on a scrimmage in front of the goal. The Ekos added one more making the final tally 2—1. Jas. Hamilton in goal for the losers was kept mighty busy and the way he turned the shots aside was marvellous. It was mainly due to his work that the score was as low as it was. His task was made comparatively easy, however, by the excellent work of Harry Rush at point. He was at home in his demoralization of the fast combination rushes of the opposing forwards, and covered himself with glory—and snow. Ernie Clarry was also a most effective man with his stick, making it do the double duty of a golf club and hockey stick. The forward line of the C. D.A. is a fast one, and they played a fine game last night. It was composed of Dumble, Bradburn, Hall and Milne Hamilton, all of whom displayed considerable hockey ability. The Ekos are a well balanced aggregation—half the time they are on the ice and the other half on their feet—but for all that they won the game. The forward line, consisting of W. A. Smith, J. Watt, J. Comstock and G. Jackson, is a formidable one, while the defence was almost impenetrable. Manson Comstock in goal, had an easy time but he stopped some good shots. Mr. Harry Rush was ruled off for falling.

The line up was:—

Eko Camp.	C.D.A.
Goal.
M. Comstock	J. Hamilton
Point.
Clarke	E. Clarry
Cover point.
Glover	H. Rush
Forwards.
Alf. Smith	L. Hall
G. M. Jackson	F. Bradburn
J. Watt	O. Dumble
J. Comstock	Milne Hamilton

Mr. Ernie Wasson also consented to referee this game.

Mr. J. Comstock, manager of the Ekos, deserves great credit for the victory, as it was due to his good management that the team was in such good condition.

VISITING TEAM WAS MARLBORO SENIORS

And was not a Weak Seven, but Peterborough was Strong.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

In connection with the letter in the morning paper the management of the Hockey Club desire to state that of the seven players who represented the Marlboro Hockey Club on Wednesday night, five of them went to Ottawa and participated in the Stanley Cup games; six of them played in the Wilson trophy matches against the St. Georges for the championship of the City of Toronto, and the seven are all senior players. The Marlboros received $150.00 for coming to Peterborough and the fact of Peterborough defeating them does not go to show that they were a weak team, but that Peterborough is a very strong team. The writer of the letter, who did not sign his name, will receive his money back if he calls on the undersigned at the Examiner office.

A THRIVING LOAN CORPORATION.

The Dominion Permanent Loan Company's Annual Meeting—A Prosperous Year and a Prosperous Future.

The report of the directors presented at the thirteenth annual meeting of the Dominion Permanent Loan Company, held at the company's offices, 12 King street west, Toronto, on March 2nd, revealed a gratifying outcome of the operations of the company for the past year. There was a good attendance of the shareholders, and Hon. J. R. Stratton, President, presided. The report showed that profitable employment had been found for all the available funds of the company, with the result that the earnings for the year permitted the payment of dividends amounting to $68,778.31 and the transfer of $45,000 to the reserve fund, which now stands at $115,000. The amount placed to the credit of this fund is $15,000 in excess of the corresponding amount for the previous year. The total surplus of assets over liabilities amounted to $1,429,432.59 on December 31st, 1903. The future of the company, according to the remarks of the President, is bright. It is well organized for its special work in the more important Provinces of the Dominion, and the rapid advance of settlement in newer Ontario and the North-west, with the attendant development of the great natural resources, promises a continuously expanding field for the profitable operations of the company.

The officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Hon. J. R. Stratton; Vice-President, T. P. Coffee; Directors, Messrs. D. W. Karn, C. K oepfer and F. M. Holland.

THE PRIMATE DEAD

Archbishop Machray Succumbs to An Attack of Pneumonia.

WAS A MISSIONARY BISHOP

Native of Aberdeen, Scotland—Consecrated Bishop of Prince Rupert's Land in 1865—Elected Primate of all Canada in 1893—Received Many Degrees and Honors—Died at the Age of 73 Years.

Winnipeg, March 10.—Archbishop Machray, Primate of all Canada, who has been seriously ill for several days, died last evening from pneumonia. Deceased was in his 73rd year, and one of the best known theologians and collegians in the Anglican church in America.

An Interesting Career.

The Most Rev. Robert Machray, Archbishop of Rupert's Land and Primate of all Canada, was the son of an advocate of the same name living in Aberdeen, Scotland, where he was born on May 17, 1831. He entered King's College, University of Aberdeen, in early boyhood, for the purpose of receiving a clerical education, and graduated from Cambridge with high honors in mathematics in 1855, being advanced in the same year to deacon's orders. In 1856 he was admitted to the priesthood, and two years later received the degree of M.A. and was elected dean of his college. He officiated for a number of years as vicar of Madingley, a village situated about five miles west of Cambridge, prior to his appointment as second Bishop of Rupert's Land, which comprehended the entire district known now as Manitoba and the Northwest Territories, and included a portion of Ontario. He assumed this office in 1865, the same year in which he received the degree of doctor of divinity. On the sub-division of the diocese in 1874, Bishop Machray was chosen metropolitan under the primacy of the Archbishop of Canterbury. On the union of the Canadian Anglican churches in 1893 he was elected Primate of Canada and appointed by Her Majesty, prelate of the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George. He was for many years Chancellor of the University of Manitoba and chairman of the Provincial Board of Education and of the Advisory Board of the Department of Education. He favored separate schools, but did not consider them practicable for such a country as Manitoba on account of its scattered population. He considered that what was necessary was some definite religious teaching of a non-sectarian nature. In 1865 he received the degree of LL.D. from Aberdeen and D. D. from Manitoba; in 1888, D.D. from Durham and D. C. L. from Trinity University, Toronto, in 1893, and from Oxford in 1897.

He was possessed of a most charming manner, which rendered him extremely popular among the clergy and laity, and his sermons were marked by practical good sense. While he made no pretence of oratorical ability, his ardent devotion very frequently carried him to a high degree of eloquence and spiritual fervor. He was eminently a missionary bishop, being full of practical energy and fervent piety.

The deceased Primate visited England last year, and while there met with an accident, from the effects of which he suffered for a long period, and it is thought that this may have caused a weakening of his physical condition, which rendered him peculiarly liable to the disease which carried him off.

Death of Vicar General.

Hamilton, March 10.—Rev. Father John Keough, vicar-general of the Hamilton diocese, died yesterday morning after a long illness. He was formerly a rector of St. Patricks' Church here, and was also stationed at Dundas and Paris. He was one of the oldest priests in the diocese.

STARTLING CHAMBERLAIN RUMOR.

Unconfirmed Report Says He Is Suffering From An Incurable Mental Disease.

London, March 10.—(Toronto Globe Special.)—Considerable anxiety regarding Mr. Joseph Chamberlain's condition is being manifested on account of the circulation of reports among members of the House of Commons that he is suffering from an incurable mental trouble. It was whispered about yesterday that he was in the incipient stages of softening of the brain. Where this report originated could not be learned, nor was it possible to obtain information either confirming the report or destructive of it. It finds little credence among the friends of Mr. Chamberlain, although they are disturbed by it.

Children's Weight.

Some curious experiments have been made at one of the royal philanthropic institutions in Copenhagen. For some years back the seventy boys and girls in the place have been carefully weighed every day in groups of fifteen and under. Thereby it is proved that the children gain weight mostly in autumn and in the early part of December. From that time till the end of April there is scarcely any increase in weight. More remarkable still, there is a diminution till the end of summer.

You can make dirty picture frames, or any other such articles, look like new if you clean them the Sunlight way. Chop very finely a piece of Sunlight Soap and put it into a bottle with a teacupful of hot water, shaking it well and adding a wine glass full of spirits of ammonia. Paint the frames with this liquid, let it stay on a few minutes, then wash off with a soft brush and cold clean water, and polish with clean chamois leather. Sunlight Soap is the only soap that can be used successfully in every cleansing operation in the household.

CENTRAL CANADA HORSE SHOW.

Ottawa, March 10.—The Central Canada first annual horse show was formerly opened by His Excellency the Governor-General in the Exhibition grounds yesterday. Upwards of 60 horses are being shown. Lord Minto regretted the existence of a tendency in Canada to be rather careless about the selection of mares for breeding. It was all well enough to be particular in the choice of sires, but people here should be careful to pick the best dams, too.

Judging was continued at the live stock show yesterday afternoon. There was a good attendance, and the most of the fancy stock was bought at top-notch prices by B. Slattery of Ottawa.

Among the prize winners were: Young Clydesdale stallions, imported—1, Smith & Richardson, Columbus, Ont.; 2, Robert Ness, Howick, Que.; 3, 4, 5, Smith & Richardson, Columbus; 6, John Hay, Lachine, Que.

Clydesdale Association Cup Sweepstakes, for imported Clydesdales—Robert Ness, Howick, Que.. Thoroughbred horses, aged stallions—1, R. Thompson; 2, A. W. Clarke, Westboro. Young thoroughbred stallions—N. R. Sutherland.

Governor-General's prize, sweepstakes—Won by R. Thompson.

Hackneys—Aged stallion—1, Robert Beith, M.P.; Bowmanville; 2, Robert Ness, Howick; 3 and 4, John Hay, Lachine.

Young Hackney stallion—1 and 2, Robert Beith, M.P.

Standard bred, aged stallion—1, R. W. Stewart, Aylmer; 2, J. W. McIntyre.

Young stallions—1, R. W. Stewart, Aylmer.

The principal winners in shorthorn cattle were: Hon. W. C. Edwards, Rockland, and James Rennie & Sons, Blackwater, Ont.

In Galways the prize money was taken by D. McRae of Guelph, who had the whole class to himself.

In grades and crosses, G. B. Hood of Guelph, and Robert Young and J. Penny divided the prize money.

In the class for three export steers the first money was won by Jos Stone, with J. B. Hood of Guelph, in second and third places.

The sweepstakes prize in cattle was won by Robt. Young.

G. T. R. DEPOSITS $5,000,000.

G.T.R. Makes its Deposit re Grand Trunk Pacific Contract.

Montreal, March 10.—The Grand Trunk Railway Company yesterday deposited the sum of $5,000,000 in cash with the Bank of Montreal as a guarantee for the satisfactory performance of their share of the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific. The deposit quickly followed the approval of the amended contract by the Grand Trunk shareholders at their meeting in London Tuesday afternoon.

Comfort for the Aged.

Judging from the letters of people up in years there is no medicine which so promptly frees them of aches and pains and insures regularity of the liver, kidneys and bowels as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Even when all other means have failed old people can turn to this great medicine with full assurance of relief and cure.

Fifty Drowned.

London, March 10.—A special despatch from Paris announces that the French steamer Cambodge (of 2,355 tons, which left Rangoon, Feb. 17, for Cochin-China and European ports) has been wrecked in a storm on the coast of Cochin-China. The despatch adds that it is believed 50 persons perished in the wreck. The steamer carried 100 passengers, mostly Annamese.

Loans on Irish Land.

London, March 10.—The first month's operations under the Irish Land Act were on quite a modest scale. A Parliamentary paper shows that in November loans to the amounts of £9,781 were applied for, £3,695 was provisionally granted, and £192 actually issued. For the sale of estates nine loans were applied for, amounting to £69,623.

Kidney Disease May Last for Years

Causing Much Pain and Suffering or it may Suddenly Prove Fatal.

Pains in the small of the back, scalding, burning sensations when passing water, and gradual loss of flesh and weight are the unmistakeable symptoms of kidney disease.

If you would prevent Bright's Disease, rheumatism, stone in the bladder, and other dreadfully painful developments of kidney disease, you must act promptly.

If you choose Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, the treatment will not long be pursued before you will find yourself greatly benefitted.

The grand reputation which this great kidney medicine has made for itself is due to no small extent to the wonderful promptness with which it brings relief and cure to the sufferer from backache.

Backache, lumbago, rheumatism, aching sides and limbs result from poisons in the blood, which are entirely eliminated by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

It seems rather unwise to experiment with untried remedies, when you can rely absolutely on this famous prescription of the great receipt book author.

Mr. James Dullihunt, a most respected resident of Onsecon, Ont., states: — "I was a sufferer from Bright's Disease for several years, and at times the torture of mind and body were almost beyond endurance. The pains were in my head, between the shoulders and down the whole spine, concentrating across the kidneys, where I was never entirely free from pain. When I got up in the morning I went about bent over almost double. It gave me great pain to urinate and at times the water was very scanty. Medicines seemed to have little or no effect in my case until I began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. The first dose relieved me and five boxes have entirely cured me. I have no pain in my kidneys and can do as good a day's work as I ever could."

Mr. J. J. Ward, J. P., of Consecon, certifies that he knows Mr. Dellihunt's statement of his cure to be correct and true and without exaggeration.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box of his remedies.

Purified by Suffering

BY MARY J. HOLMES,

CHAPTER XIII.

The elder Cameron was really better, and more than once he had regretted recalling his son, who he knew had contemplated a longer stay abroad. But that could not now be helped. Wilford had arrived in Boston, as his telegram of yesterday announced—he would be at home today; and No.— Fifth Avenue was all the morning and a portion of the afternoon the scene of unusual excitement, for both Mrs. Cameron and her daughters wished to give the six months wife a good impression of her new home. At first they thought of inviting company to dinner, but to this the father objected.

"Katy should not be troubled the first day," he said. "It is bad enough for her to see them all; they could ask Mark if they chose, but no one else."

And so only Mark Hay was invited to the dinner, gotten up so elaborately as if a princess had been expected instead of little Katy, trembling in every joint when about four p.m. Wilford awoke her at the depot and whispered, "Come, darling, we are home at last."

"Why do you shiver so?" he asked, wrapping her cloak around her, and almost lifting her from the car.

"I don't—know. I guess I'm cold," and Katy drew a long breath as she thought of Silverton and the farmhouse, wishing she was going into its low-walled kitchen instead of the handsome carriage where the cushions were so soft and yielding, and the whole effect so grand.

"What would our folks say?" she kept repeating to herself as she drove along the streets where they were beginning to light the streets lamps, for the December day was dark and cloudy. It seemed so like a dream, that she, who once had picked huckleberries on the Silverton hills, and bound coarse heavy shoes to buy herself a pink gingham dress, should now be riding in her carriage toward the home which she knew was magnificent; and Katy's tears fell like rain as, nestling close to Wilford, who asked what was the matter, she whispered, "I can hardly believe that it is I—it is so unreal."

"Please don't cry," Wilford rejoined, brushing her tears away. "You know I don't like your eyes to be red."

With a great effort Katy kept her tears back, and was very calm when they reached the brown-stone front, far enough up town to save it from the slightest approach to plebeianism. In the hall the chandelier was burning, and as the carriage stopped a flame of light seemed suddenly to burst from every window as the gas heads were turned up, so that Katy caught glimpses of rich silken curtains and costly lace as she went up the steps, clinging to Wilford and looking ruefully around for Esther, who had disappeared through the basement door. Another moment and they stood within the marbled hall, Katy conscious of nothing definite — nothing but a vague atmosphere of refined elegance, and that a richly dressed lady came out to meet them, kissing Wilford and calling him her son; that the same lady turned to her saying kindly: "And this is my new daughter?"

Then Katy came to life, and did that, at the very thought of which she shuddered when a few months experience had taught her the temerity of the act—she wound her arms impulsively around Mrs. Cameron's neck, rumpling her point lace collar and sadly displacing the coiffure of the astonished lady, who had seldom received so genuine a greeting as that which Katy gave her, kissing her lips and whispering softly, "I love you now because you are Wilford's mother, but by and by because you are mine. And you will love me some because I am his wife."

Wilford was horrified, particularly when he saw how startled his mother looked as she tried to release herself and adjust her tumbled headgear. It was not what he had hoped, nor what his mother had expected, for she was unaccustomed to such demonstrations; but under the circumstances Katy could not have done better. There was a tender spot in Mrs. Cameron's heart, and Katy touched it, making her feel a throb of affection for the childish creature suing her for love.

"Yes, darling, I love you now," she said, removing Katy's clinging arms and taking care that they should not enfold her a second time. "You are tired and cold," she continued, "and had better go at once to your rooms. I will send Esther up. There is plenty of time to dress for dinner," and with a wave of her hand, she dismissed Katy up the stairs, noticing as she went the exquisite softness of her fur cloak, but thinking it too heavy a garment for her slight figure, and noticing too, the graceful ankle and foot which the little high heeled gaiter showed to good advantage. "I did not see her face distinctly, but she has a well-turned instep and walks easily," was the report she carried to her daughters, who, in their own room over Katy's, were dressing for dinner.

"She will undoubtedly make a good dancer, then, unless, like Dr. Grant, she is too blue for that," Juno said, while Bell shrugged her shoulders, congratulating herself that she had a mind above such frivolous matters as dancing and well-turned insteps, and wondering if Katy cared in the least for books.

"Couldn't you see her face at all, mother?" Juno asked.

"Scarcely, but the glimpse I did get was satisfactory. I think she is pretty."

And this was all the sisters could ascertain until their toilets were finished, and they went down into the library where their brother waited for them, kissing them both affectionately, and complimenting them on their good looks.

"I wish we could say the same of you," Juno answered, playfully pulling his moustache; "but upon my word, Will, you are fast settling down into an oldish married man, even turning gray, and she ran her fingers through his dark hair, where there was now and then a thread of silver. "Disappointed in your domestic relations, eh?" she continued, looking him archly in the face.

Wilford was rather proud of his good looks, and during his sojourn abroad, Katy had not helped him any in overcoming this weakness, but on the contrary had fed his vanity by constant flattery. And still he was himself conscious of not looking quite as well as usual just now, for the sea voyage had tired him as well as Katy, but he did not care to be told of it, and Juno's ill-timed remarks roused him at once, particularly as they reflected somewhat on Katy.

"I assure you I am not disappointed," he answered, "and the six months of my married life have been the happiest I ever knew. Katy is more than I expected her to be."

Juno elevated her eyebrows slightly, but made no direct reply, while Bell began to ask about Paris and the places he had visited.

Meanwhile Katy had been ushered into her room, which was directly over the library, and separated from Mrs. Cameron's only by a range of closets and presses, a portion of which were to be appropriated to her own use. Great pains had been taken to make her rooms attractive, and as the large bay window in the library below extended to the third story, it was really the pleasantest chamber in the house. To Katy it was perfect, and her first exclamation was one of delight

"Oh, how pleasant! how beautiful!" she cried, skipping across the soft carpet to the warm fire blazing in the grate. "A bay window, too, when I like them so much! I shall be happy here."

But happy as she was, Katy could not help feeling tired, and she sank into one of the luxurious easy-chairs, wishing she could stay there all the evening instead of going down to that formidable dinner with her new relations. How she dreaded it, especially when she remembered that Mrs. Cameron had said there would be plenty of time to dress—a thing which Katy hated, the process was so tiresome, particularly to-night. Surely her handsome traveling dress, made in Paris, was good enough, and she was about settling in her own mind to venture on wearing it, when Esther demolished her castle at once.

"Wear your traveling habit!" she exclaimed, "when the young ladies, especially Miss Juno, are so particular about their dinner costume. There would be no end to the scolding I should get for suffering it," and she began good-naturedly to remove her mistress's collar and pin, while Katy, standing up, sighed as she said, "I wish I was at Silverton to-night. I could wear anything there. What must I put on? How I dread it!" and she began to shiver again.

Fortunately for Katy, Esther had been in the family long enough to know just what they regarded proper, as by this means the dress selected was sure to please. It was very becoming to Katy, and having been made in Paris was not open to criticism.

"Very pretty indeed," was Mrs. Cameron's verdict, when at half-past five she came in to see her daughter, kissing her cheek and stroking her head, wholly unadorned except by the short silken curls which could not be coaxed to grow faster than they chose, and which had sometimes annoyed Wilford, they made his wife seem so young beside him. Mrs. Cameron was annoyed too, for she had no idea of a head except as it was connected with a hair-dresser, and her annoyance showed itself as she asked:

"Did you have your hair cut on purpose?"

But when Katy explained, she answered pleasantly:

"Never mind, it is a fault which will mend every day, only it makes you look like a child."

"I am eighteen and a half," Katy said, feeling a lump rising in her throat, for she guessed that her mother-in-law was not quite pleased with her.

For herself, she liked it, it was so easy to brush and fix. She should go wild if she had to submit to all Esther had told her of hair-dressing and what it involved.

Mrs. Cameron had asked if she would not like to see Mr. Cameron, the elder, before going down to dinner, and Katy had answered that she would, so as soon as Esther had smoothed a refractory fold and brought her a handkerchief, she followed to the room where Wilford's father was sitting. He might not have felt complimented could he have known that something in his appearance reminded Katy of Uncle Ephraim. He was not nearly as old or as tall, nor was his hair as white, but the semblance, if there were any, lay in the smile with which he greeted Katy, calling her his youngest child, and drawing her closely to him.

It was remarked of Mr. Cameron that since their babyhood he had never kissed one of his own children, but when Katy, who looked upon such a salutation as a matter of course, put up her rosy lips, making the first advance, he kissed her twice. Hearty, honest kisses they were, for the man was strongly drawn towards the young girl, who said to him timidly:

"I am glad to have a father—mine died before I could remember him. May I call you so?"

"Yes, yes; God bless you, my child," and Mr. Cameron's voice shook as he said it, for neither Bell nor Juno were won't to address him just as Katy did — Katy, standing close to him, with her hand upon his shoulder and her kiss fresh upon his lips.

She had already crept a long way into his heart, and he took her hand from his shoulder and holding it between his own, said to her:

"I did not think you were so small or young. You are my little daughter, my baby, instead of my son's wife. How do you expect to fulfill the duties of Mrs. Wilford Cameron?"

"It's my short hair, sir. I am not so young," Katy answered, her eyes filling with tears as she began to wish back the thick curls Helen cut away when the fever was at its height.

"Never mind, child," Mr. Cameron rejoined playfully. "Youth is no reproach; there's many a one would give their right hand to be young like you. Juno for instance, who is—"

"Hus-band!" came reprovingly from Mrs. Cameron, spoken as only she could speak it, with a prolonged buzzing sound on the first syllable, and warning the husband that he was venturing too far.

"It is time to go down if Mrs. Cameron sees the young ladies before dinner," she said, a little stiffly; whereupon her better half startled Katy with the exclamation

"Mrs. Cameron! Thunder and lightning! wife, call her Katy, and don't go into any nonsense of that kind."

The lady reddened, but said nothing until she reached the hall, when she whispered to Katy apologetically:

"Don't mind it. He is rather irritable since his illness, and sometimes makes use of coarse language."

Katy had been a little frightened at the outburst, but she liked Mr. Cameron, notwithstanding, and her heart was lighter as she went down to the library, where Wilford met her at the door, and taking her on his arm, led her to his sisters, holding her back as he presented her, lest she should assault them as she had his mother, but Katy felt no desire to hug the tall, queenly girl whom Wilford introduced as Juno, and whose black eyes seemed to read her through as she offered her hand and very daintily kissed her forehead, murmuring something about a welcome to New York. Bell came next; broad-faced plainer-looking Bell, who yet had many pretentions to beauty, but whose manner, if possible, was frostier, cooler than her sister's. Of the two Katy liked Juno best, for there was about her a flash and sparkle very fascinating to one who had never seen anything of the kind, and did not know that much of this vivacity was the result of patient study and practice. Katy would have known they were high bred, as the world defines high breeding, and something in their manner reminded her of the ladies she had seen abroad, ladies in whose veins lordly blood was flowing. She could not help feeling uncomfortable in their presence, especially as she felt that Juno's black eyes were on her constantly. Not that she could ever meet them looking at her, for they darted away the instant hers was raised, but she knew just when they returned to her again, and how closely they were scanning her.

Wanted to be Heard From!

If there is an invalid woman, suffering from female weakness, prolapsus, or falling of womb, or from leucorrhea who has used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription without complete success, the undersigned proprietors and makers of that world-famed medicine would like to hear from such person—and it will be to her advantage to write them as they offer, in perfect good faith, a reward of $500 for any case of the above maladies which they can not cure.

$3,000 FORFEIT will also be paid if they cannot show the original signature of the individual volunteering the testimonial below, and also of the writers of every testimonial among the thousands which they are constantly publishing, thus proving their genuineness.

WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y.

A Massachusetts woman, Mrs. Carrie P. Hannaford, of No. 69 Hale Street, Beverly, Mass., who is well known socially there, being Treasurer of the Order of the Eastern Star, wrote her experience as follows: "Your 'Favorite Prescription' is, without a doubt, the finest remedy on the market to-day, for female difficulties. I suffered for four years with pains every period and I dreaded the approach of the time as I knew it meant two or three days' misery. Tried several different widely advertised remedies and found that they did me no good whatever. One day a friend called, who had suffered as I was suffering, and who told me that she had been cured through the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, so I purchased a package. I found that the real value of your medicine was greater even than my expectations, and the next month I had hardly any pains. The following month had none at all, and found that my general health was much better and new life and strength had come to me."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

THE DOMINION PERMANENT LOAN COMPANY.

THIRTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT.

The Thirteenth Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of The Dominion Permanent Loan Company was held at their offices, 12 King street west on March 2nd. There was a good attendance of Shareholders present.

The President, Hon. J. R. Stratton, presented the following report of Directors and statement of the affairs of the Company:—

Your Directors herewith submit the Thirteenth Annual Report of the Dominion Permanent Loan Company together with a statement of the accounts for the twelve months ending the 31st December, 1903, duly certified to by the Auditors, both as to the correctness of the report and the satisfactory result of their inspection of the securities of the Company.

Your Directors are pleased to be able to state that active and profitable employment has been found for the funds of the Company during the past year, the demand for satisfactory loans being sufficient to call into requisition the available funds of the Company.

The earnings of the past year have enabled the Company to declare and pay dividends amounting to $68,788.31 and to permit to the transfer of $15,000 to the Reserve Fund of the Company. After payment of such dividends and the addition to the Reserve Fund of $45,000, and the writing off of office premises and furniture, there remains to be placed to the credit of Profit and Loss the sum of $18,547.42.

Your Directors are pleased to be in a position to congratulate the Shareholders upon the gratifying results of the operations of the Company during the past year, and have also pleasure in testifying to the generally efficient character of the services rendered by the officials, agents and staff of the Company.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Hon. J. R. Stratton was re-elected President, and Mr. T. P. Coffee, Vice-President.

QUOTATIONS ON THE WALL STREET MARKET.

The Fluctuations of the Leading Stock

The New York stock market was once more dull and uninteresting and while the trading was somewhat larger than that of yesterday (which was the quietest day in 8 years) there was no special feature. C. P. R. was weak, falling to 109 3-4, while Metropolitan broke down to 111-2 by 2 o'clock. The remainder of the market was correspondingly weak.

The grain market in which all the interest is centred, was strong to-day, following the Liverpool cables. May wheat rallied to 97 after opening at 96, just two cents a bushel above last night's close of 94. The July and September options were correspondingly strong, though at times there were slight reactions.

McMILLAN & MAGUIRE'S LETTER

Concerning the general condition of the market Messrs. Floyd Crawford & Co., of New York, send the following to Messrs. McMillan & Maguire, stock brokers, 134 Hunter street:

The long side of IRT regarding which the bears sent around strike rumors of little import to-day, is favoured by the floor crowd. It is estimated that the short interest in Penna is from 75,000 to 100,000 shares. No liquidation of any moment occurred to-day and none in sight. We are confident that those who buy and hold Up., Amn. Sug. MOP or B C will get good return not only from the dividends paid out but from a speculative point of view. They are all sold out. There are supporting orders in Rock Island according to our information. We would buy this stock. The break in corn has induced expert buying and we believe this will help the foreign trade balance. Exports from July 1st to present however have increased almost $50,000,000 in food products alone. This is very encouraging. We do not believe there is any basis for the talk of trouble in grain circles because of the slump.

Chicago, Ills., March 11th, 1904. Evening Letter.—The market opened very strong on the very bullish government crop report, showing the great reduction of wheat in farmers' hands. The foreign markets felt its force and cables were markedly higher. South-west weather was bad for growing wheat with such a combination of bullish facts staring them in the face. Shorts were very nervous and covered freely. This buying was supplemented by good commission house orders and prices were advanced two cents over last night's close. There was considerable profit taking above 92 cents and the price eased off a cent, but the tone of the market was good. Local traders were good buyers and many lines sold some days ago were being replaced. The heavy liquidation of the past week seemed to be over and we think the market in pretty good shape for higher prices, but would only buy on breaks.—Floyd Crawford & Co.

BATTLE ON NIGHT OF MARCH 10TH.

Result of Sharp Fight Waged off Port Arthur.

OFFICIAL RUSSIAN REPORT.

Makaroff's Attempt to Save Destroyer Failed—Russians Lose a Destroyer and the Japanese a Torpedo Boat—Part of Russian Crew Drowned and the Rest Captured—Some Killed and Wounded.

St. Petersburg, March 12.—The Emperor has received a message from Viceroy Alexieff which says:

"Admiral Makaroff, commanding the fleet, reports from Port Arthur under date of March 10, that six torpedo boats which went out to sea the night of March 10, four of them being under the general command of Captain Matteussevitch, encountered the enemy's torepdo boats followed by cruisers.

"A hot action ensued in which the torepdo boat destroyer Vlastini discharged a whitehead torpedo and sunk one of the enemy's torpedo boats. On the way back the torpedo boat destroyer Stereguschtchi, commanded by Lieut. Sergueieff, sustained damages; her engine was disabled, and she began to founder. By 8 o'clock in the morning five of our torpedo boats destroyers had returned.

"When the critical position of the Stereguschtchi became evident I hoisted my flag on the cruiser Novik and went with the Novik and the cruiser Boyarin to the rescue. But as five of the enemy's cruisers surrounded our destroyer, and as their battleship squadron was approaching, I did not succeed in saving the Stereguschtchi, which foundered. Part of the crew was made prisoners and part drowned.

"On the ships which participated in the night attack one officer was seriously and three others were slightly wounded, but two soldiers were killed and eighteen were wounded.

"At 9 o'clock 14 of the enemy's ships assembled before Port Arthur and a bombardment was begun with the heavy guns of their battleships squadron at long range.

"This lasted until 1 o'clock in the afternoon. It is estimated the enemy fired 154 twelve inch shells. The damage to our vessels was insignificant, and they are again ready for battle. Our losses were one officer slightly wounded and one soldier killed and four soldiers wounded.

"The illumination of the sea at night by the searchlights mounted at our batteries was most satisfactory, and several times isolated shots from our batteries forced the enemy's torpedo boats to retire.

"At the commencement of the bombardment at dawn the guns of the fortress replied to the enemy's fire.

"The crews of all the ships engaged gave proof of remarkable coolness in action. Below decks the work of day followed its ordinary course, in spite of the shells falling between the vessels and covering them with fragments.

"A bombardment at such a distance must be considered ineffective, but the Japanese cruiser Takeshasago is reported to have been seen to suffer serious damage, the extent of the damage it is impossible to ascertain at a distance of five miles. Many shells were fired at a range of 7½ miles.

"I have the honor to report the foregoing to Your Majesty.

(Signed.) "Alexieff."

Further Russian Casualties.

St. Petersburg, March 12.—Viceroy Alexieff has sent the following supplementary message to the Emperor: "In the fight between our torpedo boats and the Japanese cruisers on March 11, Capt. Mattoussevitch, Ensign Alexandroff and Mechanical Engineer Blineff received slight wounds, and Ensign Zaeff was severely wounded in the head, losing his right eye.

"The commandmant at Port Arthur reports the following details of the bombardment of the fortress on March 10:

"As soon as the enemy opened fire our batteries replied. Six of the enemy's ships remained behind the Liaotisshim promotory and opened fire on the fortress over that shelter. They ceased bombarding at 1.15. The enemy fired about 200 projectiles. One shell from Battery No. 15 on Electric Cliff damaged a Japanese cruiser seriously. The results of the bombardment were insignificant. Six soldiers were wounded. Three inhabitants of the fortress were killed and one was wounded.

"According to Gen. Stoesszel's report the officers and soldiers in the shore batteries displayed exemplary courage and fired their guns in perfect order."

No Attack Friday.

London, March 12.—Although there is some confusion of dates in the official messages from the Far East regarding recent attacks from Port Arthur, and other engagements it would appear that no fresh action took place on Friday.

The official announcement from Mukden that the Russian army corps which arrived at Harib will be held there because of the landing of Japanese troops at different points, and the various reports of the intentions of the Japanese commanders, is an unintentional tribute from Viceroy Alexieff to Japan's extraordinary success in concealing her plan of campaign and mystifying the enemy as to her movements.

A Che Foo correspondent of The Daily Mail says Japanese debarkation is proceeding at Chemulpo and points to the northward with marvelous rapidity.

The correspondent calculates that up to the present 70,00 Japanese have been landed in Northern Corea.

Harbor Entrance Cleared.

St. Petersburg, March 12.—The removal of the battleship Retvizan from the inner mouth of the inner harbor, which marked the assumption of command by Admiral Makroff, will permit the free exit of the heavy armored ships. It had been believed that the reason why the Russian ships had not made a sortie before was the apprehension of meeting with a superior force, but it is now clear that the ships were unable to leave. With the channel open, it is expected that Admiral Makaroff will make the squadron an aggressive force.

No unofficial reports of the recent fight have been received here up to this hour.

Goldwin Smith Rejoices.

London, March 12.—(C. A. P.)—Prof. Goldwin Smith, writing to The Times, rejoices that Oxford has set herself free from her mediaeval ecclesiastical shackles by abolishing compulsory Greek. Passmen in Greek thought nothing was possible without the ability to make good translations in prose.

Threatened to Resign.

London, March 12.—(C.A.P.)—The Standard learns on the best authority that Austen Chamberlain and Alfred Lyttelton, along with three minor members of the Government, threatened to resign on Wednesday unless official support was withdrawn from J. L. Wharton's motion.

Offer to Newfoundland.

London, March 12.—(C.A.P.)—The Morning Post urges the Dominion Government to lose no time in offering acceptable terms to Newfoundland. It says that the Dominion, without Newfoundland, can never carry out an effective scheme of self-defence, and the control of deep sea bait was a most important weapon in treaty disputes with the United States. The French shore difficulty was now in process of final settlement and that would remove the obstacle arising with the French-Canadians.

RUSSIANS BURN CITIES AND RETREAT

Have Razed Wiju and Crossed the River into Manchuria.

PORT ARTHUR IS NOW CUT OFF.

Japanese Have Landed in Liau Tung Peninsula and Are Near Newchang — Port Arthur Likely to be Soon Reached.

NEW TOWN INJURED.

St. Petersburg, March 11—During Thursday's bombardment of Port Arhtur, says a despatch received this afternoon, the New Town sustained the greatest damage. A lawyer, named Sidouski, a woman and a Chinaman were killed, and several Chinese were wounded. Gen. Stoessel and his staff were sprinkled with shell splinters, but received no injury.

A Japanese ironclad, according to the despatch, was struck by a Russian shell, and was seen to draw slowly out of range, as though crippled. A shell burst eight yards from the house of Col. Baron Frank, injuring his wife and also his daughter, both of whom were in the house.

The Japanese squadron, which disappeared March 10, had not yet returned. Yesterday a Russian squadron proceeded to sea without sighting the enemy.

PORT ARTHUR CUT OFF.

Tien-Tsin, March 12—It is reported here today that the Japanese have captured New Chwang.

This is not considered as likely. It is believed, however, that the Japanese have really landed in Liao Tung Peninsula and cut off Port Arthur from communication. It is further asserted that a Japanese force is within twenty-five miles of New Chwang.

RUSSIAN EVACUATION.

Seoul, March 12—It is reported here that the Russians have set fire to the town of Wiju, on the Corean side of the Yalu River, and have retreated across the river into Manchuria. A complete Russian evacuation, according to the report, is proceeding, due to the Japanese advance towards the north. A cavalry skirmish occurred at Kasan, north of Anju, Corea, on March 8, in which the Russians were driven back. Their losses are not known.

NEWS OF TO-DAY.

An Index to Prominent Paragraphs in this Issue.

Dave Belland has accepted A. J. Burns' challenge to a five-mile road race.

The Canadian Forestry Convention closed its sessions yesterday in Toronto.

The full British estimates will show an expenditure for the year 1904-05 of about $710,000,000.

J. A. M. Robb, of Toronto, is on trial on a charge of stealing $1,063 from the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance Co.

The Federal Parliament was formally opened yesterday afternoon when the speech from the Throne was delivered.

Word was received in town to-day, telling of the death in Frankford of Rev. R. T. Courtice, a former Bible Christian minister at Lakefield.

The Quakers organized a football team last night, and will enter the Midland League this season. They expect to get a first-class team together.

The members of Otonabee Lodge No. 12, I.O.O.F., are preparing for a grand concert to be given on Monday, April 11th. Some of the best artists in America will appear.

A sharp sea battle has been reported as having taken place at Port Arthur in which the Russians lost one torpedo destroyer and the Japanese a torpedo boat.

The proposal to erect a new collegiate institute building will be voted on next month. It is expected that the building will cost $50,000 which will erect a building in keeping with the dignity of the town.

It has now been decided that the Transportation Commission will meet here on March 24th, when delegates from all the towns along the Trent Waterway will be present to meet the members of the Commission.

EGGS AND BUTTER WERE PLENTIFUL

On the Local Market, but Fowl was Scarce.

Although there was a large number of farmers in town to-day the produce market was very poor in regard to fowl. Eggs and butter, both going at 20c., were plentiful, but turkeys, chickens and ducks were very scarce. Chickens brought from 65c to 85c per pair, while the ducks went from 80c to $1, and the sellers were asking from $1.25 to $1.75 for turkeys.

SATURDAY, MARCH 12, 1904.

THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC PROBLEM

Within the past few days a good deal has appeared in the public press regarding the problem of the liquor traffic, the occasion being speculative treatment of the subject assumed to have been discussed at a recent caucus of the Government party. Comment is based upon two propositions assumed to have been submitted to the caucus. Seeing that these two propositions are merely hypothetical, they do not represent serious subjets of discussion, except on account of the expressions of opinion they elicit. From some persons who pose as champions of temperance, come expressions of hostility ,because the alleged propositions are held to fall short of the measure of legislation those persons ,and those for whom they assume to speak, will be satisfied with — total prohibition of the liquor traffic. There are, however, some who hold that at present prohibition is impracticable, for two principal reasons. One, they argue, is that the Provincial Legislature, has not power to grant complete prohibition, and the other that the province is not ripe for it. It is well known that various interpretations have been made of the vote in December, 1902, upon the Liquor License Act, which represented prohibition to the extremest limit to which the Legislature had power to proceed. Many persons claim that whatever this vote meant, it did not indicate that the country was ripe for prohibition to the extent of giving the loyal support of the law necessary to its effective working. They point out that only passive interest was shown on the subject, when, with a clear-cut question of prohibition or no prohibition presented to the people, uncomplicated with any other issue, only a third of the available vote was polled on both sides; and of the votes polled, only about a quarter was in favour of prohibition. This is taken to indicate that no very great anxiety on the part of the people was manifested for a prohibitory law, for it is urged that with a very little increase of effort, the friends of temperance, had they given effect to their expressed sentiments by the ballot, might have had prohibition as the result of what is popularly known as the referendum vote — if the professed prohibitionists had polled only three or four more votes in each polling sub-division in the province, the Liquor Act of 1902 would have become law. And it is pointed out that this could easily have been done, for in every sub-division there were easily from ten to a score of persons professedly favourable to, and even professedly anxious for, prohibition, who did not take the trouble to vote. This, with two-thirds of the available vote unpolled, it is argued that the people at large did not very ardently desire prohibition of the liquor traffic.

Another feature of the referendum campaign that might be referred to was the injury done, from the prohibition point of view, by the manner in which the interests of the cause was subordinated to political advantage. Conservative prohibitionists in large numbers felt justified in taking a course that they thought would tell against the Government, and be in the interests of their own party, and in so doing, sacrified the interests of prohibition on the altar of party zeal, and many temperance Liberals disgusted with such tactics became lukewarm, and so prohibition doubly suffered. We know that in Peterborough county the cause of temperance was shamefully prostituted to the furtherance of political ends. The referendum was used as a weapon to smite the Government in the general elections a few months previous to the vote. In Peterborough professed, or rather professional, temperance advocates were imported, and at gatherings which were practically campaign meetings for the Conservative candidate, the Government was denounced as the author of a scheme to throttle prohibition by imposing impossible conditions, and the electors were practically told not to vote -- the total required for prohibition could not be reached. Thus weak-kneed temperance people were turned away from the polls in sufficient numbers to defeat prohibition, and these same tactics operating throughout the province, resulting in the referendum failing to endorse prohibition. If the people in favour of the principle had put politics aside, and had acted in good faith towards a measure offered in good faith, prohibition could have become the law of the land.

Another meaning attributed to the referendum vote is that it was a mandate for the abolition of "the bar." The people did not vote upon this specifically, only as involved in the general prohibition proposition. Even if this meaning is, as it doubtless is to a certain extent, fairly deducible, it was not needed to indicate a new policy to the Ontario Government ,in the question of dealing with the liquor traffic ,or to point out a new phase of duty in this regard. The settled policy which has influenced the action of the Ontario Government for 28 years, has been one of continuously restrictive legislation, and continuous improvement of the license law to secure a more effective control of the traffic with a view of minimizing the evils that seem to be inseparable from it. Progress in this direction has been made as rapidly as conditions warranted As a rule, the Government has kept fully abreast of the reasonable temperance sentiments of the public. To do more than this would be to defeat the purpose in view. A law, especially one of so highly sumptuary a character as the license law, needs to be substantially backed by public opinion to insure the respect that would make its effective enforcement possible. It is true that some extremists have demanded legislation of a character too advanced, or at least too premature, to admit of be mit of being entertained. It is easy for enthusiasts to make demands which may be impracticable, for they have not the responsibility that devolves upon an administration, which is answerable for the success, or failure of any legislation it may bring about.

Many persons are of the opinion that the vote on the referendum represented a demand for radically increased restriction of the liquor traffic. They might even hold that it meant, "banish the bar," being attracted by the alliterative appeal in this alluring phrase, without thinking of its logical import. Prohibition spells "banish the bar," but in default of prohibition we still have the license law, and to abolish the bar would be to substitute something worse and less amenable to regulation and control. It would tend to "banish" drinking to the inner rooms and the secret places of hotel premises, and many might be tempted to secret midnight orgies who would not be found drinking in the light and blaze of the open bar, with the promiscuous and often questionable associations connected therewith.

Many who are of the opinion that the referendum vote meant increased restriction, recognize that one of the features of this would, in part, be represented by a decrease of the number of licenses, which has in the past had such an excellent effect in contributing to increased sobriety, resulting from the application of the policy of the Government from 1876, since which time ,with a very largely increased population, the number of licenses in force has been reduced from 6,185 (in 1876) to 2,628 (in 1902-03.)

Then those who regard the referendum vote as a call for more restriction, suggest that another practicable form for it to take would be increase of license fees, and they would be justified when one considers the large value placed upon licenses in our cities, when the question of their disposal is concerned. While the people have pronounced against prohibition, or at least have shown by their attitude on the referendum vote, indifference to it, it seems that they are in favour of increased restriction of the traffic. But they should bear in mind that only will satisfactory conditions come, the interests of temperance be most promoted, and the problem of dealing with the liquor traffic nearest satisfactory solution, when the whole question can be raised above the level of party politics, and dealt with on its merits. In spite of the party tinge that has been given to temperance agitations, it will not be denied that "temperance people," as they are familiarly called, have done much to stimulate reform, and that they have perhaps been instrumental at times in influencing governments to more advanced steps in legislation than would otherwise have been taken; and while from time to time extremists arise, making unreasonable demands, there is no doubt a strong popular sentiment in favour of surrounding the liquor traffic with greater restrictions.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Keep Up Their Good Work in Newfoundland.

Christopher Bishop Tells How His Wife and Brother were Brought Back to Health and Vigor.

Clark's Beach, Nfld.—March 11.—(Special)—Among the splendid cures made by Dodd's Kidney Pills in Newfoundland is that of Mrs. Christopher Bishop of this place. The story of her suffering and cure is told by her husband as follows:

"My wife suffered for three years with a weakness in the lower part of her back followed by a shivering, causing weakness. Her legs were swollen from her knees to the feet and she had a pain in the left side just under the ribs.

"Two doctors attended her, but failed to cure her when she decided to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. The results were wonderful and now after using five boxes the swelling and weakness are gone and the pain is gone with them.

"My brother too suffered from a heavy pain in the back and four doctors failed to give him relief. Eight boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills made him a new man."

If you don't cure the pain in your back by using Dodd's Kidney Pills it will grow into something worse—Dropsy or Rheumatism or Bright's Disease.

VASTER SURPLUS THAN HAS BEEN.

The statement of revenue and expenditure of the Dominion of Canada has been issued and it reveals a most satisfactory condition of affairs. The revenue of the eight months ending with February was $45,628,790, an increase of $4,525,304 over the same period last year. There was an increase in the expenditure of $957,024, leaving a betterment of $3,568,280. The surplus on the consolidated fund was over $15,,000,000. There are however items of expenditure outstanding which will decrease this, but the outlook is that the financial year will close with a surplus of nearly $20,000,000. This will permit of a reduction on the public debt, which, as already said ,will wipe out every dollar which has been added to the debt during the term of the Laurier Government. The expenditure on capital account for the 8 months exceeded by about $300,000 that during the same time last year. The details are as follows:

	1903	1904
Customs	$23,410,062	$26,710,985
Excise	7,943,340	8,737,336
Post office	2,779,455	3,067,561
Public works including railways	4,636,412	4,582,575
Miscellaneous	2,234,217	2,530,373
Total	$41,103,486	$45,628,790
Expenditure	28,523,068	30,480,110
Capital expenditure	5,459,916	5,731,621

During the month of February the revenue increased by over $600,000 and the expenditure by $500,000. — Brantford Expositor.

Stealing Money Letters.

Ottawa, March 12.—J. B. Paquette, a postoffice employe, was arrested yesterday for robbing letters in transit through the mails. A cheque for $300, which the prisoner cashed, is the largest amount known. He says he found the cheque.

NOT THE FIRST.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir.—In your issue of the 3rd inst., I noticed an article headed, "First Liquor License granted in this county," giving a copy of same, showing it was granted to Mrs. Mary Annie Davidson, of the Village of Metcalfe, now Ormemee. In the article I noticed several mistakes which are misleading.

First, the Village of Metcalfe,—Ormemee—is in the County of Victoria, and never was in "this county." Further, it was not, by a great many years, the first license issued either in this county or in Victoria. Mrs. Davidson became a widow in 1857, and her husband had carried on the business for some years in the same premises. At his death she got the license in her own name.

Second,—There were a great many licenses in force for many years before 1857, both in this county and Victoria, viz., in Peterborough, Robert Chambers, the late Mr. Dunn, Mr. Lesperance, the Carlisle House, Robt. Harper, Mr. Dennehy, Downie of Ashburnham, besides a large number of shop licenses in town.

Third.—In Victoria County there were for many years previous to 1857 the well-known comfortable and commodious hotel kept by the late Frank Best on the boundary line between Smith and Emily; in Emily, David Armstrogn, (Old Rule Britannia), Thomas Dixon, (Mrs. Davidson's father), Edward Blackwell, (Metcalfe), also Thomas Mitchell, (Mc[illegible]), Frank Kelly's half-way house between Ormemee and Lindsay, the well-known "Log House Inn," by Jerry Britton (Lindsay), Keenan's Hotel, Lindsay), and numerous others, all having been licensed hotels, taverns or inns for many years before 1857. The writer distinctly remembers several since 1837 and they were at that time old taverns.

Further there were then working under license several distilleries, for years prior to 1857, viz., one in Ormemee—then Metcalfe—; two in Peterborough; four or five in Lindsay; and further, most of the stores had licenses to sell liquor.

Is there not an error in the Christian name of "Mr. Milburn. It should be "Robert," not "Thomas." He was the first inspector of weights and measures and inspector of licenses for the united Counties of Peterborough and Victoria. He kept a tavern about a mile out of town on the Bridgenorth Road, the doors and window casements of which were painted red.

Your informant, Mr. Clancy, was under a mistake in thinking Mrs. Davidson's license, issued in 1857, was the first license issued in this county, because it was not issued for this county; and it was only a continuation of a license which had been in force to the same house for years, and was not, by over twenty years the first license issued even in the united Counties of Peterborough and Victoria.

My reason for writing is to prevent others being mistaken, as was your informant, and to try to keep the history of this part of Ontario from being written wrong. I am, sir,

Yours very truly,
R. W. ERRETT.

SISTERS OF CHARITY

RELY ON PE-RU-NA TO FIGHT

CATARRH WHEREVER LOCATED IN THE SYSTEM.

MISS BEATRIX CALLAM.

Interesting Letters from Catholic Institutions.

In every country of the civilized world the Sisters of Charity are known.

THE SISTERS GOOD WORK.

Not only do they minister to the spiritual and intellectual needs of the charges committed to their care, but they also minister to their bodily needs. With so many children to take care of and to protect from climate and disease, these wise and prudent sisters have found Peruna a never-failing safeguard.

A letter recently received by Dr. Hartman from Sister Beatrix B. Callam, 410 W. Thirtieth street, New York, reads as follows:

"I cannot say too much in praise of Peruna. Eight bottles of it cured me of catarrh of the lungs of four years' standing, and I would not have been without it for anything. It helped several Sisters of coughs and colds and I have yet to find one case of catarrh that it does not cure."—Sister Beatrix.

From a Catholic institution in Central Ohio comes the following recommend from the Sister Superior.

"Some years ago a friend of our institution recommended to us Dr. Hartman's Peruna as an excellent remedy for the influenza of which we then had several cases which treatened to be of a serious character.

"We began to use it and experienced such wonderful results that since then Peruna has become our favorite medicine for influenza, catarrh, cold, cough and bronchitis."

Another recommend from a Catholic institution of one of the Central States written by the Sister Superior reads as follows:

"A number of years ago our attention was called to Dr. Hartman's Peruna, and since then we have used it with wonderful results for grip, coughs, colds and catarrhal diseases of the head and stomach.

"For grip and winter catarrh especially it has been of great service to the inmates of this institution.

SISTERS OF CHARITY

All Over the United States Use Pe-ru-na for Catarrh.

Dr. Hartman receives many letters from Catholic Sisters all over the United States. A recommend recently received from a Catholic institution in the Southwest reads as follows:

A Prominent Mother Superior Says:

"I can testify from experience to the efficiency of Peruna as one of the very best medicines, and it gives me pleasure to add my praise to that of thousands who have used it. For years I suffered with catarrh of the stomach, all remedies proving valueless for relief. Last spring I went to Colorado, hoping to be benefited by a change of climate and while there a friend advised me to try Peruna. After using two bottles I found myself very much improved. The remains of my old disease being now so slight, I consider myself cured, yet for a while I intend to continue the use of Peruna. I am now treating another patient with your medicine. She has been sick with malaria and troubled with leucorrhea. I have not a doubt that a cure will be speedily effected."

These are samples of letters received by Dr. Hartman from the various orders of Catholic Sisters throughout the United States.

The names and addresses to these letters have been withheld from respect to the Sisters but will be furnished upon request.

One-half of the diseases which afflict mankind are due to some catarrhal derangement of the mucous membrane lining some organ or passage of the body.

A remedy that would act immediately upon the congested mucous membrane restoring it to its normal state, would consequently cure all these diseases. Catarrh is catarrh wherever located, whether it be in the head, throat, lungs, stomach, kidneys, or pelvic organs. A remedy that will cure it in one location will cure it in all locations.

If you do not receive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE IMMEDIATE NECESSITY.

If Peterborough is to Maintain its High Standard of Education.

Two Alternative Proposals of Which the Most Satisfactory is to Erect a New Building Some of the Reasons.

During April the ratepayers of Peterborough will be asked to vote on a bylaw to raise money to erect a new Collegiate Institute for the town. This is something of which Peterborough has felt the need for some time. The present building is entirely inadequate to the demands made upon it, and it is absolutely necessary that something be done. There are two alternative plans. The first is to spend the necessary amount of money to improve the present building so that it will meet the requirements of the Education Department, (which it does not at the present time.) The Inspector has reported against the building and its equipment on different occasions, and in fact the Board has been warned that unless something is done to bring the Institute up to the Government requirements the grant will be withheld and the Institute will be reduced to the level of a high school. This would be a retrograde step which none would care to see, and in order that it may not take place some radical change will have to be made. The present school buildings are now taxed to their utmost capacity, and even should the plan of improving the present building be adopted, a new public school will be a necessity in a very short time. The lease of the Menzie school expires in about one year, and it cannot be used for school purposes after the expiration of the lease so that some provision will have to be made for public school pupils, which would mean the erection of a new building, the cost of which, with the necessary improvements to the present Institute building would amount to about $25,000. This in brief is the first plan. The second is that to erect a new Collegiate Institute building and utilize the present building for a public school for which its location eminently fits it. The Department of Education has strongly urged the separation of Public Schools and Institutes, and the proposal is to build the Institute on a site which is not yet chosen, but which will be central. By adopting this plan no extensive repairs will require to be made in the present Institute building, as it will be well adapted to public school purposes.

In the matter of school buildings, Peterborough is behind other towns and cities of its size in Ontario. Brantford with a population about equal to that of Peterborough has school buildings immensely superior to those of Peterborough, and it is felt that education is something in which a town cannot afford to practice false economy, and indeed it is pointed out that in the erection of a Collegiate Institute the town will thus be economizing. New buildings will have to be provided in any case, and the only satisfactory way will be to erect an Institute.

It is estimated that the total cost of the land and building will be $50,000, the money to be raised by 30 year debentures upon which the interest and sinking fund would amount to about $3,000. The Institute at the present time pays $1,100 per year to the public schools for the use of buildings. The rent on the Model school is $550 per year, a total cost of $1,650 which would be saved in the erection of an Institute. This would leave less than $1,500 a year to be raised to pay for the new building, an amount which the ratepayers would never feel.

EMINENT DOCTOR ON INDIGESTION

Appendicitis Caused by it. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets the Safeguard and Cure.

The leading medical men of the world are to-day turning their attention to Indigestion and Dyspepsia. In a lecture delivered in London a short time ago the eminent authority Dr. Sir. James Crichton Brown said:

"Not only have modern men not got such health as their ancestors had but their saliva is less abundant owing to the softer, pulpier foods that are eaten. The increase in Appendicitis is largely due to Indigestion resulting from imperfect mastication and the hurried methods of living. From the same cause people are less able to resist disease."

This means that if you would be healthy you must take heed to your stomach. It must be kept toned up and able to do its full work all the time. The easiest and best way to do this is to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. They do the work of digestion themselves while the stomach rests. This ensures the supplying of food to all parts of the body. It means a strong healthy body ready for work and in shape to throw off any disease that attempts to get a hold on it.

Section man Killed.

Toronto, March 12.—George Collins, a G.T.R. section man, was fatally crushed under a train in the yards near Bathurst street, while shoveling snow. The body was badly mangled. He was unmarried and lived at 15 Wallace avenue. An inquest will be opened to-day.

UNIVERSITY ASKS FOR PHYSICS BUILDING.

A New Need in Connection with the Provincial University.

During the past three years the Provincial University has had a remarkable development, not only as regards the number of its students and the extension of confederation to include the arts and medical faculties of Trinity University, but—what is quite as important—in the range and excellence of the work undertaken. This development has necessarily brought with it an important increase in annual expenditure, and the Government of Ontario has shown its willingness to meet the demands of the new situation by approving of the estimates submitted by the trustees, and by voting sufficient sums in the Legislature to cover the deficits arising from year to year.

Within the last two years provision has been made for buildings for the practical teaching of applied science and medicine, and assistance has been voted to supplement the contributions of the graduates and friends of the university towards the erection of a convocation hall. A new demand is now presented. A few days ago the trustees of the university laid before the Government a memorial setting forth the needs of the department of physics as regards buildings and equipments. Its students are at present housed in the main building of the university, in rooms entirely unsuited to the present purposes of the department. The numbers of the students are so great that even the ill-lighted and badly-ventilated rooms of the basement have been pressed into service. This situation cannot reasonably continue in a department which gives instruction to upwards of six hundred students and which supplies the fundamental training for all the branches of science. The estimated cost of a building providing suitable accommodation is $175,000, and a further sum of $40,000 will be required for equipment. The requirements of the case are such as demand the most serious consideration of the Government and the Legislature, who will doubtless find some suitable and satisfactory solution of the problem.

Our conviction is that the Province would sanction even more liberal expenditures on the Provincial University, such as would provide for the erection of buildings not only adequate to class room requirements, but also architecturally becoming both the province and its chief educational institution and consonant with the architectural excellence of the original building. Architectural monstrosities ought not to be multiplied on the university grounds. If new buildings are needed the Province of Ontario has the wealth and the will to devise as liberal things as were devised by the past generation that planned and built the only piece of Canadian academic architecture which would not be out of place on the streets of Oxford.—Globe.

Don't Wait Until You Are Worse

Taken in time, the suffering of this little one would have been prevented. Her mother writes me:—

"Two years ago my little girl was sick continuously for six months. We tried many doctors, and they failed, yet it took only two bottles of your remedy to cure her, and she has remained cured. You can tell others of this cure if you so desire." Mrs. C. H. Avery, Rockdale, N.Y.

'Tis a pity she did not write me before the case was dangerous.

The wife of Omer Andrus of Bayou Chicot, La., had been sick for 20 years. For 8 years could do practically no work. He writes:

"When she first started taking the Restorative she barely weighed 98 pounds; now she weighs 135, and is able easily to do all her housework."

Twenty "dark" years might have been "bright" ones. J. G. Billingsley of Thomasville, Ga., for three years has been crippled with disease. Now he is well. He writes:

"I spent $250.00 for other medicines, and the $3.00 I have spent with you have done me more good than all the rest."

Both money and suffering might have been saved.

And these are only three from over 65,000 similar cases. These letters—dozens of them—come every day to me.

How much serious illness the Restorative has prevented I have no means of knowing, for the slightly ill and the indisposed simply get a bottle or two of the druggist, are cured, and I never hear from them.

But of 600,000 sick ones—seriously sick, mind you—who have asked for my guarantee, 39 out of each 40 have paid. Paid because they got well.

If I can succeed in cases like these—fail but one time in 40, in diseases deep-seated and chronic—isn't it certain I can always cure the slightly ill?

Why the Restorative Succeeds.

You may oil and rub, adjust and repair a weak engine. It will never be stronger, nor do its work better, without steam. More power—more steam is necessary.

And so with the vital organs. Doctor them as you will. That's mere repairing. Permanent cures never come save through treating the nerves that operate those organs.

And that my Restorative does.

After almost a lifetime of labour—of study at bedsides and research in hospitals—I made this discovery. I found a way to treat, not the organs themselves, but the nerves—the inside nerves—that operate these organs and give them power and strength and health. That discovery has shown me the way to cure.

It makes my offer possible.

I know the remedy. I never can forget the study, all the research, the trials and tests that perfected it. I have watched its action year after year in cases difficult, discouraging. Time after time I have seen it bring back health to those poor ones whom hope had almost deserted. I know what it will do.

My only problem is to convince you.

And so I make my offer. And the bare fact that I make such an offer ought of itself to convince you that I know how to cure. Please read it again. It means exactly what I say. No catch—no misleading phrases in it. Simply this—you take the medicine and I will take the risk.

And you—not I—decide if you are to pay.

All You Need to Do.

Simply sign the above—that is all. Ask for the book you need. The offer I make is broad—is liberal. The way is easy—is simple. The Restorative is certain.

But do not misunderstand me.

This is not free treatment, with nothing ever to pay. Such an offer would be misleading—would belittle the physician who made it. But I believe in a sick one's honesty—his gratitude. That when he is cured, he will pay the cost of the treatment—and gladly.

I make the offer so that those who might doubt may learn at my risk.

To tell of it, please, to a friend who is sick. Or send me his name. That's but a trifle to ask—a minute's time—a postal. He is your friend. You can help him. My way may be his only way to get well.

I, a stranger, offer to do all this. Won't you, his friend, his neighbor, simple write.

He will learn from my book a way to get well. Perhaps, as I say, the only way for him. His case may be serious—hopeless almost. Other physicians—other specialists—may have failed. The matter is urgent, then.

Write me a postal or sign above today.

AT LIFE'S EVENING.

To those well along in years there comes, according to the condition of the system, their measure of ills and suffering. Some are young at 70, while others are old at 40.

Elderly people who once use Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill find that it has marvelous power to relieve them of the troubles that nothing else will shake off, especially backache, constipation, bladder trouble, failing appetite, and indigestion. If ANTI-PILL is used upon taking cold, the aches and pains that usually follow will be avoided. To prove this, send to WILSON-FYLE CO., Niagara Falls, Ont., for a free sample. ANTI-PILL is sold by druggists at 50 cents a box.

A HEALTHY OLD AGE

The Goal of Every Man's Ambition

THOUSANDS of human beings are suffering under the burden of a sickly, premature old age, because of diseased kidneys. These organs once diseased give out to all parts of the body a deadly slow-acting poison. The face loses its color, the eye its luster, the brain its ambition, and the muscles their energy, and many of the most troublesome ailments result.

Bu-Ju cures all forms of kidney trouble and brings back youth and vigor, rooting out the evil. It is a never-failing cure for every form of kidney ailment. It cures rheumatism by eradicating the cause of rheumatism, kidney disorders. If you are suffering from any form of kidney trouble, commence taking Bu-Ju, The Kidney Pill, at once. You cannot afford to neglect the many symptoms that point to diseased kidneys.

Claflin Chemical Co., Windsor, Ont. Markham, Ont., Dec. 1, 1903.

Gentlemen:—I had suffered almost continually for seven years from kidney trouble. Could scarcely walk and was unable to attend to my farm duties. Saw Bu-Ju, The Kidney Pill, advertised and procured a box from my druggist. After taking the first few pills I felt much relieved and after taking half a box was able to do a full day's work. I know one box of Bu-Ju saved me $40 doctor bills, and think they are the finest pill made. I give this testimonial freely.

Yours very truly, JAMES ABBOTT.

METHODIST MINISTER DIED IN FRANKFORT.

Rev. R. T. Courtier a Former Pastor at Lakefield Deseased.

Rev. J. P. Wilson received the sad intelligence this morning of the death in Frankfort, of Rev. R. T. Courtice at the age of 58 years. Mr. Courtice's death occurred yesterday after many years of faithful Christian ministry in the Methodist and Bible Christian churches. The late Mr. Courtice was at one time, some years ago, stationed in Lakefield, and was well known to the then residents of Peterborough and the vicinity. The funeral service will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2.30, in Frankfort church, and the interment in Oshawa on Monday. He leaves a wife and family to mourn his loss.

THE POLICE MAKE A SENSATIONAL ARREST

Captured Jesse Arries at his own Home

And Charged Him with Theft and Assault An Exciting Incident.

Great excitement prevailed in town this morning, when it was rumoured that the police had caught a man whom they believed had snatched the purse from Mrs Charles Acker, and committed the brutal assault and robbery on Miss Etta McIvaffe, a young lady employed in the millinery department of Robt. Fair & Co. When 10 o'clock struck and the outside doors to the Police Court thrown open, the crowd thronged up the stairs and into the court room, anxious to get a glance at the police's suspect. It was not the ordinary crowd of Police Court loungers, but consisted of many well known, and some prominent men, who had gone to hear the evidence, but in this they were disappointed, the case being adjourned until next Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

Almost everyone expected a tall, heavy, tough looking villain, and it was a surprise, when a slender boy, about twenty years of age, under six feet in height, with a gentlemanly face, clear cut features, and curly hair, was led to the prisoners' dock. What was previously high indignation at a brutal villain almost instantaneously changed to compassionate pity for one whose face spoke great mental ability if used in the right direction. The name of the arrest is Jesse Arries and he lives at 70 Auburn street, where he was arrested early this morning. When an Examiner reporter began to sketch his features in his notebook the prisoner beckoned to Mr. R. F. McWilliams, his lawyer, who came across and told the reporter that his client was going to come after him with a club. The threat was nearly fulfilled later on. After the court had been adjourned and the prisoner led down, the latter expressed a wish to see the reporter. The police objected. But while they were engaged in discussing the matter, the reporter tip-toed down the corridor to prisoner's cell and asked him if he would "speak." "Not a word, pard, now you take a walk. Take a walk, I say!" With this command shouted in an angry voice, he grabbed up a pepper-pot from his breakfast tray and threw it through the iron bars. The Chief, a constable and another reporter, hearing the noice, came rushing down the corridor. The Examiner man, thinking discretion the better part of valour, hurried away with as much dignity as possible, and there the matter ended.

When asked, the police refused to say anything except their almost positive conviction that they have hold of the right man. In court, Mr. McWilliams said: "I have information which, I think, will show that you are wholly on the wrong track." The prisoner did not plead.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF HIGH CLASS CONCERT.

Otonabee Lodge I. O. O. F. Arranging for the Event of the Season.

The members of Otonabee Lodge, No. 13, I.O.O.F., are making big preparations for their first annual concert, which will take place on Monday, April 11th. This lodge has a reputation for doing everything it undertakes well, and in the talent which has been secured, it will be seen that this well-merited reputation will be fully sustained. Mr. H. Ruthven McDonald, the favorite bass soloist, Miss LaDell, who is acknowledged as being the greatest elocutionist in America and Master Harold Risch, the phenomenal boy vocalist, are the artists who have been engaged, and the mention of whose names is sufficient guarantee that the programme will be high class. These artists are all billed to appear in Massey Hall, Toronto, the week before they will be here. This is an event worth waiting for.

INTERESTING MEETING AT Y. W. C. A. SUNDAY.

Miss McDonald to Give an Address on Association Work in Japan.

On Sunday afternoon at 4.15 Miss J. C. Macdonald, National City Secretary, will address a mass meeting for women, on the possibilities of Association work in Japan. Miss Helen Davies will be the soloist for the occasion.

In St. Paul's church Sunday evening at 8.15, Miss Macdonald and Mr. Colville, of Toronto, will address a meeting for the general public. A very cordial invitation is extended to everyone, as the meeting promises to be one of unusual interest.

The Association wishes to publicly thank the Ladies' Hockey Team for their most generous contribution of $18.85 towards the general fund.

THE SOCIAL WORLD.

Interesting Personal Items Gathered by Reporters.

COMMISSION TO MEET MARCH 24TH.

Will Hold a Session in Peterborough on That Date.

When Evidence on the Trent Waterway Will be Submitted Delegates to be Here from a Number of Places.

The Royal Transportation Committee will meet in Peterborough on Thursday, March 24th, when evidence on the Trent Waterway will be taken. This will be the supreme effort, and the Mayor and Council, Board of Trade and manufacturers, are combining to work for the interest of the canal.

The Board of Trade has sent a circular letter to the secretary of Boards of Trade, Reeves of villages, manufacturers, 31 newspapers, Members of Parliament, on the Trent Valley Route, Members of the Peterborough Board of Trade, mayor and aldermen of the town, local manufacturers, merchants and leading business men.

The circular reads as follows:—

Peterborough, March 10th, 1904.

RE ROYAL COMMISSION ON TRANSPORTATION.

Dear Sir,—In a letter received yesterday by Mr. Geo. M. Roger, Mayor of our town, from Mr. John Bertram, Chairman of above Commission, the following paragraph appears:

"It has been represented to the Commission that the Trent Valley Canal if completed would form the most direct and cheapest route whereby grain could be carried from Port William to Montreal and it is principally to hear evidence on this point that we propose to sit in Peterborough. No doubt if the canal were finished there would be incidental advantages to manufactures and others in the district, and while giving due weight to any evidence offered on that point, it is more for the purpose of examining the general question that the Commission was constituted."

The date of sitting of the Commission is suggested as the 24th inst., and on this Mr. Bertram writes:

"If that date does not suit the parties interested, the meeting can be postponed indefinitely."

It has, however, been considered expedient to hold this meeting on date suggested, viz., 24th inst., and Mr. Bertram has been notified accordingly.

In view of the above facts, and in order to present the "Trent Waterway Route" in all its importance and desirability to the Commission, our Board suggests that your Board of Trade appoint delegates to wait on the Commissioners here, and it is absolutely necessary that strong evidence and incontrovertible facts in favour of "The Trent Waterway" route be collected and that such evidence be thorough and proved up to the hilt; expert evidence being also strongly advocated as a powerful offset to the Kingston route via Welland canal. Evidence was given before the Commission at Kingston in favour of the Welland Canal to enable lake freighters to take grain from Lake Superior to Kingston, there to be transhipped into barges for Montreal. This means that the "Trent Waterway Route" will be completely ignored. Our contention is that it is cheaper to bring the grain to Midland and trans-ship there for Montreal. We should therefore be prepared to prove to the Commissioners that barges can be built and operated between Midland and Montreal so as to handle grain at a lower rate than by the Welland Canal route. Please give this matter special attention and let our board know the names of any expert witnesses who have studied the transportation question from this point of view, whose attendance before the Commissioners can be procured. Have any of your members or citizens experience in building or operating barges of a capacity of 800 tons, which will carry 25,000 bushels of grain? If we cannot procure evidence on this point locally will your board contribute to a fund for bringing experts from a distance? We are ready to do this.

We need not further expatiate on the importance of our evidence being thorough, succinct and strongly arrayed and marshalled before the Commissioners. Our mutual interests will surely inspire us all to greater efforts and renewed strength to bring this most vital matter to a successful issue.

Yours faithfully,
D. HUGHES CHARLES,
President.
T. Q. QUARTERMAINE,
Secretary.

Baby Go-Carts and Carriages

Are prominent in the minds of parents of little ones as the season for warmer spring days come near.

We have made ample provision for a larger demand than usual, for every season's sales with us have been a liberal increase over the previous one.

1904 Styles

Are a decided improvement over anything produced in this line before. One of the new features of positive advantage is the new style wheel with extra cushion tire and known as the Automobile Wheel.

Improvements also in the Running Gear, making them lighter and easier running.

Improvements in the Springs, adding much to the comfort of the little ones.

Improvements in the Handles, adding decidedly to the convenience in handling, while the improvements in designs make the new patterns noticeably handsomer than those of other seasons.

A choice selection from the best makes.

Prices range from $1.35 for a Go-Cart to a $25.00 Carriage, a magnificent specimen of fine reed work and rich upholstery.

An Early Selection is Certainly an Advantage. Come Now.

Spring Dress Goods Opening.

On Monday, March 14th, our stock of Dress Goods will be complete for this season, and we are pleased to say that here you will find the greatest collection of Dress Goods and the prettiest designs ever shown in any town in Canada with even twice the population of Peterborough.

We are Out for Business. —Come in and see us. You can tell at a glance that this store means business. We have the goods; we have the premises; we have the facilities; we have the salespeople, and we have the prices.

A Comparison.—Just to give you an idea of the immense showing of Dress Goods here, our assortment this season is twice as large as ever shown in past seasons by us. That's something worth talking about, is it not?

We do not, as a rule, like to talk boastfully, but when it comes to Dress Goods we think we have a right to insist upon our position. You know we always did carry the largest assortment of Dress Goods in the Midland district, and when we can say truthfully that this season our assortment is twice as great as formerly, we think we have some right to boast of it.

Not Mere Bulk.—We want to emphasize the fact that our assortment is not mere quantity, gathered promiscuously together, as if bulk was the important idea, but a carefully selected and assorted stock, comprising the greatest and finest aggregation of Dress Fabrics ever shown in this district.

The range of our stock is just about practical, as we have Dress Goods of all grades in price, up to the very best that can be obtained for money anywhere.

Our Dressmaking Departments are now in full blast—trade is opening up with a rush—orders are pouring in rapidly. You know we have Two Dressmaking Departments, under separate heads, both first-class in every particular. We guarantee you satisfaction.

Come any Day, on and after March 14th, and see the great collection of Pretty Dress Materials. We will be pleased to show them to you.

Spring is at Hand—All the other departments in this store will be found to compare favourably with our Dress Goods showing. Importations are coming forward steadily. We are hard at it making preparations for our Millinery Opening, which will be held on Wednesday, March 23. We want you to look forward to that day with expectation. We are going to have the finest Millinery Exhibition ever held in this town.

CATCHES YOUR EYE

Peterborough's Branch Store of the Singer Sewing Machine Co., one of the Most Effective in Town.

The Peterborough premises of the Singer Sewing Machine Company have just undergone a charming change of interior, alike creditable to the company and the local manager. The store interior now presents a faithful facsimile of the other 838 central stores of the company throughout Canada and the United States. If you didn't see the name plate you might feel perfectly certain you were in a "Singer" store by the special colour and harmony of the interior. The ceiling is decorated with a special pattern of white satin paper, in imitation of white moire silk, with an 18 inch white border of the same. The walls are covered with a light green ingrain, divided from a dark green burlap frieze at the bottom by an ivory moulding, producing contrasts of the most pleasing character. The floor is treated to a light figured conventional pattern of linoleum, and the store is further equipped with new desks, and a manikin "Victor" patent safe. The walls of the store are decorated with framed engravings of some of the Singer Company's largest factories throughout the world.

Some idea of the immense output of the company may be gathered from the fact that the factory in New Jersey is alone capable of turning out 10,000 heads every week. The Singer can be purchased in every city in the world, and during the past half century seventeen million "Singers" have been sold.

The handsome Peterborough central store is stocked with an interesting display of all the different styles of machines made by the company. To keep the staff "up to date," a copy of the "Singer's" mammoth calendar, hangs near the front show window, with poster figures a foot long.

Mr. W. D. Little makes a popular, energetic and successful managing salesman for the Peterborough branch. He is assisted by an expert saleslady, who is always ready to give intelligent instruction in operating the machines. One important fact is that "you can try one free."

ELECTED OFFICERS OF LABOUR COUNCIL.

A Federation of Trades The Object of the Organization

The Examiner has been requested to publish the following report of the newly elected officers of the Trades and Labour Council, with the comment on the work of the Council:

President—Mr. Geo Sloan, carpenter.

Vice-President—Mr. Thos. Stenton, iron-moulder.

(Rec.-Secretary—Mr. Wm. J. Johnston, carpenter.

Financial-Secretary—Mr. Charles Murty, cigar-maker.

Treasurer—Mr. Rupert Gliddon, musician.

Sergeant at arms — Mr. George Record, tailor.

"A good and efficient staff of of officers, representing the several trades of the town. The Trades and Labour Council is composed of three delegates from eleven progressive unions of the town: Carpenters, Cigar-makers, Pattern-makers, Iron-moulders, Bartenders, Machinists, Tinsmiths, Musicians, Tailors, Barbers and Leather-workers. Under the present executive and the delegates, the Council will take a deeper interest in several matters which will be of great interest to the mechanics and working men of the town. They have communicated with the Town Council, asking to have inserted in the agreement with the Lock Works Company that they will not discriminate against organized labour, and also pay the union scale of wages. This is not asked for the Locks Works alone but for any other agreements that may in the future be made with other industries. We understand the Lock Works to-day are paying good fair wages under the present management, but it may not always be under such fair-minded management. The wage question is not the only, or the main feature, as we believe the demand and activity will govern that, but it is in cases where men are not being fairly dealt with, or where they may have a grievance, that an agreement of this kind would have a great effect upon the situation. It could be shown where some industries in town discriminate very harshly against organized labour, and this is what we want to guard against. We think the mechanic and the working man are worthy of this recognition by the Town Council, because are we not principally property owners and tax-payers to the public treasury of the town? We ask for it, not through any spirit of authority because it comes from the several unions, but because we think it is nothing but fair and justice. The Municipal Committee have the matter in hand.

"Geo. Sloan, President."

GENERALLY SPEAKING

THE FEW SUGGESTIONS made in this column last week with reference to the Board of Trade, and its work, have been commented on freely by newspapers throughout the Province, who have been quoting the article and calling the attention of their particular Boards to the facts it contained. There is perhaps one further suggestion that might be made. During the last year, the Board held about five meetings, at each of which a programme for discussion was arranged, which would easily furnish subject matter for two good meetings. In the majority of towns the Boards of Trade hold regular monthly meetings. Every member knows upon which night the Board is to meet, and if he has the interest which he should have, will plan to leave that night open. Might it not be advisable for the Peterborough Board to adopt this plan? There should be sufficient live subjects, in which the business men of the town are interested, to furnish matter for discussion on, at least once a month. The last meeting furnished abundant proof that the meetings are of sufficient interest to attract the business men, and the council chamber was filled with the brightest business men of the town.

* * *

AT THIS PARTICULAR time, perhaps, more than ever before, it is essential that men of affairs of the town should co-operate to work for the interests of the town. It is conceded by all who have given the matter any serious thought that the completion of the Trent Waterway will do more than any one thing to make Peterborough a great city. Every other requisite is possessed by the town, and all that remains to make this place the greatest manufacturing city in the province, is the facilities for transportation which the Trent Waterway would give. But the canal will not complete itself. It will mean work, and plenty of it, on the part of the public men of the town, before this great National Waterway will be completed, and if the business men do not lead in this who is to do it? It would seem that it would do no harm for the Board of Trade to meet occasionally, and discuss informally matters of material interest, of which the most absorbing at the present time is that of the Trent Waterway

THE CHRONIC KICKER has had abundant scope for the exercise of his kicking propensities this winter, and, sometimes, not without cause, it must be admitted. But it must be remembered that never in the history of even the oldest inhabitant, has there been a winter in which the conditions have been equal to those experienced this winter. The railways have come in for the greatest amount of criticism, and to those who have any conception of the difficulties under which railways are operated, even under the most favourable circumstances, it is not a matter of surprise that the railways have been able to operate at all in the weather conditions of the winter which is just about closing. Had those who have been doing the hardest "kicking" thoroughly understood the difficulties with which railway managers have to contend in a season when snow storms tie up a system of 1,000 miles of rails, it is pretty safe to say that the kickers would be few. The railways are just as anxious to keep their lines open as any belated traveller could possibly be, and it must be confessed that for the most part the companies have looked after the comfort of their passengers remarkably well, and few genuine kicks can be made. The C.P.R. has fed hunderds of their passengers in Peterborough this season, while the Grand Trunk management, it must be admitted, has exerted itself to the utmost to keep their lines clear, and look after the comfort of those who patronized them.

BOARDS OF EDUCATION.

The amalgamation of the municipality of Ashburnham with that of Peterborough has resulted in a Board of Education of numerically formidable proportions. With two members elected for each ward, with six appointed by the Town Council, and with the representatives of the Separate School Board, we have a total of seventeen, almost double the membership of the County Council, and larger than the Town Council. The Board, as at present constituted, is too unwieldly. Why should not a board of ten members be amply sufficient? This number could be composed of one member elected for each ward, one member representing the Separate School Board, and four members appointed by the Town Council. It may easily happen that men would be appointed by the Council who would appreciate the honour and responsibility thus conferred, but who would not enter upon a contest that would involve a personal canvass to secure election. It is quite evident that the Peterborough Board of Education is inconveniently large and it is not improbable that legislation will be enacted the present session of the Legislature to meet the conditions of places situated like Peterborough, by empowering Town Councils to pass a bylaw limiting the number that may constitute a Board of Education.

LOCAL MUSICIANS IN A SUCCESSFUL CONCERT.

Mrs. Morrow and Mr. E. A Frowde in Lakefield.

The Lakefield News, reporting a concert given in that town on Tuesday says:—

"The concert given in the town hall on Tuesday evening by Mrs. W. J. Morrow, of Peterborough, was certainly a treat to the people of Lakefield. Mrs. Morrow was ably assisted by Mr. E. A. Frowde, tenor, of Peterborough, and Mr. Gilbert Markle, violinist, of Toronto. The artists were greeted with a well filled and most appreciative house, and judging from the hearty encores with which every number was received, the company will ever be welcome in Lakefield. Mrs. Morrow possesses a beautiful resonant soprano voice, and her playing simply held the audience spellbound. Her best vocal number was "The Song of Thanksgiving," while her rendition of "Fantasia," by Chopin, was charming. Mrs. Morrow received an encore for every number. Mr. E. A. Frowde, who is a pupil of Mrs. Morrow's, was also well received, his high notes especially, being taken with ease, purity, and sweetness. His first number was "The Torreador," by Espair, for which he received an encore, but did not respond. His second number was "Tick Tack Too," and he had to respond with "The Deathless Army." Later on the programme Mr. Frowde and Mrs. Morrow also sang a duet, "Tarry with Me," the voices blending beautifully."

AWNING EIGHT YEARS IN USE.

An Appreciative Letter Received by Messrs. J. J. Turner and Sons.

An evidence of the fact that the goods manufactured by Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons give satisfaction is found in the following letter which the firm received from Trenton.

Trenton, March 11, 1904.

J. J. Turner & Sons, Peterborough, Ont:

Dear Sirs,—The awning which you made for me in April 1896 has given great satisfaction, this being the eighth year it has been in constant use. Please see that present order for new awning gets same attention.

Yours very truly,
JAMES SHURIE.

STANDING ON THE BEACH

The Farewell Glimpse of Mother.

Gay Autumn's vari-coloured wand
Had brightened all the land,
While waters deep in peaceful sleep
Caught up the strain and sang again.
Revolving days and slanting sun
Verging to nineteen hundred one,
Proclaimed October's flaming days—
October's mellow dreamy haze—
As almost done.

Upon this morn no shiny ray athwart the bay
Came from the tardy fog-bound sun.
A traveller and guide to intercept, must ride
Some miles across the lake to take a steam launch, halting to convey
To Gravenhurst. Thence home; no more to roam
Till winsome summer's merry bells
Ring in the hunt for sylvan dells.
From those late years, through tears,
my song recounts a long
Remembered dismal day
When fog and mist bent low, enwrapping so
That guide and traveller lost their way.
To dear ones on the shore they call "Ho! hoarse;
(Responding voices their request)
And thus direction and their course
Is faintly guessed.—But here I rest',
Casting a long, farewell gaze
And catching echoes through the maze.

I saw her once again, but hands were folded, still;
Eyes opened not to greet my kiss.
From faded lips there came no wonted welcome thrill.
Oh, My God; and is there only this?
A pulseless, pallid form, silent, and cold as stone,
Watched by a stricken one, alone.
As days and nights in whispers flee,
Waiting for me.

On yonder hill where nature's skill upreares the trees,
'Mid bowers and birds, flow'ret and fern,
Where sound of wave, as waters lave rocks gray and stern
Is heard forever: "There's a grave."
No stately tomb or cypress gloom to tell the spot.

"Forget-me-not." I feel and see
While thoughtful muses bear to me
A fragrant wreath of them; and ring
The voices which reverberating echoes caught;
And plaintive breezes with us sing
Upon a harp with minor string.

Memento this, of lesson-scenes, imprinted deep.
Nor ever that unbroken sleep
Invites forgetfulness to stay,
Or steals from memory's urn the day
When once my precious parents stood upon that beach
Waving adieus that ring and reach
Indelibly far down the way.
And now through fog and mists of time, hopeful, sublime,
I catch a gleam of wondrous Light,
Unshaded by the wing of night,
Where sightless eyes are not,
Nor lonesome burial spot.

But Life's pellucid waters lave without a grave,
As song is borne along—the triumph over death.
Those grassy doors swing outward, and the breath
That went to God, returns. Immortal burns
The lamp that shone for many a mile.
And then it flickered out awhile.
All praises to the One who deigns the priceless gift
Of glorious immortality;
Peans and peerless anthems lift
From shore to shore forevermore.

MR. JOHN BERTRAM ON FOREST MANAGEMENT.

Former Peterborough Gentleman Speaks on an Important Subject.

The Globe, reporting the Annual Meeting of the Canadian Forestry Association says:—

A paper on "Forest Management," by Mr. John Bertram, Chairman of the Dominion Transportation Commission, contained many valuable ideas. He strongly commended the Ontario Government's forest reserve policy, and said it should be followed up as fast as exact information is acquired. A view which was becoming popular was the desirability of extending the reserves to land now under license to lumbermen. Any lands so reserved could remain in the hands of the licensee subject to any reasonable changes in the regulations of the department. An efficient system of fire ranging was greatly needed in the great spruce and pine region north and west of Lake Huron. Mr. Bertram strongly advocated educating the people of rocky sections like Muskoka, for instance, in forestry, and believed that if they had larger holdings, cultivated their good land, and grew trees on definite principles on the rest, they would find it profitable and add greatly to the forest wealth of the country. He also urged that townships be given authority to acquire abandoned farms in such sections, and hold them as forest reserves.

The home-warming which introduces your friends to your new home will be one of genuine congratulation if the home-warming system you have installed has an at its heart, and Oxford Radiators dispensing healthful warmth throughout your home.

This boiler has been brought to such a high state of perfection that it utilizes all the heat generated, and the fire chamber is so built that no ashes can lodge around the grate, thus giving a most complete combustion and getting all the heating qualities out of the coal used.

This illustration is of one of the water sections and shows how water is circulated. The water post connecting the sections is cast solid on the section, thus absolutely preventing expansion cracks. Great care is also exercised in making efficient joints between the sections.

PARLIAMENT OPENED

Mr. N. A. Belcourt Elected Speaker of the House of Commons.

OPPOSITION LEADER CONCURS

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Starts the Session in Fine Form—Chief Justice Taschereau Informed House That a Speaker Must First Be Chosen Before Speech From the Throne Is Delivered.

Ottawa, March 11.—The House of Commons was the centre of attraction yesterday, its galleries being crowded by spectators desirous of witnessing the election of the Speaker. At 3 o'clock Lieut.-Col. Smith marched into the Chamber, carrying the mace, which he deftly concealed beneath the table. This formal proceeding had scarcely been performed when three resounding knocks on the door of the Chamber, which the watchful housekeeper had conveniently closed a minute previously, intimated that the newly-appointed Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod was anxious to make his own debut before His Majesty's Commoners. Having duly made his bows, which were rewarded with cheers, and having informed the Commoners that the acting Governor awaited their presence in the Chamber of the honorable Senate, Captain Chambers backed out with becoming dignity. Led by the mace and Clerk, the members responded to the call of Chief Justice Taschereau, and after a brief absence came trooping back. The Clerk informed these members who had not been fortunate enough to gather the full import of the remarks made by the Chief Justice, through the medium of Mr. Speaker Powers, who acted as his mouthpiece that it was necessary for the Commoners to elect a Speaker before His Excellency would communicate to them the purpose for which Parliament had been summoned.

Bye-Election Members.

Mr. Flint read the formal notice from the late Speaker respecting the issue of writs in the bye-elections, and duly communicated the result of the recent bye-elections. Hon. H R. Emmerson, Minister of Railways, Hon. L. P. Brodeur, Minister of Inland Revenue, Hon Rodolphe Lemieux, Solicitor-General, and Messrs. Gervais, Montreal, St. James, Lapointe, Kamouraska, and Blanchet, St. Hyacinthe, entered the Chamber and took their seats without formal introduction, amid Liberal cheers.

The Premier's Appearance.

The entrance of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who walked with erect carriage and elastic step, was greeted with a vigorous pounding of desks by his supporters, and the demonstration was renewed when the Premier rose to move the election of Mr. Napoleon Antoine Belcourt, member for Ottawa City, to the Speaker's chair. Sir Wilfrid believed he was expressing the sentiments of both sides of the House when he said that Mr. Brodeur had discharged the duties of the high office in a manner which was eminently satisfactory to all. Mr Brodeur had displayed those qualities which should be inherited by every occupant of the office, and, above all, the qualities of dignity and impartiality.

We have reason," said Sir Wilfrid "to believe that the same qualities are possessed in like degree by Mr Belcourt, the member for Ottawa—(cheers)—therefore for this reason I offer the name of Mr. Belcourt as a fit and proper person to be Speaker of this House, and beg to move, seconded by Sir Richard Cartwright, that Napoleon Antoine Belcourt be Speaker."

Mr. Borden's Remarks.

Mr. R. L. Borden, before the question was put, rose, not for the purpose of offering opposition to the motion, but to express belief that the gentleman who had been proposed for the Speakership was in every way worthy of the confidence of the House and of the dignity conferred upon him. The Speaker represented not only those with whom he was more directly associated, but also those who sat on both sides of the House, and in that sense stood between the majority and the minority as the guardian of the honor and dignity of the House in every respect. It was necessary not only that he should preside over the House with dignity and discernment, but also with wisdom and with tact. In extending his congratulations, the leader of the Opposition said he believed with every confidence that Mr. Belcourt would in every possible sense fulfill worthily the responsible duties placed upon him.

The New Speaker.

Mr. Belcourt was duly declared elected, and was escorted to the chair by his mover and seconder, and the Sergeant-at-Arms placed the mace on the table. Mr. Belcourt offered his humble and grateful acknowledgments for the great honor conferred upon him and assured the members that a keen sense of his own unfitness was relieved only by the hope, which he confidently entertained, that they would upon all occasions extend to him that indulgence and support without which he must fail to perform to their satisfaction and to his own the very honorable duties entrusted to him. With that co-operation and with the determination on his own part to exercise on all occasions the strictest impartiality, and with the example of his predecessors, more particularly the hon. gentleman who had just vacated the seat, he might venture to hope that the best relations, the honor and the dignity of the House would be always preserved and maintained.

Before adjourning Sir Wilfrid Laurier informed Mr. Borden that a portion of the Alaska correspondence would be brought down in printed form this week, and the rest would be brought down later.

HELP YOUR CHILD.

When your child—whether it is a big child or a little baby — suffers from any of the minor ailments which come to children, or is nervous or fidegty and doesn't sleep well, give it Baby's Own Tablets. This medicine is the quickest and surest cure, and the safest, because it is absolutely harmless. It will help the feeble new born babe as surely as the well grown child. Mrs. F. D. Kirk, The Barony, N. B., says: — "I have used Baby's Own Tablets with the most satisfactory results, and do not feel safe without them in the house. find that one dose is usually sufficient to cure the small ailments of the stomachs or bowels." If you do not find the Tablets at your medicine dealers write direct to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and they will be sent postpaid at 25 cents a box.

Balkans Painted Black.

Pittsburg, March 11.—A special to The Viedomosti paints the Balkan situation in dark colors. The correspondent declares that a collision between Bulgaria and Turkey may occur any day, and says the Sultan has refused to sign the draft of agreement submitted by M. Natchevitch (the Bulgarian diplomatic agent at Constantinople.)

Comfort for the Aged.

Judging from the letters of people up in years there is no medicine which so promptly frees them of aches and pains and insures regularity of the liver, kidneys and bowels as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Even when all other means have failed old people can turn to this great medicine with full assurance of relief and cure.

To Eliminate Negro Vote.

Annapolis, Md March 11.—The House of Delegates yesterday, by a strict party vote of 61 to 27, passed the bill proposing a constitutional amendment limiting the franchise in Maryland, the purpose of which is to eliminate the negro vote. The measure now goes to Governor Warfield for action.

Well Again.

The many friends of John Blount will be pleased to learn that he has entirely recovered from his attack of rheumatism. Chamberlain's Pain Balm cured him after the best doctors in the town, (Monon, Ind.) had failed to give relief. The prompt relief from pain which this liniment affords is alone worth many times its cost. Sold by all druggists.

Test a Good Thing.

London, March 11.—Lord Strathcona, in referring to the recent remarks in the House of Lords, says it has sometimes occurred to him that it would be a good thing if the members of the House of Lords should have imposed upon them something in the nature of a test with regard to their knowledge of the outlying portions of the Empire. It would be a good thing for both the Mother Country and the colonies.

Not Mentally Afflicted.

London, March 10.—Austen Chamberlain, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, authorizes the statement that there is absolutely no foundation for the report that his father is mentally afflicted. He added that his father's health was quite satisfactory, and that he was receiving much benefit from the change and rest.

A PESSIMISTIC BAND.

Premier Ross Twits the Opposition on Their Despondency—Debate on the Temiskaming Railway Bill.

Toronto, March 11.—A debate on the second reading of the Government's bill providing for the extension of the Temiskaming Railway to the projected line of the Grand Trunk Pacific occupied nearly the whole time of the Legislature yesterday. The Commissioner of Public Works not only fully explained the Government's proposals, but took the opportunity to inform the House on many phases of the construction of the railway now nearing completion from North Bay to New Liskeard. Mr. Latchford estimated that the cost of the extension would be about $23,000 per mile, according to the calculations of the engineers. Mr. Whitney, after a somewhat pessimistic speech, announced that he would not oppose the bill. The Premier was in particularly good form when he resumed the debate in the evening, and showed that the advantages to be derived from the railway were by no means of a doubtful nature. He twitted the Opposition on their fit of despondency. M. Powell and Mr. Conmee also spoke. Mr. Murphy moving the adjournment of the debate.

Agriculture and Arts.

Hon. Mr. Dryden moved the second reading of his bill to amend the agricultural and art act. The bill adds a number of townships in the newly settled portions of the Province, which shall be organized into districts for agricultural shows. It also provides that peace officers may seize gambling instruments on fair grounds without warrant and take the owner before the nearest magistrate.

Hon. Mr. Gibson's bill respecting weather insurance was explained by the promotor. He said there was no provision for insurance against wind and tornado, and as a company known as the Tornado Mutual Insurance Co. had applied for a charter it was necessary to pass an act."

First Readings.

Mr. Gross introduced a bill to amend the high school act; Mr. Taylor, a bill to amend the game protection act. Mr. Taylor's bill provides that game hunters must wear some distinctive clothing, such as scarlet bands on their caps. It was suggested by the frequency of accidents in the forest through hunters being mistaken for deer. A similar law is in force in the State of Maine.

Hon. Mr Gibson introduced a bill to amend the loan corporations act.

Third Readings.

These bills were given their third reading: To confirm bylaw 117 of the Town of Durham; to amend the law respecting the security of public offices.

Hon. Mr. Latchford told Mr. Smyth that the fisheries report would be down in a few days, and Hon. Mr. Davis said the Crown Lands Report was in the hands of the printers.

Hon. Mr. Stratton brought down a return showing that there were three saloon licenses granted in the Province under the statues and six wholesale licenses in rural municipalities.

Gas Co. Is Victor.

In the Private Bills Committee yesterday morning the Consumers' Gas Company scored a victory over the city, no change being made in the company's bill except the reduction of the asked-for increase in capital from $3,000,000 to $1,500,000, which the company decided upon the day before.

For a Disordered Stomach.

"I have been troubled for some time with indigestion and sour stomach," says Mrs. Sarah W. Curtis, of Lee, Mass., "and have been taking Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, which have helped me very much, so that now I can eat many things that before I could not eat." If you have any trouble with your stomach why not take these Tablets and get well. For sale by all druggists.

PRETTY FANNY'S WAY

Lord Rosebery's Angry Criticism of Balfour's Charge.

NOT FIT TO BE THE FIRST LORD

Sharp, Stinging Words in Reply to Mr. Balfour's "Calumny" Charges Lord Lansdowne's Attempt to Explain on Behalf of the Premier Declared By Lord Rosebery to Be Unsatisfactory.

London, March 11.—(C.A.P.)—Lord Rosebery electrified the House of Lords yesterday when in reply to Premier Balfour's charges of calumny in connection with his quotation from Lord George Hamilton's statement regarding the two documents, he said that calumny meant a false accusation of crime or a misstatement knowingly made or maliciously reported. He demanded what justification there was for such a characterization.

Lord Lansdowne acknowledged there were two documents—one document for publication, the other being confidential and for colleagues only. Lord George Hamilton's misapprehension of the purport of the second giving the idea of alternative policies, one of retaliation and the other of preferences, was repudiated by Lord George Hamilton himself, and Lord Rosebery's interpretation had gravely misinterpreted the actual fact. He had Mr. Balfour's statement that the word was used in the heat of argument and with no intention to impute to Lord Rosebery any deliberate attempt to misrepresent, but he certainly regarded the charge as calumnious.

Lord Rosebery, exclaiming that at least there were two documents, declared that the explanation was in no sense satisfactory. He had not gone beyond Lord George Hamilton's statement, and no Minister should be so thinskinned as to regard as calumny a statement entirely supported by the facts. Mr. Balfour distinctly misrepresented him. "My argument was not that the pamphlets were inconsistent and mutually destructive, but that one was a halfway house to the other." It was all very well to defend Mr. Balfour's speech by saying the expression was used in the heat of debate and was only pretty Fanny's way. If a man could not curb his tongue he was not fit to be First Lord of the Treasury. He did not care one farthing for the language Mr. Balfour chose to use, but he had brought the matter before the House for the sake of the decencies of debate.

State Owned Telegraphs.

Kidney Disease May Last for Years

Causing Much Pain and Suffering or it may Suddenly Prove Fatal.

Pains in the small of the back, scalding, burning sensations when passing water, and gradual loss of flesh and weight are the unmistakeable symptoms of kidney disease.

If you would prevent Bright's Disease, rheumatism, stone in the bladder, and other dreadfully painful developments of kidney disease, you must act promptly.

If you choose Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, the treatment will not long be pursued before you will find yourself greatly benefitted.

The grand reputation which this great kidney medicine has made for itself is due to no small extent to the wonderful promptness with which it brings relief and cure to the sufferer from backache.

Backache, lumbago, rheumatism, aching sides and limbs result from poisons in the blood, which are entirely eliminated by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

It seems rather unwise to experiment with untried remedies, when you can rely absolutely on this famous prescription of the great receipt book author.

Mr. James Dullihunt, a most respected resident of Consecon, Ont., states: — "I was a sufferer from Bright's Disease for several years, and at times the tortures of mind and body were almost beyond endurance. The pains were in my head, between the shoulders and down the whole spine, concentrating across the kidneys, where I was never entirely free from pain. When I got up in the morning I went about bent over almost double. It gave me great pain to urinate and at times the water was very scanty. Medicines seemed to have little or no effect in my case until I began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. The first dose relieved me and five boxes have entirely cured me. I have no pain in my kidneys and can do as good a day's work as I ever could."

Mr. J. J. Ward, J. P., of Consecon, certifies that he knows Mr. Dellihunt's statement of his cure to be correct and true and without exaggeration.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box of his remedies.

Malt Purity

Ale brewed from malt alone possesses important dietic properties that are lacking in common ales.

Carling's Ale is brewed from the purest and most scientifically prepared malt, and contains more food and less alcohol than common ales. That is why it is so regularly prescribed by family physicians for building up their patients.

No ale is equal to Carling's for medicinal purposes.

Purified by Suffering

BY MARY J. HOLMES,

"Your wife looks tired, Will. Let her sit down." Bell said, herself wheeling the easy chair nearer to the fire, while Wilford placed Katy in it, then, thinking she would get on better if he were not there, he left the room and Katy was alone with her new sisters.

Juno had examined her dress and found no fault with it, simply because it was Parisian make, while Bell had examined her head, deciding that there might be something in it, though she doubted it, but at all events short hair was very becoming to it, showing all its fine proportions, and half deciding to have her own locks cut away. Juno had a similar thought, wondering if it were the Paris fashion, and if she would look so young in proportion as Katy did were her hair worn on her neck.

With their brother's departure, the tongue of both the girls were loosened, and standing near to Katy they began to question her of what she had seen. Juno asking her if she did not hate to leave Italy and did not wish herself back again. Wholly truthful, Katy answered, "Oh, yes; I would rather be there than home."

"Complimentary to us, very," Bell murmured audibly in French, blushing as Katy's eyes were lifted quickly to hers, and she knew she was understood.

If there was anything which Katy liked more than another in the way of study, it was French. She had excelled in it at Canandaigua, and while abroad had taken great pains to acquire a pure pronunciation, so that she spoke it with a good deal of fluency, and readily comprehended Bell.

"I did not mean to be rude," she said, earnestly. "I liked Italy so much, and we expected to stay longer, but that does not hinder my liking to be here. I hope I did not offend you."

"Certainly not; you are an honest little puss," Bell replied, placing her hand caressingly upon the curly head lying back so wearily on the chair. "Here in New York we have a bad way of not telling the whole truth, but you will soon be used to it."

"Used to not telling the truth! Oh, I hope not!" and this time the blue eyes lifted so wonderingly to Bell's face, had in them a startled look.

"Simpleton!" was Juno's mental comment, while Bell's was, "I like the child," as she continued to smooth the golden curls and wind them round her finger, wondering if Katy had a taste for metaphysics, that being the last branch of science which she had taken up.

"I suppose you find Will a pattern husband?" Juno said after a moment's pause, and Katy replied: "There never could be a better, I am sure, and I have been very happy."

"Has he never said one cross word to you all these six months?" was Juno's next question, to which Katy answered truthfully, "Never."

"And lets you do as you please?"

"Yes, just as I please," Katy replied, while Juno continued, "He must have changed greatly then, from what he used to be; but marriage has probably improved him. He tells you all his secrets, too, I presume?"

Anxious that Wilford should appear well in every light, Katy replied at random, "Yes, if he has any."

"Well, then," and in Juno's black eyes there was a wicked look, "perhaps you will tell me who was or who is the original of that picture he guards so carefully."

"What picture?" and Katy looked up inquiringly, while Juno, with a little sarcastic laugh, continued: "Oh, he has not told you then. I thought he would not, he was so angry when he saw me with it three or four years ago. I found it in his room where he had accidentally left it, and was looking at it when he came in. It was the picture of a young girl who must have been very beautiful, and I did not blame Will for loving her if he ever did, but he need not have been so indignant at me for wishing to know who it was. I never saw him so angry or so much disturbed. I hope you will ferret the secret out and tell me, for I have a great deal of curiosity, fancying that picture had something to do with his remaining so long a bachelor. I do not mean that he does not love you," she added, as she saw how white Katy grew. "It is not to be expected that a man can live to be thirty without loving more than one. There was Sybil Grey, a famous belle, whom I thought at one time he would marry, but when Judge Grandon offered she accepted, and Will was left in the lurch. I do not really believe he cared though, for Sybil was too much of a flirt to suit his jealous lordship, and I will do him the justice to say that however many fancies he may have had, he likes you the best of all," and this Juno felt constrained to say because of the look in Katy's face, which warned her that in her thoughtlessness she had gone too far and pierced the young wife's heart with a pang as cruel as it was necessary.

Bell had tried to stop her, but she had rattled on, until now it was too late, and she could not recall her words however much she might wish to do so. "Don't tell Will," she was about to say when Will himself appeared to take Katy out to dinner. Very beautiful and sad were the blue eyes which looked up at him so wistfully, and nothing but the remembrance of Juno's words, likes you best of all," kept Katy from crying outright, when he took her hand and asked if she was tired.

"Let us try what dinner will do for you," he said, and in silence Katy went with him to the dining-room, where the glare and the ceremony bewildered her, bringing a homesick feeling as she thought of Silverton, and the plain teatable, graced with the mulberry set instead of the costly china before her.

Never had Katy felt so embarrassed as she did when seated for the first time at dinner in her husband's home, with all those criticizing eyes upon her. She had been very hungry, but her appetite was gone, and she almost loathed the rich food offered her, feeling so glad when the dinner was ended and Wilford took her to the parlor, where she found Mark Ray waiting for her. He had been obliged to decline Mrs. Cameron's invitation to dinner, but had come as early as possible after it, and Katy was delighted to see him for she remembered how he had helped her during the week of gaiety in Boston, when society was so new to her. As he had been then, so he was now, and his friendly manner put Katy as much at her ease as it was possible for her to be in the presence of Wilford's mother and sisters.

"I suppose you have not seen your sister Helen? You know I called there," Mark said to Katy, but before she could reply, a pair of black eyes shot a keen glance at luckless Mark, and Juno's sharp voice said quickly, "I did not know you had the honor of Miss Lennox's acquaintance."

Mark was in a dilemma. He had kept his call at Silverton to himself, as he did not care to be questioned about Katy's family, and now, when it accidentally came out, he tried to make some evasive reply, pretending that he had spoken of it, and Juno had forgotten. But Juno knew better, and from that night dated a strong feeling of dislike for Helen Lennox, whom she affected to despise, even though she could be jealous of her. Wisely turning the conversation, Mark asked Katy to play, and as she seldom refused, she went at once to the piano, astonishing both Mrs. Cameron and her daughters with the brilliancy of her performance. Even Juno complimented her, saying she must have taken lessons very young.

"When I was ten," Katy answered, "Cousin Morris gave me my first exercise himself. He plays sometimes."

"Yes, I knew that," Juno replied. "Does your sister play as well as you?"

Katy knew that Helen did not, and she answered frankly, "Morris thinks she does not. She is not as fond of it as I am." Then feeling that she must in some way make amends for Helen, she added, "But she knows a great deal more about books. Helen is very smart."

There was a smile on every lip at this ingenious remark, but only Mark and Bell liked Katy the better for it. Wilford did not care to have her talking of her friends, and he kept her at the piano until she said her fingers were tired and begged leave to stop.

It was late ere Mark bade them good-night, so late that Katy began to wonder if he would never go, yawning once so perceptibly that Wilford gave her a reproving glance, which sent the hot blood to her face and drove from her every feeling of drowsiness. Even after he had gone the family were in no haste to retire, but sat chatting with Wilford until the city clock struck twelve and Katy was nodding in her chair.

"Poor child," she is very tired," Wilford said, apologetically, gently waking Katy, who begged them to excuse her, and followed her husband to her room, where she was free to ask him what she must ask before she could ever be quite as happy as she had been before.

Going up to the chair where Wilford was sitting before the fire, and standing partly behind him, she said timidly, "Will you answer me one thing truly?"

Alone with Katy, Wilford felt all his old tenderness returning, and drawing her into his lap he asked her what it was she wished to know.

"Did you love anybody three or four years ago, or ever— that is, love them well enough to wish to make them your wife?"

Katy could feel how Wilford started, as he said, "What put that idea into your head? Who has been talking to you?"

"Juno," Katy answered. "She told me that she believed it was some other love that kept you a bachelor so long. Was it, Wilford?" and Katy's lips quivered in a grieved kind of way as she put the question.

"Juno be——"

Wilford did not say what, for he seldom swore, and never in a lady's presence. So he said instead.

"It was very unkind in Juno to distress you with matters about which she knew nothing."

"But did you?" Katy asked again. "Was there not a Sybil Grey, or some one of that name?"

At the mention of Sybil Grey, Wilford looked relieved, and answered her at once.

"Yes, there was a Sybil Grey, Mrs. Judge Grandon now, and a dashing widow. Don't sigh so wearily," he continued as Katy drew a gasping breath. "Knowing she was a widow, I chose you, thus showing which I preferred. Few men live to be thirty without more or less fancies, which under some circumstances might ripen into something stronger, and I am not an exception. I never loved Sybil Grey, nor wished to make her my wife. I admired her very much. I admire her yet, and among all my acquaintances there is not one upon whom I would care to have you make so good an impression as upon her, nor one whose manner you could better imitate."

"Oh, will she call? Shall I see her?" Katy asked, beginning to feel alarmed at the very thought of Sybil Grey with all her polish and manner.

"She is spending the winter in New Orleans with her late husband's relatives. She will not return till spring," Wilford replied. "But do not look so distressed, for I tell you solemnly that I never loved another as I love you. Do you believe me?"

"Yes," and Katy's head dropped upon his shoulder.

She was satisfied with regard to Sybil Grandon, only hoping that she would not have to meet her when she came home. But the picture. Whose was that? Not Sybil's certainly, else Juno would have known. The picture troubled her, but she dare not speak of it, Wilford had seemed so angry at Juno. Still she would probe him a little further, and so she continued:

"I do believe you, and if I ever see this Sybil I will try to imitate her; but tell me, if after her, there was among your friends one better than the rest, one almost as dear as I am, one whom you sometimes remember even now—is she living, or is she dead?"

Wilford thought of that humble grave far off in St. Mary's churchyard, and he answered quickly:

"If there ever was such a one, she certainly is not living. Are you satisfied?"

Katy answered that she was, but perfect confidence in her husband's affection had been terribly shaken, and Katy's heart was too full to sleep even after she had retired. Visions of Sybil Grey, blended with visions of another whom she called the "dead fancy," flittered before her mind, as she lay awake, while hour after hour went by, until tired nature could endure no longer, and just as the great city was waking up, and the rattle of wheels was beginning to be heard upon the pavements, she fell away to sleep.

Growing Old

Ought not to mean growing weak and feeble. It does not mean weakness or feebleness for those who eat with good appetite and sound digestion. It is of the utmost importance that old people should retain the power to digest and assimilate food which is the sole source of physical strength. When age brings feebleness it is generally because of the failure to assimilate the nutrition contained in food.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food. It invigorates the liver and promotes general physical well being.

"It is with gratitude we acknowledge what Dr. Pierce's medicine has done for grandmother's good, in fact it has cured her," writes Miss Carrie Ranker, of Perrysburg, Ohio. "She had doctored with several physicians but found no relief until Dr. Pierce advised her what to do. She has taken only three bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and is entirely well. She suffered with pain in kidneys, bladder and liver for ten years, and her limbs were swelled with dropsy so bad she could hardly walk. My grandmother's name is Mrs. Caroline Hennen, her age is 71 years. I will gladly answer all letters of inquiry."

Sick people are invited to consult Dr. R. V. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the bowels.

Why Men Die.

Barring accidents, men live just as long as nature continues to supply the waste which is constantly going on in the human economy. We say "He died of old age," that just means that owing to failing powers, the waste exceeded nature's power to repair and death resulted inevitably. If people would live just right, eat just the right kind of food, work just hard enough, take proper exercise, clothe themselves just right and refrain from worry, nature could probably be depended upon to carry them to a ripe old age.

In these days, however, this ideal life is practically impossible and nature must have assistance to repair the extra waste entailed by modern conditions.

FERROL furnishes that assistance in the most (The Iron-Oil Food) perfect form that science has yet discovered, because it contains in an emulsion, concentrated, palatable and easy to digest, Cod Liver Oil, Iron and Phosphorus, all the elements necessary for a perfect nutrient and system builder. If you find your powers failing in any way, do not fail to try FERROL. It will not disappoint you.

When Medicine Fails, Try Liquozone—We'll Pay for it

Medicine must fail in a germ trouble, because medicine never kills inside germs. Any germ-killing drug is a poison to you, and it cannot be taken internally.

Liquozone is the only way known to kill germs in the body without killing the tissues, too. It does in a germ trouble what no drugs, no skill in the world, can accomplish without it. To prove this—if you need it—we will gladly pay for a bottle and give it to you to try.

Acts Like Oxygen

Liquozone is the result of a process which, for more than 20 years, has been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research. Its virtues are derived solely from gas, made in large part from the best oxygen producers. By a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time, these gases are made part of the liquid product.

The result is a product that does what oxygen does. Oxygen gas, as you know, is the very source of vitality. Liquozone is a vitalizer with which no other known product can compare. But germs are vegetables; and Liquozone—like an excess of oxygen—is deadly to vegetal matter. Yet this wonderful product which no germ can resist, is, to the human body, the most essential element of life.

We Paid $100,000

For the American rights to Liquozone—the highest price ever paid for similar rights on any scientific discovery. We did this after testing the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, in this country and others.

That price was paid because Liquozone does in germ troubles what all the drugs, all the skill in the world, cannot accomplish without it. It carries into the blood a powerful yet harmless germicide, to destroy at once and forever the cause of any germ disease. And no man knows another way to do it. Liquozone is so certain that we publish on every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill.

Germ Diseases

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquozone kills the germs, wherever they are, and the results are inevitable. By destroying the cause of the trouble, it invariably ends the disease, and forever.

Asthma, Abscess—Anemia, Bronchitis, Blood Poison, Bright's Disease, Bowel Troubles, Coughs—Colds, Consumption, Colic—Croup, Constipation, Catarrh—Cancer, Dysentery—Diarrhea, Dandruff—Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Eczema—Erysipelas, Fevers—Gall Stones, Goitre—Gout, Gonorrhea—Gleet, Hay Fever—Influenza, Kidney Diseases, La Grippe, Leucorrhea, Liver Troubles, Malaria—Neuralgia, Many Heart Troubles, Piles—Pneumonia, Pleurisy—Quinsy, Rheumatism, Skin Diseases, Scrofula—Syphilis, Stomach Troubles, Throat Troubles, Tuberculosis, Tumors—Ulcers, Varicocele, Women's Diseases.

All diseases that begin with fever—all inflammation—all catarrh—all contagious diseases—all the results of impure or poisonous blood.

In nervous debility Liquozone acts as a vitalizer, accomplishing what no drugs can do.

50c. Bottle Free

If you need Liquozone, and have never tried it, please send us this coupon. We will then mail you an order on your local druggist for a full-size bottle, and we will pay your druggist ourselves for it. This is our free gift, made to convince you; to show you what Liquozone is, and what it can do. In justice to yourself, please accept it to-day, for it places you under no obligation whatever.

New York Stocks More Active Last Week Metropolitan had Another Slump

The Wall street market was again weak this morning, the feature of the market being the continued depression in Metropolitan which was yesterday subjected to a Bear attack. This stock opened at 110 3-4 and broke violently to 106 5-8 and closed at 106 7-8; C. P. R. dropped to 109 1-2; a new low record, but recovered quickly to 110 3-8.

The great market had a strong undertone and towards the close rallied to the highest prices of the day.

TO-DAY'S MARKET

Concerning the Wall Street Market today Messrs. McMillan & Maguire have the following:

New York, March 12th.—Evening Letter.—There was a rally on the stock of Met St Ry today and with it the general list because of the indisposition of the traders to carry over Sunday in view of the Merger decision possibility sympathized to a moderate extent. The selling of MR is based upon the idea that the new underground competition will take away passenger traffic from the surface lines and those who are selling Metropolitan are buying BRT believing that the Inter-brough will get control of the latter and make a fine system out of it later. The transactions were entirely professional. Scale down buying was noticed in such stocks as UP MOP and R I. The bank statement was favourably interpreted because of the small differences and the fact that the surplus reserve is now far above that held at same time last year, operates for easier money next week and for the extension of the bond buying noted in the week just ended. Predictions are freely made that money situation will remain entirely satisfactory for some time to come. We think it may be depended upon to right the stock market situation eventually for money and the sentiment finally established by it always ultimately rule in stock market operations. The investment demand will spring up in stocks as well as bonds if money rates continue. The outlook for next week favours an active market, we are happy to say. If the Northern Securities case come it will be out of the way. If it does not, sentiment has, we believe, reached a stage where the matter will be ignored for a while. Therefore, on any decline brought about by the bear contingent whose outstanding commitees are huge, we believe it good policy to buy the standard active stocks in confidence to hold for good prices. The financial situation is steadily improvement and this will be noted in enhancement in values with the removal of somewhat of the uncertainties now surrounding the Wall street flat.—Floyd Crawford & Co.

LATEST SPORT

EXAMINER—REVIEW GAME TO-NIGHT.

Teams Will Meet at Seven O'clock to Decide Championship of Press League.

Tonight at the Brock street rink, between the hours of 7 and 8, the hockey world of Peterborough will see the greatest game of the season. Since the memorable night some weeks ago when the septette representing the Examiner administered such a crushing blow to the Review seven, the former have been trying to arrange for the return game in which the championship of the Press League would be decided. But the Review team, although the oficial organ has been making a number of irrational statements, has strongly evaded the question of playing, and it has only been after making all kinds of promises not to defeat them too badly, that the team consented to meet their victors again on the ice. The Examiner team has now a lead of two goals, which the Review seven will have to overcome in order to break even; but those who are "in the know" say that the defeat in store for them tonight will be even more complete than that of some weeks ago. They have been building high on the assistance which they expect to get from Alfie Smith, who conveniently took the grippe prior to the last game, and Reginald Nathan Jolliffe, the so-called rover, has been doing all sorts of training, principally slashing, at which, however, he was an adept before, while the stalwart prize player, Samuel Sampson Moore, declares that he was never in better condition to lay some of the Examiner forwards out.

On the other hand the Examiner players, while they have not been practicing much lately, chiefly because there seemed to be no prospect of a return game, are in fair condition, and are determined to play clean, scientific hockey. They are content to allow the other fellows to do the rough work, and will play the same unquestionable, clean game which characterized them in the last contest, when their effort met with such well-merited success. The game will commence at 7 o'clock, and the line-up will be as follows:

Review	Examiner

PETERBOROUGH TEAM ALMOST INVINCIBLE.

Defeated Marlboros not Because They were Weak but Because the Home Team was Strong.

Some letters appeared in a morning paper regarding the recent Marlboro game, in which the latter team suffered defeat. Because of the fact that the home team won easily, some have thought that it was a weak team which played against them. This is not the case, however. Those who take the trouble to exercise their memory will recall the fact that early in the season the local team, with but little practice, defeated the Queen's University team 6—3, the team which since won the Senior Intercollegiate championship, defeating Varsity and McGill on their own ice. The same team also defeated the whole Senior St. George's team by 6—3.

It will thus be seen that the people of Peterborough have a team representing them, which is more than ordinarily fast. Mr. F. C. Waghorne went so far as to say, and he is a man whose word must have some weight, that he believed no team in the country could beat Peterborough on its own ice.

Y. M. C. A. DEFEATED "UP TOWN HUSTLERS."

A Fast Game Last Night in Which the Lighter Team won.

Last night at six o'clock the Y.M.C.A. hockey team played the "Up-town Hustlers" in what proved to be an easy victory for the Y's, who, although they were the lighter team, were better stick handlers, and better shots than the "Hustlers." The game was fast and clean and was an interesting contest. The score was 6-2 at full time and 2-1 in favour of the winners at half time.

The line-up was as follows:

Y. M. C. A.	"Hustlers."

LINDSAY KEEPS THE CURLING CUP.

Defeated Peterborough in Home and Home Game.

The home and home games for the Peterborough-Lindsay Curling Cup were concluded yesterday afternoon, when four Lindsay rinks inflicted a sore defeat upon a similar number of local rinks, the score being 45 to 74. On Thursday four Peterborough rinks went to Lindsay, and won there by 72-48, but at home four different rinks were underneath, the final score being 117—122, Lindsay thus retaining the cup, which they have continuously held for the past few years. The following is the personel of the rinks which played yesterday afternoon:

QUAKERS ORGANIZED A FOOTBALL TEAM.

Will Enter Midland League, and Expect to Have Good Team.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the Quakers was held at the Crown Hotel last night for the purpose of organizing the Quaker Football Club for the coming season. The Secretary-Treasurer read the financial statement for last season, and a good balance is on hand to begin the new season.

The following officers were then elected:—

Hon. President—A. P. MacDonald.
President—M. J. Kirn.
Manager—J. E. Sullivan.
Sec.-Treasurer—L. D. Moore.

Captain and Team Committee to be elected at a meeting to be held in the near future.

It was decided that the team enter the Midland League, and J. E. Sullivan was appointed to represent the club at the annual meeting to be held on March 19th. The prospects for a good season are excellent, and the Quakers expect to have a good team in the league.

CURLING.

A good story is being told at the Curling Rink these days, which so far has been the property of the curlers exclusively.

When the local curling fraternity visited Orillia last to play for the Shepherd-Neill Cup, they took that trophy up with them. However, they won the games, and a certain curler was told to get the cup checked and bring it home. The curler, however, picked up a cur, and had it checked instead, leaving the cup behind. On the train the curler presented the check to a prominent officer of the club, saying that the cup had been gloriously won, and the club would take it an honor if he (the officer) would be the trustee of the cup, and keep it in his possession until next winter. The end of the speech was drowned in thunderous applause, and the officer blushingly rose and sincerely thanked his fellow curlers for the extensive honour they had conferred upon him. He spoke eloquently, although briefly, and his remarks were enthusiastically applauded. At last the tram steamed up alongside the Peterborough platform, and the officer, now guardian of the valuable cup, flushed with the dignity. He handed in his check and received, not the cup, but the mongrel.

But that's not the end of the tale, for the schemer was also bitten. He wanted to get his dog (it is supposed he had bought it) but the baggageman would not give it up without the check, which was in the posession of the officer. And there the matter stands, the officer feeling somewhat "sold" and the curler wishing to get his dog, but unwilling to face the officer for the check.

PUCKERINGS.

Efforts are being made to bring the Brandon Hockey team here on their return from Ottawa.

* * *

The Examiner did an unintentional injury yesterday in giving the credit for the victory of the Eko Camp hockey team to Mr. J. Comstock as manager. It should have read Mr. W. Comstock, who has worked indefatigably for the success of his team, and who now must feel highly elated at the victory which came to his team. Mr. J. Comstock played on the team and won his spurs there.

LACROSSE.

Barney Quinn will play in at least two teams this summer; that is if the reports of the papers are to be believed.

READ IT THROUGH.

Twould Spoil This Story to Tell it in the Headlines.

To use an eighteenth century phrase, this is an "o'er true tale." Having happened in a small Virginian town in the winter of 1902 it is a story very much of the present. Up to a short time ago Mrs. John E. Harmon, of Melfa Station, Va., had no personal knowledge of the rare curative properties of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. "Last January," she says, "my baby took a dreadful cold and at one time I feared that she would have pneumonia, but one of my neighbours told me how this remedy had cured her little boy and I began giving it to my baby at once, and it soon cured her. I heartily thank the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for placing so great a cure within my reach. I cannot recommend it too highly or say too much in its favour. I hope all who read this will try and be convinced as I was." For sale by all druggists.

Charged With Embezzlement.

Toronto, March 12.—J. A. M. Robb is on trial on the charge of stealing $1,063 from the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance Company. Robb was their local agent here, and the company claim he was short in his accounts. He left the city and was extradited. The case may be finished by to-night.

TORPEDO BOATS IN BOW TO BOW FIGHT

The Torpedo Boat "Flotillas" Fought at Close Range.

A DESPERATE ENGAGEMENT.

Russians Suffered Severely in Last Fight off Port Arthur—One Russian Torpedo Boat was Sunk and Several—Russian Torpedo Boat Destroyers were Seriously Damaged—Port Arthur Evacuated.

Special G. N. W. Despatch to the Examiner.

PORT ARTHUR NOT ABANDONED.

St. Petersburg, March 14. — There is no truth in the rumours that the Russians have abandoned Port Arthur. Admiral Abara, Secretary of the Commission on Far Eastern affairs, says the situation at Port Arthur is unchanged, and that nothing of importance has occurred there in the last twenty-four hours.

JAPS RESCUE RUSSIAN SAILORS.

Tokio, Monday, March 14. — A supplementary report from Vice-Admiral Togo concerning the efforts made by the crews of the Japanese torpedo boat destroyers in the action off Port Arthur on the 10th instant, to rescue the crews of the disabled Russian torpedo boat destroyers, reached here to-day. Captain Shujire oAssi, commanding the flotilla of torpedo boat destroyers, states that the Japanese would have been able to rescue many more of the enemy but for the deadly fire of the shore batteries, and the close approach of the Russian cruiser, Novik. The report also explains that four men rescued were not part of the crew of the Stereguschtchi, as originally reported. When the Japanese rescurers reached the Stereguschtchi, only the dead remained on board, and it is believed the living members of the crew jumped overboard and perished.

Tokio, March 13.—Official and private reports indicate that Vice-Admiral Togo's fourth attack on Port Arthur on the 10th was the most effective since the first assault of a month ago. ONE RUSSIAN TORPEDO BOAT DESTROYER WAS SUNK AND SEVERAL RUSSIAN TORPEDO BOAT DESTROYERS SERIOUSLY DAMAGED. The fortifications and the city were subjected to a heavy bombardment lasting nearly four hours. The peculiar topographical conditions of Port Arthur make immunity from serious loss from bombardment almost impossible. Vice-Admiral Togo's torpedo flotilla opened the action by boldly steaming in under the batteries and successfully placing a number of mechanical mines at the mouth of the harbor.

Bow to Bow Encounter.

Following this there was a desperate bow to bow encounter between the torpedo boat destroyers, in which the Japanese appear to have SCORED A CLEAR VICTORY. Then came a long range duel between the cruisers, ending in the retirement of the Novik and the Bayan, the only Russian cruisers engaged. The closing action was the bombardment of the inner harbor by the Japanese battleships. The latter took a position southwest of Port Arthur and used only the 12-inch guns. There were twenty-four 12-inch guns in the squadron of six battleships, and each gun was fired five rounds, making a total of 120 huge projectiles that were fired at the city. The bombardment was deliberate and carefully planned.

Port Arthur Evacuated.

London, March 14.—The rumor of the evacuation of Port Arthur is repeated from different points, but it is absolutely without confirmation.

According to the St. Petersburg correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, vague rumors are current there and that later telegrams describe the bombardment of Port Arthur as much more serious than has been admitted officially.

Special despatches from Tokio and Yinkow also give reports of heavy Russian casualties at Port Arthur, amounting to forty men killed and 100 wounded, but they are so conflicting in details that it is not wise to give them much credit.

Two Destroyers Sunk.

In a despatch from Tokio, dated March 13, a correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says that in the latest attack on Port Arthur two Russian torpedo boat destroyers were sunk and great damage was done to the docks, forts and arsenals, including the explosion of a powder magazine. DALNY IS REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN ALMOST ENTIRELY DESTROYED; several guns there were dismounted, and the crews of four torpedo boats in the inside harbor are said to have deserted.

The Daily Telegraph publishes a despatch from a correspondent at Yinkow, who reports that the Russian battleship Retvizan, at Port Arthur, was hit five times by Japanese projectiles, and that there were 20 casualties on board. This correspondent declares further that the presence of the Japanese at Fenghuancheng (the Manchurian town about 45 miles northwest of Wiju) has been confirmed.

Russians Quarrel Among Selves.

The Yinkow correspondent of The Daily Mail reports that serious disputes occur daily between the Russian naval and military officers at Port Arthur, the latter reproaching the former with incompetency and cowardice.

The correspondent describes the floating of the battleship Retvizan and says the dock at Port Arthur is too small to repair her. Gen. Stoessel (in command at Port Arthur) has been ordered to the Yalu, the correspondent concludes, and he will be replaced by Gen. Smirnoff.

In a despatch from Chefoo, dated March 12, a correspondent of The Daily Mail describes an inspection of Port Arthur, made on the 11th inst. from a boat. The new city seemed to be on fire; three columns of smoke were ascending from it. The Bread Hill fort appeared to have suffered terribly; the defences were shattered, and the earth works torn up. No guns were visible. The line of forts on the Tiger's Tail also appeared to have suffered damage. At sunrise no sign of life could be seen anywhere, and PORT ARTHUR LOOKED LIKE A CITY OF DEATH. The torpedo boat destroyers inside did not appear to have steam up.

Food Famine at Harbin.

Harbin, Manchuria, March 14.—Harbin is threatened with a food and wood famine, because of the increased prices of these necessaries. In view of the cold weather the scarcity of wood is serious. The price of wood has increased tenfold.

Cavalry Meets Cavalry.

Tokio, March 13.—It is reported that a Japanese cavalry patrol engaged a party of Russian scouts near Kasan, west of Anju, yesterday. The Russians numbered 30. Confirmation of the fight, however, is not obtainable.

Chinese Labor in S.A.

London, March 14.—The Colonial Office issued a statement last night confirming the statement received from Johannesburg, to the effect that King Edward's decision regarding the Asiatic labor importation ordinance will not prevent the Transvaal from proceeding with the execution of the ordinance forthwith, the suggested delay in the matter meaning only that certain negotiations have to be completed with the Chinese Government before laborers can be shipped.

Fruit Growers Plan.

St. Catharines, March 14.—The fruit growers of the county are holding meetings toward organizing a co-operative packing, shipping and canning company, with $200,000 capital stock, whereby the fruit and the canned goods will be graded in quality and consumers guaranteed as to this. They hold it as a necessary matter.

Queen's Athletes.

Kingston, March 14.—The Queen's athletic committee reported Saturday night to the Alma Mater Society. The receipts of the year were $3,512, and expenditure $3,117. The students paid $1,456 in fees. The Rugby club cost $1,256; hockey club $879, or $293 more than receipts. One thousand dollars was paid on capital account for gymnasium, campus and athletic grounds, making $3,100 on capital in three years. The committee is hoping soon to have the college athletic affairs in a flourishing state and to erect a fine clubs house.

Halifax a Second Gibraltar.

Halifax, March 14.—A series of manoeuvres by the artillery at the forts and a careful inspection of the harbor defences have convinced the military authorities that Halifax is impregnable. During the last three years steamers from England have regularly brought powder and projectiles, and an immense quantity of ammunition is now in storage.

Major Robertson There.

Ottawa, March 14.—Major Donald M. Robertson of the 48th Highlanders addressed a meeting Saturday at Alexandria, where the men from Glengarry have decided to form an independent Highland company in honor of Lord Dundonald, whose visit to Glengarry last autumn aroused the greatest enthusiasm.

War Time Secrets.

Paris, March 14.—Martin, the non-commissioned officer, accused of disposing of French naval secrets to a Japanese naval attache, was lengthily interrogated Saturday. The investigation has indicated that the general instructions for war times are among these documents.

Captured After Two Days' Fighting.

San Domingo, March 14.—After severe fighting, which lasted for two days, San Pedro de Macoris has been recaptured by the Government forces. President Morales returned here Saturday night from San Pedro, leaving Louis Tejona to act as Governor of the town. The rebel leader Rodriguez escaped. Many men were killed or wounded on both sides during the fighting.

ARCHBISHOP MACHRAY'S FUNERAL.

Conducted By the State and Largest Ever Seen in Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, March 14.—The funeral of the late Archbishop Machray took place Saturday afternoon. The body lay in state at the Parliament buildings until 2.30. A brief service was held at the Legislative chambers, conducted by the Bishop of Qu'Appelle.

The funeral, which was conducted by the State, was probably the largest ever seen in Winnipeg, and was attended by representatives of the Government, the City Council, the clergy, the students and the graduates of St. John's College, the Winnipeg garrison and a large number of citizens.

The regular funeral services of the English Church were held in St. John's College, conducted by the Bishop of Qu'Appelle, Bishop of Keewatin, Bishop Matheson and Canon Coombes.

MANY DAYS OVERDUE.

Steamer Pro Patria Believed to Have Gone to Bottom.

Halifax, March 14.—It is believed here that the steamer Pro Patria, which left St. Pierre, on the Island of Miquelon, two weeks ago, has gone to the bottom with all on board.

She carried sixty passengers besides her crew. Many of these passengers were wealthy persons bound for Paris.

The steamer is now long overdue, and it is looked upon as almost a certainty that she has met with some serious mishap.

Cardbred Missionary.

New York, March 14.—The Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions yesterday received cable confirmation of the news of the murder of the Rev. Benjamin W. Labaree, near Khel, Persia. Rev. Mr. Labaree was born in Urumoyah, Persia, 34 years ago. He was appointed a missionary in 1893, and leaves a widow and two children. Mrs. Labaree is a daughter of the Rev. Dr. Schauffer, now of Cleveland, and for many years a missionary in Turkey.

Over 1,000 Arrived.

St. John, N. B., March 14.—The steamer Lake Manitoba landed over 1,300 passengers here yesterday. Most of the passengers are Britishers, and are as fine a lot as ever arrived here. Only fifteen were detained by the inspectors. The steamer had an uneventful voyage.

Dr. Carruthers Dead.

North Bay, March 14.—Dr. J. B. Carruthers of North Bay, while driving from a camp at the northern end of the Temiskaming Railway to the terminus, was taken suddenly ill and expired almost immediately. Heart trouble was the cause of his sudden demise.

19,000,000 Jews in the World.

Basle, March 14.—Prof. Haman who recently made a rough census of the Jews of the world concludes that there are now nearly 11,000,000 in Europe and 8,000,000 outside of Europe. The United States has 1,000,000. Britain has 2,000,000.

Mistake of Years Rectified.

Ottawa, March 14.—For the first time in 35 years a real Union Jack flew over the Parliament buildings on Saturday. In past years the red ensign has been flown, under the impression that it was the national flag of Great Britain.

Senator Kerr to Move It.

Ottawa, March 14.—It has been decided that Senator J. K. Kerr, Toronto, will move and Senator Tessier second the address in the Senate in reply to the speech from the throne.

POWER REPRESENTATIVE GREATLY IMPRESSED

With the Advantages Possessed by Peterborough.

Mr. J. H. Paxman, of Woodstock, representing the Woodstock Wind Motor Company, spent Saturday and Sunday in town, the guest of his brother, Mr. Geo. Paxman. After viewing the sights of the town, Mr. Paxman was greatly surprised that we had not a larger number of manufacturing establishments, considering that we have the best and cheapest water power facilities in Ontario. He visited the different power houses in and around the town, and was amazed at the quantity of power available for industrial purposes. He predicted that when the advantages possessed by the town were appreciated by manufacturers there would be a large increase in the number of establishments locating here.

He was also greatly impressed with the splendid shipping facilities possessed by the town.

CANADIAN EGGS IN GREAT BRITAIN.

Mr. A. W. Grindley Reports a Good Demand for Choice Product.

The following is the report of Mr. A. W. Grindley, agent of the Department of Agriculture in Great Britain, regarding an important branch of the Canadian export trade in food products:

The Canadian Egg Trade is in a good way, best brands selling as high as fresh, or Danish selected. The eggs are chiefly shipped in the Canadian Box, with "fillers" holding thirty dozen. The style of package is popular and being of good quality gives general satisfaction. A limited number of eggs are shipped in the "Foreign Box," which holds twelve long hundreds (1440 eggs). The eggs in these large cases are packed in straw or excelsior and are put up in this style at the request of the importers. Continental and Irish eggs are packed in this style of package.

Both "fresh" and "glycerines" have come forward late in the year in large quantities; the quality was good, but the total shipments have not been so large owing to scarcity of eggs in Canada.

According to a book recently published in Russia, that country boasts of having left Denmark behind as regards export of eggs. Russian competition in butter, eggs and poultry is becoming very serious by reason of adopting up-to-date methods, and these products are becoming much more popular on the British markets, owing to the improved quality. Russia, Denmark and other foreign countries are now taking greater care in selecting, grading and packing eggs, as well as getting them marketed as fresh as possible.

These foreign eggs now arrive regularly several days every week, as well as regularly every week of the year.

The bulk of these eggs are perfectly clean, and are graded into as many as six sizes, so that to-day the British importer is not inclined to speculate as in former years, and will have little if anything to do with stocks which have been held in cold storage.

As Canadian exporters, have to meet this competition great care must be taken in selecting and sending forward only eggs which are perfectly fresh, clean and graded into sizes.

During 1903 the United Kingdom imported 19,848,897 great hundred (120) of eggs, valued at £6,617,619. Canada's share of this large trade amounted to only 557,080 great hundreds, valued at £185,571. The imports from Russia amounted to £1,866,421 and from Denmark to £1,848,367. Germany, Belgium and France are the other leading exporters of eggs to Britain, each of these countries sending from three to four times as many as Canada.

BACON AND HAM TRADE OF 1903.

Mr. Grindley also reports as follows concerning the Bacon and Ham trade:

Canadian mild-cured hams and bacon are becoming very popular in Great Britain and are preferred to those imported from the United States, as they are leaner and there is always a demand for lean cuts. Canadian packing houses should make a close study of the various British markets and supply them with the cuts which are in demand by the consumer.

There is still room for improvement as regards packing cases; these are often made of knotty lumber, badly nailed, and no battens at ends (same as American packers use) which give double nail bearings. Heavy split wood hoops should be used to bind round each end of the case, and for extra large cases an extra binder should be placed round the centre.

Shippers of these mild cured meats must take advantage of the best means of transportation which are now provided. Ship goods as little as possible to be sold on commission and then only to reliable firms who will see that they are warehoused under proper conditions as regards cleanliness and temperature.

The Evidence you Value.

By word of mouth from friend to friend Dr. Chase's Ointment has received more unsolicited recommendation than probably any medicine you can mention. The fact that it is an absolute cure for piles has put it in a class all by itself as a preparation of inestimable value and people recommend it knowing that it is a certain cure.

THE LOCAL DAIRYMEN HOLD A CONVENTION.

Morning and Afternoon Session on Saturday

In the Town Council Chamber Several Interesting Addresses Heard.

A convention of the Dairymen of this district was held in the Town Council Chamber on Saturday morning and afternoon. The morning session began at 10.30 o'clock, with the President, Mr. Ryon, in the chair. Short addresses were given on interesting topics by Messrs. Whitton, Inspector Ward, of this district, and Inspector Hall of the Lindsay section, and Mr. Publow. The addresses were of great interest and at the conclusion of the meeting a vote of thanks was tendered the speakers. The meeting adjourned until 1.30 o'clock.

THE AFTERNOON SESSION.

The afternoon session was opened by the election of officers, which resulted as follows:—

President—Mr. W. A. Anderson.

Secretary—Mr. Thos. Borlund.

Mr. Mitchell, the superintendent of the Kingston Dairy School, was called upon for an address. He introduced himself by expressing his pleasure at being able to address the Dairymen of this section. The aim of the dairymen was to make the first quality of cheese for the consumer. There were three phases in the making of cheese, firstly, a good raw material with which to make the cheese was necessary; secondly a good factory, appliances, and a good maker, and lastly, facilities for keeping the cheese in good condition after leaving the press room. In the first place there must be a good and amicable understanding between patron and cheese maker. Both should see that their interests are one, i.e., the making of good cheese. If a friendly feeling existed between maker and patron, everything would go on satisfactory. When such a state of things is non-existant, the patron is careless about the cheese, and the maker naturally very disappointed. Another important point on which he dwelt at some length, was impure milk. This happened frequently by cattle getting into an undesired flavoured pasture. This gives a bad taste to the milk. Then, he said, pure water is necessary. Milk is largely made up of water, and this fact alone shows that it is most desirable that we give the cattle good water to drink. They should never be allowed to wade through cesspools, as the dirt sticks to the legs and underneath the udder, and later at milking time falls into the milking pail. Touching again on the cheese maker, he said that before he should ask the patron to send cleaner milk, he should practice what he preaches, and keep his factory spotlessly clean. Then patrons should also be careful in the care of the utensils. Cans should be properly made—that is, the bottom of the can should be lower than the joint at the side, thus the dirt can easily be gotten out once in. Wooden pails should never be used because the milk soaks right into the wood, and thereby takes in many impurities. Warm, not hot water, should be used for washing out the utensils. The operation should be concluded by rinsing with hot water and inverting the uteensils in a good clean atmosphere to dry. They should never be wiped with a cloth as these articles are seldom without some impurity. At the milking time a pail should always be wiped out. The udder should be well cleansed, thus ensuring perfectly pure milk. He advised milking the cow with dry hands. After the operation the milk should be taken to a clean stand, which should not be near the road as impure dust very often gets in. Milk should be strained and cool d immediately after milking; in this, as in everything else, cleanliness should be remembered. He advocated the storing of a little ice for the cooling of the milk in summer time. It should be cooled to at least 70 deg., and, if possible, 60 deg. Whatever machine or system the farmer uses for cooling purposes it is strongly advised that it be simply constructed so that it can be easily cleaned. The milk must be right, else the cheese will be inferior in quality, and there will be a loss in price. The reputation of the factory will also go down somewhat. Inferior milk does not make as good quality of cheese as does rich milk.

He concluded his address by speaking of the cold curing of cheese and its advantages.

Mr. Publow was the next speaker. He advocated at considerable length the slower curing of cheese. In his opinion cheese was hurried in curing nowadays. He pointed out a number of advantages derived from this slower curing method.

The meeting concluded by Messrs. Mitchell and Publow being each tendered a vote of thanks.

THE WORST KIND.

After Piles have existed for a long time and passed through different stages, the suffering is intense—pain, aching, throbbing, tumors form, filled to bursting with black blood.

Symptoms indicating other troubles may appear to a thoroughly Pile-sick person.

This is when Hem-Roid, the only internal, the only absolute Pile cure, brings the results that has made its fame.

It will cure the most stubborn case in existence and bonded guarantee to that effect goes with each package.

Millions in Damage.

Wilkes-Barre, March 14.—With the falling of the waters following the partial breaking of the gorges in the north branch of the Susquehanna, dwellers in the stricken cities are counting the work of rehabilitation. Estimates of damage done are given in figures which vary widely, ranging from $2,000,000 to $6,000,000.

Salvation Statistics.

London, March 14.—The statistics of the Salvation Army just published show that during the past year the organization supplied 8,000,000 cheap meals to the very poor, and 1,139,728 cheap lodgings; while 6,196 fallen women were taken from the streets and 1,956 criminals brought into Army homes of refuge.

Australians Mob Davie.

Chicago, March 14.—Davie is traveling a rocky road in Australia. He was mobbed in Melbourne, and now he sends word of another "mobbing" in Adelaide.

BLOW PROVED FATAL

Ex-Sergeant Fitzgerald Killed at the Capital.

WAS A STRANGER IN THE CITY

Police Arrest W. S. Hamilton on a Charge of Murder—Alleged Victim Was a Veteran of the South African War and An Ex-Member of the Dublin Fusiliers—Other Serious Cases.

Ottawa, March 13.—W. S. Hamilton, restaurant keeper, Metcalfe-street, formerly a member of the Ottawa police force, and previously a member of the Montreal police force, was arrested on Saturday night, charged with the murder of John Fitzgerald, until recently a member of the Dublin Fusiliers and a veteran of the South African war.

Fitzgerald was in the Oxford Cafe on Friday night, getting a meal, and is alleged to have been under the influence of liquor. He became disorderly and was ejected. In the assault it is charged that Hamilton gave him a blow on the abdomen, which lacerated an internal organ, resulting in death.

Fitzgerald was left lying on a snowbank, and Constable White, who happened along, believing him to be drunk, called the patrol and had him taken to the police station. After being there for some time, Fitzgerald began to groan with pain, and Dr. Potter, who was in the police court room giving evidence at an inquest, was called down. He looked Fitzgerald over and said there was nothing wrong with him.

The prisoner, however, groaned all night, and on Saturday morning was too ill to appear in court to answer a charge of drunkenness laid against him. Dr. Charbot, police physician, was called and pronounced the man seriously ill. He was taken to the Catholic Hospital and sank rapidly, refusing to permit an operation to be performed.

At 4 o'clock Saturday, at the request of Dr. Charbot, Police Sergt. Gilhooly, Detective O'Meara and Ald. Colbert, as a magistrate, took his ante-mortem statement. The man said he was a stranger in the city and did not know even the name of the street upon which the row took place. He was assaulted by a big man and a smaller one. He died shortly after making the statement, and Dr. Paple, coroner, ordered an inquest.

A warrant was issued at 10 o'clock, and Hamilton was arrested, charged with murder. He took it coolly and said there was no row in his place.

This morning Edward VanNetrop, a collector, was arrested as the little man in the fray, but was subsequently released. Fitzgerald, the of Irish parentage, belonged to Southampton, Eng. He was about 30 years of age. For a while since coming to Canada he worked on the C.P.R., near Sudbury.

JEWELRY ROBBERY.

Harold Webster and Thomas Fair Charged With Stealing $5,000 Worth.

Toronto, March 14.—One of the best evidences of how a young man from the country finds life in the city too much for his better self was revealed in the arrest of two young men on Saturday afternoon by Detectives Duncan and Verney. They are: Harold Webster, an employe of the P. W. Ellis Company, who is charged with stealing a large quantity of diamond jewelry from his employes, and Thomas Fair, who is charged with receiving and disposing of the stolen property. While the amount of the goods stolen has not yet been ascertained, it is thought that $5,000 will cover the pilfering. The stolen articles consisted principally of diamond sunbursts, diamond and pearl brooches, diamond pins and rings; only the most expensive goods having been taken.

Fast Men and Loose Women.

Webster is only 20 years of age. He came to Toronto when 16 years old from his home in Aurora. When he arrived in the city he was ambitious, energetic, eager to make his way in the world, with the bright prospects of some time in the future becoming a wholesale merchant himself and a leader in business circles. For a time he led an exemplary life, until last summer he became the tool of an unscrupulous man, much older than himself. From that time his downfall has been rapid. He stayed away from home at night, mixed with fast men and loose women. He commenced to steal in a small way, and placed himself in the power of Fair, who, young Webster says, used this power to the fullest extent, compelling him by threats of exposure to continue his thieving.

Fair is a Toronto man. He was born and has lived in the west end, where he was known as "Tot" Fair. His father was at one time head cutter for the wholesale firm of Thomas Lailey & Co., and also carried on a tailoring business in West Queen-street. About nine years ago Fair, jr., went to the States, and for six years knocked about between New York and Boston and other cities. He returned to Toronto three years ago, went away again and then returned once more last summer. Since then he has been employed at the Headquarters, English Chop House, New Carlton and Roumegous' Restaurant at various times. He is 32 years of age.

Webster was also a gay Lothario. Many letters were found in his grip from different women, written in the most loving terms. One of them commences: "Dear, dearer, dearest, most dear, and most dearest Harold." This young woman had been presented with a diamond brooch or two and was looking for more. At the same time Webster is engaged to an estimable young lady in Toronto, who is heart-broken at the denouement. She also had some jewelry which her fiance had presented her with. She immediately turned the presents over to Detective Duncan. Webster's mother is a widow.

Both the men will appear in police court this morning.

A Youthful Suicide.

Wallaceburg, March 14.—John Nightingale, second son of Chas. E. Nightingale, of this town aged 18, shot himself Friday evening about 9.30.

He was employed as junior clerk in the Bank of Toronto. As he did not appear at the bank Saturday morning search was made for him and shortly after noon, when his body was found under the steps of the Public School. Some one near the school heard the report of the revolver about 9.30 p. m. Friday night.

No reason can be assigned for the frightful act, as he was generally cheerful and of good habits.

No inquest will be held, as the coroner did not consider it necessary.

Shot By Her Cousin.

St. John, N. B., March 14.—A telephone message from Fredericton reports that Millie Gee was fatally shot by her cousin, George Gee, at Bath, Carleton, yesterday. No details have been received, except that a shotgun was used, and that she was shot in the back. Jealousy is supposed to be the cause of the shooting.

Hanging For All of Them.

Chicago, March 14.—Hanging for all was the verdict of the jury on Saturday in the first murder case against the so-called "car barn bandits." Harvey Van Dine, Peter Niedermeir and Gustave Marx Emil Rovski, who was with the bandits in the "dug-out," and who participated in many of their crimes, is to be tried separately, not having been implicated directly in the particular murder for which his associates were first arraigned.

Dress Burned; She Suicided.

New York, March 14.—A week's weeping and brooding over the accidental burning of her Easter dress, for which she had been saving the money since last summer, ended in the suicide Saturday night of Annie Barr, 21, soon to be a bride. She took two ounces of carbolic acid.

Husband Murders and Suicides.

New York, March 14.—Robert Gray, a painter, and his wife were found dead in their apartments Saturday, the woman murdered with the right side of her skull crushed in and her husband having apparently committed suicide by asphyxiation.

Threw Vitriol in Face.

Cape Town, S. A., March 14.—A startling scene occurred at the Mount Nelson Hotel here Saturday. Mrs. Belfield Marais and her daughter, who is fifteen years old, were dining in the restaurant, while Piet Marais, a noted millionaire and the father-in-law of Mrs. Marais, was dining at another table. Suddenly the daughter dashed across the room and dashed a bottle of vitriol in Piet Marais' face. He was terribly injured and will probably be blind. Both mother and daughter were arrested. The affair is the sequel to a family quarrel.

A REMARKABLE ECHO

WONDERFUL SOUND EFFECTS IN A NEW YORK MONUMENT.

The Famous Baptistery at Pisa Outdone by the Soldiers' Shaft on Riverside Drive, Where Sound Rolls About Like a Ball.

A big French motor car occupied by two men and two very pretty women whirred up Riverside drive late Sunday evening and at Ninetieth street drew up and stopped at the approach to the Soldiers and Sailors' monument. It was long past the hour when the crowd of fashionable promenaders leaves the drive as the party of four stepped out of the big, vibrating machine and climbed the steps to the monument.

One of the men was a millionaire well known in the financial district. The other was a great tenor. With them were the millionaire's wife and a woman known in half a dozen European capitals as one of the greatest operatic coaches living—a woman who is a constant attendant upon operatic stars and a sharer in no small degree in their musical triumphs.

If it had been made during a Sunday or a weekday afternoon, a crowd of fashionable folk would undoubtedly have had their curiosity piqued by the peculiar visit of four such well known people. The whole affair was so bizarre and the sounds which soon issued from the narrow entrance to the glistening white monument were so strange that at any but a late night hour a crowd must have quickly filled the pluza around the marble shaft. A desire to escape any such annoying incidents probably led the visitors to choose the nighttime for their visit.

"The average American is a consummate ass," said the New Yorker as he guided the small party up the moonlit steps to the monument. "He travels to the utmost parts of the world, spends barrels of money and generally writes a book or two describing the marvelous things he sees, when by remaining right at home he could have seen sights of a similar kind which would have knocked the spots off the things on which he has wasted his patrimony and paragraphs of superlatives."

"But echoes, signor," replied the tenor as he grasped the Wall street man's arm. "Echoes such as we have in the baptistery! Never—except in the old cathedrals of Italy!"

"That's just what Americans say," retorted the New York man. "They go into ecstatic raptures over European mediocrity without knowing that they live among the greatest collection of marvels in the world. Listen to this."

The party had reached the door leading to the interior of the monument. A solid cylindrical wall of marble and granite surrounded a slender room empty save for a half dozen dried wreaths lying on one corner of the stone floor. When the whole party had wormed its way into the monument, the Wall street man bade them be very still and with upturned face intoned a low note. An echo was heard which rivaled those marvelous reverberations which have drawn travelers to distant parts of the world and have been the subjects of brilliant descriptions in the daily press and between covers. The note seemed instantly transformed into a moving ball of sound. Its journey to the distant stone ceiling could be distinctly traced. It seemed to be wafted upward like a ring of smoke or a cottony dandelion seed. The sound decreased until the note seemed to strike the small, high ceiling, where it lingered a moment before commencing its downward trip. Gradually increasing in loudness, it came back to the floor of the monument, apparently as loud and as intact as when it was uttered. The whole wonderful incident occupied only a few seconds, but every stage of the sound's trip to the top of the monument and back was as pronounced and as easily traced as though it had been a butterfly or a toy balloon.

"Magnificent!" exclaimed the tenor in tones of rapture and surprise. "I never dreamed such a marvelous echo existed outside the baptistery at Pisa."

His voice made a perfect riot of sound within the narrow shaft. Countless tones going and coming in rapid succession produced an effect almost painful upon the ears of the listeners.

At the request of one of the women the tenor sang very slowly and softly a few phrases of "La Donna e Mobile." The effect was peculiarly beautiful. Two men seemed to be singing, one a half beat behind the other. As in the Wall street man's experiment, each note could be heard distinctly soaring aloft to the ceiling and back. At the return of each note in its original vigor and fullness the effect of a second singer was produced. The union of the bell-like tones of the beautiful voice, the wonderful echo and the peculiar strangeness of the whole situation brought cries of delight from the two women.

"I believe it is as fine as the one in Pisa," said the woman who coaches prima donnas, "and to think that we never even heard of it before!"

"Peculiar fact," said the New Yorker, striking a match and illuminating the dark, cold interior. "New Yorkers never know anything about New York. You can't sit down in a hotel lobby or in a club and speak of echoes but a dozen men will commence to dilate on some reverberations they have heard in some backwoods German or Italian town. But none of them knows of anything remarkable in his own town, the greatest city on earth."

ARCHITECT'S EPPERIMENTS.

Church Built by One Man—Sealskins and Snow, With Provision Boxes for Pews, Served Esquimo.

At Stivichall, near Coventry, may be seen a church that—among English Churches at all events—possesses the unique distinction of having been built by the unaided efforts of one man alone. The name of this persistent and assiduous workman was John Green, a stonemason of Coventry, who laid the first stone in 1810, and finished his self-imposed task seven years later.

When the Rev. C. H. Sellwood Goodwin came into the living of St. Aidan's, near Middlesbrough, he found his flock without a place of worship. For a time he was at his wits' end and knew not what to do, for the cost of even a temporary wooden structure was far beyond the very limited means of the poor neighborhood. But, tenacious to his purpose and a man of resource, he did not remain long idle, and having been fortunate enough to secure a suitable site, set to work himself to dig the foundations.

Such energy and enthusiasm proved contagious, and every Saturday afternoon, and often, too, on other evenings after working hours, a crowd of willing assistants might be seen aiding their pastor in his laudable design. Gifts of timber, bricks, glass, slates, etc., were not wanting, and after several weeks of hard but pleasant toil these zealous workers were rewarded by the possession of a church of which any parish would have been proud.

A worthy missionary, the Rev. E. J. Peck, rose to the occasion when, having no church for his Eskimo congregation, he constructed one out of snow-blocks—a rude but efficient structure, that served its purpose of protecting its occupants from the biting winds that often raged around. The seats, the altar, and all else within were likewise made of snow.

On Blackhead Island, Cumberland Sound, this same missionary displayed his further ingenuity by utilizing in the erection of a place of worship some forty sealskins, which were sewn together and stretched over a frame-work of whale's ribs. For seats old provision boxes and boards did duty. The pastor, however, reckoned without his parishioners' dogs, which, pressed by hunger, partially devoured the church, and were only driven off with great difficulty. The rents that their voracity had made in the sealskins were subsequently mended with pieces of canvas and old sacks.

The Chapel of Transfiguration, which belongs to Conanicut Island, Narragansett Bay, is built on wheels so that it can be transferred from place to place as need requires. During the summer it is stationed at Conanicut Park, near Jamestown, but when approaching winter drives people from the hotel and adjoining houses, the church moves likewise, and follows its congregation into winter quarters. Its removal necessitates the employment of a team of twenty oxen.

Along the nine miles of navigable canal that lie within the boundaries of the parish of Holme, Hunts, is towed a structure somewhat similar in appearance to a house-boat. This is the floating church of St. Withburga, to which flock such of the inhabitants of the neighboring fens whom distance, or other reason, precludes from attending the parish church.

This unique place of worship, which is built upon a flat-bottomed lighter, is 30 feet in length by 7 feet in height, and cost $350 to erect. It contains, in addition to benches for the choir, thirty-six chairs for the use of the congregation, a small organ, and a reading desk. On the whole it answers most satisfactorily, though certain of the worshipers have, through the gentle rocking of the boat, experienced at times the qualms of sea sickness.

A Blast From Labouchere.

I am not a connoisseur of philosophy any more than of poetry. Much that passes as fine philosophy strikes me as very poor stuff, and whenever I have formed this opinion about the writings of any particular philosopher, frequently more than one, takes the same view. I suppose it is as easy to set up as a philosopher as to set up as a journalist. The first essentials—after pen, ink and paper—are a smattering of general knowledge and the power of concealing poverty of thought by grandiloquent obscurity of expression. A new system of philosophy—and the fashions in such goods change almost as quickly as in bonnets—is generally constructed by clothing threadbare ideas in new words and phrases and contradicting one or more of the acknowledged masters of the craft, ancient or modern.—London Truth.

The "Dog Wagon" in London.

London by night is shortly to have a unique attraction in the shape of an elegant traveling restaurant, which will perambulate the street for the benefit of those who desire refreshment better than that provided at the ordinary coffee stall, says The London Mail. The traveling restaurant consists of a lavishly ornamented van some twenty feet long by six in width, with a doorway at the side, to which the customer ascends from the street by a miniature flight of steps. Colored glass panels bearing allegorical designs form the windows round the sides, and the back of the car bears in large letters the announcement, "Night lunch."

A Cheerful Custom.

In certain back country districts of England on Jan. 1, which is called Childermas, every child is soundly spanked before breakfast. The date is supposed to be the anniversary of the actual day upon which Herod slew the innocents. Therefore, to keep the memory of the slaughter fresh in the minds of the rising generation, subscribers to the ancient customs are bidden to whip their children before they rise on the morning of that day.

Self Made.

A Philadelphian was at an evening gathering recently, where he met a widow to whom he wished to be especially complimentary. "The fact is," said he during the after dinner conversation, "you women make fools of the men."

"Sometimes, perhaps," said the widow carelessly. "Sometimes we don't have to."

THE TRADE OF THE SUEZ.

Interesting Report by the British Consul at That Port—British Vessels Outnumber All Others Together.

A report on the trade of Suez by the British Consul at that port, contains some interesting and useful information, not only in regard to the trade of Suez, but also as to the proportions of the tonnage of different nations that passed through the Suez Canal last year. So far as Port Said itself is concerned, the imports, which amounted during the past year to £E917,000, show a decline of £E96,000, the largest proportion of the loss falling on the United Kingdom, whose exports to Port Said were reduced by nearly £E69,000—the result of smaller shipments of coal. On the other hand, the purchases from Germany increased from £E19,500 in 1901 to £E30,600, and those from France from £E125,000 to £E128,000, the improvement in the former case being due to the recent establishment of a German coal company's workshop and store, and in the latter case to stores supplied for the Suez Canal Company. But while imports at Port Said have declined, the exports have made a decided spurt, the value last year being £E82,700, as against £E23,200 in 1901. This considerable jump is caused by a new and very promising trade in cotton, which began last winter with the eastern provinces of the Delta. In this connection, it is interesting to note that the construction of an ordinary gauge railway from Ismalia to Port Said is making progress, and it is hoped that the line will be open for traffic within two years' time, when it is expected that it will help to carry cotton from the interior for export.

Mr. Cameron next proceeds to discuss the traffic of the Suez Canal. During the year 3,708 vessels, of a total tonnage of 11,248,000 tons, passed through the Canal, as compared with 3,699 vessels, of 10,824,000 tons, in 1901, showing an increase of nine vessels and 424,000 tons. Of these 3,708 vessels, 2,733 were merchant cargo vessels, 822 mail steamers, and 153 warships and transports. The transit receipts in 1902 amounted to £E4,148,800, and were higher than in any previous year, showing an increase over 1901 of £E133,300. This good result, the Consul says, has not been due to any exceptional or temporary cause, but solely to the increased activity in trade and to the improvement in Indian agricultural produce, and he expresses the view that it presents a character of stability, full of assurance for the future. The mean net tonnage per vessel has risen from 2,926 to 3,034 tons. The following table shows the number of vessels which passed through the Canal in 1902:

Flag.	Number vessels.
United Kingdom	2,165
Germany	480
France	274
Netherlands	218
Austro-Hungary	139
Russia	110
Japan	61
Italy	85
Spain	30
Norway	41
United States of America	21
Denmark	14
Turkey	38
Greece	14
Sweden	7
Egypt	6
Portugal	8
Other countries	2
Total	3,708

It will be observed that out of a total of 3,708 vessels, 2,165 were British, an increase of 90 over 1901. British tonnage has also risen to 6,773,000 tons from 6,253,000 tons in 1901, and surpasses the former highest total of 6,586,000 tons in 1899. German tonnage has decreased from 1,763,100 tons in 1901 to 1,707,000 tons in 1902, and German vessels from 511 to 480. Thus, the percentage of British vessels and their tonnage has risen to 58.4 and 60.2 per cent. respectively, as against 56.1 and 57.8 per cent. in 1901, while the percentage of German ships and tonnage has dropped to 12.9 per cent. and 15.2 per cent. respectively, as against 13.8 per cent. and 16.3 per cent. in 1901. There has not been any noteworthy change in the percentage of other foreign countries. These figures apply to the general total of 3,708 ships of all kinds. If, however, we consider only merchant vessels, the British percentages are still more satisfactory, being 69.7 per cent of the number and 72.5 per cent. of the tonnage. German tonnage is 13.3 per cent., and France, the Netherlands, Austria-Hungary, and Russia combined furnish a total of only 11.5 per cent. of the merchant tonnage of the carrying trade with the East. These facts are reassuring, and show that the British mercantile marine is holding its own on the Canal route with seven-tenths of the vessels and nearly three-quarters of the net tonnage.

Primitive Plowing in England.

On the outskirts of the little village of Codford, pleasantly situated almost in the heart of the famous Wiltshire downs, the old traditions of plowing by oxen are still faithfully preserved. For years and years past C. Nutley has had many of his broad acres of land furrowed by the aid of pairs of oxen yoked to the plows. The sight has attracted numerous tourists passing along the Codford road, and many of these have stopped to secure snap shots as interesting mementos.

British Mortality.

In England Roman Catholic priests die at the rate of 18 per 1,000 per year; Protestant clergymen, 11 per 1,000, domestic servants, 8 per 1,000; lawyers, 16 per 1,000; cabmen, 26 per 1,000; soldiers die off at the rate of 5 per 1,000 under normal conditions while on the battlefield taken from a record of the past twenty years, death is only at the rate of 15 per 1,000 per year.

AFTER FIFTEEN YEARS

EARTH IS AGAIN MRS. FLORENCE MAYBRICK'S TO INHABIT.

Most Famous Murder Trial in the Last Quarter of the Nineteenth Century—Story of the Case Which Ought Hereafter to Be Buried—The Famous Trial—Great Petitions for Her Release.

Florence Maybrick, after having served nearly fifteen years in prison for the murder of her husband, James Maybrick, is a free woman. The earth is again hers to inhabit. Sunshine, the winds, trees, and the sea are words which must now take on a new meaning for her. Perfect liberty as one understands it who has never risen to the bad eminence attained by Mrs. Maybrick can never be known to her again. Wherever she goes she is marked. "There goes Mrs. Maybrick," whispered excitedly wherever she is known, will bind her to the past as with fetters. Officially, it is probable that in a few weeks she will be as free as the air. At present she is out of Aylesbury Female Convict Prison on ticket-of-leave. At regular intervals she must appear before some police official and give an account of herself. Failing in this, she may be rearrested. She has also been restrained from appearing on the stage, or from writing a book on her case, or otherwise drawing attention to herself any more attention than it is possible to avoid. Such a prohibition was placed upon Frank James and one of the Younger brothers, notorious Western desperadoes who paid the penalty of their misdeeds, and are now earning honest livelihoods. The British Government has given Mrs. Maybrick her liberty. Let her quietly accept the boon, and withdraw herself from the world's stage. Years ago she played her part out. They want to hear and see no more of her.

The End of the Case.

It is to be hoped that the end of Mrs. Maybrick's imprisonment will also be the end of the case which was the most famous murder trial of the last quarter of the nineteenth century. It has been discussed pretty steadily ever since James Maybrick was found dead in his Liverpool home one day in 1889. Only too often have these discussions been bitter in the extreme. At one time, indeed, they had provoked a spirit in the United States which was in favor of a quarrel with Britain. In the United States the responsible journals abandoned the subject years ago, convinced that no good purpose could be served by commenting on it, but among less scrupulous newspapers the case has been a stock topic at all times. When it was announced last March that British justice was almost through with Mrs. Maybrick, there was a flood of articles. Later on both Ambassador Choate and Secretary Hay announced that they knew nothing of the British Government's intention, and further, that they were making no efforts on Mrs. Maybrick's behalf. This was the signal for more Maybrick hysteria. A writer in the Buffalo Times excelled his contemporaries in the intemperance of his remarks. As had been done often before, this gentleman—a Mr. Thorn—made the case a peg on which to hang a skein of arguments showing that the British Government was rotten to the core, that the late Queen Victoria was personally spiteful against Mrs. Maybrick, and that King Edward should abdicate. We fear that Mr. Thorn's egotism may cause him to cherish the hallucination that he has rescued Mrs. Maybrick.

Maybrick and His Wife.

While it is probable that the great question of Mrs. Maybrick's guilt or innocence will never be so plainly established that everyone will be of one mind on it, there are many facts which have not been disputed. That Mrs. Maybrick was an unfaithful wife is one of these. That the man she betrayed was a brute seems equally sure. Evidence was presented showing that Maybrick was not above using his fists on the woman he had sworn to love and cherish. He had blackened her eyes, and ordered her out of the house. Then, when she was going, he weakened and would not let her go. Maybrick, as may be imagined, did not beat his wife as a means of taking exercise. He was jealous of a man named Brierly, and subsequent events showed that his suspicions were well founded. Whether Mrs. Maybrick consoled herself with Brierly because her husband illused her, or whether her offence led to the other's brutality, is a vexed question. Violent scenes were common in the household, the two children which had been born to the couple seeming to have no restraining influence with either father or mother. Then, suddenly, Maybrick died. The doctor gave a death certificate, and he was buried. The gossip of a servant fell on official ears. There was an investigation. The body was exhumed and examined, and Mrs. Maybrick was arrested.

The Famous Trial.

Then began the famous trial which marshalled the greatest lawyers in England. Sir Charles Russell, afterwards Lord Chief Justice, defended Mrs. Maybrick. The trial judge was Sir Fitzjames Stephen. For weeks the legal battle raged, with the result that these facts were established: Arsenic had been found in Maybrick's stomach, arsenic also had been found in the house. Mrs. Maybrick, an unfaithful wife, had once tried to give her husband some broth which contained arsenic. Maybrick was an arsenic-eater, he was proved to have bought the poison. The defence asserted that there was not enough arsenic in the dead man's stomach to have caused his death, and that there was no proof that even this insufficient quantity had been administered by his wife. After the sentence had been passed additional evidence as to Maybrick's arsenic appetite was available. The alternative theory of the defence was that the dead man was accidentally poisoned by tainted food. In summing up, Sir Fitzjames Stephen occupied two days. He charged against the prisoner, and the jury required a deliberation of only 38 minutes to return a verdict of guilty. The death sentence was passed. The scaffold was erected.

The Great Petitions.

Then, for the first time, the full meaning of the verdict dawned on Mrs. Maybrick's friends in England and the United States. In the former country the consensus of opinion was against her, but in her native land she was regarded as a martyr. The most largely signed petitions of modern times were circulated. They bore signatures of some of the most distinguished American families, names great in the history of art, literature, science, politics, and the Church. They were poured in on the English Home Secretary, and, unable to resist the pressure, he compromised by substituting imprisonment for life for the death sentence. For all practical purposes, Mrs. Maybrick has served her sentence. British justice is satisfied, and now, as best she may, she can gather up the broken pieces of her life.

NOT WORTHY OF SCOTLAND.

Sir Charles Dalrymple, M.P., on the Position of Scotland.

In the course of an address at Inveresk the other day, Sir Charles Dalrymple, M.P., said that he had, personally, from time to time, resented the old and almost profane remark that a Scotchman is one who keeps the Sabbath and everything else he can lay his hands upon. He was not quite sure but that he was inclined to affirm the saying. It is an excellent thing when they could see a Scotchman in these very much changed days who kept the Sabbath, and he thought a Scotchman had a perfect right to keep what he got his hands upon—if it belonged to him. (Laughter.) As Scotsmen they ought to hold together, but he sometimes thought that Scottish people were needlessly touchy. They fancied themselves attacked and fancied encroachments from England when none were intended. They had only to think of the positions held by Scotsmen in the affairs of the nation and wherever British rule extended, and in many places where British rule did not extend. Scotsmen had stamped their customs, methods and individuality on all that concerned the British Empire, and from the east and from the west, and from the north and from the south people came to Scotland, drawn to the various sacred shrines—shrines of natural beauty, of poetical memories, of literary and historical meaning. If they were not the predominant partner in point of numbers, he ventured to say that they were equally as predominant as any other in force of character, in education, in commercial activity, and in general science. There was no room for touchiness, for touchiness was foreign to greatness—touchiness was a note of smallness and was not worthy of Scotland. (Applause.)

Some Fearful Figures.

Mr. Stead, as a journalist, has an unfailing scent for the interesting contrast, the startling table of statistics, says The London Chronicle. And having noticed that one newspaper had organized a census of London's church-going population, he inaugurated his new "Daily Paper" with a census of the Sunday frequenters of the public house. Paddington is selected as a typical district; and the resultant figures will surprise many who have gone through life with eyes shut and imagining that formal Christianity has a real hold upon the lower middle classes. To put the case boldly and roughly, there are 142,600 people in Paddington. Of these 31,331 were found at church, chapel or meeting-hall, and 122,175 were found in public houses. From the fact that the men in public houses exceeded by more than twenty thousand the male residents of Paddington, we must infer that many paid more than one visit. Women in church are more than twice as numerous as men; of 81,625 there were found 28,118 visitants to licensed premises. But even these figures need not hurry us into hysterics, much as we may regret the comparative failure of the Church to attract Paddington. The public house is often the only place where friends can meet. The real sting of the tale comes with the children under fifteen years of age; for of these less than seven thousand were in church, and more than ten thousand were found entering the public house.

A Leaf for a Tent.

What trees bear the largest leaves? An English botanist tells us that it is those that belong to the palm family. First must be mentioned the inaja palm, of the banks of the Amazon, the leaves of which are no less than fifty feet in length by ten to twelve in width. Certain leaves of the Ceylon palm attain a length of twenty feet and the remarkable width of sixteen. The natives use them for making tents. Afterward comes the cocoanut palm, the usual length of whose leaves is about thirty feet. The umbrella magnolia of Ceylon bears leaves that are so large that a single one may sometimes serve as a shelter for fifteen or twenty persons.

JAMES CRAIG'S BODY TAKEN TO THE GRAVE.

Funeral of the Unfortunate Man Took Place Yesterday.

The funeral of the late James Craig, of Lakefield, who died so suddenly after eating a few sardines, which, on his death-bed, he complained as tasting very bitter, took place yesterday afternoon from the Craig House, Lakefield, to the Little Lake Cemetery. The funeral was very largely attended, the cortege extending some considerable length. The members of Otonabee and Peterborough Lodges, I.O.O.F., and the Independent and Ancient Order of Foresters, to which Orders the deceased was attached, met the corpse on the outskirts of the town and joined the procession.

Bro. Wm. Hill acted as chaplain and conducted the services at the grave side.

AN EVIDENCE OF PROGRESSIVENESS.

An Addition to the Store Equipment of the Golden Lion.

In keeping with the general spirit of progressiveness possessed by the Golden Lion proprietor, an addition has been made to the equipment of the store, which greatly enhances the beauty of the exterior of this modern establishment. Mr. Fair has purchased and has just had placed in position three large and exceedingly handsome plate glass showcases, extending to the floor, technically known as "Silent Salesmen." These show cases are the most modern accessories to a modern store, and are the best of the kind to be had. They are made of plate glass top, front and ends, while plate glass mirrors form the back. The fittings are of quarter-cut oak, and are extremely handsome. A new system of lighting is in use in these cases, which show up the goods contained in them to good advantage. The metal fittings are all ozodized copper, and are in keeping with the general make-up of the case, which will be used to display fancy goods and smallwares, such as handkerchiefs, ladies' neckwear, gloves, belts, etc.

Mr. Fair has spared no expense to make his beautiful store equal to any city establishment.

MRS. ALEX. STEWART PASSED AWAY.

Died on Saturday Afternoon Funeral To morrow.

The death occurred on Saturday afternoon, about 2.30 o'clock, of Mrs. Alexander Stewart, aged 65 years, at 270 Brock street.

The deceased was a native of Muirkirk, Scotland ,being born in the year 1838. She came with her parents to Canada when aged ten years, settling at Peterborough, and has lived here ever since.

Two years ago she was predeceased by her husband, and leaves Mrs. Wm. Church, of Mount Julian, a sister, to mourn her loss. She was a staunch member of St. Andrew's church, and at the evening service yesterday, Rev. J. G. Potter spoke briefly and feelingly on her good and faithful work in the church.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock, from 270 Brock street, to the Little Lake cemetery. A short service will be held at the house at 2.45 o'clock.

WOMAN INJURED IN A RUNAWAY.

Engine Blowing off Steam Frightened Horse Which Bolted.

On Saturday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock an accident occurred at the C.P.R. station which fortunately was not attended by any very serious consequences. An engine was standing in front of the station about 150 feet from George street when a sleigh in which were two men and a woman passed. Just as they were approaching the track the safety valve of the engine blew off steam which freightened the horse causing it to bolt down the track towards the bridge. The animal became unmanagable and when a short distance from the street ran upon a snowbank upsetting the sleigh and throwing the occupants out. The lady whose name cannot be learned suffered some slight injury and the men were more or less shaken up but no very serious results followed. The horse was stopped and the sleigh righted and brought back to the street.

No blame is attached to the C.P.R. employees. The engine was standing well back from the street consequently the gates were up.

COURT OF ASSIZES HEAVY BUSINESS.

Mr. Justice Teetzel Presiding at Assizes With Long List of Cases.

Eleven Civil and Two Criminal—Paolo and Crockford Will be Tried.

The Court of Assizes opened here this afternoon before Mr. Justice Teetzel. Eleven cases, four jury and seven non-jury, and two criminal—King vs. Crockford, and King vs. Paolo. This is a heavier list than has been on the docket for a number of years.

The members of the bar present were: H. O'Leary, Lindsay; R. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr, D. O'Connell, Edmison, S. T. Medd, G. J. Sherry, Norwood; R. F. McWilliams, D. W. Dumble, J. Green, E. B. Edwards, R.E. Wood, O. A. Langley, Lakefield, and L. F. Clarry, Hastings.

The Grand Jury was composed of Messrs. J. H. McClelland, merchant, Peterborough, Forman; F. Burgess, druggist, Lakefield; R. Darling, farmer, Smith; E. M. Elliott, farmer, Smith; Jas. Elmhurst, farmer, Otonabee; J. A. Fife, farmer, Otonabee; Jos. Foster, gentleman, Peterborough; Robt. Hunter, farmer, Dummer; Adam Hall, merchant, Peterborough; John McMillan, blacksmith, Norwood; P. McNulty, farmer, Asphodel; J. B. Peoples, farmer, Belmont; David Welsh, farmer, Burleigh.

In addressing the Grand Jury, His Lordship commented briefly on their duties, remarking that there were only two criminal cases for their investigation. The one was a serious charge against a foreigner for assaulting his brother and stabbing him with intent to do serious bodily harm, and the other a charge against a man for sending a letter to the wife of a Baptist minister, in which he threatened to murder her husband.

In conclusion His Lordship said it was their privilege and duty to visit and inspect the various institutions in the county upon which public moneys were expended, mentioning the gaol, hospitals and Court House.

The following is a synopsis of the cases:

JURY CASES.

Pogue vs. Canada Foundry Company, of Toronto, is a jury case in which the plaintiff, John Pogue, of Peterborough, a mechanic, claims $1,000 damages for injuries sustained by the collapse of an alleged defective scaffold used in connection whit the construction of a large building in town. Daniel O'Connell for plaintiff; Dennistoun, Peck, Kerr & Stevenson for defendant.

Bladge vs. C.P.R. is a case in which Oliver Bladge ,a labourer of town, claims $2,000 damages for injuries received as the result of alleged negligence of defendants foreman or superintendent by being struck with heavy steel or iron rail falling from a car which plaintiff was assisting to load during construction work in the township of Asphodel and Otonabee. D. O'Connell for plaintiff; Angus McMurchy for defendants.

Edward McPherson, of Bancroft, is the plaintiff, and F. W. Watkins, Dominion Land Surveyor of Norwood, is the defendant in a case in which former claims for wages, and services of a team and wagon hired to defendant, and for transportation expenses in a return trip from Saskatoon to Norwood, the sum of $391, and for damages and breach of a contract entered into in April, 1903, the sum of $300, together with costs of the action. George E. Thrasher of Stirling for plaintiff; G. J. Sherry, Norwood, for defendant.

Hopkins vs. Perdue is a case in which $2,000 damages for assault is claimed. H. O'Leary, Lindsay, for plaintiff; Dumble & Johnston for defendant.

NON-JURY CASES.

Salome Hannah Dafoe, widow of the late John William Dafoe of Belmont is the plaintiff, and the defendants are James Wilde, and Mary A. Lasher, James Nelson Dafoe, executrix and executor of the last will and testament of the late John Willard Dafoe, in an action for dower out of an estate in Belmont, owned by the late John Willard Dafoe, and damages for wrongful detention of dower and profits from 14th day of December, 1901. In their statement defendants set forth that plaintiff was ever married to the said John Willard Dafoe or his widow, that if such was the case (which they do not admit) she had forfeited her right to dower. John English, Napanee, for plaintiff; H. M. Deroche, Napanee defendants' solicitor.

James Bogue, contractor and builder, is plaintiff, and the American Cereal Company the defendants, in a case in which the point at issue is payment of a balance alleged to be due on the construction of certain buildings. In October, 1901, plaintiff agreed to erect on the lands of defendants an elevator for the sum of $15,567, and certain extra work for $325. The work was completed and payment was made to the extent of $8,866.51. In July 1901, Bogue was joined by Donald McDermid to do certain work in erecting a boiler house, drying house and mill, and foundation of a cleaning house for $68,996, and certain additional work. A certain portion was executed, and in November, 1901, it was agreed that defendants should complete the work, using plaintiff's tools, appliances and material. McDermid transferred his interest to plaintiff, and the latter claims the sum of $10,532.10, which, with the balance of $7,025.49, making in all, $17,557.59, with interest, he seeks to recover.

Defendants deny an agreement to pay plaintiff the sum of $15,567 ,and state plaintiff was paid in full for any work done on the elevator which is on the lands of Hydraulic Power Co. They deny the July contract, and the one referred to by plaintiff purports to be signed without authority to act on behalf of defendants, by one William Scott. It becoming apparent that the contract would not be executed in the time specified, the defendants took over the work, the plaintiff retiring from his position, and entered employ of defendants as foreman. Defendants claim that there was the amount of $2,567.67 overpaid to plaintiff as shown by final certificate of the architects, and deny that they are indebted to plaintiff in any sum whatever. Hall & Hayes for plaintiff; Dennistoun, Peck, Kerr and Stevenson for defendants.

Jane Fife, wife of Robert Fife ,the defendant, who resides in Smith, are the parties in an action in which the former claims alimony. Dumble & Johnston for plaintiff; Hall and Hayes for defendant.

Thos. Fraser of Norwood, administrator of estate of the late Ezekiel Nixon is plaintiff, and Elizabeth Ann Clarke, sole executrix of the last will and testament of the late Stephen Clarke is defendant, in a case in which the former claims $995.62, the principal and interest thereon, in redemption of mortgage, or in default the sale of premises concerned. George J. Sherry, Norwood, for the plaintiff; A. B. Colville, Campbellford, for defendants.

William Christie, the elder ,and Margaret Christie of Asphodel, are plaintiffs, and John Harrison and Richard Walsh, are defendants, also of Asphodel, in an action claiming for plaintiffs the execution of a trust deed made by their son, William Christie, for the sum of $465, and interest thereon. D. O'Connell for the plaintiff; Hall and Hayes for defendants. In another case the plaintiff and defendants are the same, and action is set to set aside a lease and to recover possession of certain property.

William H. Haslem, Victoria Adelaide Haslem, Alfred H. Haslem, Florence May Haslem, Walter O. Haslem, Maud Louise Haslem, Margaret Haslem, administratrix of the estate of Wm. Haslem, late of Lindsay; brewer, deceased ,are plaintiffs, and the Equity Fire Insurance Company are the defendants in an action brought to recover $2000, the amount of an insurance policy on property on which plaintiff held a mortgage from the owner, J. F. Cornell. The defendants claimed that damage to property referred to had been appraised at $1,012, which amount they were willing to pay. D. O'Connell for plaintiff, and Irwin & Jones, Toronto, for defendants.

CRIMINAL.

The two criminal cases are those of Crockford and the Italian, Paolo. The facts in connection with these cases are familiar. Crockford is charged with writing a letter to Rev. Mr. Lorrimer with a threat to kill, and Paolo is charged with attempted murder, the victim being his own brother. Mr. Hugh O'Leary of Lindsay, will conduct the Crown cases.

MEETINGS IN ST. PAUL'S AND CHARLOTTE STREET

Miss MacDonald, National Secretary of Y. W. C. A. Gave Two Addresses.

At the Charlotte street church yesterday afternoon a mass meeting for women was held, Mrs. (Dr.) Scott presiding. Miss Macdonald the National Secretary of the Y. W. C. A. who is shortly going to Japan spoke on the possibility of starting Association work in that country.

After the evening service at St. Paul's church last night Rev. Dr. Torrance presided over a similar meeting. Miss Macdonald gave an interesting address on the Y.W.C.A. and the needs of young women nowadays.

Mr. Colville the Railway Secretary at Toronto and formerly Secretary of the local branch of the Y.M.C.A. made a special appeal for the new Association building. Both meetings were well attended.

Mr. Dench presided.

A. O. H. ATTEND DIVINE SERVICE.

Were at St. Peter's Yesterday Morning for Holy Communion.

Yesterday morning the members of Division No. 1, Ancient Order of Hibernians, attended holy communion in St. Peter's cathedral at 8 o'clock. Mass was celebrated by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor. The members to the number of about 110, assembled in the Convent Hall, and under the direction of Mr. H. Gainey marched to the Cathedral. At the conclusion of the service they formed a procession and marched to the hall, Hunter street, where they disbanded. The Hibernians the world over are obliged to receive Holy Communion on the Sunday before March 17th — the feast of the patron saint of Ireland.

Spring Dress Goods Opening.

On Monday, March 14th, our stock of Dress Goods will be complete for this season, and we are pleased to say that here you will find the greatest collection of Dress Goods and the prettiest designs ever shown in any town in Canada with even twice the population of Peterborough.

We are Out for Business. —Come in and see us. You can tell at a glance that this store means business. We have the goods; we have the premises; we have the facilities; we have the salespeople, and we have the prices.

A Comparison.—Just to give you an idea of the immense showing of Dress Goods here, our assortment this season is twice as large as ever shown in past seasons by us. That's something worth talking about, is it not?

We do not, as a rule, like to talk boastfully, but when it comes to Dress Goods we think we have a right to insist upon our position. You know we always did carry the largest assortment of Dress Goods in the Midland district, and when we can say truthfully that this season our assortment is twice as great as formerly, we think we have some right to boast of it.

Not Mere Bulk.—We want to emphasize the fact that our assortment is not mere quantity, gathered promiscuously together, as if bulk was the important idea, but a carefully selected and assorted stock, comprising the greatest and finest aggregation of Dress Fabrics ever shown in this district.

The range of our stock is just about practical, as we have Dress Goods of all grades in price, up to the very best that can be obtained for money anywhere.

Our Dressmaking Departments are now in full blast—trade is opening up with a rush—orders are pouring in rapidly. You know we have Two Dressmaking Departments, under separate heads, both first-class in every particular. We guarantee you satisfaction.

Come any Day, on and after March 14th, and see the great collection of Pretty Dress Materials. We will be pleased to show them to you.

Spring is at Hand —All the other departments in this store will be found to compare favourably with our Dress Goods showing. Importations are coming forward steadily. We are hard at it making preparations for our Millinery Opening, which will be held on Wednesday, March 23. We want you to look forward to that day with expectation. We are going to have the finest Millinery Exhibition ever held in this town.

DAUGHTERS OF ERIN ANNIVERSARY DAY

Was Celebrated in St. Andrew's Church Yesterday.

Sermon by Rev. J. G. Potter to Young Women Their Influence in the World Some Practical Lessons.

Yesterday at St. Andrew's church, the anniversary of the Daughters of Erin was celebrated, a special sermon being preached at night by the pastor, Rev. J. G. Potter. In opening his address Mr. Potter referred to the good work done by the society in missionary enterprises, and hoped that the example set by them would be imitated by other young women in Peterborough.

The church was crowded last night and the service was a most fitting one, special music being rendered by the choir, assisted by Miss Violet B. Smith, Mr. Sidney Glass and Mr. A. E. Young, of Toronto, each of whom sang a solo, while Miss Miller and Mr. Young at the close of the sermon, sang a duet, "I will live and love thee." Their voices blended well, and they sang with excellent effect.

Rev. Mr. Potter spoke on the text, "But one thing is needful, and Mary hath chosen that better part which shall not be taken away from her." Luke x, 42. In opening he spoke of the work of the Daughters of Erin, and said it was a pleasure to him to participate in the anniversary. That the society had been successful was due to the fact that a deep interest had been taken by the different members. God calls us to work, through His word, and opens up different ways to carry out His will, and only as we put our hearts in our work can we be helpful. The Daughters of Erin is an organization which is doing good work. It has a definite aim, which is one of the essentials to success in any line of endeavour. The society has set a worthy example, which the young women might do well to follow. The reason why Christianity is so firmly embedded in the human life is because of its personality. This is exemplified in the life and work of Christ. He took an interest in the persons of whom the text referred to, members of the home in Bethany. Christ's interest, however, was not centred in Martha, whose whole thought seemed to be that of serving, but He was more appreciative of the desire of Mary to converse with him, and to Martha's request that He bid Mary help her, He made an unexpected reply.

Often in life this is the case. We may be busy, but not doing work of the kind that God wants, and Christ often offers reproof. The things may be good, and lawful, but not the best things. Christ is interested in the development of the best part of the life, and often inspires this development by kindly reproof. Thus persons should not become angry when their minister calls their attention to some faults which they have, but should rather thank him for taking enough interest in them to point the faults out. Christ did not condemn the work of Martha, but pointed out that she was living on too low a plane.

Cumbered, careful, troubled. Many lives are influenced by these, and the development of the best part of their nature hindered by them. "One thing is needful," not what we shall eat or what we shall drink, or wherewithal we shall be clothed. But there is a good part which shall not be taken away. There is a nobler life to live than that represented by Martha's anxiety about the material things.

There is a relative moral value of a life devoted to doing good. In order to be of the greatest benefit in the world, young women must come into touch with Jesus Christ. Only as we seek to make religion the thing of most importance in our lives can we be successful. God gives us the present to be interested in and to be used to do good in the world, and make it better. With the great priviledges God has given us nothing should keep us back from Christ's service. Every young woman should be identified with some branch of church endeavour. The Y.W.C.A. in Peterborough is doing a splendid work and is meeting with marked success. He was greatly pleased to see the way it was being supported, and at this time when the work needs special interest and help, he hoped the work done by the Association would be recognized, and that it would be able to erect a building which would be a credit to the town.

Young women in their church work, should become fitted for larger duties, and work done now will bring its reward in the future. Young women had a great influence in uplifting the community and all should recognize this fact.

In contrast to Martha, who was fretting over pots and pans, Mary, in order to be better fitted to be of service to the world, was content to sit at Jesus' feet and learn of Him. God had placed in the keeping of young women an influence, which, if rightly used, would regenerate the world.

LATEST NEWS OF SPORT.

Examiner Team Champions of the Press League—Late Sporting News of an Interesting Character.

EXAMINER HOCKEY TEAM CHAMPIONS.

Defeated Review Team Saturday Night by 5—1.

Won the Round by 8-2, and Clearly Demonstrated Their Superior Ability Some Features of the Game.

The Examiner hockey team are now champions of the Peterborough Press League. On Saturday night that honour was won when they defeated the team representing the Review by the score of 5—1, which, with the score of 3—1 in the former game, gives the champions the honour of being leaders in the League by a total score of 8—2 on the round.

Since the game earlier in the season when the Examiner won, hands down, trebling the score on the other fellows, the latter have been claiming that the victory was a "measly, squibby, flukey" one, and that the real strength of the team was not displayed on that occasion. In view of this fact, the winning team, although they had virtually won the championship, agreed to play a second game in which an opportunity would be given the losers to show what they really could do with their "strongest" team on the ice. After having accepted the proposition generously made by the Examiner team, the Review sports evaded the question as long as possible, presumably in the hope that before the game could be played, the ice would have disappeared. However, by dint of hard work the Examiner team's manager succeeded in arranging for the game, which was played Saturday night before 600 spectators, 599 of whom were Examiner supporters.

The Review team came on the ice sure of victory, for had they not on their line-up the famous "Alfie" Smith, the player who was the "star" forward in the Eko Camp-C. D. A. game on Thursday night, when his team doubled the score on their opponents. This combined with the fact that their centre player, Rev. an Nathaniel Jolliffe, had been putting in his spare time during the weeks intervening between this and the preceding game, chasing the puck in the back yard, and brushing up his memory in all the tricks of hockey play, of which he had ever heard, and and that the point man, Sampson Moore, was in the pink of condition to put into effect the most modern and improved methods of laying out the opposing men, having had an interview with the members of the Brandon team, who on Saturday afternoon passed through on their way from Ottawa, and from them learned the way the Ottawas "do it," had inspired the Review team and their one supporter with confidence in their ability to turn the tables on the victorous team in the last game.

They reckoned without their host, however, and Saturday night's game proved to be a greater landslide than the previous contest, notwithstanding the fact that their very strongest team was on the ice, including a goal keeper, who had seen service on a city team, owls upon whose work there is no reflection cast, because had it not been for his splendid work in stopping the shots which poured in on him from every side, the score would have been at least quadrupled. As it was the Exam's located the nets 5 times, while the other fellows were credited with one solitary goal, which Gilman practically gave them.

There were some features of the game which must have been apparent to even the most casual observer, one of these was the regrettable lack of science displayed by the losers. When they saw that the game was going against them, they resorted to the most questionable tactics, and that the members of the winning team are able to be out of bed at all is due principally to their ability to evade the attacks made upon them with hockey sticks. Reneau N. Jolliffe, it must be confessed, was the greatest offender in this regard, and time and time again he was warned by the referee, who at last, when he found that warnings were of no avail, ordered him out of the game for five minutes. The point player, Sampson Moore, was also guilty of some highly objectionable work, particularly when, without the slightest provocation he deliberately tripped one of the defence men on the Examiner team, and when he was down, jumped upon him. It must have been, however, pleasing to the numerous spectators, to witness in contradistinction to the rough play of the losers, the clean and gentlemanly work of the winners, and that this feature was appreciated was evidenced by the hearty applause which the winning team received. The one player on that team who was penalized, (for a very minor offence) took his punishment gracefully, and the team, as a whole, fully sustained its reputation for playing a clean, scientific game.

It was seen, as soon as the play began, that the Review team was no match for the Examiner players, the latter scoring the first goal in three minutes, Henry doing the trick. Three more were sent into the nets in quick succession, scored by Henry and Richea, making the score 4—0, at which figures it stood at half time. With one of the defence men off the Examiner team, the Review scored, Canniff putting in the shot, which Gillman let go past him to please them. The winners then scored another, making the final score 5—1.

For the winners, Gillman in goal, was a stonewall. He played a phenomenal game, and plainly showed his ability as a goal keeper of more than ordinary promise. LaPierre at point proved a most valuable man. He blocked the rushes of the opposing forwards, and on more than one occasion took the rubber into the enemy's territory. Hutchinson played his old position at cover point, and was frequently made the object of attack by the forwards of the Review team. The forward line of the Examiner was composed of Long, Henry and Richea, and was a formidable one, and against them the Review defence could do but little. Richea was particularly effective and was in the game right to the last. Henry's rushes puzzled them all, and Long by his steady work, proved a winner.

There is no discounting the work of Lewis in goal for the losers. That he was not to blame for the defeat all must admit, and had the remaining defence players on the team paid more attention to playing hockey and less to pugilistic encounters, the team might have fared better. Moore, at point, actually stopped the puck four times, and once rushed the rubber to centre ice, when he had reached which point he evidently considered discretion the better part of valour, and returned to the end to confer with his trainer as to whether he thought the exertion would affect him seriously. Mowry frequently got in the way of the puck, and occasionally in the way of a player on the opposite side—result, a clean spot on the ice. On the forward line the players were all stars — falling stars. Jolliffe, resplendent in a costume not his own, went through some gymnastic exercises on the ice, which, while they look nice, don't win games. Alfie Smith, the much-touted wing, of whom so much was expected, also participated in the defeat. Canniff, the imported man, was pitted against Richea, the fast little wing man on the winning team, who ran away from his check at every stage of the game.

The teams were:—

Examiner.	Review.
Goal.
Gillman	Lewis
Point.
Lapierre	Moore
Cover-point.
Hutchinson	Mowry
Centre.
Long	Jolliffe
Right wing.
Henry	Smith
Left wing.
Richea	Canniff

CAUGHT IN THE NETS.

Mr. H. R. H. Kenner, the referee, remarked after the game that the winning team deserved to win, and that they played far superior hockey.

In the referee's estimation Jolliffe and Moore of the Review team, are the roughest players he ever saw on skates.

The fair referee who officiated in the previous game, expressed regret that she could not also act in the same capacity on Saturday night. She gave as her reason the fact that her sympathies were with the Examiner team, and that she could not consistently referee a game in which a team of which she was a supporter, was participating. Prior to the first game she was impartial, but by their work in that game the Examiner players so favourably impressed her that she became one of their most outstastic supporters.

The Review goal-keeper was heard to remark that he felt like a Shanghai rooster with the shin pads on. At the expiration of the first half he discarded the pads, and did much better work.

The Review goal keeper played a rather loose (Lewis) game.

"Bobby" Long wishes it made known that a very suspicious looking optic which he carries was not caused by a street fight. The injured peeper is a memento of Saturday evening's game, and was the result of a little encounter with one of the Review sluggers.

The Marlboro hockey team, with the same line-up that played here on Wednesday night, with one exception, defeated Stratford Intermediate champions in the Mutual street rink, Toronto, on Saturday night by 10 to 5. A little figuring on this game may be interesting. Peterborough defeated Marlboros 20 to 4, and Marlboros with a team no stronger than that which played here, defeated Stratford 10 to 5. Very little speculation is required to decide which of the three teams is the better.

JACK CARTER'S TERRIBLE SEVEN ARE CHAMPIONS.

Captain D. Belland had his team in good form Saturday night when they defeated the spinning room by a score of ten to one. White McGee proved himself to be a faster man than his brother who plays for Ottawa. Jack Johnston, from Omemee, played for the spinners. Crowe, Clancy, Morry and La Plante all played a good game. Mercer as referee, gave good satisfaction. After the game Mr. Carter and his team were dined at an oyster supper at the National Hotel.

The line-up was as follows: Spinners—Goal, Hallan; point, Thompson; cover point, Frost; forwards, McGee, Johnson, Revie, Wilson.

Terrible Seven—J. Belland, goal; W. McGee, point; Crowe, cover point; forwards, Clancy, La Plante, Morry and Jeffries.—Com.

MISSION CIRCLE ELECTED OFFICERS.

Murray Street Society's Annual Meeting Held Friday.

The anual meeting of the Women's Mission Circle of the Murray street Baptist church was held in the basement of the church on Friday evening and was well attended. In response to an invitation members of sister societies in town showed by their presence, interest in mission work by joining to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the society. After devotional exercises, including an excellent Bible reading by Miss Dickson, on "The Great Commission," the business was taken up and reports were read. The secretary's report showed a membership of eighty, ten more than last year. An address by Mrs. Owen, of the Barnardo Home, was listened to with much interest. Her remarks were drawn from personal observations while travelling in the Northwest. She dwelt on the need and difficulty of giving the gospel to all in that broad land as regards the Indians, the foreign population pouring in, and those from the older provinces of our Dominion. Miss Macdonald, provincial secretary for the Y. W. C. A., and who has been appointed a missionary to Japan then addressed the meeting on the topic "The Necessity of the World's Redemption." This was threefold: 1st, the need of the great non-Christian world; 2nd, the need of the church; 3rd, the need that Jesus Christ be made known in the word. A solo by Mrs. J. Miller was much appreciated. Kindly greetings were presented from the following societies: St. Paul's, George Street, St. Andrew's and St. Paul's Mission. A few parting words from the retiring president, Mrs. Dr. Scott, who had filled that position for four years, called forth regret from the circle that, owing to other responsibilities, she could not accept the position this year.

MISS FOSTER AS MARY MAGDELENE.

An English Contralto Who Will Appear Here on April 14th.

When Edwin Elgar, the now famous composer of "Gerontius," wrote "The Apostles," for the recent Birmingham Festival, for which he was paid the fee of five thousand dollars, the largest sum of money ever given to any composer for the creation of a new work; Miss Muriel Foster, who is to sing in Peterborough on April 14th, was engaged to create the part of the Mary Magdalene. The London Times, in its criticism of the great performance at Birmingham, refers to the contralto as follows: "The soloists, one and all, deserve the highest praise, as do the beautiful chorus and the fine orchestra. If we must differentiate between the first, we are inclined to place in front Miss Muriel Foster for her beautifully dramatic, yet restrained and thoughtful translation of the part of the Mary Magdalene. All her music is sung with intensity and devotion, thoughtfully studied, and completely assimilated, which never falls of realistic interpretation; added to all is the gift of a God-given voice." Miss Muriel Foster socially is a great favorite, and made an abundance of friends in Canada four years ago when touring with Madame Albani, who first brought to the notice of the public the merits of this now famous contralto. Her appearance at a time when she is displaying all that is best within the human voice has aroused a keen desire on the part of concert goers to hear this gifted lady at her concert in this city. It will be given in Peterborough on April 14th, one of a series arranged by Mr. C. A. E. Harriss. Miss Foster is now filling important engagements in the States.

The Examiner, a few days ago, contained an advertisement of Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons for a traveller. After this advertisement had been inserted in a couple of issues the firm 'phoned this office, saying, "for goodness' sake take out that advertisement; we are swamped with replies"—a proof of the fact that the Examiner's advertising columns are read, as it was also a proof that the firm of J. J. Turner & Sons is one well known as manufacturing a quality of goods easy to sell, hence the large number of applicants. This is another evidence of the value of the Examiner as an advertising medium.

THE MUNICIPAL ACT

By Government Amendment Controllers May Be Unseated.

THE BRIDGEBURG POOL-ROOM

Government Attacked By Mr. Lennox Under the Guise of a Question of Privilege—Manitoulin Colonization Roads the Subject of Debate on Returns Being Moved For—Legislature Proceedings.

Toronto, March 12.—Mr. Crawford's motion for leave to introduce a bill to amend the Municipal Act was the first matter in the Legislature yesterday. The proposed bill embodies the legislation asked by the City Council that quo warranto proceedings be made applicable to Controllers, that witnesses be compelled to answer questions in an investigation under section 324, even should the answer incriminate the witness, and that a particular scrutiny of ballots may be ordered by the Judge. Mr. Foy assisted in explaining the bill.

Hon. Mr. Gibson said that at the request of the city he had the matter under consideration, and that the amendment regarding Controllers would probably appear in the Government bill.

Mr. Crawford said he had understood that the Government would not object. It was important to deal with the matter now. The bill might go to committee to be discussed there.

Hon. Mr. Gibson pointed out that the time for the introduction of such a bill had passed, and added that it would be better to adhere to the rules as they had done usually. Something of what Mr. Crawford aimed at could be achieved in another way. The matter was now in his hands to be dealt with. The rule had never been transgressed, and there would be no hardship if his suggestion was followed. There need be no doubt that the act would be made to apply to the Controllers.

Breach of Privilege.

Mr. Downey, when the orders of the day were called, called attention to a despatch in The Globe stating that there was a pool-room near Bridgeburg, and proceeded to attack the Government, but was called to order.

Hon. Mr. Gibson said that he had made investigation and found there was no pool-room in Bridgeburg. Everyone knew there was a pool-room in or near Fort Erie and that frequent attempts had been made to break it up. If any member wanted to bring up the Fort Erie pool room matter again in the ordinary way, all well and good, but he protested against attacks upon the Government under the guise of a question of privilege.

Mr. Gamey moved for a return of all correspondence respecting the issue of pound-net fishing licenses in 1902 in the waters between Killarney and Little Current. He asserted that the Noble Bros. were the only people in the locality who favored the renewal of the licenses. The matter had, he said, figured in the elections of 1902, and it was rumored that certain people on the outside had received money for using their influence with the Government to issue the licenses.

Hon. Mr. Latchford said that at the time the fisheries were taken over by the Province from the Dominion there were eleven pound-net licenses, and they had been issued for many years, with one exception, when there was a strong agitation against them. It was a vexed question in the district. The correspondence would be brought down.

Manitoulin Roads.

Another motion moved by Mr. Gamey called for correspondence in regard to the appointment of a person to oversee the expenditure of $400 granted in 1902 for repairs to a colonization road in Manitoulin. Mr. Gamey said that, in reply to a previous question, the Premier had said that the money had not been expended because the Department had been unable to obtain an overseer. He had not much fault to find with the colonization road expenditures, and if the Government would restore the grant he would undertake to get them an overseer and not criticize him for the way in which he expended the money.

Hon. Mr. Latchford replied that, although a thorough search had been made, no correspondence had been found. It was strange that the hon. member for Manitoulin had not called the Government's attention to the non-expenditure of that grant "some time during the fall of 1902 or some other time when he stood so high, as he says, in the favor of the Government."

Mr. Gamey—What about my offer?

Mr. Latchford—I am afraid at the present moment I can give no promise.

Mr. Whitney wondered at the Commissioner of Public Works expressing surprise that Mr. Gamey had not asked for the expenditure of the grant in the fall of 1902. Did he expect him to ask for the earth. He had asked for a number of things, and apparently everything he had asked for he received.

Hon. Mr. Gibson—Oh, nonsense.

Mr. Whitney—Granted at the time, I won't say they were carried out.

Mr. Gibson—He says himself he could not get promises.

Continuing, Mr. Whitney said that whatever pitfalls in his early career Mr. Gamey had been exposed to, he had at least been the origin of a new definition, that which the statutes declared to be a corrupt practice, liable to fine and imprisonment, the distinguished Commissioner had called political conciliation.

Care of Neglected Children.

Mr. Graham got a return of correspondence between the Government and the president of the Children's Aid Society of Brockville, in reference to the arrest and imprisonment of certain young lads in 1902-3 and 4.

To Mr. St. John the Attorney-General said J. J. Kehoe was District Attorney for Algoma since March 6, 1884. He had received the nomination for the House of Commons, and had resigned in January, but the resignation had not been accepted, no conclusion having been arrived at as to the appointment of his successor.

The Attorney-General informed Mr. Powell that the Government was aware of the existence of mortgages on the railway and steamship lines of the Lake Superior Consolidated, but could not state the amounts.

First Readings.

Mr. Hendrie introduced a bill respecting the Hamilton Radial Electric Railway Co.; Col. Munro, to confirm bylaw 519 of the County of Oxford; Dr. Jessop, to incorporate the St. Catharines, Pelham and Welland Electric Railway Co.; Mr. Guilford, respecting separate schools in the town of Sturgeon Falls; Mr. Tudhope, respecting the Irondale, Bancroft and Ottawa Railway Co.; Mr. Cline, to incorporate the Mount McKay Falls Co. and Kaministiquia Railway Co.

AN ABSOLUTE NECESSITY.

So Thinks at Least one Travelling Man.

I would as soon think of starting out without my mileage books and grip as to start out on a trip without a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in my valise, said a travelling man who represents a St. Louis hardware house. Why? Because I have to put up at all kinds of hotels and boarding houses. I have to eat good, bad and indifferent food at all hours of the day and night and I don't believe any man's stomach will stand that sort of thing without protest, anyway I know mine won't. It does have something to break the fall and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the crutch I fall back on.

My friends often "josh" me about it, tell me I'm an easy mark for patent medicine fakers, that advertised medicines are humbugs etc., but I notice that they are nearly always complaining of their aches and pains and poor digestion while I can stand most any old kind of fare and feel good and ready for my work when it needs me and I believe I owe my good digestion and sound health to the daily, regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, year in and year out, and all the "josh" in the world will never convince me to the contrary.

I used to have heartburn about three times a day and a headache about three or four times a week and after standing for this for four or five years I began to look around for a cratch and found it when my doctor told me the best investment I could make would be a fifty cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and I have invested about fifty cents a month for them ever since and when I stop to think that that is what I spend every day for cigars, I feel like shaking hands with myself for I can keep my stomach and digestion in first class order for fifty cents a month. I don't care for any better life insurance.

My druggist tells me they are the most popular of all stomach medicines and that they have maintained their popularity and success because they do as advertised. They bring results, and results are what count in a patent medicine as much as in selling barbwire.

Keep Lough Foyle.

London, March 12.—At the meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, a resolution was submitted by the Londonderry Chamber affirming that the interests of Great Britain and Ireland would be best served by the continuance of Lough Foyle as a port of call for the Canadian mail boats. This was carried by a vote of 26 to 19.

Britain's Estimates.

London, March 12.—An additional vote of $350,000 for the British exhibit at St. Louis, making a total of $750,000, is included in the civil service estimates for the coming year. These and the revenue departments total $233,952,835. The full estimates will show an expenditure for the years 1901-05 of about $710,000,000.

Penalty For Corruption.

London, March 12.—The Lord Chancellor's bill for the prevention of corruption, which has been issued and provides that any agent who receives, or any person who gives to an agent, a secret commission, or false receipt of account, shall be liable to two years' imprisonment or a fine not exceeding £500.

Not at Present.

London, March 12.—Colonial Secretary Lyttelton has telegraphed to Lord Milner, the British High Commissioner in South Africa, saying King Edward will not disallow the Asiatic labor importation ordinance. Mr. Lyttelton added: "The ordinance cannot, however, be brought into operation for the present."

Hanged Himself.

Napanee, March 9.—Daniel Henwood committed suicide about seven o'clock yesterday morning by hanging himself in his blacksmith shop. He was about 65 years of age.

WHAT AND WHY.

Why should substitutes for Scott's Emulsion be refused?

Because they do not begin to offer the equivalent of food-value contained in Scott's Emulsion.

Why should special care be taken to avoid so-called wines, cordials and extracts of cod liver oil?

Because they contain a large percentage of alcohol and afford only temporary stimulation.

Does not Scott's Emulsion also stimulate the body?

Yes, but it is stimulation through nourishment.

What vital food principle is involved in the action of Scott's Emulsion?

Direct and perfect nourishment without tax on the stomach.

Opening of Parliament—Speech From the Throne.

THE G. T. PACIFIC AGREEMENT

Trade and Immigration Show No Signs of Any Abatement—Militia Bill With Important Amendments to Be Introduced—The Promise of a Short Session—New Members Introduced and Cheered.

Ottawa, March 12.—Parliament was formally opened by Lord Minto yesterday afternoon. As this will probably be the last opening at which the present Governor-General will officiate before his term of office expires an unusually large crowd was present to witness the ceremonies.

The Speech From the Throne.

The speech from the throne was as follows:

Hon. gentlemen of the Senate:

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

In again meeting you in Parliament it is our first duty to express our heartfelt thanks to a beneficent Providence for the abundant harvest with which the country has been favored during the past year, and for the general prosperity that prevails in all parts of the Dominion.

Trade and Immigration.

It is very gratifying to note that the yearly increasing trade of Canada, which has been so marked a feature of the past six years, gives no indication of any abatement, while the number of settlers seeking homes in Manitoba and the Territories is without a parallel in the history of the country. These two very important facts lead irresistibly to the conclusion that long before the trans-continental railway authorized by Parliament at its last session can possibly be completed its urgent necessity as a medium for carrying the products of the West to our own Atlantic ports will have become apparent independent of the many benefits that will follow from the opening up for colonization and for various enterprises of the north in parts of Quebec and Ontario.

G. T. Pacific Agreement.

The agreement made with the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company regarding a new trans-continental railway contained certain stipulations which, in effect, required the G.T.P. Company of Canada to become a party to that agreement and to assume heavy obligations in respect thereof.

Further consideration of the agreement by the representatives of the Grand Trunk Railway Company and my Government has resulted in showing the desirability of certain amendments to the contract which, having been approved by my Government, and subsequently by the Board of Directors and the shareholders of the Grand Trunk Company, will be submitted to you for ratification.

The sum of $5,000,000 in cash has been deposited in the Bank of Montreal in accordance with the provisions contained in the original and supplemented agreements with the company.

New Militia Bill.

A Militia Bill will be introduced containing several important amendments to the present law, rendered necessary by the growth of the force and calculated to promote its efficiency.

A copy of the award defining the boundary between the Dominion and Alaska and other papers connected with the controversy will be laid before you.

In view of the widely extended settlements now forming in the Territories, it will become necessary to increase the strength of the North-west Mounted Police force, and authority will be asked for that purpose.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

The accounts of the past year will be laid before you. I am glad to say that the revenue will exceed the expenditure, leaving a balance to be applied in reduction of the public debt.

The estimates for the coming year will be laid before you at an early date.

A Short Session.

Hon. gentlemen of the Senate:

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

After the long protracted session of the last year, when so many important matters were dealt with, it is not probable that your duties will involve your being detained on the present occasion for any lengthened period. I commend, however, to your best consideration the subjects to which I have referred and I invoke the Divine blessing on your deliberations.

New Members Introduced.

The proceedings in the Commons were brief. Six members elected at the recent bye-elections were introduced. Mr Rivet of Hochelaga, was introduced by the Premier and Hon. Sydney Fisher. Armand Lavergne, the 23-year-old representative of Montmagny, had for his sponsors Sir Wilfrid and Louis Lavergne. Hon. H. R. Emmerson and Mr. McKinnon of Prince Edward Island, introduced Mr. Hazard of West Queen's.

These introductions brought forth loud Liberal cheers, which had hardly faded away when Mr R. L. Borden and Mr. Clancy entered with Mr Armstrong of Lambton. The Opposition was energetically applauding when Sir Wilfrid Laurier stood up with the evident intention of making a formal motion.

"Hold on there, we have two more," shouted an enthusiastic Oppositionist, and the Prime Minister, very much amused, made way for the introduction of Mr. J. J. Donnell of East Bruce by Mr. Borden and Ed. Clarke, and John W. Daniels of St. John, by Mr. Borden and Mr. A. A. Lefurgey.

Contract Nearly Printed.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier stated in reply to Mr. Borden that the Grand Trunk Pacific contract as amended, would be placed at the disposal of members to-day. He introduced a few formal motions relating to the election of standing committees, and then moved the adjournment of the House.

THE METRIC SYSTEM.

Probability of Its Being Adopted by British Parliament.

There is just a chance that in a couple of years' time the Englishman will have to buy his tobacco by the gram or centigram, and measure his Brighton walks by the kilometre. Lord Belhaven is to introduce a bill in Parliament for the compulsory adoption of the metric system of weights and measures in the British Isles.

Lord Belhaven is a prominent member of the Decimal Association, and has been chosen by the executive committee to lodge this bill in the Lords. Lord Kelvin, of the executive committee, is strongly backing him.

The bill proposes the compulsory adoption of the metric system of weights and measures in the United Kingdom at the expiration of two years after the passing of the act. Any persons contracting after that date by the medium of other than the metric system will be subjected to a penalty.

A representative of The Daily Chronicle asked Mr. E. Johnson, the secretary of the Decimal Association, his opinion on the prospects of the bill. That gentleman replied that they were backed by 298 members of Parliament, all but thirty-seven of these allowing their names to appear.

Most of the city, borough, and county councils were also supporting, in addition to ninety-six school boards representing a population of 10,652,539. The countries which had already adopted the metric system represented a population of 483,215,862.

"The chief reason, out of many," said Mr. Johnston, "why the metric weights and measures should be made compulsory is that we now make difficulties for ourselves in relation to our foreign trade with metric countries, and lose business because we do not manufacture and sell in terms of the metric system."

Kilts and Pipes at Dinner.

A Highland dinner is a very smart affair, and one that is never seen south of the Tweed, says The London Times. The laird wears his full-dress kilt every night, and everyone with any claim to a clan does the same, so there are more kilted men around the table than black coats. Alas! some of the nouveau rich seem to think because they rent 20,000 or 30,000 acres of shooting they are qualified to don a kilt, too, but nothing is more ridiculous. It is a dress that only belongs to the descendants of the Highlands. The Duke of Sutherland wears a tweed kilt when he wanders about Dunrobin, while the Dukes of Athol, Buccleuch, and Montrose all wear their tweed kilts by day and their tartans by night. One has only to look into a shop at Inverness to see what an endless number of clans there are, and, as some of them have a hunting tartan as well as an ordinary one, the collection of plaids and brooches is surprising to a Southerner. The full-dress kilt is splendid, and a man to the manner born looks far better in it than in any other clothes. It gives width, height and dignity to the wearer, with his shayd, sporran and brooches. Not only does the laird wear his Highland dress, but toward the end of dinner, his piper, who has played in the hall outside during the meal, comes into the room and marches around the table. The pipes are a little deafening near to, but the player looks so fine one is glad to see him. Most of the pipers in the noble families have inherited the position from their ancestors, and are rightly proud of the post. After dinner, if there is a big house party, there is often a dance. Then the piper is at his best, as he plays his music for the lightsome reels to be danced, beating time with his foot the while.

Nervous Disorders and Despondency

Mind and Body Become Diseased and Helpless When the Nervous System Becomes Exhausted.

The future of the sufferer from nervous derangement is not a bright one.

Locomotor ataxia, paralysis and insanity are staring him in the face, for these are the usual results of neglected nervous diseases.

Because there is not usually much pain associated with derangements of nerves people fail to realize their danger.

They forget that sleeplessness, irritability, loss of memory, lack of energy and vitality, spells of weakness and dizziness, tired feelings, discouragement and despondency are symptoms more to be dreaded than great pain, because the mind is well as the body is threatened.

There is no more satisfactory means of forming new blood and creating new nerve force than by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

This great food cure acting through the medium of the blood and nerves instils new vigour and vitality into every part and organ of the body.

It forms new nerve cells and new muscular tissue and while it invigorates the mind it adds new, firm flesh to the body. You can prove this by weighing yourself while using it.

With new vigour comes new hope and confidence and weakness and disease give place to strength and energy.

Mr. J. Love, 247 Hunter street, Peterborough, and who is employed with the Peter Hamilton Company, states: "For a long time I was troubled with severe splitting headaches, and suffered a great deal with pains in the region of my heart, caused no doubt by indigestion. I procured a box of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and began this treatment. Since using this preparation for some time I can say that I feel quite different, and my health is very much improved. My digestion is good, and the headaches and pains about the heart have not troubled me at all of late. I can sincerely recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a thorough cure for nervous dyspepsia and its accompanying symptoms."

Dr Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealer, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto.

To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

CHAPTER XIV.

New York, December.

After German Philosophy and Hamilton's Metaphysics, it is a great relief to have introduced into the family an entirely new element—a character the dissection of which is at once a novelty and a recreation. It is absolutely refreshing, and I find myself returning to my books with increased vigor after an encounter with that unsophisticated, innocent-minded creature, our sister-in-law, Mrs. Wilford Cameron. Such pictures as Juno and I used to draw of the stately personage who was one day coming to us as Wilford's wife, and of whom even mother was to stand in awe. Alas! how hath our idol fallen! And still I rather like the little creature, who, the very first night, nearly choked mother to death, giving her lace streamers a most uncomfortable twitch, and actually kissing father—a thing I have not done since I can remember. But then the Camerons are all a set of icicles, encased in a refrigerator at that. If it were not, we should thaw out, when Katy leans on us so affectionately, and looks up at us so wistfully, as if pleading for our love. Wilford does wonders: he used to be so grave, so dignified and silent, that I never supposed he would bear having a wife meet him at the door with cooing and kisses, and all. Juno says it makes her sick, climbing into his lap right before us while mother is dreadfully shocked; and even Will sometimes seems annoyed, gently shoving her aside and telling her he is tired ...

After all, it is a query in my mind whether it is not better to be like Katy than like Sybil Grandon, about whom Juno was mean enough to tell her the first day of her arrival.

"Very pretty, but shockingly insipid," is Juno's verdict upon Mrs. Wilford, while mother says less, but looks a great deal more, especially when she talks about "my folks," as she did to Mrs. Gen. Reynolds the first time she called. Mother and Juno were so annoyed, while Will looked like a thunder-cloud, when she spoke of Uncle Ephraim saying so and so. He was better satisfied with Katy in Europe, where he was not known, than he was here, where he sees her with other people's eyes. One of his weaknesses is a too great reverence for the world's opinion, as held and expounded by our very fashionable mother, and as in a quiet kind of way she has arrayed herself against poor Katy, while Juno is more open in her acts and sayings, I predict that it will not be many months before he comes to the conclusion that he has made a mesalliance, a thing of which no Cameron was ever guilty.

I wonder if there is any truth in the rumor that Mrs. Gen Reynolds once taught a district school, and if she did, how much would that detract from the merits of her son, Lieutenant Bob. What nonsence to be writing about him. Let me go back to Katy, to whom Mrs. Gen. Reynolds took at once, laughing merrily at her naive speeches, as she called them—speeches which made Will turn black in the face, they betrayed so much of rustic life and breeding. I fancy that he has given Katy a few hints, and that she is beginning to be afraid of him, for she watches him constantly when she is talking, and she does not now slip her hadn into his as she used to when guests are leaving and she stands at his side, neither is she so demonstrative when he comes up from the office at night, and there is a look upon her face which was not there when she came. They are "toning her down," mother and Juno, and to-morrow they are actually going to commence a systematic course of training preparatory to her debut into society, said debut to occur on the night of the ——, when Mrs. Gen. Reynolds gives the party talked about so long. I was present when they met in solemn conclave to talk it over, mother asking Will if he had any objections to Juno's instructing his wife with regard to certain things of which she was ignorant. Will's forehead knit itself together at first, and I half hoped he would veto the whole proceeding, but after a moment he replied:

"No, providing Katy is willing. Her feelings must not be hurt."

"Certainly not," mother said. "Katy is a dear little creature and we all love her very much, but that does not blind us to her deficiencies, and as we are anxious that she should fill that place in socity which Mrs Wilford Cameron ought to fill, it seems necessary to tone her down a little before her first appearance at a party."

To this Wilford assented, and then Juno went on to enumerate her deficiencies, which, as nearly as I can remember, are these. She laughs too much and too loud; is too enthusiastic over novelties; has too much to say about Silverton and "my folks"; quotes Uncle Ephraim and sister Helen too often, and is even guilty at times of mentioning a certain Aunt Betsy, who must have floated with the ark, and snuffed the breezes of Ararat. She does not know how to enter, to cross, or leave a room properly, or receive an introduction, or, in short, to do anything according to New York ideas, as understood by the Camerons, and so she is to be taught—toned down, mother called it—dwelling upon her high spirit as something vulgar, if not absolutely wicked. How father would have sworn, for he calls her his little sunbeam, and says he never should have gained so fast if she had not come with her sunny face and lively, merry laugh, to cheer his sick room. Katy has a fast friend in him. But mother and Juno—well, I shall be glad if they do not annihilate her altogether, and I am surprised that Will allows it. I wonder if Katy is really happy with us. She says she is, and is evidently delighted with New York life, clapping her hands when the invitation to Mrs. Reynold's party was received, and running with it to Wilford as soon as he came home. It is her first big party, she says, she having never attended any except that little sociable in Boston, and those insipid school-girl affairs at the seminary. I may be conceited—Juno thinks I am—but really and truly, Bell Cameron's private opinion of herself is that at heart she is better than the rest of her family, and so I pity this little sister of ours, while at the same time I am exceedingly anxious to be present whenever Juno takes her in hand, for I like to see the fun. Were she at all bookish, I should avow myself her champion, and openly defend her, and so I give her into the hands of the Philistines, hoping they will, at least, spare her hair, and not worry her life out on that head. It is very becoming to her, and several young ladies have whispered their intention of trying the effect upon themselves, so that Katy may yet be a leader of fashion.

CHAPTER XV.

Such fun as it was to see mother and Juno training Katy, showing her how to enter the parlor, how to arrange her dress, how to carry her hands and feet, and how to sit in a chair—Juno going through with the performance first, and then requiring Katy to imitate her. Had I been Katy, I should have rebelled, but she is far too sweet-tempered and anxious to please, while I suspect that fear of my lord Wilford had something to do with it, for when the drill was over, she asked so earnestly if we thought he would be ashamed of her, and there were tears in her great blue eyes as she said it. Hang Wilford! Hang the whole of them; I am not sure I shall not yet espouse her cause myself, or else tell father, who will do it so much better.

Dec.—th.—Another drill, with Juno commanding officer, while the poor little private seemed completely worried out. This time there were open doors, but so absorbed were mother and Juno as not to hear the bell, and just as Juno was saying: "Now imagine me Mrs. Gen Reynolds, to whom you are being presented," while Katy was bowing almost to the floor, who should appear but Mark Ray, stumbling square upon the ludicrous rehearsal, and, of course, bringing it to an end. No explanation was made, nor was any needed, for Mark's face showed that he understood it, and it was as much as he could do to keep from roaring with merriment; I am sure he pitied Katy, for his manner towards her was very affectionate and kind, and when she left the room he complimented her highly, repeating many things he had heard in her praise from those who had seen her both in the street and here at home. Juno's face was like a thundercloud, for she is as much in love with Mark Ray as she was once with Dr. Grant, and is even jealous of his praise of Katy. Glad am I that I never yet saw the man who could make me jealous, or for whom I cared a pin. There's Bob Reynolds up at West Point. I suppose I do think his epaulettes very becoming to him, but his hair is too light, and he cannot raise whiskers big enough to cast a shadow on the wall while I know he looks with contempt upon females who write, even though their writings never see the light of day; thinks them strong-minded, self-willed and all that. He is expected to be present at the parity, but I shall not go. I prefer to stay at home and finish that article entitled "Women of the Present Century," presented to my mind by my sister Katy, who stands for the picture I am drawing of a pretty woman, with more heart than brains, contrasting her with such a one as Juno, her opposite.

January 10.—The last time I wrote in my journal was just before the party, which is now over, the long talked of affair at which Katy was reigning belle. I don't know how it happened, but happen it did, and Juno's glory faded before that of her rival, whose ringing laugh frequently penetrated every room, and made more than one look up in some surprise. But when Mrs. Humphreys said: "Isn't that charming little Mrs. Cameron, the prettiest creature I ever saw, her laugh is so refreshing and genuine," the point was settled, and Katy was free to laugh as loudly as she pleased.

She did look beautifully, in lace and pearls, with her short hair curling on her neck. She would not allow us to put so much as a bud in her hair, showing in this respect, a willfulness he never expected, but as she was perfectly irresistible, we suffered her to have her way, and when she was dressed, sent her in to father, who had asked to see her. And now comes the strangest thing in the world.

"You are very beautiful, little daughter," father said. "I almost wish I was going with you to see the sensation you are sure to create."

Then straight into his lap climbed Katy, father's lap, where none of us ever sat, I am sure, and began to coax him to go, telling him she should appear better if he were there, and that she should need him when Wilford left her, as of course he must part of the time. And father actually dressed himself and went. But Katy did not need him after the people began to understand that Mrs. Wilford Cameron was the rage. Even Sybil Grey in her palmiest days never received such homage as was paid to the little Silverton girl, whose great charm was her perfect enjoyment of everything, and her perfect faith in what people said to her. Juno was nothing and I was worse than nothing, for I did go after all, wearing a plain black silk, with high neck and long sleeves, looking, as Juno said, like a Sister of Charity.

Lieut. Bob was there, his hair lighter than ever, and his chin as smooth as my hand. He likes to dance and I do not, but somehow he persisted in staying where I was, notwithstanding that I said my sharpest things in hopes to get rid of him. He left me at last to dance with Katy, who makes up in grace and airiness what she lacks in knowledge. Once upon the floor she did not lack for partners, but I verily believe danced every set, growing prettier and fairer as she danced, for hers is a complexion which does not get red and blowsy with exercise.

Mark Ray was there, too, and I saw him smile comically when Katy met the people with the bow she was making at the time he came so suddenly upon us. Mark is a good fellow, and I really think we have him to thank in a measure for Katy's successful debut. He was the first to take her from Wilford, walking with her up and down the hall by way of reassuring her, and once as they passed me, I heard her say:

"I feel so timid here—so much afraid of doing something wrong—something countrified."

"Never mind," he answered. "Act yourself just as you would were you at home in Silverton, where you are known. That is far better than affecting a manner not natural to you."

After that Katy brightened wonderfully. The stiffness which at first was perceptible, passed off, and she was Katy Lennox, queening it over all the city belles, drawing after her a host of gentlemen, and between the sets, holding a miniature court at one end of the room, where the more desirable of the guests crowded around, flattering her until her little head ought to have been turned if it was not. To do her justice she bore her honors well, and when we were in the carriage and father complimented her upon her success, she only said:

"If I pleased you all I am glad."

So many calls as we had the next day, and so many invitations as there are now on our table for Mrs. Wilford Cameron, while our opera-box between the scenes, is packed with beaux until one would suppose Wilford might be jealous, but Katy takes it so quietly and modestly, seeming only grateful for his sake, that I really believe he enjoys it more than she does. At all events, he persists in her going even when she would rather stay at home, so if she is spoiled the fault will rest with him.

February —th.—Poor Katy! Dissipation is beginning to wear upon her, for she is not accustomed to our late hours, and sometimes falls asleep while Esther is dressing her. But go she must, for Wilford wills it so, and she is but an automaton to do his bidding.

Why can't mother let her alone, when everybody seems to be satisfied with her? Somehow she does not believe that people are as delighted as they pretend, and so she keeps training and tormenting her until I do not wonder that Katy sometimes hates to go out, lest she shall unconsciously be guilty of an impropriety. I pitied her last night when, after she was ready for the opera, she came into my room where I was indulging in the luxury of a loose dressing-gown, with my feet on the sofa. At first I think she liked Juno best, but latterly she has taken to me, and now sitting down before the fire into which her blue eyes looked with a steady stare she said:

"I wish I might stay with you here to-night. I have heard this opera before, and it will be so tiresome. I get so sleepy while they are singing, for I never care to watch the acting. I did at first when it was new, but now it seems insipid to see them make believe, while the theatre is the sensation you are sure to create."

In less than three months she had exhausted fashionable life, and I looked at her in astonishment, asking what would please her if the opera did not. What would she like?"

Turning her eyes full upon me, she exclaimed:

"I do like it some, I suppose, only I get so tired. I like to ride, I like to skate, I like to shop, and all that; but oh, you don't know how I want to go home to mother and Helen. I have not seen them for so long; but I'm going in the spring—going in May. How many days are there in March and April? Sixty-one," she continued, "then I may safely say that in eighty days I shall see mother, and all the dear old places. It is not a grand home like this. You, Bell, might laugh at it. Juno would, I am sure, but you do not know how dear it is to me, or how I long for a sight of the huckleberry hills and the rocks where Helen and I used to play."

Just then Will called to say the carriage was waiting, and Katy was driven away, while I sat thinking of her and the devoted love with which she clings to her home and friends, wondering if it were the kindest thing which could have been done, transplanting her to our atmosphere, so different from her own.

The Start

In married life is generally made on an equal footing of health in man and wife. But how soon, in many cases, the wife loses the start and fades in face and fails in flesh, while her husband grows even more rugged and robust.

There is one chief cause for this wifely failure and that is, the failure of the womanly health. When there is irregularity or an unhealthy drain, inflammation, ulceration or female weakness, the general health is soon impaired.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures womanly diseases. It establishes regularity, dries unhealthy drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"A little over a year ago I wrote to you for advice," says Mrs Elizabeth J. Fisher, of Diana, W. Va. "You advised me to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' which I did, and with the most happy result. I was troubled with female weakness and bearing-down pains. Had a very bad pain nearly all the time in my left side, nervousness and headache. Was so weak I could hardly walk across my room. Could not sit up only just a little while at a time. My husband got me some of Dr. Pierce's medicine and I began its use. Before I had taken two bottles I was able to help do my work. I used three bottles in all and it cured me. Now I do all my housework. It is the best medicine I ever used."

QUOTATIONS ON THE WALL STREET MARKET.

The Fluctuations of the Leading Stock

The Wall street stock market had a strong undertone this morning and an advance of from 1-2 to 1 point was experienced in most of the active issues. There were exceptions, however, the principal of which was Metropolitan which continued its downward tendency and reached the low mark of 104 3-4. The decision in the Northern Securities case was handed out about half past eleven o'clock. It was against the Merger, and prices soon began to re-act. There were many very erratic issues, one of which was C.P.R., which opened at 110 and advanced to 111 and re-acted again to 110.

THE GRAIN MARKET.

The Chicago grain market opened strong following the Liverpool market. May wheat opened at 95 1-2 and advanced to 97. July (old) sold as high as 93 1-2 and new July as high as 92.

AN ACCIDENT AT INDIAN RIVER.

C. P. R Express Delayed Saturday Morning by Break-down.

The C.P.R. express from Montreal Saturday morning was delayed for upwards of six hours by an accident near Indian River. The train was going along at a fair rate of speed when one of the wheels of the tender broke in two, causing the truck to give way. The air brakes were promptly applied, and the train brought to a standstill without any of the other cars being derailed. A wrecking car was hastily despatched to the spot, and the damage repaired. The Havelock and Tweed tram, due in Peterborough at 7.12, was blocked for eight hours by this obstruction.

A number of passengers for Peterborough were on the train, who were greatly inconvenienced by the delay.

EXPRESS SLEIGH WAS DEMOLISHED.

Ran Between Rails and was Struck by Engine.

An express sleigh belonging to the Canadian Express Company, met with rather a severe shaking up on Friday evening. The drivers usually back their sleighs on the platform at a point opposite which the express car stops, and detach their horses. This was done on Friday evening, when they went to meet the 5.33 express from Port Hope.

The ice which had formed on the platform slanted towards the track, and just as the train was pulling in the sleigh slid down off the platform on to the tracks, and was struck by the engine, which completly demolished it.

Fortunately no one was on the sleigh at the time, and beyond the damage to the sleigh no injury was done.

HAVE THE POLICE GOT RIGHT MAN?

Arries, Contrary to Report, did not Confess A Good Case

There was a report around town this morning to the effect that Jesse Arries, whom the police are holding in connection with the recent cases of highway robbery and assault, had confessed himself guilty. Mr. R. F. McWilliams, when seen by the Examiner, said that this was not the case. In fact he had information by which he could positively show that in the case of the assault on Miss Melville, the prisoner was not in that part of the town at the time. He was confident of getting his client acquitted.

Government's Changing Policy on the Land Taxation Bill a Sign of the Coming Dissolution—Mr. Balfour's Evasions Created Profound Distrust of the Government—Balfour's Surrender.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

London, March 13.—Lord Rosebery, addressing a great free trade meeting at Newcastle on Saturday returned to his attack on Premier Balfour's charge of "calumny." In speaking as he did regarding the premier's statements to the cabinet he said that he had followed Lord George Hamilton's verbatim description of the two documents and for this he had been called a calumniator. The expression had not been withdrawn. "Altho," he continued, "I have long had a friendship with Balfour from no man in the world will I accept that description of myself without public and violent repudiation." It was his belief that Mr. Balfour's evasion with regard to the documents had created a strongly founded distrust of the government. The government's changing policy on the land taxation bill last Friday was a significant sign of a coming dissolution. His surrender to Mr. Chamberlain showed that the government was not its own master, but was dominated by the politician whose oratory descended from an exordium on the empire to a peroration on protection.

When Mr. Chamberlain left the government he left his son in control of the finances of the country—that is the key to the whole situation. The government's policy of retaliation was only a bathing machine—a temporary refuge in a storm. Lord Rosebery compared the present situation of the government to the position of Liberal party in 1886, owing to the Unionist secession. The free fooders had now a strong motive to join the Liberals until a free trade policy was assured. That part of Mr. Chamberlain's speeches where he said Britain was ready to make sacrifices in food and comforts to favor the colonies was illusory, and when the policy was forgotten would raise a torrent of discontent all over the country. The present state of things was doing incalculable commercial harm. When the Liberals were returned to power the empire would be kept together without any protective policy.

He had not always been able to see eye to eye with Sir William Harcourt in all things, intelligent public men rarely did so among themselves, but he recognized his great eminence, his intellectual capacity, his sturdy championship and high qualities in the political group to which he belonged and he would long remain one of the stately and memorable figures in parliamentary history.

Liberal Predicted to Win.

London, March 14.—The Daily Mail's election expert shows by conclusions drawn from the result of recen, by elections fought over the fiscal policy of the government that if the change of opinion is maintained it assures a Liberal majority of sixty over the Unionists—thus meaning that John Redmond and Home Rule will be the decisive factor in the next parliament.

Harcourt's View.

London, March 13.—Sir William Harcourt, writing to The Times with an analysis of Mr. Wharton's amendment, says that the debate made it evident beyond dispute that the Unionist party is protectionist, and its fundamental principle is that of taxation of food. Whatever Mr. Balfour may say, the judgment of the country will be taken on this issue.

Belcourt Vouched For.

London, March 14.—The Daily Chronicle, referring to the appointment of Mr. Belcourt as Speaker of the Dominion parliament, says Napoleon is an unusual name for the presiding officer of any British parliament, but it testifies to his excellent and fluent English in a privy council case two years ago.

Stead Ashamed.

London, March 14.—William T. Stead, speaking at Cape Town, declared that the late war was unjust and he was ashamed of his countrymen.

Bonus To Canadian Iron.

London, March 14.—Sir Charles Bright McLaren, M.P. (Liberal), will ask Austen Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, to-morrow, if he is aware of the increasing exportation of Canadian pig iron to England, and that it enjoys a bonus of 12 shillings per ton, and whether the government proposes to protect Britain from this unfair competition.

Buy Horses Here.

London, March 14.—The Morning Post advises the government to buy cavalry horses in Canada, where a useful five-year-old, harlier, sounder and more capable for work than an Irish horse can be bought for £20.

Claimed By Death at 117.

Deckerville, Mich., March 14.—Mrs. Adam Cart, for 40 years a resident of Forester township, died Saturday. Mrs. Cart claimed to be 117 years of age. To within the last few months she had been able to perform most of her household duties.

Died From Blood-Poisoning.

Frankford, March 14.—Rev. R. T. Courtice, pastor of the Methodist Church here, died Saturday, as a result of blood poisoning. Mr. Courtice was suffering from a malignant form of boil which struck downward and caused his death.

Morgan Buys Country Seat

London, March 14.—Aldenham House, which J. P. Morgan of New York is said to have bought, is a beautiful sixteenth century mansion, near Elstree, in Hertfordshire, with a modern wing, built about twenty-five years ago.

Strike in Rochester.

Rochester, N. Y., March 14.—The wagon makers employed in the 31 carriage factories in this city, and who are members of the Carriage and Wagon Makers' Union, announce that they will go on strike to-day.

Blow at Monks and Nuns.

Paris, March 14.—Premier Combes has taken another stride toward the suppression of the monastic orders. He has brought forward a bill suppressing all their schools and prohibiting monks and nuns from teaching, except in private. Substitutes for the schools abolished will be supplied by the State at a cost of $12,000,000, besides $1,500,000 for additions to the number of teachers.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

Navigation between Benton Harbor, Mich., and Chicago will open March 28.

George Jaggers was convicted at Newton, N. J., for murder. Bloodhounds traced him.

The United States Senate has ratified the treaty with Ethiopia, negotiated with Menelek II.

Fire from a defective chimney destroyed the brick residence of James Brown at Wardsville on Saturday.

The Windsor Standard has ceased daily publication, but will continue the weekly and Saturday editions.

As a result of a strike of telegraph operators on the N. and W. Railway, 325 Southern Express offices have closed. The strikers handled the express matter.

Brakeman Injured.

Tottenham, March 14.—Eddie Dickson, a G.T.R. brakeman, fell between cars while shunting here Saturday afternoon, and two wheels passed over his leg, breaking the right limb below the knee and cutting almost through the thigh of the left leg. The conductor pulled him out before the next wheels caught him. It is not thought amputation will be necessary. He was taken to the hospital at Barrie on the engine. He is a young man, a son of a widowed mother, who lives in Barrie.

British Cabinet's Thanks.

St. John's, Nfld., March 14.—Governor Boyle signed the French Shore Modus Vivendi Bill Friday, and Saturday he transmitted to the Legislature a message of thanks from the British Cabinet for the prompt and unanimous passage of the bill. The prospect of completing an Anglo-French treaty covering this matter of the French shore is understood to be good.

Run Over and Killed.

Montreal, March 13.—C. Smith, a C.P.R. detective, residing at 54 St. Lawrence street, was run over and killed by a train in the C.P.R. yards at Hochelaga Saturday morning. The General Hospital ambulance was called when the accident occurred, but before it arrived the man was dead.

Died From Draught.

Montreal, March 14.—Raoul Moison, a well known gentleman, died yesterday from the effects of a stimulant obtained in a drug store. The druggist also drank with Moison, became ill, but recovered. The nature of the stuff drank by the men will no doubt come up at the inquest.

James J. Hill's Not Interested."

Detroit, March 14.—A letter to The Free Press from Louis W. Hill, vice-president of the Great Northern, states that there is no truth in the report that James J. Hill has become interested in the so-called Clergue enterprises at the Soo.

Killed By a Fall of Coal.

Glace Bay, C. B., March 14.—John Ryan, aged 60 years, was instantly killed in the Caledonia pit on Saturday by a fall of coal. His body was terribly crushed. Ryan leaves a widow and four daughters.

Herd of 26 Buffaloes.

St. Paul, Minn., March 14.—J. J. Hill's buffalo herd now numbers 26.

Sam Hughes' New Position.

The appointment of Col. Sam Hughes as Railway Intelligence Officer at Militia Headquarters will entitle him to the privilege of wearing a staff uniform. His duties have not yet been publicly defined, but there is no fear at all, in Ministerial, Parliamentary, or militia circles, that he will fail in initiative in the matter of recording valuable information as to the location and possibilities of existing and projected Canadian railways, for military purposes. No one in Ottawa would be found to question his insight to Canadian railway matters. No one in his presence would easily charge him with ignorance of the military end of the game, and it stands to his credit as an intelligence officer that Lindsay, his home, heard of his appointment and published it to the world, before it had been officially promulgated at the Capital.

MOVEMENTS OF ARMIES ON LAND.

Japanese Ambuscaded by a Patrol of Cossacks.

Official Denial at Tokio of Alexieff's Report That Japanese Torpedo Boat was Destroyed—Another Unconfirmed Rumour Respecting the Fall of Port Arthur—Russians Block Port Arthur Harbour.

Special C. N. W. Despatch to the Examiner.

RUSSIAN FLEET LEFT PORT ARTHUR.

Tokio, March 15th.—It is strongly believed here that the Russian fleet abandoned Port Arthur after the fourth attack was made upon it by the Japanese fleet, and is endeavouring to reach Vladivostock.

REVERSES FOR JAPANESE.

London, March 15.—The Port Arthur correspondent of the Central News reports a skirmish between Cossacks and Japanese cavalry on the banks of the Yalu River. The Japanese horses were killed and the Japanese were forced to flee on foot. A second skirmish, he says, is reported near Anju in Corea in which the Japanese were repulsed. Grand Duke Cyril Valadivisovitch, the Czar's cousin, is expected to reach Port Arthur to-morrow.

St. Petersburg, March 15.—Gen. Zilinski telegraphs as follows under Sunday's date:

"On March 7 our patrol discovered four of the enemy's posts on the Changchengang River, and a troop of cavalry acting as scouts near Patetchen, northwest of Anju.

"A Japanese cavalry patrol fell into an ambuscade prepared by our patrol, and were dispersed, losing one killed. The Japanese left behind them a quantity of gun cotton and some swords and blankets.

"The population of Manchuria is quiet.

"On the night of March 11 the enemy's ships explored Helena Bay and the shore opposite Scrutchine with searchlights.

"According to information which has been verified, the Japanese have not made any attacks north of Gensan.

"The population along the Tumen River is favorable to us."

Just a Report.

Wei-Hai-Wei, March 15.—The Japanese here report that Port Arthur has been captured.

Alexieff Didn't Tell the Truth.

Tokio, March 15.—Viceroy Alexieff's despatch that a Japanese torpedo boat destroyer was sunk and the cruiser Takasago heavily damaged by the shell fire of the Russians during the fourth attack on Port Arthur, is officially pronounced untrue. The damaged Japanese torpedo boat destroyers can be repaired in one week, and it will not be necessary to dock them.

A supplementary report from Vice-Admiral Togo, concerning the effort made by crews of the Japanese torpedo boat destroyers in the action off Port Arthur on the 10th instant to rescue the crews of the disabled Russian torpedo boat destroyers, reached here to-day. Captain Shojiro Assi, commanding the flotilla of torpedo boat destroyers, states that the Japanese would have been able to rescue many more of the enemy, but for the deadly fire of the shore batteries and the close approach of the Russian cruiser Novik. The report also explains that four men rescued were not part of the crew of the Stereguschtchi, as originally reported.

When the Japanese rescuers reached the Stereguschtchi only the dead remained on board, and it is believed the living members of the crew jumped overboard and perished. Three of the Russians rescued are engineers and the fourth is a torpedo operator. Two of the captives were slightly wounded. They were all placed aboard a Japanese battleship and were given food and medicine.

Have Russians Blocked Harbor?

London, March 15.—A correspondent of The Daily Mail at Newchwang says that after the removal of the battleship Retvizan four Russian steamers, the Harbin, the Hailer, the Ninguta and the Sungari, were anchored at the mouth of the entrance to Port Arthur in proper position and sunk, leaving only a small channel available. Vice-Admiral Makaroff having previously ordered the whole fleet to remain outside with steam up, economy in coal being unnecessary.

The despatch, which is prominently displayed by The Daily Mail, and which the correspondent says is "Russian information," if true, is news of first importance, confirming the idea that Vice-Admiral Makaroff will adopt the offensive and make a desperate attempt to bring together Russia's scattered naval forces or endeavor to inflict damage upon the Japanese navy.

An Approach to Confirmation.

The story must, however, be viewed cautiously, the only approach to confirmation from any other source being in a despatch from a correspondent of The Daily Telegraph at Yinkow, which merely says:

"Vice-Admiral Makaroff has issued orders to the effect that the saving of coal is unnecessary, but that the big gun ammunition in the forts must not be wasted. Evidently this ammunition is running short."

The Daily Telegraph's Tokio correspondent sends an unconfirmed rumor to the effect that Japanese marines have landed and occupied Dalny.

It may be remarked that the British newspapers all regard Vice-Admiral Togo's report that he has laid mines at Port Arthur as a mere bluff, and they say that such a feat would be impossible under fire.

The Daily Mail thinks that if Vice-Admiral Makaroff closed the channel it was in order to prevent the ingress of Japanese torpedo boat destroyers, as was done at Wei-Hai-Wei during the Chino-Japanese war.

Where Is the Squadron?

It is a subject of unceasing remark and conjecture that nothing has been heard of the Vladivostock squadron, and it is beginning to be believed that it is really inside the harbor of Vladivostock.

The Standard's Tokio correspondent says that, according to a despatch from Gensan, the Russians are believed to be withdrawing from the northeast frontier of Corea and concentrating at Vladivostock.

The Tokio correspondent of The Morning Post throws an interesting light upon Japan's financial intentions and says it is estimated that Japan will be able to maintain a war for eighteen months without borrowing abroad. The policy is to retain the gold in Japan, and it is believed that it will not be necessary to spend abroad more than one-eighth of the cost of the war, this expenditure being chiefly on coal, cordite and steel. The fact that Port Arthur is completely blockaded permits a great saving because Japan will be able to charter vessels at peace rates.

Thrown From a Pony.

London, March 15.—News has been received here of the first accident to a war correspondent in the Far East. Mr. McKenzie, representative of The Daily Mail in Corea, had both legs broken by a fall from a pony.

Chinese Go North.

Paris, March 15.—The Temps' correspondent at Newchwang telegraphs. "I have just returned here from a tour along the Manchurian frontier. The trains are crowded with Chinese soldiers, numbering upwards of 20,000, on their way to garrison the border. A Japanese attack is expected as soon as a thaw occurs, which will be in about ten days."

The correspondent of The Temps at St. Petersburg says: "The Japanese thus far have captured seven Russian merchant ships, whose commanders did not know war had begun.

"It is considered that the naval strength of Russia still equals that of Japan, including in the estimate the fortresses of Port Arthur and Vladivostock and the Baltic fleet."

BALFOUR SAYS NO.

Premier Refuses to Produce Famous State Papers—Right Hon. C. T. Ritchie Defends Mr. Balfour.

London, March 15.—(C. A. P.)—Premier Balfour yesterday repeated his refusal to produce the documents embodying his tariff proposals on the ground that they were Cabinet secrets. I. G. S. MacNeil, M.P. (Irish Nationalist), declared that at least six precedents existed for the production of Cabinet memoranda and promised at Mr. Balfour's request to furnish the references.

No Trickery.

London, March 15.—(C. A. P.)—Right Hon. C. T. Ritchie, M.P. (Liberal Unionist), ex-Chancellor of the Exchequer, writing to a correspondent at Wolverhampton, says there was no trickery or treachery in the Premier's conduct at the Cabinet meeting on Sept 14. "What he called the abandonment of the preferential tariff part of the scheme of fiscal reform we understood meant only a temporary abandonment, and believing Mr. Chamberlain would remain in the Cabinet, we resigned."

Women in British Politics.

London, March 15.—(C.A.P.)—The Women's Liberal Unionist Association, meeting at Westminster, passed Lady Cochrane's motion pledging the association to assist candidates prepared to support a Unionist Government.

Mrs. Henry Fawcett declared that Mr. Balfour was a political Hamlet, but only Laertes returning from foreign travel could communicate some vigor to the Prince of Denmark. She opposed the resolution, urging they ought to shoot the protectionist tiger. She moved to dissolve the association until the revival of home rule, but the motion was defeated by 99 votes to 14.

Earl Wemyss, in the House of Lords, urged the appointment of a small Royal Commission to enquire if any change in methods were needed to improve the prospects of British trade. He did not ask this in the interests of free trade or protection, but as a commonsense proposition.

Lord Goschen said the country was bewildered by the facts presented by the rival schools, and may have sided with Mr. Chamberlain because he was the strongest man in the country. There was not a single treasury official among the experts on taxation who had been invited to give evidence on the fiscal question. The crucial question was whether Britain was extending her exports in neutral markets more rapidly than foreigners were. The scope of the enquiry should be limited to the ascertainment of facts.

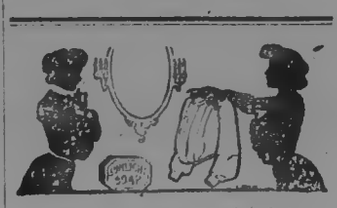
Lord Lansdowne replied that such a commission would have a colossal and endless task. The Government did not think such a commission was needed to justify their retaliation policy. How should retaliation be practiced was the question for the Government of the day. Lord Spencer only agreed a commission was necessary if free trade was in danger. The motion was withdrawn.

Dumfries Man Missing.

Paris, March 15.—J. P. Nunan, ex-reeve and ex-councillor of South Dumfries township, is missing from his home, and it is feared that he has met with some serious accident. Mr. Nunan was in Paris on Thursday and started for home at 10 or 11 o'clock that night. On Friday morning the rig was found in McMichael's bush, and the horse was wandering around. It is feared that he was tipped out of the rig and that he was too seriously injured to be able to assist himself. Friends are making a thorough search of the district in the hope of finding Mr. Nunan still alive, but the worst is feared.

78 Persons Lost.

Brisbane, Queensland, March 15.—The British steamer Aramac was wrecked on the Break Sea Spit, off Queensland, Sunday morning. Six boats were launched and two were safely landed with sixty exhausted passengers and members of the crew. Four other boats are still missing, containing seventy-eight persons. It is believed that these boats were not provisioned. The weather is bad and steamers sent in search of the boats have found no trace of them.



Shirt waists and dainty linen are made delightfully clean and fresh with Sunlight Soap. 5B

A severe case of Ovarian Trouble and a terrible operation avoided. Mrs. Emmons tells how she was saved by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am so pleased with the results obtained from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I feel it a duty and a privilege to write you about it.

"I suffered for more than five years with ovarian troubles, causing an unpleasant discharge, a great weakness, and at times a faintness would come over me which no amount of medicine, diet, or exercise seemed to correct. Your Vegetable Compound found the weak spot, however, within a few weeks—and saved me from an operation—all my troubles had disappeared, and I found myself once more healthy and well. Words fail to describe the real, true, grateful feeling that is in my heart, and I want to tell every sick and suffering sister. Don't dally with medicines you know nothing about, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and take my word for it, you will be a different woman in a short time."—MRS. LAURA EMMONS, Walkerville, Ont.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Don't hesitate to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about your sickness you do not understand. No woman ever regretted writing her and she has helped thousands. Address Lynn, Mass.

DOMINION AID TO THE TEMISKAMING ROAD.

The Ontario Legislature has adopted a memorial in favour of Dominion aid to the Temiskaming road. This road it will be remembered, is being constructed by the province as a Government work. It affords the first example of a Provincial Government undertaking such an enterprise, and there seems to be no reason why government ownership should debar it from assistance which would certainly be given it.

In addition to setting forth the importance of opening up the great clay belt of Northern Ontario to settlement the memorial proceeds:

That in view of the projection of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway, the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario railway will be of material advantage of the Dominion of Canada, inasmuch as it will afford immediate connection with older Ontario and important facilities for the transportation of supplies for construction purposes, and to that extent reduce the cost of the Grand Trunk Pacific to the Dominion of Canada.

That with the usual subsidy from the Dominion Government this Legislature might be encouraged, providing its income from other demands upon the Treasury Department were not impaired, to continue said railway as far as James Bay, thus affording another seaport for the Dominion of Canada, which might be of great practical utility in trans-Atlantic trade in the near future.

That in view of the burdens which the province of Ontario will necessarily bear, by reason of its large population and wealth, in the construction of a considerable portion of the Grand Trunk Pacific, and in view of the contribution which the construction of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario railway will necessarily make to the population of Canada, and in view of the subsidies already granted to other railways of no greater importance, in the opinion of your memorialists, as a public enterprise than the said Temiskaming and Northern Ontario railway, your memorialists would earnestly press upon the attention of the Dominion Government the propriety of granting the usual subsidy of $3,200 per mile to the said railway and any extension thereof and such additional subsidy as other railways under similar circumstances are allowed.

The construction of the Temiskaming road has been abundantly justified as a purely provincial enterprise by reason of the increased value it has given to the timber along its route, and by the settlement which is taking place in the Temiskaming district, but this fact affords no reason why the Dominion should not do its part in promoting a road which will be of almost incalculable benefit to the country as a whole.—Brantford Expositor.

THE WEST LOOKS FOR BUMPER YEAR.

Railways Preparing for a Great Harvest This Season.

C. P. R. Making Extensive Improvements New Lines Being Constructed.

A special correspondent to the Toronto News from Winnipeg, says:—

"Mr. W. Whyte, the second vice-President, of the C. P. R., returned on Sunday from the East. Speaking of the projected improvements, he said, 'One object the company has in hastening on the betterment of the lines in the West is to get their tracks and power in shape for this season's grain carrying trade, which is expected to be unusually heavy on account of the largely increased acreage that will result, not only from the new settlement, but also by reason of the high prices of wheat which will undoubtedly induce the farmers to sow larger areas.' Mr. Whyte, basing his calculations on last year's figures and the probable increase from causes mentioned, estimates that this year's wheat area in Manitoba and the Territories will not be less than 3,800,000 acres. Estimating an average yield of from 18 to 20 bushels to the acre, which is conservative, in the light of past experience, it can be readily realized that it is most important that the railways should be prepared.

"Mr. Whyte says the line from Arcola to Regina will be completed, also the Pheasant Hills line from Pheasant Creek to Jumping Deer River, and forty-five miles additional. Twenty-five miles will also be built eastward from Wetaskiwin, and twenty-five miles eastward from Lacombe from the Calgary and Edmonton Road. These lines will serve an excellent mixed farming district in which a great many settlers, chiefly Americans, have located. It has not yet been decided how many miles will be built on the extension of the Manitoba and Northwestern road, nor has it been decided to build a cut-off from Winnipeg to Beausejour this season, as surveys have not yet been completed. The work of reducing the grades west of Moose Jaw on the main line from one per cent. to four fifths, will be gone on with. This undertaking involves the construction of one hundred miles of new lines between Moose Jaw and Medicine Hat. Heavy grades that are to be overcome by this work are encountered on the northern rim of the Missouri coteau. The work of reducing the grades is also in progress east of Winnipeg, in the rocky country.

DWYER'S CORNERS.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Business is rushing at the old reliable blacksmith shop.

Crows are now quite numerous in this vicinity.

Mr. Jos. Holland of Ennismore, and Miss Minnie Leahy, of Douro, were the guests of Mrs. John Dalton on Sunday.

Mr. Patrick Allen was the guest of Miss Jennie Finn of Cedarville, on Sunday.

Mr. Joseph Christie visited northern friends on Sunday. This accounts for the absence of others from our midst.

Messrs. William and Percy Dalton intend taking a trip to Peterborough in the near future.

Mr. Jas. McDonald informs us that there are indications of an early spring.

Mr. Edward Herr, the proprietor of the handsome Lewvale residence, paid us a flying visit last week.

Messrs. Fred and John Jas. Dalton were the guests at Peekskill, the home of Mr. Hamilton D. Hutchison.

Mr. Thomas Christie has purchased the Perryville farm from Mr. Frederick Boland and states that he will use it for dairy purposes.

Some of the farmers of this place are already looking for men for the summer, and one was heard to remark, that "by the sweepin' they are just as scarce this summer as last year.

Mr. Jas. Herr took a load of wood to Peterborough on Saturday, and he says that it was a high price on the market.

Mr. Jos. Collins has now moved to the Conroy farm and is waiting patiently for spring to get to work.

READ IT THROUGH.

Twould Spoil This Story to Tell it in the Headlines.

To use an eighteenth century phrase, this is an "o'er true tale." Having happened in a small Virginian town in the winter of 1902 it is a story very much of the present. Up to a short time ago Mrs. John E. Harmon, of Melfa Station, Va., had no personal knowledge of the rare curative properties of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. "Last January," she says, "my baby took a dreadful cold and at one time I feared that she would have pneumonia, but one of my neighbours told me how this remedy had cured her little boy and I began giving it to my baby at once, and it soon cured her. I heartily thank the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for placing so great a cure within my reach. I cannot recommend it too highly or say too much in its favour. I hope all who read this will try and be convinced as I was." For sale by all druggists.

The World's Coal

Of an estimated coal area of about 4,650,000 square miles in the world China is credited with 4,000,000 square miles. The United States has about 280,000 square miles; Great Britain, 11,900 miles; Germany, 1,770 miles; France, 2,086 miles, and Belgium, 510 square miles. Area is not, however, a true measure of value. The anthracite fields of Pennsylvania include an area of only 468 square miles, but these are undoubtedly of more value than any coal area of like extent anywhere in the world.

The Minutes of the last regular meeting were read and confirmed, and a number of accounts were presented, and it was moved by Messrs. Spence and Webster, that the same be paid.

A communication from E. H. Scott was read by the Reeve, asking for the use of the park lot for pasturing horse, for the summer, to keep fences in repair.

Moved by Councillors Spence and Fry, that the communication of E. H. Scott be laid over for future consideration.—Carried.

In view of complaints made to the Council in regard to the weight of bread, it was moved by Councillors Webster and Fry, that the Reeve and Councillors Squire and Spence be a committee to wait upon Mr. Tucker in reference to the same.—Carried.

Council adjourned.

RELIEVE AT ONCE CURE COMPLETELY

What Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets do and how They do It—The Theory and the Proof.

"I had been a sufferer from Dyspepsia for several years. Nothing I ate would digest without giving me great pain, and I could not get anything to relieve me. On the advice of a friend I started to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. I used only one box and I am cured."

This statement is made by Miss Lizzie Watling, dressmaker, 177 King William street, Hamilton, Ont. It and thousands of similar statements are the proof that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets always cure Indigestion and Dyspepsia. No case has yet been heard of where they failed to effect a cure.

The method on which they work is simplicity itself. They contain all the ingredients of the gastric juices the stomach must furnish to digest the food. Thus Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets practically relieve the stomach of the work of digestion. The stomach thus relieved rests and recuperates and is soon in a position to do all its own work easily and well. That's why Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cure permanently as well as relieve.

Suicide's Body Found.

Victoria, B.C., March 15.—Lying face down and with outstretched arms, within a few feet of the main road, seven miles north of Victoria, the body of David Ferguson, missing since Dec. 15 last, was found yesterday morning. Ferguson's brothers, James, offered a reward of $1,000 for his brother, dead or alive, but this reward was withdrawn after a few weeks. In the right hand of the dead man was tightly clenched a clasp knive, and in the right side of the neck was a wound which severed the carotid juglar and windpipe. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide while of unsound mind.

A GUARANTEED CURE FOR PILES.

DEBATE ON ADDRESS

Business of the Session Begun in Earnest at Ottawa.

FIVE SPEECHES ON MONDAY

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Reference to the "Conservative Reaction"—Party in Quebec Likened to An Old, Decayed and Leaky Vessel—R. L. Borden's Criticism—The Premier Was in Excellent Form.

Ottawa, March 15.—The House of Commons began the work of the session in earnest yesterday when the address in reply to the speech from the Throne was moved by Mr. Geo. Grant, North Ontario, and seconded by Mr. L. A. Rivet of Hochelaga, each of whom received the congratulations of the Premier and leader of the Opposition upon the admirable speeches they made.

The leader of the Opposition, in an address of upwards of two hours' duration, criticized the Government for having omitted, in the speech from the Throne, to refer to the fast Atlantic line, the Joint High Commission, respecting the position of which body he evinced a considerable degree of inquisitiveness, the admission of Newfoundland, Provincial autonomy for the Northwest, the treaty-making power, and other subjects. Mr. Borden devoted a great part of his speech to an attack upon the Government for the appointment of Mr. Blair to the Chairmanship of the Railway Commission, which, he insinuated, was made as a political necessity.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier was in excellent form, and in his reply dealt effectively with the criticisms of the Leader of the Opposition. He spoke for barely three-quarters of an hour. He ridiculed the claims of the Opposition that a Conservative reaction had set in, and, referring to the situation in Quebec, likened the Conservative party to an old decayed and leaky vessel, which had been docked, painted, renamed "Protectionist," and launched upon the stormy sea without captain or chart. He resented the insinuation that Mr Blair's appointment had been made for political purposes, and declared that he was the best qualified man in Canada for the position. With respect to the Joint High Commission, Sir Wilfrid reiterated with emphasis that the Canadian Government were not looking for favors from the United States, and that our neighbors must make the first advance if they wanted to reopen negotiations.

Mr. Maclean, who continued the debate, said the proposed transcontinental line was a colonization railway, and did not afford any solution of the transportation problem. The Government should have acquired the Grand Trunk and the Mackenzie & Mann system and consolidated them with the Intercolonial. Then they would have reached the northwest speedily, and given relief from one end of the country to the other. The country was awakening to the fact that the Governments and parties of this country were working for the corporations and doing nothing for the people.

At 10.30 Mr. Haggart moved the adjournment of the debate, to which the Prime Minister agreed, after expressing the hope that later sessions would be held so as to get on with business.

Knew Dr. Chase in 1867.

One of Dr. Chase's oldest patients in Canada is Mr. G. W. Parish, of Sturgeon Bay, Simcoe County, Ont., whom he cured of kidney disease in 1867 by means of his now celebrated Kidney-Liver Pills. Mr. Parish writes that he does not think there is any medicine half so good, and he always keeps Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in the house as a family medicine.

Killed By a Knee Blow.

Ottawa, March 15.—A post mortem examination of the remains of John Fitzgerald, who died as the result of an assault on Friday night, and which William Hamilton, restaurant keeper, is held on a charge of murder, showed that he had been seriously injured. He evidently got the force of someone's knee on his abdomen. The bowels were badly crushed and peritonitis had set in. The police court proceedings against Hamilton have been postponed until Thursday, pending the result of the inquest.

Now 15 Days Out.

Halifax, N.S., March 15.—No tidings have reached here from the missing steamer Pro Patria, now out 15 days from St. Pierre. The Halifax agent thinks that the steamer has been disabled by the ice and drifted off the coast. If the Pro Patria does not turn up by Wednesday a steamer will be despatched from here in search of her.

The two young men implicated in the jewelry robbery in Toronto have pleaded guilty to the charge.

What Tea Does to Rheumatics.

When you next take tea think of this.

Tea contains 5 grains of Uric Acid in every pound.

Meat contains only five to seven grains.

Rheumatism is Uric Acid in the blood.

Uric Acid accumulates from food when the digestive apparatus cannot create enough Alkaline elements (Like soda) to neutralize it.

This Acid collects urea, or worn-out waste matter from the system.

That Urea enters the blood when Alkaline action has not previously dissolved it.

By and by the waste matter reaches the joints and muscles, through circulation of the blood.

There it gradually deposits in solid particles, like granulated sugar.

These solid particles grind between the joints and muscles at every movement.

This grinding causes irritation and pain.

These in turn may develop inflammation and swelling. That inflammation bestirs Nature to help herself.

She proceeds to coat the hard Uric particles over with cushions of pulpy mucous, like the first healing strata of an outer sore.

This pulpy covering grows to the bones, as well as to the particles deposited. There it hardens like plaster of sealing wax. Then we have "bony joints," almost inflexible, and usually fixed in a bended position, from the pain and inflammation.

That is rheumatism at its worst.

It is bad enough before it gets that far.

There is but one sure way of curing Rheumatism. The first step is to neutralize the Uric Acid already in the system. Next, to dissolve, and carry away, the hard deposits that grind between the joints. Then get the digestive apparatus into such healthy condition that it will, unaided, produce less Uric Acid and more Alkalines.

This is what doctors generally have failed to do.

It is what I studied a lifetime to accomplish and achieved only after many failures and thousands of experiments.

At last I found in Germany, a Solvent which was not only effective, but absolutely safe to use.

Few agents powerful enough to be effective in Rheumatism are safe.

My discovery, now called "Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure," acts directly, but internally, upon Uric Acid in the joints and muscles.

It dissolves and carries off the painful deposits, producing an immediate Alkaline condition of the blood, and neutralizing the Acid in it which would have fed the Rheumatism and extended the disease.

It won't restore bony joints to flexibility and it can't undo, in a week, the damage caused by years of rheumatic condition.

But it will benefit every case, and it will entirely cure most cases of Rheumatism.

So sure am I of this that I will supply Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure, to any sick one who writes me for it, on a month's trial, at my risk.

If it succeeds, the cost to him is only $5.50 for the six bottle treatment.

If it fails, I bear the whole cost myself.

And,—he alone shall be the judge—shall decide who shall pay.

Surely you will not continue to suffer when you can thus get well, at my risk.

I have written an important treatise on Rheumatism, telling of its relief and cure.

It is free to Rheumatic people.

Write me a post-card for it to-day.

Address Dr. Shoop, Box 947, Racine, Wis.

P.S. Simple cases often yield to one bottle of Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure. (Druggists $1) But all druggists do not supply it on a month's trial. You must write to me for that. C. I. S.

Pay Car and Cheques Burned.

Seneth, March 15.—A rear-end collision occurred on the Goderich and Guelph line about three miles east of this town yesterday afternoon. The pay train, in charge of Conductor Gordon, became stalled in a blinding snowstorm. It was followed by a freight with two engines in charge of Conductor Stratton. In the storm the engineer could not see the stalled train and crashed into the rear end of it. The caboose train caught fire, apparently from a stove, and the flames soon spread to the pay-car, and both were consumed. In the pay car were all the cheques for the workmen in the Stratford shops, and these went up in the conflagration. The only person injured was Pay Clerk Alexander of Hamilton, who was somewhat bruised about the leg. The forward trucks of one of the engines of the freight were torn off.

For a Disordered Stomach.

"I have been troubled for some time with indigestion and sour stomach," says Mrs. Sarah W. Curtis, of Lee, Mass., "and have been taking Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, which have helped me very much, so that now I can eat many things that before I could not eat." If you have any trouble with your stomach why not take these Tablets and get well. For sale by all druggists.

Appointed Judges.

Ottawa, March 15.—Mr. John Idington, K.C., of Stratford, and Mr. F. A. Anglin, K.C., of Toronto have been appointed Judges in the new Exchequer Court division of the High Court of Ontario. The appointment of a Chief Justice has been deferred.

Senator Read Dead.

Ottawa, March 15.—Senator James Read of Cardoso is in St. Luke's Hospital, suffering from an affection of the stomach. His case is serious.

HALF CURE IS DANGEROUS.

When you get a Cold, La Grippe, Influenza, do not be satisfied with something to check it.

The greatest danger is in the lingering results of a half cure.

Many a life history would read different to-day if that severe attack of Cold and La Grippe had been properly handled. A hard cold will settle in the weakest part.

THE LOCAL BAKERS MAKE A CHANGE.

Bread Will in Future Weigh 1 1-2 and 3 Pounds per Loaf.

Bakers Give Reason for Change To Meet City Competition—Council Asked to Change Standard Size.

The local bakers have made a change in the size of the loaves of bread, which in future will be 1 1-2 and 3 pounds, instead of 2 and 4 pounds as formerly. This change has been made necessary by a combination of circumstances. In the first place, Toronto bakers have been sending bread to town, the size of their loaves being 1 1-2 and 3 pounds, and the price, 5 cents and 10 cents per loaf, while the local bakers have been selling their loaves at 6 cents for the 2 pound loaf, and 12 cents for the 4 pound ones. In order to meet the competition made in the Toronto bread coming in the town, bakers have decided to in future make loaves of the same size as those shipped in and to charge the same price. Another of the reasons why this action has been taken is the advance in price of flour. The war has caused a sharp increase in the prices asked for hard wheat flour, which cannot be bought for less than $2.75 per hundred at the present time. The bakers claim that at this price they cannot afford to sell bread at the old prices.

The fact that the standard size of bread is now fixed by a town by-law at 2 and 4 pounds, has made it necessary for the bakers to label their bread since the change in weights has been resorted to. An effort has been made to induce the Council to change the size to the same as that adopted in Toronto, Hamilton, and other cities, in which case no labels would be necessary. The Council so far has not taken action, and in the meantime all bread made into loaves other than the regular 2 and 4 pound sizes must be labelled.

A FATHER'S ATTEMPT TO ABANDON CHILD.

Placed a Ten Year Old Boy on Train and Left Him.

An Almost Incredible Story of a Father's Act The Boy now in Children's Shelter.

One of the most heartless cases of child desertion ever recorded, is that which was attempted in Peterborough last night. As the 9 o'clock G.T.R. train from Toronto to Port Hope, pulled into the station, a man who resides on Sherbrooke street, might have been seen on the platform accompanied by his little boy, Frederick, about ten years of age. After the train had stopped, the two got on together, and took a seat, but before the train had started the man got up from his seat, and as it was pulling out, stepped off, leaving his child on the train, which rapidly left the station. The boy sat contentedly for some little time, thinking that his father was in another coach, but as time went on and he did not return, he started in search of his parent. After going through the train several times without finding the object of his search, he confided in a kindly disposed gentleman, who became interested in the lad. When it was found that the man had not remained on the train the boy was put off at a station between here and Port Hope, where he remained until this morning, returning on the 8.20 train.

Mr. Henry, the gentleman in charge of the Children's Shelter, was communicated with, and the boy taken there temporarily, until the case could be investigated. Mr. George Cochrane, the agent of the society, has taken the matter in hand.

The story as learned from the boy, is that his mother with two other children, is at present living in Norwich, while he has been here with his father, who took this heartless method of getting rid of his son. The boy is a bright intelligent lad, well clothed, and told his story with a frankness which was evidence of its truth.

TO REPRESENT THE LOCAL CAMP.

Mr. A. Haskill Goes to Hamilton to Attend Woodmen of World's Annual Meeting.

Mr. A. Haskill was waited upon last night by a committee, representing Sherwood Forest Camp, Woodmen of the World, and requested to attend the Supreme Court, which will meet in Hamilton to-morrow, as a delegate from the local camp. Mr. Haskill consented and will leave for Hamilton to-day.

The meeting in Hamilton will be attended by about 500 representatives from camps all over Canada.

Mr. Haskill will make a big attempt to secure the next annual meeting of the Supreme Court in Peterborough, where one of the most progressive and enterprising Camps in Canada is located.

A LECTURE ON MRS. BOOTH-TUCKER.

'Life and Work" of Prominent Lady in Salvation Army.

On Thursday evening, the 17th, in the Salvation Army Barracks, Brigadier Pickering of Toronto, will lecture on "The Life and Work of the late Mrs. Booth-Tucker," who met her death in a railway wreck in October last while on her way to Chicago to conduct a great army gathering.

The lecture will be illustrated by moving pictures by means of Lubin's powerful Cinematograph, and will depict the life of this remarkably gifted woman from her childhood to her death; representing also the great funeral procession, and interment in Woodlawn cemetery.

The service has been attended by large crowds in the cities and towns in which it has been given. A rare treat is in store for all who attend.

The Rev. J. A. Wilson will take the chair. The band will render special music, and Captain Russell of Toronto, a very sweet soloist, will sing.

A SOCIAL EVENING IN EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Charlotte Street Leaguers Spend a Pleasant Evening.

The members of the Charlotte street Epworth League and their friends enjoyed to the fullest extent the entertainment provided last night by the Social Committee of the League, which took the form of a conundrum social. Sides were chosen and the chairman gave out conundrums to which those on either side tried to give the correct answer. This feature of the evening created great merriment. Following this was a short programme which was well received, those contributing selections receiving hearty encores. The evening's entertainment was pleasantly brought to a close by those present being treated to cake and coffee.

PATTALLEONE DE PAOLA HAS BEEN FOUND GUILTY

Stabbed his Brother but was not Sentenced.

At the High Court of Justice, before His Lordship Judge Teetzel, Pattalleone de Paolo, an Italian, was found guilty of stabbing his brother, Guiseppe de Paolo. The prisoner was also charged with "intent to kill." This was not sustained, however. His Lordship has not given his sentence in the case.

MRS. JAS. RUTHERFORD DIED YESTERDAY.

Heart Failure the Cause Funeral To-morrow.

Yesterday afternoon about four o'clock, the death occurred of Della May Henderson, the wife of Mr. Jas. R. Rutherford, at the age of 25 years. She was the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henderson of 69 Harvey street, and died from heart failure, after an illness of about one month. She died at the residence of her father, where she has resided since her marriage, slightly over three years ago.

The late Mrs. Rutherford was a sincere member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, and leaves an infant son, Harold, aged two years.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock to the Little Lake cemetery, where Rev. J. G. Potter will conduct the service.

Baby Go-Carts Carriages

Are prominent in the minds of parents of little ones as the season for warmer spring days come near.

We have made ample provision for a larger demand than usual, for every season's sales with us have been a liberal increase over the previous one.

1904 Styles

Are a decided improvement over anything produced in this line before. One of the new features of positive advantage is the new style wheel with extra cushion tire and known as the Automobile Wheel.

Improvements also in the Running Gear, making them lighter and easier running.

Improvements in the Springs, adding much to the comfort of the little ones.

Improvements in the Handles, adding decidedly to the convenience in handling, while the improvements in designs make the new patterns noticeably handsomer than those of other seasons.

A choice selection from the best makes.

Prices range from $1.35 for a Go-Cart to a $25.00 Carriage, a magnificent specimen of fine reed work and rich upholstery.

An Early Selection is Certainly an Advantage. Come Now.

LATEST SPORT

TWO GREAT HOCKEY GAMES TO-NIGHT.

Band and Firemen Will Play To-night at 8 o'clock.

The greatest night's hockey ever seen in Peterborough will be that to-night, under the auspices of the Band and Firemen. No less than five games will be played, the first commencing at 6 o'clock. The event of the evening, however, will be the game between the Firemen and Band, the members of which have been getting in some hard practice lately, and will be in good condition. The line-up will be:—

Band.		Firemen.
	Goal.
Cronk		Metheral
	Point.
Mein		Moore
	Cover point.
Grange		Evans
	Rover.
Crowe		Butcher
	Centre.
Irwin		Mitchell
	Left wing.
Halpany		Ringer
	Right wing.
Wand		Tremaine

Mr. Harry Rush, the famous local referee will officiate at this game.

Another interesting contest will be that between the younger members of the Band and the toolroom of the C.G.E. The line-up in this game will be:—

Bandsmen.		Toolroom
	Goal.
W. Hodgson		R. Holt
	Point.
P. Blade		T. Henderson
	Cover Point.
F. Miller		J. Anglesye
	Right Wing.
P. Doughty		J. Milligan
	Rover.
D. Smith		G. Morris
	Centre.
A. Seward		E. Hillard
	Left Wing.
H. Gordon		C. Delaney

The full band of the 57th Regiment will be present to furnish music, and the hockey tournament will be, without doubt, the most enjoyable ice event of the season.

A GREAT SEASON FOR FOOTBALL.

Midland League Will be Stronger than Ever This Year.

The meeting of the Midland Football League announced to take place on Saturday at 1.30 in the Y.M.C.A. promises to be a large one. A number of clubs have signified their intention of entering the League this year, and it is expected that about six clubs from town will enter teams, Y.M.C.A., Old Country Wanderers and Quakers are already in line, and it is believed that the Cordage Works and Ackerman's will also furnish one team each. In addition to those from town, a larger number of outside clubs will be in the League than in 1903. It is expected that a western group will be formed, including Bowmanville and Pontypool, while the eastern groups will be more numerous than last year.

Clubs desiring to enter the League should send word at once to the President, Dr. Morgan, or the acting Secretary, M. J. Hutchinson, in order that provisions may be made for them. Any club may send a representative to the annual meeting.

DEGENERATION OF EASTERN HOCKEY.

Ottawa Journal Sees a Regretable Feature Being Introduced.

The Ottawa Journal sees a degeneration of hockey as it should be played, especially in the East, and writing on the subject says:—Unless a radical change occurs at once in the conduct of hockey matches, the noble winter sport of Canada must, in at least this part of Canada, sink in the public estimation to the level of pugilism. This has been said a good deal of late, but so far there has been no improvement in the conduct of the game. Teams in Ottawa, Montreal and Quebec go on the ice from an hour to two hours late; they tolerate delays in the game which usually aggregate double the playing time; they make a feature of roughhouse play which destroys patronage of matches so far as many men and most women are concerned; and it is a matter of course for foul player to be ruled off time after time with no more serious penalty than two to five minutes' retirement. Meanwhile he has had a chance to disable an opponent for the whole match—or season, for that matter. In a recent senior match, one player was ruled off five times. A serious penalty, you say? Not at all; he had disabled opponents to at least the same value.

"No player should be ruled off for unfairly rough play more than twice. The second time, he should be off for the rest of the match. This simple regulation would soon kill foul play. No delays should be allowed in the game. These arise from two causes; one being injury to a player, the other a broken skate or shoelace. As regards the latter, let the rule be what it is in boat racing, namely each side "abide by its own accidents." If an oar break in a race, the man or crew loses the race. A hockey team can infinitely better stand the chances of a broken skate. As to injury to a player, the case is different, because a player may be wilfully injured by the opposing team. In the case of injury to a player; therefore, give his team the option of putting on a new man or requiring the opposing team to drop one of theirs for five minutes.

"The finest game in this world to watch, hockey as our leading Canadian teams can show it, is being made a by-word and a disgrace by the manner in which matches are conducted and foul play tolerated. Athletic spirit is worthless if it does not include manliness and fair play. Both are alien to the foul slashing and tripping which are features of most matches. This can be stopped by the men at the heads of the hockey leagues. They have simply to instruct the referees to stop it at all costs—by ruling off an offender for a match, instead of two or five minutes; even by ruling a player off for the whole season, subject to appeal to the league executive."

While this may and does apply to hockey as it is played in Ottawa and the East, it does not apply to the hockey played in the O.H.A. than which there is no better conducted association in the world.

T. A. S. TOOK WEAK TEAM TO FENELON

And Were Defeated by Former Victoria Harbour Intermediate Team.

Fenelon Falls, March 14. — A game of hockey was played here to-night between the T.A.S. team of Peterborough, champions of the Trent Valley League for the last two seasons, and the old reliable team of Fenelon Falls that held the same championship the previous two seasons, and resulted in a Waterloo for the T.A.S., the score being at half time 9 to 1, and the final score 20 to 2 in favour of Fenelon Falls. The T.A.S. were without the services of their cover point, Crowley, and George and McGrath on the forward line. The line up and officials were as follows:

Fenelon Falls, Goal, Gould; point, Corbeau; cover point, Burgess; forwards, Beteau, Boyce, Ingram, Deyman.

Peterborough, Goal, Derocher; McCoy; cover point, Meagher; forwards, Quinne, Parnell, Lynch, Callaghan.

Umpires, Deannard, Jones. Timekeepers, Devine, Junkin. Referee, Dr. Aldous.

BASEBALL.

DEVOTED SISTER DIED IN LINDSAY.

Sister St. John, Daughter of Mrs. John Lynch, of Town Passed Away.

Her many friends in Peterborough will learn with sincere regret of the death in Lindsay this morning of Sister St. John, whose name in the world was Miss Annie Lynch. The late Miss Lynch was a daughter of the late John Lynch, of Peterborough, and entered the community of the St. Joseph's Order 14 years ago, previous to which time she was a teacher in the Murray street Separate school, here. She was regarded as one of the most successful teachers in the Community of St. Joseph.

The late Miss Lynch took sick last Thursday with perritonitis, and yesterday Dr. McNulty was called to Lindsay for a consultation. The disease had taken too firm a hold, however, and her death occurred this morning at 5 o'clock. She leaves to mourn her irreparable loss, her mother, Mrs. John Lynch, two sisters, Miss Maggie, Montreal, and Mrs. Wm. Baker, Lindsay, and four brothers, George, James and John, of Peterborough, and Edward, of Chicago.

The loss which the Convent will sustain in the death of Sister St. John will be very great. She was a most successful teacher, and by her zealous manner and self-sacrificing spirit endeared herself to all with whom she come in contact, not only in the Convent but outside.

At the time of going to press, no arrangements had been made for the funeral.

DUNSMUIR'S MILLIONS

EDNA WALLACE HOPPER'S UNSUCCESSFUL SUIT FOR THEM.

Although She Has to Pay a Large Part of the Costs It Is Not All Loss, as Publicity and Sympathy Are an Asset to Be Counted In. the Little Actress Seemed Near to Success.

Viewed from a business standpoint, Edna Wallace Hopper's unsuccessful suit against James Dunsmuir, formerly Premier of British Columbia, and one of the richest men on the Pacific Coast, has not been altogether a failure. 'Tis true that the millions for which the actress struggled have eluded her eager grasp, and that she is ordered to pay a large share of the costs in a suit which has been remarkably expensive, but there are compensations. The free advertising which she has received, and the sympathy which has been expressed for her in some quarters are worth it all. In the theatrical profession sympathy and publicity are just as good as unminted gold, for with little trouble they can be turned into ready money.

Seemed Near to Success.

At present, the likelihood of the plaintiff accepting congratulations with composure is slight. Only a few weeks ago it appeared that her chances of spending some of the Dunsmuir millions were very bright. So rosy did her prospects appear that the mother of the man whose estate was in dispute joined Mrs. Hopper as a plaintiff. Had there not appeared to be grave danger that the actress would win her point, this unexpected move would never have been made. Mrs. Dunsmuir's step was obviously made in the interests of the defence, and was quite reasonable, for if James Dunsmuir were to be deprived of his brother's millions, surely his mother had as much right to them as a young comedienne, in whose veins flows not a drop of Dunsmuir blood. Mrs Dunsmuir's claim was strengthened by the fact that it was she who gave the millions to her two sons in the first place. Both were good business men and increased the capital with which they set out, but to their mother both owed their fortune. She could have disinherited either of them, and this possibility, in the past, had a vital effect on the lives of some of the chief actors in the play which has just come to an end.

Dunsmuir's Coal Mines.

The prologue of this "strange, eventful history" opens with the death of Robert Dunsmuir, some fifteen years ago. Dunsmuir had made a large fortune by developing the famous coal mines at Nanaimo, on Vancouver Island. The coal deposits were not only of great extent, but unusually good as well. So superior was the Vancouver article, that it was able to go down to San Francisco, and, handicapped by a hostile tariff, practically put the United States coal out of business. It was exported to Japan, and wherever it came in competition with either American or English coal, it more than held its own. When Robert Dunsmuir died, this great export trade in coal had attained huge proportions. It had demanded a fleet of vessels, and several lines of railway, all of which were owned by the coal magnate, and by him bequathed to his widow.

The Buxom Widow Appears.

Mrs. Dunsmuir decided to put James, the elder son, in charge of the actual mining work, and all the business which arose on Vancouver Island, while Alexander, the younger, went to San Francisco, to see to the distribution of the coal in its chief market. Thither Alexander repaired, and threw himself into the work with enthusiasm. He was a man of sound judgment, industrious and enterprising. There was, however, another streak in him which attracted attention when he and Mrs Wallace, a widow, with one daughter, Edna, began housekeeping together. In explanation it was said that they loved each other, but dared not get married, because Mrs. Dunsmuir would surely cut Alexander off with a dollar. Then Mrs. Dunsmuir sold her interest in the Dunsmuir business to James and Alexander. In a day or two appeared the announcement of Mrs. Wallace's marriage to Alexander Dunsmuir. Less than two months later, on January 21, 1900, Alexander Dunsmuir died in New York. Six months afterwards his widow followed him to the grave.

Left Fortune to His Brother.

Shortly before this second event, Alexander Dunsmuir's will had been made public. Executed on the very day of his marriage, it left all his property to his brother James. The heir's position was strengthened by a declaration signed by Mrs. Dunsmuir, in which she assigned, on behalf of herself, her heirs or assigns, all title to her husband's property in consideration of an annuity of $25,000, which James Dunsmuir was to pay her. These facts coming to Edna's ears, she at once entered suit to have Alexander's will set aside, and her mother's deed declared invalid. Her contention was that her stepfather was not of sound mind when he made the will, he having been on the verge of delirium tremens at the time, and quite incapable of sane action. As for her mother's assignment, Mrs. Hopper declared that undue influence had been brought to bear upon her by James Dunsmuir's lawyers, and that this document was therefore null and void.

Deeds Versus Opinions.

At the trial, which has just been decided against her by Mr. Justice Drake, of Victoria, th former wife of the famous DeWolf Hopper lent all her energies to prove that Alexander Dunsmuir was an habitual drunkard. Many witnesses, including an expert or two, were called to establish this claim. Scores of instances of Dunsmuir's servitude to whisky were presented. (I saw some of it. It feared some one was trying to poison him. Such an abstinent comprehensive drinker was he that DeWolf Hopper shrank from him and turned pale when invited by his stepfather-in-law to "say what his was." In view of these facts, the claimant demanded, could Alexander Dunsmuir make a rational deposition of his property? Judge Drake has answered decisively in the affirmative. In his opinion a number of actions going to show that Dunsmuir was a level-headed business man were to be considered superior to the opinions of experts. He also laid emphasis on the intention of Alexander to leave his property to his brother. This intention had been freely expressed by Alexander, and his will verified it. The will was clearly the result of a long contemplated action. Thus saith the learned judge. And when next we have an opportunity of seeing Edna Wallace-Dunsmuir-DeWolf Hopper (and it is said that she is about to add another storey to her name), we shall be interested to see whether His Lordship's decision has left an unsightly line on her smiling face.

EDUCATION REPORT.

Interesting Government Statistics About Ontario's Public Schools.

The report of the Minister of Education for 1903 has been brought down. The number of public schools in 1902 was 5,671, an increase of 8; pupils enrolled, 408,121, decrease 6,495; average daily attendance, 232,663, decrease 2,421; percentage of average attendance to total, 57.01; number employed as teachers (exclusive of kindergarten and night school teachers) 2,200 men and 6,297 women, increase 91; number of teachers who attended Normal School 4,601, increase 171; teachers with university degree, 81; average salary of male teachers $436, increase $15; average salary of female teachers $313, increase $7; expended for public school houses, $331,842; expended for teachers' salaries, $2,987,933; expended for other purposes, $1,069,944; total expended on public schools, $4,389,719, increase $61,037.

Separate schools in 1902, 391, increase 19; pupils enrolled 45,964 increase 1,977; average daily attendance 28,817; increase 1,891; percentage of average total, 62 69; teachers 870, increase 52; expended on separate schools, $100,910; salaries, $210,199; other purposes, $124,331; total expended on separate schools, $435,440, increase $43,812.

Protestant separate schools 6, decrease 1; pupils enrolled, 466, increase 16; average daily attendance 247, decrease 2.

Kindergartens 120, increase 2; pupils enrolled 11,300, decrease 105; average daily attendance 4,596, decrease 108; teachers 217, decrease 4.

Night schools 11, decrease 1, pupils 670, decrease 130; average daily attendance 170, decrease 24; teachers 17, decrease 5.

Secondary schools—High schools and collegiate institutes 134, increase 3; teachers 593, increase 14, pupils 21,172, increase 1,919; amount expended for salaries $517,402, for houses $44,246, for other purposes $178,031, total $769,679, increase $41,547. Continuation classes 180; pupils in attendance 4,864, decrease 69.

The report says: "Many of our teachers, through lack of facilities, did not formerly receive training at the normal schools in manual training, nature study and domestic science. I believe it will be the part of wisdom to make up for the loss by having classes formed at suitable centres during the present year."

An Odd Legacy.

Among strange legacies may be classed that of a Vermont man, who left $500 to his church, the income to be used in sweeping the snow off the church pavement and in strewing ashes and sawdust on the slippery places.

Cossacks.

The Cossacks are a peculiarly prominent feature in the Russian military organization. They give their military services for fifteen years in return for which they pay no taxes.

WASTED INDUSTRY.

A Mouse Task That Failed Because of a Lack of Ingenuity.

A number of white footed mice which I had in captivity, says a writer in Country Life In America, escaped from their cage to a cupboard in the kitchen, and thence through a hole in the plaster and between the laths to the walls of the house. Every night they came out for food. One evening I saw a mouse come out of the cupboard. He found a hickory nut on the floor and attempted to carry it up the wall twelve inches to the hole in the plaster, but, alas, the crack between the laths was too narrow, and after fumbling with his burden for a minute or two he dropped it to the floor. Next he tried to push it in ahead of him, and, failing in that, he went in himself, turned round and attempted to pull it in after him. Occasionally it would slip out of his paws and roll upon the kitchen floor, and then out he would come and repeat the whole performance. He tried it again and again, but with no better success. He kept at it until far into the night, and when I awoke at 7 o'clock the next morning the first thing that I heard was that mouse or another one fumbling and dropping the hickory nut.

Since then I have kept them well supplied with nuts, and, although they still spend hours in carrying them to the crack in the laths and letting them fall, they are always forced in the end to eat them in the cupboard. There is plainly a lack of ingenuity, because ten minutes' gnawing would have solved the problem. Had the aperture in either case been too narrow to admit themselves they would have quickly widened it with their teeth, but to apply the same principle to get the nut through seemed to be a piece of reasoning entirely beyond them.

Lord Avebury's Reminiscences.

Lord Avebury (once Sir John Lubbock), has been giving some interesting personal reminiscences. Speaking of his schooldays, he says: When I was eleven I went to Eton, and was placed in the "remove," as high as a boy could then be placed at entrance. At that time the whole education consisted of Latin and Greek, with one lesson a week in geography—confined mainly to Italy, Greece and Asia Minor. We had, each week, to write out a description of some country, but the master in whose division I was when I first went to Eton attached so little importance to geography that he never once looked at my production, which, I fear, under the circumstances, became more and more perfunctory. Neither arithmetic, modern languages, science, nor drawing were regarded as essential portions of education, and they did not enter into the school course. Arithmetic, French and German had, indeed just been started, but they were treated as extras—like fencing or dancing. They were only taken if the parents especially wished it, and then in playtime.

Lingering Coughs Severe Chest Colds.

Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup and Asthma Yield Promptly to

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE.

The sales of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine during 1903 were over forty per cent. larger than in 1902.

This means that nearly half as much again was used. Can there be better proof of the merit of this family medicine?

It is undoubtedly the far-reaching effect of this preparation that makes it so popular.

People soon find out that it is far more than a mere temporary relief and that it can be absolutely depended on in serious and severe cases of throat and lung trouble.

Mrs. J. Provost, Renfrew, Ontario, states:—"My fourteen-year-old boy had a very severe cold in the chest last winter and I really thought he was going to die. He coughed nearly all the time and sometimes would spit up blood. We had about given up all hopes of his recovery when I heard of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. After using one bottle there was a great change in his condition, and I can positively say that he was completely cured by two bottles and he has not been troubled since. I never saw medicine like such quick effect and can sincerely recommend it."

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, 25 cents a bottle, family size (three times as much) 60 cents, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every bottle. 10

Purified by Suffering

BY MARY J. HOLMES,

March 1st - As it was in the winter, so it is now. Mrs Wilford Cameron is the rage the bright star of society, which quotes and pets and flatters, and even laughs at her by turns; and Wilford, though still watchful, lest she should do something outre, is very proud of her, insisting upon her accepting invitations, sometimes two for one evening, until the child is absolutely worn out, and said to me once when I told her how well she was looking and how pretty her dress was, "Yes, pretty enough, but I am so tired. If I could lie down on mother's bed, in a shilling calico, just as I used to do!"

Mother's bed seems at present to be the height of her ambition—the thing she most desires; and as Juno fancies it must be the feathers she is sighing for, she wickedly suggests that Wilford either buy a feather bed for his wife, or else send to Aunt Betsy for the one which was to be Katy's setting out! They go to housekeeping in May, and on Madison Square, too. I think Wilford would quite as soon remain with us for he does not fancy change; but Katy wants a home of her own, and I never saw anything more absolutely beautiful than her face when father said to Wilford that No — Madison Square was for sale, advising him to secure it. But when mother intimated that there was no necessity for the two families to separate at present—that Katy was too young to have charge of a house—there came into her eyes a look of such distress that it went straight to father's heart, and calling her to him, he said:

"Tell me, sunbeam, what is your choice—to stay with us, or have a home of your own?"

Katy was very white, and her voice trembled as she replied:

"You have been kind to me here, and it is very pleasant here; but I guess—I think—I'm sure I should like the housekeeping best, I am not so young either. Nineteen in July, and when I go home next month, I can learn so much of Aunt Betsy and Aunt Hannah."

Mother looked at Wilford then, but he was looking into the fire with an expression anything but favorable to that visit home, fixed now for April instead of May. But Katy has no discernment, and believes she is actually going to learn how to make apple dumplings and pumpkin pies. In spite of mother, the house is bought, and now she is gone all day deciding how it shall be furnished, always leaving Katy out of the question, as if she were a cipher, and only consulting Wilford's choice. They will be happier alone, I know. Mrs. Gen. Reynolds says that it is the way for young people to live; that her son's wife shall never come home to her, for of course their habits could not be alike; and then she looked queerly at me, as if she knew I was thinking of Lieutenant Bob and who his wife might be.

Sybil Grandon is coming in April or May, and Mrs Reynolds wonders will she flirt as she used to do. Just as if Bob would care for a widow! There is more danger from Will, who thinks Mrs. Grandon a perfect paragon, and who is very anxious that Katy may appear well before her, saying nothing and doing nothing which shall in any way approximate to Silverton and the shoes which Katy told Esther she used to bind when a girl. Will need not be disturbed, for Sybil Grandon was never half as pretty as Katy, or half as much admired. Neither need Mrs. Gen. Reynolds fret about Bob, as if he would care for her. Sybil Grandon indeed!

CHAPTER XVI.

Much which Bell had written of Katy was true. She had been in New York nearly four months, drinking deep draughts from the cup of folly and fashion held so constantly to her lips; but she cloyed at last, and what at first had been so eagerly grasped, began, from daily repetition, to grow insipid and dull. To be the belle of every place, to know that her dress, her style, and even the fashion of her hair was copied and admired, was gratifying to her, because she knew it pleased her husband, who was never happier or prouder, when, with Katy on his arm, he entered some crowded parlor and heard the buzz of admiration as it circled round, while Katy smiled and blushed like a little child, wondering at the attentions lavished upon her, and attributing them mostly to her husband's whose position she understood more and more that he had been chosen her to be his wife that he had so honored her made her love him with a strange kind of grateful clinging love, which as yet would acknowledge no fault in him, no wrong, no error, and if ever a shadow did cloud her heart, she was the one to blame, not Wilford; he was right—he the idol she worshipped—he the one for whose sake she tried to drop her country ways and conform to the rules his mother and sister taught submitting with the utmost good nature to what Bell called the drill, but never losing that natural, playful, airy manner which so charmed the city people and made her the reigning belle. As Marian Hazelton had predicted, others than her husband had spoken words of praise in Katy's ear, but such was her nature that the shafts of flattery glanced aside, leaving her unharmed, so that her husband, though sometimes disquieted, had no cause for jealousy, enjoying Katy's success far more than she did herself, urging her out when she would rather have staid at home, and evincing so much annoyance if she ventured to remonstrate, that she gave it up at last, and floated on with the tide.

Mrs. Cameron had at first been greatly shocked at Katy's want of propriety, looking on aghast when she wound her arms around Wilford's neck, or sat upon his knee; but to the elder Cameron the sight was a pleasant one, bringing back sunny memories of a summer-time years ago, when he was young, and a fair bride had for a few brief weeks, made his earth a paradise to him. But fashion had entered his Eden — that summer-time was gone, and only the dun leaves of autumn lay where the buds which promised so much had been. The girlish bride was a stately matron now, doing nothing amiss, but making all her acts conform to a prescribed rule of etiquette, and frowning majestically upon the frolicsome, impulsive Katy, who had crept so far into the heart of the eccentric man that he always found the hours of her absence long, listening intently for the sound of her bounding footsteps, and feeling that her coming to his household had infused into his veins a better, healthier life than he had known for years. Katy was very dear to him, and he felt a thrill of pain when first the toning down process commenced. He had heard them talk about it, and in his wrath he had hurled a cut-glass goblet upon the marble hearth, breaking it to atoms, while he called them a pair of precious fools, and Wilford a bigger one because he suffered it. So long as his convalescence lasted, he was some restraint upon his wife, but when he was well enough to resume his duties in his Wall Street office, there was nothing in the way, and Katy's education progressed accordingly. For Wilford's sake Katy would do anything, and she submitted to much which would otherwise have been excessively annoying. But she was growing tired now, and it told upon her face, which was whiter than when she came to New York, while her figure was, if possible, slighter and more airy, but this only enhanced her loveliness, Wilford thought, and so he paid no heed to her complaints of weariness, but kept her in the circle which welcomed her so warmly, and would have missed her so much.

Little by little it had come to Katy that she was not quite as comfortable in her husband's family as she would be in a house of her own. The constant watch kept over her by Mrs. Cameron and Juno, irritated and fretted her, making her wonder what was the matter, and why she should so often feel lonely and desolate when surrounded by every luxury which wealth could purchase. "It is his folks," she always said to herself when cogitating upon the subject. "Alone with Wilford I shall feel as light and happy as I did in Silverton."

And so Katy caught eagerly at the prospect of a release from the restraint of No. —, seeming so anxious that Wilford, almost before he was aware of it himself, became the owner of one of the most desirable situations on Madison Square. Of all the household after Katy, Juno was perhaps the only one glad of the new house. It would be a change for herself, for she meant to spend much of her time on Madison Square, where everything was to be on the most magnificent style. Fortunately for Katy she knew nothing of Juno's intentions, and built castles of her new home, where mother could come with Helen and Dr. Grant. Somehow she never saw Uncle Ephraim, nor his wife, nor Aunt Betsy there. She knew how out of place they would appear, and how they would annoy Wilford; but surely to her mother and Helen there could be no objection, and when she first went over the house, she designated this room as her mother's, and another as Helen's, thinking how each should be fitted up with direct reference to their tastes. Helen's containing a great many books, while her mother's should have easy-chairs and lounges, with a host of drawers for holding things. And Wilford heard it all, making no reply, but considering how he could manage best so as to have no scene, for he had not the slightest intention of inviting either Mrs Lennox or Helen to visit him, much less to become a part of his household. That he did not marry Katy's relatives was a fact as fixed as the laws of the Medes and Persians, and Katy's anticipations were answering no other purpose than to divert her mind for the time being, keeping her bright and cheerful.

Very pleasant indeed were the pictures Katy drew of the new house where Helen was to come, but pleasanter far were her pictures of that visit to Silverton to occur in April. Poor Katy! how much she thought about that visit when she should see them all, and go with Uncle Ephraim down into the meadows, making believe she was Katy Lennox still—when she could climb the ladder in the barn after new-laid eggs, or steal across the fields to Linwood, talking with Morris as she used to talk in the days which seemed so long ago. Morris she feared was not liking her as well as of old, thinking her very frivolous and silly, for he had only written her one short note in reply to the letter she had sent, telling him of the parties she had attended, and the gay, happy life she led, for to him she would not then confess that in her cup of joy there was a single bitter drop. All was bright and fair, she said, and Morris had replied that he was glad. "But do not forget that death can find you even amid your splendor, or that after death the judgment comes, and then what shall it profit you if you gain the whole world and lose your own soul."

These words had rung in Katy's ears for many a day, following her to the dance and to the opera, where even the music was drowned by the echo of the words: "lose your own soul." But the sting grew less and less, till Katy no longer felt it, and now was only anxious to talk with Morris and convince him that she was not at thoughtless as he might suppose, that she still remembered his teachings, and the little church in the valley, preferring it to the handsome, aristocratic house where she went with the Camerons once on every Sunday.

"One more week and then it is April," she said to Wilford one evening after they had retired to their room, and she was talking of Silverton. "I guess we'd better go about the tenth. Shall you stay as long as I do?"

Wilford bit his lip, and after a moment replied:

"I have been talking with mother, and we think April is not a good time for you to be in the country, it is so wet and cold, and I want you here to help order our furniture."

"Oh, Wilford!" and Katy's voice trembled, for from past experience she knew that for Wilford to object to her plans was equivalent to a refusal, and her heart throbbed with disappointment as she tried to listen while Wilford urged many reasons why she should not go, convincing her at last that of all times for visiting Silverton, spring was the worst; that summer or autumn were better, and that it was her duty to remain where she was until such time as he saw fit for her to do otherwise.

This was the meaning of what he said, and though his manner was guarded, and his words kind, they were very conclusive, and with one gasping sob Katy gave up Silverton, charging it more to Mrs. Cameron than to Wilford, and writing next day to Helen that she could not come just then, but that after she was settled they might surely expect her.

With a bitter pang Helen read this letter to the three women who had anticipated Katy's visit so much, and each of whom cried quietly over her disappointment, while Uncle Ephraim went back to his work that afternoon with a heavy heart, for now his labor was not lightened by thoughts of Katy being there so soon.

"Please God she may come to us some time," he said, pausing, beneath the butternut in the meadow, and remembering just how Katy looked on that first day of her return from Canandaigua, when she sat on the flat stone, while he piled up his hay and talked with her of different paths through life, one of which she must surely tread.

"She had said: 'I will choose the straight and pleasant,'" and some would think she had; but Uncle Ephraim was not so sure, and leaning against a tree, he asked silently that whether he ever saw his darling again or not, God would care for her and keep her unspotted from the world.

"Could I live my early life over, this testimonial would not be necessary, though I was no more sinful than thousands of other young men. Early indiscretions, later excesses, exposure to contagious diseases all helped to break down my system. When I commenced to realize my condition I was almost frantic. Doctor after doctor treated me but only gave me relief—not a cure. Hot Springs helped me, but did not cure me. The symptoms always returned. Mercury and Potash drove the poison into my system instead of driving it out. I bless the day your New Method Treatment was recommended to me. I investigated who you were first, and finding you had over 25 years' experience and responsible financially, I gave you my case under a guarantee. Farm for Sale

Chance of Your Life

350 Acres Good Loam Land, overlooking Lake Ontario; good buildings, fences and orchard; well watered, 225 acres cultivated, 50 valuable timber, balance pasture; stabling for 100 head of stock. Would make two good farms. About 20 miles east of Toronto, with its big population of 250,000 to feed. This farm ought to be good value at $80 per acre, but for a special reason, to a quick buyer, I can sell at the nominal price of $50 per acre. Perfect title. Telegraph your acceptance, subject to inspection. Must be big money in this. T. HURLEY, 565 Sherbourne St., Toronto.

WERE JAPANESE RIGHT OR WRONG

In Breaking off Negotiations With Russia? Subject of a Debate.

At a meeting of the St. John's Young Men's Guild, to be held on Monday evening, March 28th, an interesting debate will be indulged in, the subject of which will be, "Resolved,—That Japan was completely justified in breaking off all diplomatic relations with Russia and going to war." The affirmative leader will be Mr. W. H. Cluxton, and the negative Mr. H. A. Littledale. The former will also have Messrs. J. Bell and H. Blackwell, and the latter Messrs. A. Smith and G. Main.

The subject is one which is at the present time of great interest, and undoubtedly the debate will be profitable to all who care to hear it.

The audience will act as judges, and after the speakers have concluded will be called upon for their decision. All the young men of the church are cordially invited to be present, at this and all other meetings of the Guild.

Last night the Guild had the opportunity of hearing short addresses on "Lent," by Rev. J. C. Davidson, Mr. W. H. Cluxton and Mr. Holden Blackwell. Mr. William Goodacre also read an instructive paper entitled, "Prayer."

Winter's Choicest Flowers.

All the seasonable flowers can be relied on when purchased at the West End Greenhouses. Floral designs a specialty. Bouquets for the table, blooming and foliage plants, in pots, flowers for the sick, etc. A. Blade manager, 495 Park street, at residence of G. M. Roger. 'Phone 218.

PETERBOROUGH MAN MADE PRESIDENT.

Mr. R.V. Winch son of Mr. R. J. Winch Enters one of the Largest Business Concerns in Vancouver.

The News-Advertiser, of Vancouver, B.C., has the following referring to a son of Mr. R. J. Winch of town:

"Last week marked an important change in the personnel of the well-known firm of Messrs. Robert Ward & Co., Limited, commission merchants, shipping, insurance and financial agents of this City and Victoria, when Mr. Robert Ward the founder, who for the past seven years has resided in London, Eng., sold his controlling interest to Mr. R. V. Winch, who has been so intimately connected with the salmon canning industry for many years in this province and on Puget Sound.

"The firm of Robert Ward & Co., Limited, in 1891, took over the business of Robert Ward & Co., (which was established in 1868), the original shareholders and officers being Robt. Ward, president, W. A. Ward, vice-president, and J. C. Maclure, secretary. A few years later Mr. Thomas R Smith became a shareholder and a director, and in 1899 Mr. W. A Ward relinquished his management. For the past five years the management has been in the hands of Mr. Thomas R. Smith, Victoria, and Mr. J. C. McClure, Vancouver, as joint managing directors. In this respect there is to be no change except that they will now have the benefit of the able assistance and advice of their new president, Mr. R. V. Winch, one of the oldest residents in Vancouver, whose past business achievements are largely due to abilities as a financier and sterling qualities generally. The shareholders and officers of the company now are R. V. Winch, president; Thos. R. Smith, and J. C. Maclure, joint managing directors; C. B. Stahlschmidt, director."

PRETTY WEDDING IN OTONABEE.

Miss Edith Letitia Kent Married to Mr. Elmer G. Wood.

A very pleasing wedding was that which took place on Wednesday last at the residence of Mr. A. Kent, Otonabee, when his daughter, Edith Letitia, was united in marriage to Mr. Elmer G. Wood, son of Mr. R. Wood, also of Otonabee.

The ceremony was performed in the handsomely decorated drawing room, in the presence of a large number of invited guests, by Rev. Mr. Seccombe of Keene.

The bride, who was attired in a pretty gown of cream voile over cream silk, with the usual bridal veil, and roses, and carried a beautiful boquet of white roses, was attended by her cousin, Miss Evelyn Robinson, as bridesmaid, who was dressed in white organdie over pale blue silk. Two maids of honour, Miss Eva Stewart, and Miss Viola Palmer, also cousins of the bride, were very prettily dressed in white silk, and carried baskets of flowers. Mr. Alton Wood filled the duties of groomsman. After the ceremony a delightful wedding dejeuner was served in the spacious dining room, about 60 guests partaking of the dainties.

The bride has been one of the most active workers in the Zion Methodist church, occupying the position of organist for some time, and being a prominent worker in the Epworth League, of which she was president. The evidences of esteem in which she was held were not lacking in the many and beautiful gifts of which she was the recipient. Among them were: Parlour set, from Mr. Kent, father of the groom; dining room table, Mr. Wood, father of the groom; sideboard, Mrs. Hull, aunt; silver tea service, aunt; bedroom set, Mrs. Kent, mother of bride; silver tea pot, Mr. Ward, uncle of the bride; set of china dishes, brother of the bride; silver salt and pepper casters, Miss Eva Stewart; jardinere, Miss Viola Palmer; silver pudding dish, Mr. and Mrs. Henderson; chenille table cover, A. W. Cresaman; parlour table, Comstock; two china hand-painted plates, groomsman; album, from sister and brother of the groom; silver tea pot, Mrs. Stewart.

Among the guests from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, and Miss Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Hull, Mr. and Mrs. Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie, Mr. and Mrs. Rawlings, Mr. and Mrs. D. Woods, Mr. and Mrs. Woods, Mrs. Metheral, Mr. and Mrs. Kindred, and Kindred, Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Henderson, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Martin, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Counter, Cleveland, Miss Taylor, Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood will reside at "Maple Grove," Otonabee, in future.

HAVE POLICE GOT SUCH A WITNESS?

The Jesse Arries Case Continues to Thicken.

The plot thickens. Yesterday the Examiner published an article in which it was stated that Mr. R. F. McWilliams could proved an alibi for for Jesse Arries, in the case of the assault on Miss Melville. To-day it was learned that the police would produce a witness who is ready to swear that he saw Arries walking along the railway tracks near the place of, and about the time of the assault. This was not gleaned from a completely authentic source and may not be so. The police are still as reticent in the matter as before but continue to display confidence in obtaining a conviction on both charges.

The case is stirring up great interest and it is expected that the court room will be crowded on Saturday morning, when the case comes up for trial.

IS IT CURABLE?

Question Often Asked by Those Afflicted With Piles

Is a strained joint curable? Is local inflammation curable? Of course, if properly treated. So is piles.

People often become afflicted with piles and ask some old "chronic" who has always persisted in the wrong treatment, and naturally he discourages them by telling them that their case is hopeless.

They in turn discourage others, and thus a disease that can in every case be cured by careful and skillful handling is allowed to sap the energy of thousands who might free themselves of the trouble in a few days.

Pyramid Pile Cure will cure the most aggravated case of hemorrhoids in an astonishingly short time. It relieves the congested parts, reduces the tumors instantly no matter how large, allays the inflammation and stops the aching or itching at once.

Thousands who had resorted to expensive surgical treatment have been cured by the Pyramid Pile Cure—in a number of instances persons who had spent months in a hospital under a pile specialist.

It is a remedy that none need fear to apply even to the most aggravated, swollen and inflammed hemorrhoidal tumors.

If you are afflicted with this stubborn disease you can master it and master it quickly.

This remedy is no longer an experiment, but a medical certainty, and is sold by druggists everywhere for fifty cents a package.

Write Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., for their free book on the cause and cure of piles.

All Saints' Church.

In the absence of the rector, Rev. W. Major, the services were taken by the Rev. W. H. H. Sparks, of Sunderland, who took as his morning text, I Chron, 28, 1-5. The choir rendered the anthem, "Gently, Lord, O! Gently Lead Us," at the service.

For his evening text the reverend gentleman took part of the 2nd verse of the 17th chapter of St. Matthew, "And he was transfigured before them," which he very lucidly explained for the benefit of the congregation.

A quartette composed of Misses Brunskette and Best, and Messrs. Shepherd and Greenslade, sang, "Saviour, Breathe an evening blessing."

The attendance at each service was particularly good.

Reserve Force.

The healthy body has a certain amount of strength reserved in case of emergency, attacks by disease or unusual physical exhaustion. Without this power of resistance a person is an easy prey to every ill that comes along. By enriching the blood and creating new nerve cells, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food keeps the health at high water mark and fills the body with the vigour and vitality that overcomes and defies disease.

Rare Delicacies.

QUOTATIONS ON THE WALL STREET MARKET.

The Fluctuations of the Leading Stock

The bulls had a great innings on the Wall street Market this afternoon. There was a strong undertone to the market all morning upon higher London prices, but no very marked upward movement was in evidence until about two o'clock, when prices began to shoot upwards at a great rate. The Erie issues led in the advance, the common stock reaching 25 1-2 by 2.30 o'clock. C.P.R. reached 112. Other issues were correspondingly strong.

The grain market became active and strong in the afternoon and May wheat touched 97 3-8; old July wheat 94 3-8; and old September, 87 7-8.

RUSSIANS STILL AT PORT ARTHUR.

Denial Story of that Russia is Abandoning It.

ESCAPE OF RUSSIAN FLEET?

Strange and Improbable Story Received with Incredulity—Report that the Russians Lost Heavily in Another Bombardment at Port Arthur — 300 Killed or Wounded—General Stoessel to Hold the Fort.

St. Petersburg, March 16.—From the highest official quarter the Associated Press has received information that there is absolutely no foundation for the rumors persistently issuing from Tokio that the Russians are abandoning Port Arthur.

"It is the vilest nonsense," said the official. "Nothing has occurred there to warrant such reports. The Japanese fleet has not been seen for 48 hours. The motive of the Government at Tokio in spreading this story is probably to influence public feeling in Japan for the purpose of creating enthusiasm while a war loan is being floated."

The newspapers here manifest the greatest indignation, The Boerse Gazette characterizing the report as a British invention. Attention is redirected to the order of the day issued by Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel, commander at Port Arthur, in which he declared that the place would never be surrendered, as representing the Russian position.

Strange and Improbable Story.

Paris, March 16.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Echo de Paris says that rumors to the effect that the Vladivostock and Port Arthur squadrons have been united, is received with incredulity by the general staff. The correspondent says that the rumors are probably due to Vice-Admiral Makaroff's frequent sorties. The correspondent says that General Zillinski is now Viceroy Alexieff's chief of staff, and is acting under his orders in succession to Major-General Pflug.

350 Russian Casualties.

London, March 16.—According to a correspondent of The Daily Mail at Newchwang, Gen. Kuropatkin has wired Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel that he must hold Port Arthur with the present garrison.

Rumors from the theatre of war are plentiful. The Daily Express correspondent at Berlin gives an alleged official intimation from the Russian Ambassador, that Vice-Admiral Makaroff has mined the coast of the peninsula in Port Arthur, the mines extending three miles seaward.

A correspondent of The Daily Telegraph at Yinkow says that the Japanese again attacked Port Arthur, March 12, as a challenge for Vice-Admiral Makaroff to come out and fight. During the heavy bombardment, the correspondent says, the Japanese were in a position safe from the guns of the fortress. The Russian casualties amounted to 300 killed or wounded. The correspondent adds that this is authentic.

More Decorations.

Port Arthur, March 16.—Grand Duke Cyril, cousin of the Emperor, has arrived here.

Vice-Admiral Makaroff yesterday visited the torpedo boat destroyers which participated in the fight with the Japanese on March 10, and warmly thanked the officers and crew for their splendid behavior. The Admiral distributed decorations.

War Correspondents Seek Fame.

St. Petersburg, March 16.—The Emperor will receive the German and Swiss military attaches, who leave for the front Friday, these being the first of the foreign attaches to go.

Shipping Soldiers Home.

St. Petersburg, March 16.—On account of the difficulty of housing the vast number of troops pouring into Mukden, 11,000 have been sent forward within the last few days towards the Yalu River as reinforcements for the 7,000 troops already at Kasan and Anju, and the stream of soldiers from European Russia is not being held at Harbin.

Britain Files a Protest.

Tientsin, March 16.—The British consul has filed a protest with Sir Ernest Satow, the British minister at Pekin, against the projected abandonment of the Newchwang end of the Chinese railway by its directors and the management in Great Britain. The reasons given by the consul for his action are that the British Government had previously made known its intention of protecting the road, and also that its abandonment at this time means the probability of its destruction by the Russians, should they eventually be forced to retreat.

War Notes.

Seoul, March 16.—The Japanese authorities have ordered the newspaper correspondents at Pingyang and Anju to return. They also refuse to honor the permits formerly given for correspondents to accompany troops to the front, and are holding them at Seoul.

New York, March 16.—A despatch from Chifu says that refugees from Pigeon Bay say the loss of life at Port Arthur by last Thursday's bombardment will exceed one hundred.

Russia Gets 5,000 Tons Barley.

San Francisco, March 16.—A deal for 5,000 tons of barley has been closed here with agents of the Russian Government for the use of Russian troops in the field.

LEFT TO THE OPPOSITION.

Liberals Are Not Taking Part in the Debate on the Address—Serious Charge Made By Mr. Bennett.

Ottawa, March 16.—The debate upon the address assumed a decidedly acrimonious tone yesterday afternoon and evening. Opposition speakers were visibly annoyed at the failure of the Government supporters to participate in the debate, and in the evening personalities were resorted to, apparently with the design of goading them into a reply. The occupants of the Government benches, however, unconcernedly listened to the attacks made, and, with the exception of Mr. Bourassa, who sharply countered the attack by Mr. T. Casgrain, paid no attention to the denunciations from the benches to the left of the Speaker. Hon. Mr. Haggart, Mr. W. H. Bennett, Mr. E. D. Smith and Mr. Jabel Robinson participated in the debate. Mr. Smith, in a temperate speech, advocated the establishment of a Canadian navy and of an experiment fruit farm in the Niagara district. Mr. Bennett charged that his opponent in the last campaign and a member of Parliament had both received commissions for the sale of a dock at Midland to the Government.

After routine business yesterday afternoon Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in reply to Mr. R. L. Borden, promised to have the correspondence in reference to the amendments to the G. T. Pacific agreement brought down before the amended agreement was taken up.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

Chicago has had 58 inches of snow this winter, beating all records.

Windsor is preparing for a big military demonstration on May 24.

One boat, with 30 people of the Aramo, wrecked off Queensland, is still missing.

There were 250 cars of settlers' effects on route to Canada at Portal, N.D., Monday.

The body of Samuel Wilson, aged 45, was found seven miles out from town, frozen.

Thirty-five Japanese army officers have left New York for Vancouver en route home from Europe.

A grand jury will investigate the corruption charge against prominent citizens of the American Soo.

Essexville, Mich., residents are looking for the incendiary whose latest work at the Rosary Academy will prove fatal to one girl.

Canadians Starving.

London, March 16.—The Express prints the following from Montreal: Great snowstorms continue in Eastern Canada, and industry is paralyzed.

The railways are blocked to traffic, roads are impassable, and the cold is intense. The price of food is in consequence increasing, and in many districts which are cut off from the rest of the world the inhabitants are practically starving.

No News of Pro Patria.

Halifax, N. S., March 16.—Nothing has been heard of the missing steamer Pro Patria or her passengers or crew. The steamer Harlaw has been chartered to carry the mails and the cargo that has been accumulating here for St. Pierre. The Harlaw will sail on Thursday morning.

One of "The 600."

New London, Conn., March 16.—William L. Miller, V.C., who claimed to be a survivor of the Light Brigade, is dead. He was born in Scotland in 1828, and enlisted in the 11th Hussars. Afterwards he served in the U. S. Navy during the Civil War.

Young Harcourt Unopposed.

London, March 16.—Lewis Vernon Harcourt, eldest son of Sir William Vernon Harcourt, has been elected unopposed to represent the Rossendale Division of Lancashire.

It May Be Absent.

Ottawa, March 16.—There is talk among the Ottawa Liberals of asking Thomas Ahearn to become their English-speaking candidate at the next general election.

Dynamite Explosion Kills Two.

Halifax, March 16.—In a dynamite explosion at St. Margaret's Bay, on the construction work of the Southwestern Railway, two men were killed.

A GLAD OPPOSITION

British Government Defeated on a Snap Vote.

ENGINEERED BY REDMOND

Wild Scene of Excitement in the Commons Chamber—Government Will Not Resign.—How the Catastrophe Which Shows How the Wind Is Blowing Was Brought About—Later Divisions Favorable.

London, March 16.—The Government was defeated in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon by 141 to 130 votes on a motion of John Redmond, the Irish leader, for a reduction of the Irish education estimates. As it was in the nature of a snap division, engineered by the Nationalists, the Government refused to resign, but it was regarded as another straw showing the direction of the wind. Mr. Redmond's motion was made with the object of calling attention to Irish grievances. The division was taken almost immediately after the commencement of the discussion when the Liberals and Nationalists were in strong force. The result was greeted with great cheering, especially from the Irish benches.

The Opposition immediately moved to report progress. Premier Balfour opposed the motion. He admitted, amidst much laughter, that it was obvious the Government had been defeated on a proposal to reduce a vote by $500, but there was a considerable amount of financial business to be transacted before March 31, and he did not see why any time should be wasted.

Mr. Balfour added that the honorable member had succeeded in reducing the vote for Irish education by $500 and the Government accepted the opinion of the House on the subject.

Mr. Redmond retorted: "We have defeated the Government."

It was then that Mr. Redmond moved to report progress. This was defeated by 171 to 116 votes, the Government majority being 25.

Will Not Resign.

The Government in the interim had succeeded in mustering enough ministerialists to save the situation, as in the event of a second adverse vote the ministers would have been bound to resign.

The defeat of the Government was the result of a successful coup planned by Mr. Redmond, and the senior whip of the Parliamentary party, Sir Thomas Esmonde, Monday evening. Seeing a short list of questions for yesterday, and knowing that the majority of the House expected the Irish members to occupy all the afternoon in discussing Irish education, Mr. Redmond and Sir Thomas decided to force a division almost immediately after questions time, when the greater number of the Government supporters would still be lunching at their clubs. The manoeuvre succeeded to perfection. Mr. Redmond arose holding a large sheaf of notes in his hand, as if intending to make a lengthy speech, but to the astonishment of all, except those in the secret, the Irish leader spoke only a few words and then sat down, while his party demanded the division for which such careful plans had been laid.

A scene of indescribable excitement occurred when Sir Thomas Esmonde and Anthony J. Donelan, the two tellers, went to the right of the Speaker's chair, thus showing that for the first time in many years the Unionist Government had been beaten. When the clerk of the House handed the division paper to Sir Thomas Esmonde there was a perfect hurricane of cheers from the Opposition, lasting several minutes. William Redmond, in his exuberance, snatched a hat from the head of a colleague and waved it wildly. The members rushed in, and a terrible din prevailed. Ultimately sufficient quiet was restored to enable the figures of the vote to be called out. Mr. Balfour, who was in the distinguished strangers' gallery at the time, appeared momentarily astounded at the jubilant uproar.

Message for Joe.

The cheering of the Opposition was resumed when Mr. Balfour entered the chamber, and he was greeted with derisive cheers and cries of "Resign!" and "Another message for Joe!" The Premier, who had by this time regained his accustomed composure, philosophically surveyed the excited House. The long-sustained jubilation did not tend to the advantage of the Opposition. The Government whips had time to collect their disordered forces from all parts of the House and various haunts in London. Driving and running furiously came the sedate supporters of the present Government. When another division was taken on the motion to report progress, Mr. Balfour had 25 votes to the good.

Balfour's Majority 98.

Just before the suspension of the evening session of the House of Commons a division on a motion to reduce the supplementary vote of the army estimates, resulted in 128 for the motion and 226 against it, a Government majority of 98.

Looked on As a Joke.

London, March 16.—The members of the Government and their supporters last night professed that they regard yesterday's division more in the light of a joke than anything else.

Balfour Is Warned.

The Times regards the adverse vote as of small intrinsic value when brought about to a party that only the night before defeated the Opposition. No party leader cares to accept too many small annoyances. The constituencies, when appealed to, may condemn the slackness of the Unionist members. The vote shows that the Liberal party is dependent on the Irish members.

Will It Be Morgan?

New York, March 16.—The World yesterday morning said one of the greatest financiers connected with the creation of the U. S. Shipbuilding Company will have to face a charge of grand larceny. Another who belongs to the same firm as the former will have to face a charge of forgery in the third degree. Six or seven others men will have to face less serious charges.

Forcibly Deported Union Men.

Telluride, Col., March 16.—One hundred members of the Citizens' Alliance, armed with rifles and revolvers, scoured the town and took into custody between 70 and 80 union men and sympathizers, who were then marched to the depot. As the special train departed they fired volleys into the air.

Three Men Killed.

Sherbrooke, Que., March 16.—A collision near Lennoxville, between a freight train of the Boston and Maine and a freight train of the Canadian Pacific Railway, three men on the Boston and Maine engine were killed.

For Harmony of Interests.

Bremen, March 16.—The Weser Zeitung says the German Steel Trust is about to begin negotiations with the American and British companies toward a delimitation of their respective spheres of interests in the world's markets, so as to avoid ruinous competition with each other.

Hopes She Will Die.

St. John, N.B., March 16.—The girl, Millie Gee, who was shot on Sunday, will probably die. She suffers intense agony. The prisoner, George Gee, her cousin, says that he is not sorry for the deed. "I hope to God she will die," is the most that can be got out of him.

THE MARCH OF THE CRAB.

The Conservatives in their anxiety to strengthen their position in the country, in the domain of Dominion politics, are crying aloud in boast of the victories, moral and otherwise, they claim to have gained in the bye-elections, and the success they are achieving in weakening the Liberal majority in the Dominion Parliament. Le Canada of Montreal, has compiled a test of the bye-elections held since the general elections of 1900. Since that time forty bye-elections have been held. Of these the Liberals have carried thirty-three, gaining six seats. The Conservatives have carried seven of these seats with a gain of two. On the reopening of Parliament Sir Wilfred Laurier had a majority of FIFTY-THREE. When the Dominion Parliament opened on March 10th, 1901, Sir Wilfred Laurier had behind him a majority SIXTY-ONE. Thus the progress of the Conservative party suggests the march of the crab.

INDIAN RIVER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The village was the scene of excitement for a few hours on Saturday last, the 10th inst, on account of the disabling of the early morning through express, No. 6. The train was over an hour late, and was running at a high rate of speed when she passed Indian River. About half a mile from the station the hind truck of the tender of the locomotive became derailed. For upwards of a mile the truck bumped along on the ties, cutting every bolt on each side, and tearing things up generally over the Indian River bridge, along a very high embankment, and half way through a cut, before the engineer became aware of it. The air brakes were quickly made use of, and a brakesman despatched to stop the local express, then almost due, and call the auxiliary from Havelock. The local was immediately sidetracked, and the auxiliary with a large wrecking crew, soon arrived on the scene. Half a mile of track had to be bolted before the crew could get near the train, and then the coaches had to be taken back to the switch in order to use the crane.

The village was at once bombarded by the passengers on both No. 5 and the local and the ladies were kept hustling in order to feed the multitude of hungry men. At about 11 o'clock No. 5 resumed her journey, and the local soon followed.

GREAT BRITAIN'S FLOATING EXHIBITION.

"Lake Megantic" Will Tour the Colonies With Samples of British Goods.

In less than two months there will arrive at Halifax the fine steamer, the Lake Megantic, carrying on board one of the most original advertisements ever designed. The idea is thoroughly imperialistic, although it is avowedly a simple advertisement of the British Isles as the factory of the world. The vessel is to be a floating commercial traveller, a huge showcase in which will be displayed samples of a hundred and fifty British industries. On a smaller scale the event might attract only a careless glance, due to its novelty, but there is something so magnificently vast about the exhibition that it is causing widespread interest and speculation. Primarily it is the affair of several British manufacturers and their customers, but viewed in the aggregate these business men take on a different aspect. They represent something—British trade, the greatest commercial force in the world. One forgets John Jones and William Smith and Henry Robinson, and he thinks instead of the mighty Empire which these men have helped to build. He thinks of the Bank of England, of Rule Britannia, and if he is a loyal subject he will probably relieve his feelings by cheering. And all this through simply looking into a gigantic shop window! Thus the business venture of Smith, Jones and Robinson becomes invested with the halo of patriotism, and as much free advertising as these gentlemen want is theirs for the asking.

OBJECTS OF THE VENTURE.

Viewed as an ordinary business venture, the objects of the exhibition are four in number, and may be given as follows:—

1. The promotion of inter-Imperial commerce.
2. The personal introduction of the seller to the buyer.
3. To provide a means by which British manufacturers can fully investigate the peculiar conditions and requirements of individual markets.
4. The advertisement of British industries by bringing to foreign and colonial ports a representative exhibition of British manufactured articles.

The fourth simply restates the whole case, and is a repetition of the first. The most interesting reason is to be found in the third paragraph. This means that British manufacturers are coming out not only to look at their own goods, but to look at ours and to hear our opinion of theirs. This is a most encouraging sign. In the past, it has been the reproach of English manufacturers that they made an article first and permitted you to be pleased with it. If you refused, so much the worse for you. Now the manufacturer would like to consult your wishes beforehand, so that you may have a better chance of being suited. This is the meaning of reason number three.

A HUNDRED AND FIFTY TRADES.

One hundred and fifty trades will be represented by samples and salesmen on the Lake Megantic. Between decks the ship will be cleared of all cabins and store rooms, and here will be the main exhibits, and stretching practically the whole length of the ship. The after saloon of the main deck, and part of the lower deck will also be utilized, the latter for the heavier machinery, and perhaps jokes from Punch. There will be more than two hundred trade representatives on board the Megantic, and each exhibitor is to have a fixed amount of space. The generous proportions of the vessel make it possible for all the goods to be set off to the best possible advantage. At each port of call some prominent citizen will be invited to formally "open" the exhibition, which, we may be sure, will have its social as well as its commercial side. The local Boards of Trade and Councils will be invited aboard to inspect the embodiment of that great force known as British trade. Advance agents will precede the Megantic and make arrangements for her reception. She is not likely to take anyone by surprise, and the citizens of Port Hope need not fear that they will wake some fine morning to see a huge strange ship in the lake, which they might mistake for a Russian man-o'-war.

ALL AROUND THE WORLD.

The first exhibition will be held in London, and on April 27 the Megantic will say farewell and set forth on her voyage to Halifax. She will touch at St. John's, Newfoundland, and will visit two or three other Canadian ports. From Canada she she will sail through the West Indies and then on to South Africa. From Durban she will proceed to Bombay, via Mauritius, and thence to Colombo, Madrass, Calcutta and Rangoon. Passing Penang, the huge commercial traveller will steam through the Straits of Malacca, touching at Singapore; on to Hong Kong, Shanghai, Nagasaki, and Yokohama. After letting the Japs feast their delighted eyes on some Whitehead torpedoes and Armstrong guns, the Lake Megantic will make a long run south through the Pacific, and will not touch land until she arrives in Brisbane. After visiting Sydney, Melbourne, Hobart and Wellington she will strike across to South America, and rounding Cape Horn, call at Buenos Ayres and Montevideo, Rio Janeiro. Crossing to West Africa, Sierra Leone will be spoken and that north again and east to dear old London.

MEGANTIC A FINE VESSEL.

The Lake Megantic is a vessel well chosen for her great trip. She is an Atlantic liner and is capable of making 18 knots an hour, exclusive of the knots of sea sick passengers. She is a three master, and weights 5,500 tons. Denny Bros., of Dumbarton, famous as yacht builders, constructed the Lake Megantic, and she has always been a favourite with those who have business in great waters. She is reputed to be one of the staunchest boats of her class afloat, and is rated A1 by Lloyds; she is built of steel and has triple expansion engines. Her fittings are even more luxurious than those of the average liner. Mahogany, rosewood, teak and silver are conspicuous fixtures of her internal equipment. These may be insignificant details of the sea-going trades exhibition, but each and every one of them will have its influence in the main business of advertising British goods. Such is the grand idea, which originated with a newspaper, the London Express. It is something new in advertising, something fresh in Imperialism, and all Colonials wish it success.

POUND KEEPERS APPOINTED FOR 1904

At Regular Meeting of Smith Township Council.

The Smith council met at the town hall, Bridgenorth, on Tuesday, March 8th. All the members were present excepting Mr. Wm. M. Bell. The Reeve occupied the chair.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Moved by Mr. Graham, seconded by Mr. Scott, that a bylaw to divide the Township of Smith into pound divisions for impounding animals for trespassing and running at large; to divide the roads into Road Divisions for the performance of statute labour thereon; and the expenditure of commutation money paid in lieu thereof; and to appoint overseers of highways, poundkeepers and fence viewers for the year 1904, be read a first time.—Carried.

MEDICINE FOR MEN.

Something That Will Banish Worries and Brace up the System.

Has it ever occurred to you that you need a medicine as men — not as old men or young men, but as men? Are you never conscious that the special wear and tear of life which men sustain need repair? Worry wears a man out quicker than work, but worry is not an accident, it is a symptom—a symptom of nervous exhaustion. Other symptoms are nervous headache; morning laziness, that makes it difficult to get out of bed; a weak feeling in the back; indigestion; breathlessness after slight exertion; irritable temper — perhaps some nerve pain such as neuralgia, sciatica or incipient paralysis. Dr. William's Pink Pills, as a medicine for men, act directly upon the source of discomfort. They restore manly vigour and energy, improve the appetite and tone up the nerves and the whole system. Mr. Neil H. McDonald, Estmere, N.B., is one of the many men who has proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. He says: "I am glad to be able to say that I have found Dr. Williams' Pink Pills all that is claimed for them. I was completely run down; my appetite was poor, and I suffered much from severe headaches. Doctors medicine did not give me the needed relief, so I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I used only a few boxes when my former health returned, and now I feel like a new man."

Weak, nervous, broken down men —and women, too—will find new health and happiness in a fair use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. But be sure that you get the genuine with the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" printed on the wrapper around every box. Sold by medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NORTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL MEETING.

By-laws Passed Granting Radial Railway Co. Right to run on Streets in the Township.

The council met on Monday, March 14th at the hour of 1.30 p.m. in the Town Hall.

All the members were present, the Reeve, Mr. Joseph Madill, presiding.

The minutes of the two previous meetings were read and confirmed.

Communications were presented and read as follows:—

From Messrs. Donnistoun, Peck, Kerr and Stevenson, the Township's Solicitors, stating that the Messrs. Crow had withdrawn their action for damages against the township, each party to pay their own costs, which agreement was accepted by them.—This was received and confirmed.

From D. Hughes-Charles, President of the Peterborough Board of Trade, asking the township to send representatives as witnesses to the Trent Waterway Commission at its sittings in Peterborough.—Received.

A petition was presented from the Municipal Association of the County of Oxford, asking the Ontario Legislature to not ammend the County Councils Act of 1903; that is to have the Reeves of townships and Mayors of towns not separated to constitute the County Councils.—Received.

Accounts were presented from Messrs. Donnistoun, Peck, Kerr & Stevenson, costs in Crow vs. Monaghan, $15,00; P. Connal & Co., flour for Mrs. Close, $2.20. These accounts were ordered to be paid.

Mr. E. A. Peck, of Peterborough appeared before the council, representing the Radial Railway Company, and presented the bylaws, re franchise to Railway Company, to run their lines on either Lock street extension to the river, or on Landsdowne street to the Locks Bridge, and re exempting the property used for operating such railway from taxes for a period of 20 years.

As these bylaws have been published according to law, and no person having objected to their being passed, they were each given the several readings necessary and finally passed.

On motion of Messrs. Smith and Brown, the Reeve and Clerk were appointed a committee to investigate the auditors' report of 1903, as soon as presented, and if found satisfactory, to publish the same in the usual form.

It was moved by Messrs Morrow and Fowler, that the clerk is hereby instructed to supply each Road Commissioner as soon as they are appointed in each year, with a statement of the amount of money derived from the commutation of statute labour taxes in their respective divisions, and also any additions thereto by way of grants that may be made from time to time by council; also pay checks in blank form, and it shall be the duty of each Commissioner to enter and regularly keep on their pay sheets an account of all work performed from time to time in their divisions, and submit the same to the reeve of the township, who, if he finds the same correct, shall certify the same for presentation to the council, and will then issue orders on the forms already supplied in payment of such accounts. And the treasurer of the township is hereby ordered and directed to accept no order in payment of money in the Roads and Bridges or Commutation of Labour accounts, unless regularly signed by the said reeve. This was carried.

The council then adjourned until the next regular meeting on Monday, the 11th day of April, 1904, in the town hall, at 1.30 p.m.

WEALTH OF OUR FARMS.

Hon. Sydney Fisher on the Program of Agriculture in Canada.

Toronto, March 15.—At the Canadian Club luncheon yesterday afternoon the Hon. Sydney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture for the Dominion, was the guest and spoke on the position and prospects of the agricultural interest in Canada. In his introductory remarks he referred to the advantages Canada enjoyed in that respect. Canadians, he said, lived in the northern part of the temperate zone under conditions which produced the highest type and character of men and women. It was the same in Europe, where the northern nations were the strongest and most vigorous. What was true of the human race was also true of the animal. The climate, soil and local environment of Canada enabled the highest quality of domestic animals to be raised. This had been helped by careful breeding from pure stock and now Canada was exporting largely to South America, Mexico and the West Indies

Foundation of Prosperity.

Canadian animals were superior to all others in the way of live stock, and that industry was the foundation of her agricultural prosperity. He felt assured what was true of Ontario to-day would also become true of the great west, and he believed the Northwest would in the future be seen maintaining vast quantities of live stock. It would not affect the production of wheat, but rather increase it. He believed the fundamental principle for the progress of agriculture in Canada was to prosecute the live stock industry to its highest possible development.

What are we doing in the way of organization and development? The Department of Agriculture had been working in the same line for a long time, expending more money and giving all matters more attention. Farmers were wanting more and more, and the Government were responding to the demand.

Denmark the Only Rival.

Canada was the more highly organized country agriculturally, in the world with one exception. Denmark stood first. Canada had nothing to fear from the United States. They could beat their great neighbors in every line who, boastful as they were, had to take the second place all the time. But Denmark beat Canada in organization, education and co-operation of the Government with the producers.

AN ABSOLUTE NECESSITY.

So Thinks at Least one Travelling Man.

I would as soon think of starting out without my mileage books and grip as to start out on a trip without a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in my valise, said a travelling man who represents a St. Louis hardware house. Why? Because I have to put up at all kinds of hotels and boarding houses. I have to eat good, bad and indifferent food at all hours of the day and night and I don't believe any man's stomach will stand that sort of thing without protest, anyway I know mine won't. It has been something to break the fall and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the crutch I fall back on ... friends often "jesh" me about ... tell me I'm an easy mark for patent medicine fakers, that advertised medicines are humbugs etc., but I know that they are nearly always complaining of their aches and pains and poor digestion while I can stand most any old kind of fare and feel good and ready for my work when it needs me and I believe I owe my good digestion and sound health to the daily, regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, year in and year out, and all the "joshing" in the world will never convince me to the contrary.

I used to have heartburn about three times a day and a headache about three or four times a week and after standing for this for four or five years I began to look around for a crutch and found it when my doctor told me the best investment I could make would be a fifty cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and I have invested about fifty cents a month for them ever since and when I stop to think that that is what I spend every day for cigars, I feel like shaking hands with myself for I can keep my stomach and digestion in first class order for fifty cents a month. I don't care for any better life insurance.

My druggist tells me they are the most popular of all stomach medicines and that they have maintained their popularity and success because they do as advertised. They bring results, and results are what count in a patent medicine as much as in selling barbwire.

Baby Died in Agony.

Niagara Falls, March 15.—At Montrose, a village three miles from this city, Gordon, a two-year-old son of George Burns, ran against a pail of boiling water which was on the floor. The pail was upset and the child fell, receiving such terrible burns that he died after hours of great suffering.

Reserve Force.

The healthy body has a certain amount of strength reserved in case of emergency, attacks by disease or unusual physical exhaustion. Without this power of resistance a person is an easy prey to every ill that comes along. By enriching the blood and creating new nerve cells, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food keeps the health at high water mark and fills the body with the vigour and vitality that overcomes and defies disease.

Killed By Toy Pistol Caps.

Chicago, March 16.—Three persons were killed and eight injured in an explosion that wrecked the plant of the Chicago Toy Novelty Company caused by the ignition of one hundred and fifty gross of toy pistol caps.

Met Death Suddenly.

Oakland, Cal., March 16.—An explosion of nitro-glycerine yesterday in the California giant powder works on the bay shore at Sobrante, killed two laborers.

No One Lost.

Brisbane, Queensland, March 16.—The missing boat of the Aramac has been reported safe. All the missing passengers have been landed.

Tell Me Who Needs Help

Just a Postal. That is All.

No money is wanted—from you—nor from him. I ask only a postal card, and I ask it as an act of humanity.

I will send him my book. I will arrange with a druggist that he may take six bottles Dr Shoop's Restorative. He may take it a month at my risk. If it succeed the cost is $5.50. If it fail, I pay the druggist myself. And the sick one's mere word shall decide it.

Could I meet you—for even ten minutes, I would forever convince you that I have what those sick ones need. More than that, they must have it, for most of them can never get well without it.

But I can meet only a few, so I take this means to convince you. I let you take it a month to prove what it can do, and you can pay or I will pay, just as you decide.

I have found the cured ones fair. In the past twelve years I have furnished my Restorative to hundreds of thousands on these terms, and 39 out of 40 have paid—and paid gladly—because they were cured. I will pay just as willingly if you say I have failed.

My Restorative is the result of my lifetime's work in learning how to strengthen the inside nerves.

I don't doctor the organs, but I bring back the nerve power which alone operates every vital organ. I give the weak organ power to do its duty, as you would give a weak engine more steam.

My way never fails, save when a cause—like Cancer—makes a cure impossible. No case is so difficult, for I have watched the remedy succeed in the most desperate cases that physicians ever met.

You know some sick one who will be well with my help. Won't you let me furnish the help?

Write me now—today. Dr. Shoop, Box 47, Racine, Wis.

TELEPHONE DECISION.

Chief Railway Commissioner Blair's Judgment Holds Contract Between C.P.R. and Bell Co. Valid.

Ottawa March 16.—The delivery of judgment yesterday morning on the application of the municipal telephone of Port Arthur to connect with the passenger and freight stations of the C.P.R. at that town developed a serious difference of opinion among the members of the Railway Commission. Mr. Blair, the chairman, held that the Bell Telephone Company under which the latter was given the exclusive right to place telephones in the stations of the former, was legal and binding, and failure to maintain the exclusive feature of the contract entitled the companies in question to compensation. The Port Arthur system would therefore be granted the order asked for, subject to compensation, but the order would be held in suspense until the terms of compensation had been agreed upon.

Mr. Bernier's View.

Mr. Bernier concurred in the statement that the agreement was valid and binding, but he did not go as far as the chairman. He was not ready to say that an agreement between two companies for their mutual advantage should preclude a municipal telephone system from reaching a railway station. He interpreted the law in a sense as intending to apply to the general public as well as to railway, telephone or telegraph corporations. The order ought to go, and the question of compensation to the C.P.R. should be determined later. He would give compensation not because of the agreement, but by reason of the fact that no party could take advantage of another without remunerating them.

Dr. Mills' Opinion.

Dr. Mills, the third member of the Commission, declared that the exclusive privilege in the agreement between the C.P.R. and the Bell Telephone Company aimed at creating a monopoly, was intended to prevent competition in the telephone business, interfered with the public interest, was against public policy, and in consequence debarred the contracting parties from all claims for compensation. Reasonable compensation ought to be granted to the C. P. R. for the use of their premises by Port Arthur, and the expense of operating the telephones at their stations.

The judgment of the chairman of the Commission is the one which goes into effect, as section 10 of the Railway Act provides that the chief Commissioner's view shall prevail upon any question which in the opinion of the Commissioners is a question of law. The judgment in the case of Port Arthur also applied to the town of Fort William.

"ABOLISH THE BAR."

Premier Again Supports the Proposition in Liberal Caucus.

Toronto, March 16.—The Liberal members of the Ontario Legislature again met in caucus yesterday morning.

The temperance question was not discussed, but Premier Ross took the opportunity to urge upon his followers the advisibility of endorsing the suggestion made by him at the last meeting of caucus that a bill should be introduced abolishing hotel licenses and placing under Government control the retail sale of liquor in packages.

Railway subsidies and other matters occupied the attention of the caucus.

Not Being Considered.

London, March 16.—Asked if the Government intended to take any steps to protect the iron trade of the United Kingdom against Canadian bounty-fed competition, Auston Chamberlain said the abolition or modification of the Canadian bounties would be a subject for consideration when the fiscal and commercial relations between the United Kingdom and the colonies come up for settlement.

CHAIR OF FORESTRY

One at University and Possibly Second One at O.A.C., Guelph.

INTERESTING ANNOUNCEMENT

What Hon Mr. Harcourt Hopes For—Questions About the Soo Reorganization Bill and the Introduction of the Temperance Bill—Large Number of Bills Read a First and and Second Time.

Toronto, March 15.—"My hope is that we will have a forestry chair in the University of Toronto, and I will not regret it if we have a second one at the Ontario Agricultural College," remarked the Minister of Education in the Legislature yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Whitney had moved for a return of correspondence with reference to the construction of a physical laboratory for the university and the establishment of a Department of Forestry in the same institution.

Chair of Forestry.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt said the information would be given at once. As to the physics building it was not long since the matter was called to the attention of the department. There would be room, perhaps, for some of the physics department in the new science building. As to the chair of forestry the matter had been a considerable time before the department. Prof. Mills, former president of the O.A.C., held that the chair should be established at Guelph and the Minister of Agriculture held the same view. His own opinion was that it should be established in Toronto, but, perhaps, there could be another chair of forestry at Guelph.

The order was granted.

Before the House adjourned Mr. Whitney asked the Premier when the Soo Bill would be up for its second reading, and Mr. Ross said that it would be taken up this week.

Mr. St John wanted to know when the Temperance Bill would be presented. Mr. Ross replied: "I am unable to say definitely at present."

First Readings.

Mr. Little introduced a bill enabling the Royal College of Dental Surgeons to admit John Henry Gorman as a student. Mr. Cameron (Huron) to incorporate the Current River Power Co. Mr. Gibson, to amend the law in connection with the revision of the Assessment Act. Mr. Lucas, to amend the act providing for the garnishment of the salaries of civil servants. Mr. Smith (Sault Ste. Marie), respecting the Lake Superior, Rat Portage and Keewatin Railway Co. Mr. Caldwell, to permit Owen B. Van Ett to practice medicine in the township of Pelee. Mr. Lucas' bill provides that the salaries of "outside" civil servants shall be subject to garnishment. The outside civil servants include registrars, sheriffs, jailers and other such officers.

Mr. Harcourt's bill to amend the act respecting boards of education in certain cities was read a third time.

The House went into committee on several bills, which were advanced a stage.

Second Readings.

The following bills were read a second time: Respecting the Town of Orillia (Tudhope); respecting the Presbyterian Church at Newmarket (Davis); respecting the Town of Newmarket (Richardson); to consolidate the floating debt of the Town of Wallaceburg (Pardo); respecting the Muskako Lake Navigation and Hotel Company (Mahaffy); to consolidate a portion of the debt of the Township of Rowney (Pardo); to confer certain powers on the trustees of the estate of the late John Bacon (Croy); to incorporate the Windsor and Tecumseh Electric Railway Company (Lee); to confirm a sale by the corporation of the City of Guelph to His Majesty the King, of certain lands in the city (Downey); respecting the Windsor, Essex and Lake Shore Rapid Railway Company (Beaume); respecting the London, Aylmer and North Shore Electric Railway Company (Routledge); respecting the Town of Collingwood (Duff); to confirm bylaw No. 699, of the Township of Cornwall (Carr); to further extend the powers of the Consumers' Gas Company (Lucas); respecting the Kingston Street Railway (Pense); respecting the City of Windsor (Beaume).

Another Atlantic Line.

Montreal, March 15.—Montreal and Halifax are to be made the Canadian terminus of another steamship line, and the service will be commenced in April. The line will be known as the Transport Canadien, and will run in summer between Montreal, Bordeaux and Antwerp. Four steamers have been secured and a fortnightly freight service will be operated at first. A passenger service may follow. The steamers already secured are The Ebro, Minho and the Lady Strathcona, the latter being a new boat.

Knew Dr. Chase in 1867.

One of Dr. Chase's oldest patients in Canada is Mr. G. W. Parish, of Sturgeon Bay, Simcoe County, Ont., whom he cured of kidney disease in 1867 by means of his now celebrated Kidney-Liver Pills. Mr. Parish writes that he does not think there is any medicine half so good, and he always keeps Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in the house as a family medicine.

Both Pleaded Guilty.

Toronto, March 15.—Harold Webster and Thomas Fair, the men implicated in the jewelry robberies from the P. W. Ellis Company, pleaded guilty in the police court yesterday. T. C. Robinette, K. C., Webster's counsel, asked for a week's remand before sentence is passed upon them. Mr. Robinette stated that the Ellis firm would be reimbursed for any goods stolen by Webster that were not recovered.

Government Opposes Emigration.

Tientsin, March 15.—The Government is strongly opposed to the proposed emigration of Chinese to the Transvaal.

THE OLDEST MAN IN AMERICA

Tells How He Escaped the Terrors of Many Winters by Using Pe-ru-na.

MR. ISAAC BROCK, BORN IN BUNCOMBE CO., N. C., MARCH 1, 1788.

His age is 114 years, vouched for by authentic record. He says: "I attribute my extreme old age to the use of Pe-ru-na."

Born before the United States was formed.
Saw 22 Presidents elected.
Pe-ru-na has protected him from all sudden changes.
Veteran of four wars.
Shod a horse when 99 years old.
Always conquered the grip with Pe-ru-na.
Witness in a land suit at the age of 110 years.
Believes Pe-ru-na the greatest remedy of the age for catarrhal diseases.

ISAAC BROCK, a citizen of McLennan county, Texas, has lived for 114 years. For many years he resided at Bosque Falls, eighteen miles west of Waco, but now lives with his son-in-law at Valley Mills, Texas.

A short time ago, by request, Uncle Isaac came to Waco and sat for his picture. In his hand he held a stick cut from the grave of General Andrew Jackson, which has been carried by him ever since. Mr. Brock is a dignified old gentleman, showing few signs of decrepitude. His family Bible is still preserved, and it shows that the date of his birth was written 114 years ago.

Surely a few words from this remarkable old gentleman, who has had 114 years of experience to draw from, would be interesting as well as profitable. A lengthy biographical sketch is given of this remarkable old man in the Waco Times-Herald, December 4, 1898. A still more pretentious biography of this, the oldest living man, illustrated with a double column portrait, was given the readers of the Dallas Morning News, dated December 11, 1898, and also the Chicago-Times Herald of same date.

This centenarian is an ardent friend of Peruna, having used it many years.

In speaking of his good health and extreme old age, Mr. Brock says:

"After a man has lived in the world as long as I have, he ought to have found out a great many things by experience. I think I have done so.

"One of the things I have found out to my entire satisfaction is the proper thing for ailments that are due directly to the effects of the climate. For 114 years I have withstood the changeable climate of the United States.

"I have always been a very healthy man, but of course subject to the little affections which are due to sudden changes in the climate and temperature. During my long life I have known a great many remedies for coughs, colds and diarrhœa.

"As for Dr. Hartman's remedy Peruna, I have found it to be the best, if not the only, reliable remedy for these affections. It has been my standby for many years, and I attribute my good health and extreme old age to this remedy.

"It exactly meets all my requirements. It protects me from the evil effects of sudden changes; it keeps me in good appetite; it gives me strength; it keeps my blood in good circulation. I have come to rely upon it almost entirely for the many little things for which I need medicine.

"When epidemics of la grippe first began to make their appearance in this country I was a sufferer from this disease.

"I had several long sieges with the grip. At first I did not know that Peruna was a remedy for this disease. When I heard that la grippe was epidemic catarrh, I tried Peruna for la grippe and found it to be just the thing."

Yours truly,

Isaac Brock,

For a free book on catarrh, address The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

THE BOY'S STORY A FABRICATION.

Was Not Abandoned by His Father as He Stated.

Another Chapter in a Peculiar Case Investigation Proves that the Boy Left Home and His Father is an Industrious and Kind Parent His Mother is at Home.

Mr. Henry and Mr. Cochrane of the Children's Shelter, called at the Examiner office this morning to say that upon further investigation into the case of the boy, said to be abandoned by his father, it turns out that the boy's story had no foundation in fact. The father was interviewed last night at his home on Sherbrooke street, and stated that the boy was a puzzle to him. He had not been home for dinner or tea on the day preceeding and at night diligent search was made for him until late but without avail.

It seems that the boy went out into the country on a farmer's sleigh and was sent back on the train the next morning, and when Mr. Sandys telephoned to the Shelter, the boy told Mr. Henry the story which partly appeared in yesterday's Examiner. The father said that he could not account for the boy's motive in concocting lying stories. He had given his parents a good deal of trouble, telling lies and going about in a manner calculated to give trouble at home. The story to the effect that his mother was in Norwich, was all fiction, for when Mr. Henry called at the house last night, it was she who answered his knock at the door. The boy's father, an intelligent, man and a first-class mechanic, lives in a very comfortable house on Sherbrooke street, and stated that he had hunted the town Monday night until near midnight looking for his son, and was delighted to learn from Mr. Henry that the boy was in safe keeping at the Shelter.

When Mr. Henry met the father he said: "I believe you have a boy to give away for adoption." The father replied: "No, but I have a boy who is lost; do you know anything about him?" Whereupon Mr. Henry said: "I have the boy in my possession at the Shelter, where he remains until his parents claim him."

When the boy was confronted with his father last night, the latter asked him, "Do you prefer to remain here with Mr. Henry, or go home to your little brothers and sisters?" The boy said meekly, "I'll go home."

Mr. Cochrane and Mr. Henry both say that they never saw a child like him before. The father will give him another trial before sending him to the House of Industry.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ANNUAL FESTIVAL.

Park Street Baptists Will Hold It To-morrow Evening

The anniversary festival of the Park street Baptist church, will be held to-morrow evening. The children will be given a supper at 6, and later a concert will be given. There will be songs, choruses, duets and solos, vocal and instrumental, by the children. Interesting ceremony of presenting the trustees with a handsome sum (which must be near $200) as the school's share towards the purchase of a lot for the new church. Great interest prevails amongst the children and parents, and the church will fill a long time before 8 o'clock, so come early to secure standing room. There will be a silver collection at the door for all who are not in Sunday school. Programme begins at eight.

HORSE FRIGHTENED BY PASSING TRAIN.

Ran Away and Upset Cutter Containing Rev. J. P. Wilson and M. A. Grant.

Rev. J. A. Wilson and Mr. Andrew Grant, of Waterford street, participated in a runaway accident yesterday afternoon, which, while it resulted disastrously for the cutter and harness, fortunately did not injure the occupants. The gentlemen mentioned above were returning from a funeral and when near the Canadian Cordage Works, the horse, which was a spirited animal, became frightened, and swerving suddenly, upset the cutter, throwing the occupants out, and made a dash for liberty.

The horse soon broke loose from the cutter, which was badly smashed, and running towards George street, passed through A. McDonald's saw mill yard, and out on to the ice on the Little Lake, where it was stopped. The horse in its mad rush became somewhat seriously injured with cuts, but will recover, whilst the occupants of the cutter escaped with some shakings up and a few bruises.

GRAND JURY MADE THE PRESENTMENT,

After Inspecting Hospitals and Other Places.

Has Made Several Recommendations in which Views His Lordship Concurred The Cases.

Prior to the opening of the High Court this morning, the Grand Jury made their presentment to His Lordship, Judge Teetzel, who took up the recommendations clause by clause, and showed that his sentiments were in harmony with those expressed by the members of the Grand Jury. The following is a copy of the presentment.—

To the Hon. Mr. Justice Teetzel:

May it please Your Lordship—The Grand Jurors, on this, the occasion of your first official visit to Peterborough, venture to extend their congratulations and to express the wish that you may have before you a long and successful career upon the bench.

We have visited the County Gaol, the Nicholls Hospital, St. Joseph's Hospital, the House of Providence, the Protestant Home and the Children's Shelter and find everything neat, clean, in good order and carefully managed.

The Grand Jurors regret to report that in the Nicholls Hospital they found cases of scarlet fever, and in St. Joseph's Hospital they found cases of diphtheria contrary to the wishes of the authorities of both these institutions. The necessity for the erection of proper quarters for the treatment of infectious cases is urgent.

The authorities of both our hospitals point out that there is no maternity ward in either hospital and we are of opinion that this defect should be brought to the attention of the general public.

There are several people in the County Gaol who are insane. One of these unfortunates has been there seven years. The Jurors think this case should be brought to the attention of the authorities.

The need of a county poor house has been mentioned by all the Grand Juries of recent years and we add our recommendation to theirs that such a building should be provided.

Following the example of previous Grand Juries we take the liberty of pointing out that a large amount of public money has been expended in the development of the Trent Waterway, which will eventually connect Georgian Bay with Lake Ontario, and will, in the opinion of your Grand Jurors, form a great national highway for grain between the North West and the seaboard.

The Grand Jurors believe that this work will be of great importance, not only to this district but to the whole of Canada, and in their opinion it should be completed by the construction of the remaining locks at an early date.

All of which your Grand Jurors humbly present.

March 16th, 1904.
J. H. McCLELLAN,
Foreman.

In reply His Lordship thanked the Grand Jury for their congratulations and kind wishes, which he appreciated very much.

Touching upon the clause in which the necessity for the erection of proper quarters for the treatment of infectious cases of disease is described as urgent, he said that it was deplorable that a town the size and holding such a high status in Ontario as does Peterborough, should not have such an isolation hospital for the treatment of contagious diseases.

Regarding the presence of insane persons in the county gaol, His Lordship remarked that such people should be placed in quarters where their peculiar conditions could be fairly looked after. He also concurred with the recommendation that a poor house should be provided.

The last clause pointing out the great national importance of the Trent Valley Canal, and the necessity of its early completion, was earnestly commented upon by His Lordship, who said that he saw, and he believed all true Canadians were of the same opinion, the great advantages which the Dominion will have in such a great national highway for the North West grain. In conclusion he said that the sooner such an important work was pushed to completion the better it would be for the country.

The case of McPherson vs. Wilkins occupied all day yesterday.

Edward McPherson, Bancroft, was the plaintiff, and F. W. Watkins, Dominion Land Surveyor of Norwood, was the defendant in the case in which former claims for wages, and services of a team and wagon hired to defendant, and for transportation expenses in a return trip from Saskatoon to Norwood, the sum of $391, and for damages and breach of a contract entered into in April, 1903, the sum of $300, together with costs of the action. Gus Porter for the plaintiff, and G. J. Sherry, Norwood, for defendant.

Plaintiff hired with defendant and while in the North-west one of his horses died in a very cold and unexpected blizzard. Plaintiff claimed defendant had not provided enough oats and good stabling for the horses which would otherwise have been able to withstand the blizzard. The evidence, however, showed the plaintiff hitched up his own horse and neglected to take any blankets. His Lordship held that defendant was not responsible for the death of the horse, but on the matter of wages awarded plaintiff $79.00 and $50.00 costs.

The case of Hopkins vs. Perdu was tried to-day and at the time of going to press had not been concluded.

REV. MR. HOLAH ON "ENGLAND AND LONDON"

Gave an Interesting and Instructive Lecture Last Night.

Rev. J. L. Holah, L.S.T., delivered a highly interesting lecture on "England and London," in the Ashburnham Hall, last night, under the auspices of the St. Luke's Girls' Guild, before a large and appreciative audience. The lecture was illustrated by many spirited limelight views of the various scenes upon which the speaker dwelt.

Rev. Mr. Holah gave many interesting notes on the various points of interest, in specially, the metropolis of the British Empire, and vicinity, as well as the chief cities of the British Isles. His address covered London in a most instructive manner and that the audience was delighted with the lecture was evidenced in the manner in which the speaker was continuously applauded. The views shown were very numerous, and were well brought out on the canvass by Messrs R. B. Rogers and J. J. Turner. The last picture shown was that of King Edward VII, and the lecture was appropriately brought to a close with the National Anthem. Rev. Mr. Holah was tendered a vote of thanks.

Baby Go-Carts and Carriages

Are prominent in the minds of parents of little ones as the season for warmer spring days come near.

We have made ample provision for a larger demand than usual, for every season's sales with us have been a liberal increase over the previous one.

1904 Styles

Are a decided improvement over anything produced in this line before. One of the new features of positive advantage is the new style wheel with extra cushion tire and known as the Automobile Wheel.

Improvements also in the Running Gear, making them lighter and easier running.

Improvements in the Springs, adding much to the comfort of the little ones.

Improvements in the Handles, adding decidedly to the convenience in handling, while the improvements in designs make the new patterns noticeably handsomer than those of other seasons.

A choice selection from the best makes.

LOCAL TEAM MAY PLAY IN TORONTO.

Would Like to Arrange a Game with Marlboros on Saturday.

The Toronto Star last night said: Secretary-Treasurer R. M. Glover of the Peterborough Hockey Club writes to The Star to-day to the effect that the Peterborough Hockey Club would like to arrange a game with the champion Marlboros in Toronto next Saturday night.

The Peterboroughs have decisively beaten both teams sent to Peterborough by Marlboros and St. Georges, and are anxious to find out how good they really are on strange ice against the champion team of the Association.

Peterborough asked Stratford for home and home games, but the intermediate champions are going out of training right away after a long, hard season, and were unable to grant the request.

T. A. S. TIED WITH LINDSAY BUNCH.

The Game Played There Last Night Ended 11-11.

The T.A.S Hockey team, champions of the Trent Valley League, went to Lindsay yesterday and tried conclusions with the local team of that town. After a hard tussle the game ended a draw both sides having 11 goals to their credit. No extra time was played. Both teams were fairly well balanced and if anything the Lindsay bunch were the heavier. As the score indicates the game was one of touch and go from start to finish and the half time score was 5—4 in favour of Lindsay. At some stages the play was rough, but no deliberate dirty work was done, the offences being heavy body charges. The referee, Mr. Gould, goal keeper for Fenelon Falls, gave good satisfaction, under the conditions doing very well indeed.

The ice was in first-class shape and the game was witnessed by a large crowd of persons. The T.A.S. team was composed of: Goal, McCoy; point, Meagher; cover point, Parnell; centre, Callaghan; right, Derocher; left, Quinn and rover, George.

Lindsay—Goal, McGrath; point, Riley; cover point, Duffus; centre, Taylor; rover, Callaghan; right, Pringle; left, Sylvester.

"Billy" George lost three teeth, being hit in the mouth with the puck. Hanley, Midland's star goal keeper was in the nets for Lindsay.

PUCKERINGS.

The Tomahawks of the fifth ward, defeated the Beavers of the fifth ward, in a game of hockey by 3—0. "Pointer" Munroe was the star palyer of the Beavers. Normar Geale made some splendid rushes up the ice, but some of them were not a success. The goals were scored by Norman Geale, 2; Willie Butcher, 1.

The teams lined up as follows:—

Tomahawks—Goal, H. Faint; point, J. Mercier; cover point, W. Crowe; forwards, G. Butcher, G. Quartermaine, W. Butcher, N. Geale.

Beavers—C. Clitheroe, B. Gillespie, A. Henthorn, L. Munroe, C. Rightmyer, G. Rightmyer.—Com.

Last night the "Meewites Pets" ran up against the famous Rope Room seven, the latter suffering defeat by a score of 4-3. Giving the Rope Room their due, they play grand hockey, but it is an understood fact that they can't hold a candle to the famous "Pets," who are now the champions of the Canadian Cordage Co. Hockey League.

Y.M.C.A. VICTORIOUS.

A game of hockey in which the Y.M.C.A. and St. Andrew's Guild teams participated, formed one of the numerous numbers on the programme for last night. The Y.M.C.A. team won by 3—0 in a fast game in which the teams were:—

THE MOULDERS.

The C.G.E. moulders hockey team showed their superiority over the Lock Works' aggregation by a score of 4 goals to 1. The game was refereed by Mr. Tom Turcotte to the satisfaction of both sides, which lined up as follows:—

C. G. E. Moulders — Goal, R. Hillier; point, E. Hurtubise; cover, W. Grady; centre, J. Foley; left, M. McBrien; right, A. Williams.

Goal umpires — W. Andrews, C. G. E.; and C. Fagin, Lock Works. Timekeepers, J. Weir and Roddy.

THE BAND—FIREMEN.

The game between the 57th Regimental Band and the local Firemen resulted in a draw, 5—5, and afforded immense amusement to the spectators. Crowe certainly missed his calling, which is on the stage. Mr. Harry Rush, the celebrated referee, had a busy time clearing the ice of the superfluous pucks which were persistently thrown on.

The teams were:—

Band.	Firemen.

BAND — TOOL-ROOM.

The match between the junior members of the 57th Band and the C. G.E. Tool Room Workers, provided all kinds of fun and some tall hockey was witnessed. The game ended 6—5 in favour of the Band.

The teams lined up as follows:

Bandsmen.	Toolroom.

FORM TRENT VALLEY LACROSSE LEAGUE.

A Proposal Made by Secretary of Havelock Lacrosse Team.

The Sporting Editor of the Examiner has received the following letter from Mr. T. P. Lancaster, of Havelock:—

Dear Sir,—A lacrosse club has been organized in Havelock this season and in view of the lack of interest taken in the C. L. A. in this section, we think it would be advisable and prove to be a success if a Trent Valley League could be formed. No doubt a large number of clubs from the surrounding towns and villages would enter such a league, who would not be able to enter the C. L. A. I never thought of a Trent Valley League was proposed last year, but it fell through unfortunately. Would it not be a good idea for you to propose and boom this League through the columns of the Examiner. Our club will enter, for one, and we will be only too pleased to do all in our power to help the movement. When the Trent Valley Hockey League has proved to be such a success there's no reason to doubt but that a lacrosse league would also be looked upon favorably.

Hoping you will see your way clear to do as suggested,

The proposition made in this letter is a good one and should meet with approval by the lacrosse teams in the district. Last season there were only three lacrosse teams in the C.L.A. between Peterborough and Belleville, two of them being in Peterborough. Hastings, which entered a team in the Junior C.L.A., defaulted after playing one game, leaving Peterborough Athletics and the Belleville team alone in that district.

There are a number of towns in which there is not sufficient material to form a team strong enough to enter the C.L.A., but which might make a good showing in a league such as is suggested in Mr. Lancaster's letter. Experience has shown that the Football and Hockey, Midland and Trent Valley Leagues have been successful, and there is no reason to believe that a Lacrosse league should not also be a success.

The Examiner will be glad to receive suggestions along this line, and should sufficient interest be shown in the plan a meeting might be called to discuss the project.

FOOTBALL.

A meeting of the Y.M.C.A. Football Club was held last night in the Y.M.C.A. Building, when the principal business was the election of a representative to the annual meeting of the Midland League, in which the club will enter a team. Mr. Art Noble was elected a delegate to attend the meeting in the interests of the club. The annual meeting of the club will be held on March 25, when practice grounds, etc., will be arranged for. It is expected that a good team will be gotten together this year.

• • • •

The secretary of the Havelock Football Club has written to the acting secretary of the Midland Football League, stating that the club will not enter a team in the League this year.

• • • •

The Statesman, Bowmanville, said in this week's issue:—"The annual meeting of the Midland Football League will be held in Peterborough on Saturday, March 19th, and from present indications the season of 1904 will be even more successful than that of last year. Hon. J. R. Stratton has given a handsome silver cup emblematic of the League championship, which will be competed for yearly. It is expected that a western group will be formed this year, including teams from as far west as Bowmanville and Pontypool.

CURLING.

In the Innis Medal matches tonight, the following games will be played:—

Morrow vs. Clegg.
Blade vs. C. Rutherford.
Giroux vs. Frost.

The following semi-finals for the Kendry Cup will be played to-night:

Connal vs. Waddell.
Thompson vs. T. Rutherford.

• • • •

The following games were played last night for the Innis Medal:—

R. J. Winch	J. Fowler
T. J. Tilly	G. Stevenson
J. Gibson	T. Brightman
W. Thompson, sk. 9	C. N. Brown, sk. 18
Giroux, sk...12	Whiten, sk...8
Edwards, sk...13	Kerr, sk...8

LACROSSE.

A communication received by the Examiner states that four or five teams are ready to enter a junior city lacrosse league. It says teams will enter from the C.G.E., Cordage Co., Cereal Works, and T.A.S. III.

EXELLENT WORK OF SALVATION ARMY.

Financial Assistance Would Aid Materially in the Work.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In your issue of the 14th, there is a paragraph containing a few statistics concerning the social side of the Salvation Army's operations, viz., "that during the past year 8,000,109 cheap meals have been supplied to the very poor; 4,139,728 cheap lodgings, also 6,196 fallen women taken from the streets, and 1,956 criminals brought into Army homes of refuge." I would like to supplement this list by saying that we have 620 relief institutions, accommodating 33,000 persons, and we could do more if we had more financial help. We respect neither class nor creed. Be it man or woman, boy or girl, who is in need of a home or help, our doors are always open; our cars are never deaf to the cries of the homeless and forsaken. Only a few weeks ago we took a girl, about seventeen years of age, from the streets of Peterborough and sent her to our rescue home in Toronto. Help for this work is needed and for that purpose we have little boxes placed in private homes and places of business, so that people visiting these places may drop their spare coppers in to help on this good work. We should be very pleased to hear from a few more business men, who would be willing to place a box in a prominent position in their office. These boxes are opened every quarter and a receipt given for the money collected therefrom. The officer in charge of local corps of the Salvation Army, Staff Capt. MacNamara, would gratefully acknowledge all donations received for the work and also be pleased to answer any enquiries respecting the same. A post card will bring the agent for this work to see you in your home, or at your business address.

Thanking you in anticipation, I am
Yours very truly,
F. ASHTON,
Local Agent, S. A. Barracks.

THE CAVAN SWAMP QUESTION.

The Town of Peterborough has in the past pursued a steadily consistent policy intended to bring trade to the town, which is in part represented by excellent market buildings and a first-class market for all sorts of farm produce. First-rate flouring mills are available for the benefit of the farmers and the Cereal Works furnish a first-class and unlimited market for oats. We have a high-class agricultural implement establishment which can supply all that the farmer needs in the way of advanced farm machinery and implements. We have excellent shops providing a splendid range of goods at moderate prices. In a word we have a town in a position to make it profitable for farmers to make it their market centre and source of supply. In addition the town has made considerable expenditure, within the county in the way of assisting in the erection or maintenance of bridges furnishing easier access to Peterborough. It is, however, questionable whether or not it would be advisable for the town to meet the request of the people of Cavan to bear a part of the expense of draining the Cavan swamp. The township has had liberal assistance, the Ontario Government has appropriated $3,000 for the purpose of helping to drain the swamps in question. The taxpayers of Peterborough may not feel inclined to increase the town expenditure in the direction requested, especially in view of the large expenditures that are facing the town. The cost of a new Collegiate Institute building will have to be met and no small amount of extra expenditure that will be necessary in a town that is reaching the city stage of size and city requirements. If the people of Cavan in the vicinity mentioned, find it to their interest to come to Peterborough to do their selling and buying, we shall make them welcome to all the advantages the town presents; if they do not find it to their advantage to visit Peterborough, they will not do so under any circumstances.

THE LATE WILLIAM TOOLE.

A Former Respected Resident and Mayor of Peterborough.

The elder residents of Peterborough will learn with regret of the death of William Toole, who recently passed away in the North-west. Mr. Toole was, during his residence in Peterborough, a prominent citizen, and for several terms held the position of Mayor, a position gained on a time when the contests for the Mayoralty were carried on with more vigour than has marked them the past few years. Mr. Toole will be remembered as having conducted planing mills situated on the present site of Alderman Hicks' coal and wood yards. His contract for the erection of the Convent at Lindsay, while it resulted in the erection of a substantial building, proved a financial loss to Mr. Toole, and has bondsmen had to undertake the completion of the structure. Though he may not have achieved any considerable business success in Peterborough, his many former friends are pleased to know that he met with better success in the North-west. While in Peterborough Mr. Toole was an ardent Conservative, but on his removal to the North-west twenty years or more ago, the conditions he saw there modified his political opinions considerably.

KEENE.

Keene, March 15th.

Mrs. Archie Davidson, of Peterborough, is spending a few days here.

The hockey boys tendered M. T. Miller a banquet prior to his departure for Calgary.

Miss E. Wright, of Peterborough, was the guest of Mrs. W. Campbell for a few days this week.

The patrons of Lang cheese factory were tendered an oyster spread on Tuesday evening, Mr. Will Weir being the host. In the evening the younger folks enjoyed a dance.

Miss Willene Miller has returned to Toronto.

Mr. T. J. Wallace was presented with an address, a bouquet of flowers and a purse of coins, in number equal to his years, by the pupils of the entire school and assistant teachers, on his natal day, Tuesday 15th.

Mr. G. Gumpricht was in the village on Monday, on his regular round of business.

The basembly on the 17th inst., promises to be a great success. The tickets are being rapidly bought up. A few are reserved for those who may come from a distance. We feel sure that all who attend will be pleased with the new arrangement of the hall.

Mrs. Wm. Kempt is in Toronto this week visiting with her daughter, Mrs. F. Krook.

Mrs Jas. McCrae and children after spending the winter here have left to join Mr. McCrae at Winnipeg.

Charles Beil & Son shipped three carloads of hogs on Wednesday. Their business in hogs and wheat is growing very extensive of late, a great deal of grain coming across the ice as the drawing on the lake is splendid.

MASTER OF BIOGRAPHY

LESLIE STEPHEN'S NAME LINGERS HALF FORGOTTEN.

An Eminent Man-of-Letters—Literary Circles Pleased When He Was Knighted in 1902—Brother of Famous Judge—Editor of Cornhill—His Great Work Rank as a Writer.

Leslie Stephen is one of those names which lurk in everybody's memory, half-forgotten, without associations to assist one to recall them. There is a good deal in a name, after all, and here is a very famous one, and the mention of it will have no effect on the average man beyond making him vaguely wonder where he heard it before. As it is, this eminent man-of-letters is unknown to the public which is on familiar terms with Sir Gilbert Parker, who was knighted at the same time. None of the honors bestowed by Royal favor in 1902 pleased literary circles more than the K.C.B. given to Leslie Stephens.

Master of Short Biography.

Sir Leslie Stephen is dead, and in a hundred newspaper and magazine offices short biographical articles are being written about the master of biographical sketches. Though his life was a long and active one, full of toil and productive of lasting results, it is difficult in surveying the broad fields in which he labored to gather a nosegay which a non-literary public will appreciate. Sir Leslie was a reserved man, dwelling in a high, thin atmosphere, rarely descending to the plain. He had much of the intellectual aloofness so often remarked by students of Tennyson. He was, in short, a bookman, instead of a fellow-citizen. It is safe to say that he never took enough interest in public affairs to run for any office in the gift of a municipality. Had he done so he would have been defeated. He lived his long life in the past, in the company of that famous host of English authors whom he loved so well.

Brother of Famous Judge.

His taste for literature was inherited fairly enough from a long line of ancestors, who handled the goosequill with some facility. His father, Sir James Stephen, was the author of a series of essays on ecclesiastical biography, and his grandfather had also published matter of a more or less fugitive character. His brother, James Fitzjames Stephen, inherited the literary sense too, and was a prolific writer, though more famous as a lawyer. Later he was made a judge and knighted, and was considered one of the most notable figures on the British bench. He was the judge who sentenced Mrs. Maybrick, and was the centre of one of the fiercest controversies in the past quarter of a century. After his death Leslie prepared his biography, and in it defended his brother with skill and eloquence from the attacks made on his conduct of that famous case.

Editor of Cornhill.

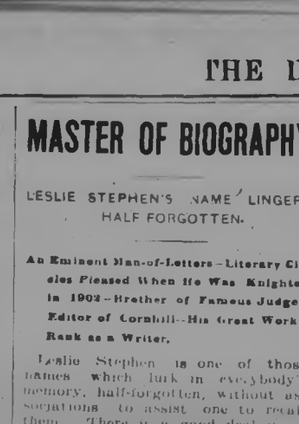
Leslie Stephen was born in Kensington, on Nov. 28, 1832, and received his education at Eton, King's College, London, and Trinity College, Cambridge. He took his B.A. in 1854, and his M.A. three years later. For several years he was a fellow and tutor of Trinity, but in 1864 went to London and embarked on the sea of literature. In 1871 he became editor of the celebrated Cornhill Magazine, which had probably as many famous contributors as any magazine before or since. Stephen held this position for 11 years, and in that time had come in contact with the greatest English writers of the period. Among his friends he could number Hardy, Stevenson, Norris, James Payne, Henry James, Russell Lowell, and a host of others. As a youth he had been on intimate terms with the Macaulays, James Spedding, Sir Henry Taylor, and Nassau Senior, while Tennyson, Dickens, and Thackeray were illustrious members of various little circles in which he was made welcome. At the home of the editor of the Pall Mall Gazette he met Harriet Marion Thackeray, younger daughter of the novelist, and her he married. She died in 1878, and later he wedded Julia Prinsep Duckworth, whose death occurred about nine years ago.

His Great Work.

In 1883, Leslie Stephen, then 50 years old, began the work on which his fame must rest. The desire possessed him to prepare a biographical dictionary of his famous countrymen, "to carry a causeway through the vast morass of antiquarian accumulation," and to this task he addressed himself. He did not pretend to write all these biographies himself. He was to be merely the editor, but as a matter of fact, the great share of the burden fell on his own shoulders. He issued twenty volumes of the Dictionary of National Biography, and then, his health failing, he called to assist him Mr. Sidney Lee. In collaboration they got out five more volumes, and then Mr. Stephen resigned the monumental task to the capable hands of Mr. Lee, who has continued at the helm ever since. Anyone who wishes to see Leslie Stephen at his best should read his sketches in the Dictionary. His study of Johnson has been called the "peerless model of short biography." Turning over the thousands of pages in this library, one will find that Stephen was the biographer of some of the greatest characters there.

His Rank as a Writer.

In all his writings (and beside his contributions to the Dictionary he issued about a dozen volumes) Leslie Stephen's personality is strongly marked. As a stylist he is admirable, a master of brevity, an artist [illegible] as someone has expressed it, was a task in which he excelled, and yet, when opportunity offered, could split hairs with the most [illegible] biographical, and [illegible] critical studies. He was always downright and sincere, and it has been said of him that he never wrote below himself. Although he might quarrel with the nature, he was a sceptic of the school of Bentham, Mill and Spencer, and had little sympathy with some great men Jowett, for instance, who held opposite views. But if he has written with lack of sympathy, it must be remembered that his business was not to eulogize. As a cold, impartial, slightly sardonic and humorous biographer, he will rank with the best writers of English language.



Dog-matic People

Are often capable of doing injury to less positive people, the very emphasis of their affirmation making up for lack of argument and want of evidence. And the worst of all dogmatists are those doctors who, harking back to some old dogma of the schools, insist that certain patients are beyond all medical help, because, forsooth, their diseases are beyond the limited medical knowledge of the dogmatist.

"When the physicians had given me up I was cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery." That statement, varied sometimes in form but identical in fact, is one of the common expressions found in the letters of those cured by "Golden Medical Discovery." Sometimes the statement runs; "I was given up by four doctors," showing a desperate effort to find relief in local practitioners. But however the story begins, it almost invariably ends with the statement, "I am perfectly cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

Persons suffering from "weak" lungs, hemorrhages, deep-seated cough, emaciation and weakness, have been restored to perfect health by the "Discovery."

The philosophy of the cures effected by this marvelous medicine is not hard to understand. Life is sustained by food, digested and assimilated. The basis of health is a good appetite and a sound digestion. In almost all cases of disease loss of appetite is an early symptom, and this is promptly followed by a wasting of the flesh. For some cause the food eaten is not being converted into nutrition and the body and its organs, being starved, must grow weak. There is only one way to get strength and that is by food. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery heals diseases of the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition, so enabling the body to assimilate the needed nourishment. Thus various forms of "weakness," so-called, are cured by the "Discovery"—"weak" lungs, "weak" heart, "weak" nerves, "weak" or sluggish liver, etc., because the organs are made strong by food, which is perfectly digested and assimilated after the "Discovery" has healed the diseases of the stomach and associated organs of digestion and nutrition.

PAIN ALL GONE.

"I have taken your medicine with the greatest satisfaction," writes Mrs. George Riehl, of Lockport Station, Westmoreland Co., Penn'a, and can honestly say Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has cured me of a pain in my right lung that the best doctors could not help. My appetite and digestion have improved so that I can eat anything at all, and I feel better than I have for years. Your 'Favorite Prescription' has cured me of womb trouble that I suffered from for fifteen years, and painful monthly troubles. I can work a whole day and not get tired. My pain is all gone and I feel like a new person. I suffered with headache all the time, but have no headache now since taking your medicine. Your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription' do all that you claim for them, and more, too. I have been cured of troubles that I suffered from for fifteen years, and the best doctor in the State could not cure me. 'Golden Medical Discovery' cured me of neuralgia that I suffered from for five years, and if my letter can save one other poor sufferer, you can publish it."

"ALMOST A MIRACLE."

"I took a severe cold which settled in the bronchial tubes," writes Rev. Frank Hay, of Nortonville, Jefferson Co., Kansas. "After trying medicines labeled "Sure Cure," almost without number, I was led to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took two bottles and was cured, and have stayed cured.

"When I think of the great pain I had to endure, and the terrible cough I had, it seems almost a miracle that I was so soon relieved."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. They do not re-act upon the system and become a necessity, as do many other pills.

THE COUTTS GUINEA.

How the Lucky Coin Came Into Possession of the Banking Castle.

Few people are aware of the real size of Coutts' Strand Banking House, only a small part of which is visible from the front, but it really runs into four other streets, a connecting bridge spanning Godard street, for the building of which a special act of Parliament had to be obtained, says a London exchange. The ordinary banking department needs only a passing mention, and then one goes through a broad corridor, which is really the aforesaid bridge, and a very commanding apartment is reached where the inside clerical work is carried through, and where the partners' desks still occupy their time-honored position. Here is kept the lucky guinea which has become a sacred relic of the house of Coutts, jealously guarded by the chief cashier, an elderly gentleman who has spent the whole of his business life in these precincts. This guinea was exhibited to the writer, and its history is as follows:

Mr. Coutts was a very eccentric man, and, despite his great wealth, was often very shabbily dressed. Being, however, of singularly refined and stately bearing, he was a man who always attracted attention. One day he was walking out in his favorite attitude—hands behind his back. As he thus walked he attracted the attention of another gentleman, who was also taking a constitutional, and who was immediately moved with sympathy for the evident poverty of the shabby genteel individual in front of him. Being himself in fairly affluent circumstances, he determined to afford some slight relief to one who seemed to need it so much, and who doubtless would not disclose his position in order to obtain assistance. Accordingly he slipped quietly and quickly up behind him, and, placing a guinea into one of the open hands, he as suddenly withdrew before the astonished recipient was sufficiently aroused from his reverie to remonstrate. One can well imagine the surprise of the benevolent old gentleman on the next evening when, on attending a dinner party given in honor of Mr. Coutts, the banker, he recognized in him the decayed gentleman on whom he had bestowed his well-meant charity the day before. Mr. Coutts never parted with this coin; it was for a time in the possession of the Baroness, but her ladyship sent it back to the bank some thirty odd years ago.

SCOTS TOWN SINKING.

Subsiding of Motherwell—Every Building Shows Signs of the Havoc That Is Being Wrought.

The Scottish town of Motherwell was recently the scene of a subsidence not unlike what occurred a few days ago before at Hanley, in Staffordshire. At intervals portions of the town had been sinking, and this has involved loss of property and danger to the residents.

The latest collapse was at the Caledonian Railway station. A porter was wheeling a barrow laden with milk cans along the platform when suddenly his footing gave way beneath him.

The man and his truck sank into a hole several feet in diameter and five or six feet deep. The scared porter was rescued with difficulty, and after a time his barrow was also got out of the chasm.

Owing to the fact that the subsidence was within three yards of the main line between Glasgow and London the incident is regarded with not a little alarm. Arrangements have been made with the officials to make excavation at the earliest possible moment to ascertain the cause of the occurrence and to guard, as far as possible, against a repetition of it.

Express trains pass over the spot at frequent intervals, and the possibility of a serious accident is not one that can be contemplated with equanimity.

Motherwell presents an extraordinary appearance to the newly arrived visitor. House after house is slowly sinking into its foundations. Some of them have swayed over bodily from the perpendicular; others have fallen apart, gable from gable, and collapsed.

The town hall is one of the most conspicuous examples of the havoc that is silently but irresistibly being wrought. Its square tower, seventy feet high, looks like a veritable Tower of Pisa. It leans so much that passers-by walk beneath it with nervous apprehension.

The town hall itself is in a state of dissolution. The building is cracked and contorted, and its walls are marked by gaping apertures.

In the south-west portion of the town there is hardly a building that remains intact. The street kerbstones present a confused variety of angles, and the footpaths rise and fall independently of the contour of the streets.

Hitherto no means have been found for determining whether any site in that portion of the town which is affected is likely to make reliable building land. The place is undermined by a regular network of disused coal workings, which cannot be located above the surface. The erection of new buildings is consequently a matter of speculation in more than the ordinary sense.

The uncertain foundations have a paralyzing effect upon enterprises and industry. It is only a few weeks since the foundation difficulty was overcome in the case of the new power station of the local tramway company.

It was found impossible to set the engines because the levels of the concrete on which they were erected are constantly varying. Operations were suspended for a time, but latterly special measures have been successfully adopted to overcome the difficulty.

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE.

The sales of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine during 1903 were over forty per cent. larger than in 1902.

This means that nearly half as much again was used. Can there be better proof of the merit of this family medicine?

It is undoubtedly the far-reaching effect of this preparation that makes it so popular.

People soon find out that it is far more than a mere temporary relief and that it can be absolutely depended on in serious and severe cases of throat and lung trouble.

Mrs J. Provost, Renfrew, Ontario, states:—"My fourteen-year-old boy had a very severe cold in the chest last winter and I really thought he was going to die. He coughed nearly all the time and sometimes would spit up blood. We had about given up all hopes of his recovery when I heard of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. After using one bottle there was a great change in his condition, and I can positively say that he was completely cured by two bottles and he has not been troubled since. I never saw medicine take such quick effect and can sincerely recommend it."

Purified by Suffering

BY MARY J. HOLMES.

CHAPTER XVII.

It was a cruel thing for Wilford Cameron to try to separate Katy from the hearts which loved her so much and, as if he felt reproached, there was an increased tenderness in his manner towards her, particularly as he saw how sad she was for a few days after his decision. But Katy could not be sorry long, and in the excitement of settling the new house, her spirits rallied, and her merry laugh trilled like a bird through the rooms where the workmen were so busy, and where Mrs Cameron was the real superintendent, though there was sometimes a show of consulting Katy, who nevertheless was a mere cipher in the matter. In everything the mother had her way, until it came to the room designed for Helen, and which Mrs. Cameron was for converting into a kind of smoking or lounging room for Wilford and his associates. Katy put not always expect him to be always as devoted to her as he had been during the winter, she said. He had a great many bachelor friends, and now that he had a house of his own it was natural that he should have some place where they could spend an hour or so with him without the restraint of a lady's society, and this was just the room—large, airy, quiet, and so far from the parlors that the odor of the smoke could not reach them.

Katy had submitted to much without knowing that she was submitting; but something that Bells had dropped that morning had awakened a suspicion that probably she was being ignored, and the wicked part of Helen would have enjoyed the form in her as she said, not to Mrs. Cameron, but to Wilford. "I have from the very first decided this chamber for Helen and I cannot give it up for a smoking room. You never had one at home. Why did you not, if it is necessary?"

Wilford could not tell her that his mother would as soon have brought into her house one of Barnum's shows as to have had a room set apart for smoking, which she specially disliked, neither could he at once reply, so motion had been at the said in dumb show of spirit. Mrs Cameron was the first to rally, and in her usual quiet tone, she said "I did not know that your sister was to form a part of your household. When do you expect her?" and her cool gray eyes rested steadily upon Katy, who never before realized the distance there was between her husband's friends and her own. But as the worm will turn when trampled on, so Katy, though hitherto powerless to defend herself, roused in Helen's behalf, and in a tone as quiet and decided as that of her mother-in-law, replied "It was arranged from the first. Wasn't it, Wilford?" and she turned to her husband, who, unwilling to decide between a wife he loved and a mother whose judgment he considered infallible, affected not to hear her, and stole from the room, followed by Mrs Cameron, so that Katy was left mistress of the field.

After that no one interfered in her arrangement of Helen's room, which, with far less expense than Mrs. Cameron would have done, she fitted up so cosily that Wilford pronounced it the pleasantest room in the house, while Bell went into ecstasies over it, and even Juno might have unbent enough to praise it, were it not for Mark Ray, who, from being tacitly claimed by Juno, was frequently admitted to their counsels, and had asked the privilege of contributing to Helen's room a handsome volume of German poetry, such as he fancied she might enjoy. So long as Mark's attentions were not bestowed in any other quarter Juno was comparatively satisfied, but the moment he swerved a hair's breadth from the line she had marked out, her anger was aroused; and now, remembering his commendations of Helen Lennox, she hated her as cordially as one jealous girl can hate another whom she has not seen, making Katy so uncomfortable, without knowing what was the matter, that she hailed the morning of her exit from No. —— as the brightest since her marriage.

It was a very happy day for Katy, and when she first sat down to dinner in her own house, her face shone with a joy which even the presence of her mother-in-law could not materially lessen. She would rather have been alone with Wilford, it is true, but as her choice was not consulted she submitted cheerfully, proudly taking her rightful place at the table, and doing the honors so well that Mrs. Cameron, in speaking of it to her daughters, acknowledged that Wilford had little to fear if Katy always appeared as much at ease as she did that day. A thought similar to this passed through the mind of Wilford, who was very observant of such matters, and that night after his mother had gone, he warmly commended Katy, but spoiled the pleasure his commendation would have given by telling her next as if one thought suggested the other, that Sybil Grandon had returned, that he saw her on Broadway, accepting an invitation to a seat in her carriage which brought him to his door. She had made many inquiries concerning Katy, expressing great curiosity to see her, and saying that as she drove past the house that morning she was strongly tempted to waive all ceremony and run in, knowing she would be pardoned for the sake of Auld Lang Syne, when she was privileged to take liberties with the Camerons. All this Wilford repeated to Katy, but he did not tell her how at the words Auld Lang Syne, Sybil had turned her fine eyes upon him with an expression that made him color, for he knew she was referring to the time when her name and his were always coupled together.

Katy had dreaded the return of Sybil Grandon, of whom she had heard so much, and now that she had come, she felt for a moment a terror of meeting her which she tried to shake off, succeeding at last, for perfect faith in Wilford was to her a strong shield of defence, and her only trouble was a fear lest she should fall in the scale of comparison which might be instituted between herself and Mrs. Grandon, who after a few days ceased to be a bugbear. Wilford never mentioning her name and Katy only hearing of her through Juno and Bell, the first of whom went into rapfures over her, while the latter styled her a silly, coquettish widow, who would appear much better to have worn her weeds a little longer and not throw herself quite so soon into the market. That she should of course meet her some time, Katy knew, but she would not distress herself till the time arrived, and so she dismissed her fears, or rather lost them in the excitement of her new dignity of mistress of a house.

In her girlhood Katy had evinced a taste for housekeeping, which now developed so rapidly that she won the respect of all the servants, from the man who answered the bell to the accomplished cook hired by Mrs. Cameron and who, like most accomplished cooks, was sharp and cross and opinionated, but who did not find it easy to scold the blithe little woman who every morning came flitting into her dominions, not asking what they would have for dinner, as she had been led to suppose she would, but ordering it with a matter of course way, which amused the usually overbearing Mrs Phillips. But when the little lady, rolling her sleeves up above her dimpled elbows and donning the clean white apron which Phillips was reserving for afternoon, announced her intention of surprising Wilford, with a pudding such as Aunt Betsy used to make, there were signs of rebellion, Phillips telling her bluntly that she couldn't be bothered—that it was not a lady's place in the kitchen under foot—that the other Mrs. Cameron never did it, and would not like it in Mrs. Wilford.

For a moment Katy paused and looked straight at Mrs. Phillips; then said quietly, "I have only six eggs here—the recipe is ten. Bring me four more, please."

There was something in the blue eyes which compelled obedience, and the dessert progressed without another word of remonstrance. But when the doorbell rang and word came down that there were ladies in the parlor—Juno with someone else—Phillips would not tell her of the flour on her hair, and as Katy, after casting aside her apron and putting down her sleeves, only glanced hastily at herself in the hall mirror, as she passed it, she appeared in the parlor with this mark upon her curls and greatly to her stonishment was presented to "Mrs. Sybil Grandon," Juno explaining that as Sybil was so anxious to see her, and they were passing the house, she had presumed upon her privilege as a sister and brought her in.

For a moment the room turned dark, it was so sudden, so unexpected, and she so unprepared, but Sybil's familiar manner quieted her and she was able at last to look fully at her visitor, finding her not as handsome as she expected, nor as young, but in all other respects, she had not perhaps been exaggerated. Cultivated and self-possessed, she was very pleasing in her manner, making Katy feel wholly at ease by a few well-timed compliments, which had the merit of seeming genuine so perfect was she in the art of deception.

To Katy she was very gracious, admiring her house, admiring herself, admiring everything, until Katy wondered how she could ever have dreaded to meet her, laughing and chatting as familiarly as if the fashionable woman were not criticizing every movement and every act, and every feature of her face, wondering most at the flour upon her hair.

Juno wondered too, but knowing Katy's domestic propensities, suspected the truth, and feigning some errand with Phillips, she excused herself for a moment and descended to the kitchen where she was not long in hearing about Katy's "queer ways, coming where she was not needed, and making country puddings after some heathenish aunt's rule."

"Was it Aunt Betsy?" Juno asked her face betokening its disgust when told that she was right, and her manner on her return to the parlor was very frigid towards Katy, who had discovered the flour on her hair, and was laughing merrily over it, telling Sybil how it happened—how cross Phillips was—and lastly, how "our folks" often made the pudding, and that was why she wished to surprise Wilford with it.

There was a sarcastic smile upon Sybil's lip as she wished Mrs. Cameron success and then departed, leaving Katy to finish the dessert which, when ready for the table was certainly very inviting, and would have tempted the appetite of any man who had not been listening to gossip not wholly conducive to his peace of mind.

On the way home Wilford had stopped at his father's, where Juno was relating the particulars of her call upon his wife, and as she did not think it necessary to stop for him, he heard of Katy's misdoings, and her general appearance in the presence of Sybil Grandon, whom she entertained with a description of "our folks'" favorite dishes together with Aunt Betsy's recipes. This was a straw too many, and since his marriage Wilford had not been as angry as he was while listening to Juno, who reported Sybil's verdict on his wife. "A domestic little body and very pretty."

Wilford did not care to have his wife domestic, he did not marry her for that, and in a mood anything but favorable to the light, delicate dessert Katy had prepared with so much care, he went to his luxurious home, where Katy ran as usual to meet him, her face brimming with the surprise she had in store for him, and herself so much excited that she did not at first observe the cloud upon his brow, as he moodily answered her rapid questions. When the important moment arrived and the dessert was brought on, he promptly declined it, and after her explanation that she made it herself, urging him to try it for the sake of pleasing her, if nothing more. But Wilford was not hungry then, and even had he been, he would have chosen anything before a pudding made from a recipe of Betsy Barlow, so the dessert was untasted even by Katy herself, who, knowing now that something had gone wrong, sat fighting back her tears until the servant left the room, when she timidly asked, "What is it, Wilford? What makes you seem so ——" she would not say cross, and so substituted "queer," while Wilford plunged at once into the matter by saying, "Juno tells me she called here this afternoon with Mrs. Grandon."

"Yes, I forgot to mention it," Katy answered, feeling puzzled to know why that should annoy her husband, but his next remarks disclosed the whole, and Katy's tears flowed fast as Wilford asked what she supposed Mrs. Grandon thought, to see his wife looking as though fresh from the flour barrel, and to hear her talk about Aunt Betsy's recipes and "our folks." "That is a bad habit of yours, Katy," he continued, "one of which I wish you to break yourself, if possible. I have never spoken to you directly on the subject before, but it annoys me exceedingly, inasmuch as it is an indication of low breeding."

There was no answer from Katy, whose heart was too full to speak, and so Wilford went on. "Our servants were selected by mother with a direct reference to your youth and inexperience, and it is not necessary for you to frequent the kitchen, or, indeed, to go there oftener than once a week. Let them come to you for orders, not you go to them. Neither need you speak quite so familiarly to them, treating them almost as if they were your equals. Try to remember your true position—that whatever you have been you are now Mrs. Wilford Cameron, equal to any lady in New York."

They were in the library now, and the soft May breeze came stealing through the open window, stirring the fleecy curtains, and blowing across the tasteful bouquet which Katy had arranged; but Katy was too wretched to care for her surroundings. It was the first time Wilford had ever spoken to her in just this way, and his manner hurt her more than his words, making her feel as if she were an ignorant, ill-bred creature, whom he had raised to a position she did not know how to fill. It was cruel thus to repay her attempts to please, and so, perhaps, Wilford thought, as with folded arms he sat looking at her weeping so bitterly upon the sofa; but he was too indignant to make any concession then, and he suffered her to weep in silence until he remembered that his mother had requested him to bring her round that evening, as they were expecting a few of Juno's friends, and among them Sybil Grandon. If Katy went he wished her to look her best, and he unbent so far as to try to check her tears. But Katy could not stop, and she wept so passionately that Wilford's anger subsided, leaving only tenderness and pity for the wife he soothed and caressed, until the sobbing ceased, and Katy lay passively in his arms, her face so white, and the dark rings about her eyes showing so distinctly that Wilford did not press her when she declined his mother's invitation. He could go, she said, urging so many reasons why he should go, that, for the first time since their marriage, he left her alone, and went where Sybil Grandon smiled her sunniest smile, and put forth her most persuasive powers to keep him at her side, expressing so much regret that he did not bring his "charming little wife, who completely won her heart, she was so childlike and simple-hearted, laughing so merrily when she discovered the flour on her hair, but not seeming to mind it in the least. Really, she did not see how it happened that he was fortunate enough to win such a domestic creature. Where did he find her?"

If Sybil Grandon meant this to be complimentary, it was not received as such. Wilford, almost grating his teeth with vexation, as he listened to it, and feeling doubly mortified with Katy, whom he found waiting for him, when at a late hour he left the society of Sybil Grandon, and repaired to his home.

To Katy the time of his absence had seemed an age, for her thoughts had been busy with the past, gathering up every incident connected with her married life since she came to New York, and deducing from them the conclusion that "Wilford's folks" were ashamed of her, and that Wilford himself might perhaps become so if he were not already. That would be worse than death itself, and the darkest hours she had ever known were those she spent alone that night, sobbing so violently as to bring on a racking headache, which showed itself upon her face, and touched Wilford at once.

Sybil Grandon was forgotten in those moments of contrition, when he ministered so tenderly to his suffering wife, whom he felt that he had wronged. But he could not tell her so then. It was not natural for him to confess his errors. There had always been a struggle between his duty and his pride when he had done so, and now the latter conquered, especially as Katy, grown more calm, began to take the censure to herself, lamenting her shortcomings, and promising to do better, even to the imitating of Sybil Grandon, if that would make him forget the past and love her as before.

Wilford could accord forgiveness far more graciously than he could ask it, and so peace was restored, and Katy's face next day looked bright and happy when seen in her new carriage, which took her down Broadway to Stewart's, where she encountered Sybil Grandon, and with her Juno Cameron.

From the latter Katy instinctively shrank, but she could not resist the former, who greeted her so familiarly that Katy readily forgave her the pain of which she had been the cause, and spoke of her to Wilford without a pang when he came home to dinner, and, as she could not overcome her dread of meeting her, and she grew more and more averse to mingling in society, where she might do many things to mortify her husband or his family, and thus provoke a scene she hoped never again to pass through.

"Oh, if Helen were only here!" she thought, as she began to experience a sensation of loneliness she had never felt before.

But Helen was not there, not coming there at present. One word from Wilford had settled that, convincing Katy that it was better to wait until autumn, inasmuch as they were going so soon to Saratoga and Newport, places which Katy dreaded, after she knew that Mrs Cameron and Juno were to be of the party and probably Sybil Grandon. Katy did not dislike the latter, but she was never easy in her presence, while she could not deny to herself that since Sybil's return, Wilford had not been quite the same as before. In company he was more attentive than ever, but at home he was sometimes moody and silent, while Katy strove in vain to ascertain the cause.

They were not as happy in the new home as she had expected to be, but the fault did not lie with Katy. She performed her part and more, taking upon her young shoulders the whole of the burden which her husband should have helped her to bear. The easy, indolent life Wilford had led so long as a petted son of a partial mother unfitted him for care, and he was as much a boarder in his own home as he had ever been in the hotels in Paris, thoughtlessly requiring of Katy more than he should have required, so that Bell was not far from right when in her journal she described her sister-in-law as "a little servant, whose feet were never supposed to be tired and whose wishes were never consulted." It is true Bell had put it rather strongly, but the spirit of what she said was right. Wilford seldom considering Katy, or allowing her wishes to interfere with his own plans; while accustomed to every possible attention from his mother, he exacted the same from his wife, whose life was not one of unmixed happiness, notwithstanding that every letter home bore assurances to the contrary.

Several Doctors Attended But Did No Good.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills CURED.

Read what Miss L. L. Hanson, Waterside, N.B., says: "I feel it my duty to express the benefit I have received from Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. A year ago last spring I began to have heart failure. At first I would have to stop working and lie down for a while. Then I got so bad I had to give up altogether and go to bed. I had several doctors attend me but they did me no good. I could get no relief until urged by a friend to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Before I had used three quarters of a box I began to feel the benefit and by the time I had taken three boxes I was completely cured."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cure nervousness, sleeplessness, palpitation of the heart, skip beats, and all trouble arising from the heart or nerves.

"I wrote to Dr. Pierce for advice though I thought surely I would die."

"After my baby came in January, 1900," writes Mrs. Nancy Abner, of St. Paul, Ark., "I suffered severely from all sorts of aches and pains, until the following May, when I read one of your pamphlets, treating on female diseases. I wrote to Dr. Pierce for advice, although I thought surely I would die, as our physician told me I was more liable to die than to get well; your fatherly advice caused my health to be restored. I took five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, three of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and three vials of 'Pellets,' together with your other remedies, and I am now able to do all my work."

Weak and sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free, and so obtain without charge or fee the advice of a specialist upon diseases peculiar to women. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

The invitation to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free, is not to be confused with offers of "free medical advice" made by irresponsible persons who are not physicians and are professionally and legally disqualified for the practice of medicine.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a safe and reliable remedy for the cure of womanly ills. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

Pale, Anaemic People

With thin, watery blood always suffer greatly from the cold as well as the sudden and violent changes of our Canadian winter. They are particularly susceptible to Chills, Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Pneumonia, La Grippe and even Consumption. They should take FERROL, instead of which they usually resort to extra warm clothing and avoid the cold, fresh air as much as possible—a very great mistake. What they require is a coating of good, healthy fat, a supply of rich, warm, red blood and properly toned nerves and all this they may have with very little trouble or expense, by taking a course of FERROL (The Iron-Oil Food) which will infallibly enrich the blood, increase the weight and tone up the nerves, making clumsy clothing quite unnecessary, and crisp, cold, fresh air a joy, instead of a thing to be avoided.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS FOR CANADA.

Efforts of James A. Smart to Make Dominion as a Field of Settlement More Widely Known.

The phenomenal success which has attended the work of the Canadian Emigration Department during the last two years has induced Mr. James A. Smart, Deputy-Minister of the Interior, to pay another visit to the "Old Country," for the purpose of making yet more widely known the wonderful resources of Canada as a field for emigration, says The King.

Mr. Smart, whose striking personality could not easily be mistaken, knows Canada from east to west, far better than a good many Englishmen know their own country.

As Mr. Smart was good enough to explain in an interview with our representative, the purpose of his present visit is to assist the Commissioner of Emigration and his agents throughout the United Kingdom in bringing the interests of Canada before the British public.

Questioned as to the class of emigrant he was most desirous of attracting to Canada, Mr. Smart expressed himself as being strongly in favour of peopling Canada, so far as possible with our own race. "Immigration of British people to occupy the fertile and productive lands of Canada," continued Mr. Smart, "cannot fail to produce a better feeling between that Colony and the Mother Country than any commercial treaty or arrangement that can be devised. The effect will be more lasting, because the people and their descendants will remain, while fiscal policies may be changed to suit altered circumstances. So far as Canada is concerned, there is nothing that can unite her more closely to the Mother Country than blood relationship.

"Having regard to the 'boom' which Canada is now experiencing, do you not look forward with apprehension to a big American emigration?"

"Certainly not," replied Mr. Smart, "for although we particularly want to encourage the emigration of the Englishman, the Americans make excellent settlers and good British subjects, notwithstanding the assertions of persons here and elsewhere who have no personal knowledge of them. Why," exclaimed the Canadian representative, "we have already fifty thousand American settlers in the country, and they continue to flock in at the rate of five thousand a month. The Englishman has only just commenced to appreciate the wonderful resources of Canada, as shown by the fact that last year more than double the number of Britishers emigrated to that country than the year previous."

"Then, Mr. Smart, what are the prospects, say, for a young fellow who goes out there, without capital, and without having learned any trade?"

"If a man wants to go out there and is willing to adapt himself to the conditions, there is no difficulty about his securing employment. It is a fact that the farmers are unable to put in very large crops for the simple reason that they cannot get sufficient labourers. If a young fellow wishes to succeed out West he must, above all things, be willing and ready to learn, self-reliant, and not too dependent upon others."

"And," queried our representative, "to what part of Canada would you advise him to go?"

"Well," replied Mr. Smart, "we are particularly anxious to settle the West, as we consider the prairie of Manitoba and the North-west ahead of that of any country in the world. We have about seven million acres under cultivation in a country which outside of other districts farther to the north, now called the Territories, comprises about two hundred and thirty-five million acres. In other words, not more than three per cent. of the land is under cultivation."

"Reverting to the question of employment, what would be the rate of wages paid to a farm hand?"

"The wages vary, of course, according to the district and the season. Ordinarily a man can earn from two hundred dollars (forty pounds) to three hundred dollars, (sixty pounds) per annum, including his board, if employed by the year. During the harvest season, however, very much higher wages can be earned."

"And with regard to the acquirement of land, Mr. Smart?"

"We have given away about eleven and a half million acres of land during the past six or seven years. We hold wheat producing land in the same districts, served by railways, valued at eighty million sterling. As you have doubtless heard, our system is to give a free grant of one hundred and sixty acres to actual settlers, who locate on the land and develop it. After three years the settler applies for his title, and providing he has resided at least six months of each year on the land, and can show a fair amount under cultivation, it becomes his property."

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

Ontario Government's Temiskaming Bill Gets Second Reading.

WANTS PROVINCE TO OPERATE

Mr. Pettypiece and Dr. Pyne Go a Long Way in the Advocacy of Government Owning and Operating the Steam Roads—Mr. Harcourt's School Bill—Other Bills Advanced.

Toronto, March 16.—The Legislature yesterday passed the second reading of the bill providing for the extension of the Temiskaming Railway from New Liskeard to Lake Abitibbi. The discussion took up the whole afternoon and while not objecting to the extension the Opposition took occasion to criticize the Government for the excess of cost over the estimates and the manner of awarding the contracts. During the discussion, a strong sentiment in favor of public ownership and operation developed. Mr. Pettypiece said the experiment in state ownership was needed by Ontario, that it would prove successful, and that as far as it had gone it had been satisfactory to the people. He advocated a Government railway from Toronto to North Bay to connect with the Temiskaming Railway, with branches extending into various portions of New Ontario, and in such a system, the Province would have an asset worth more than cash or bonds in the bank.

Let Province Operate Road.

Another notable speech was that of Dr. Pyne, who wants the Government to operate the railway for ten years as an experiment. He proposes to introduce an amendment when the bill is taken up in committee. Along that line, Dr. Pyne said he believed in the civilizing and developing power of railways and looked for the opening up of the great clay belt by means of this and other railways. He agreed with Mr. Pettypiece in regard to state-owned railways, and pointed out the success of the system in Birmingham, Manchester and Glasgow. The present was an opportune time to build the road and help to open up the clay belt by giving settlers the benefit of cheap rates.

Mr. Murphy, junior member for Ottawa, opened the debate. He was followed by Messrs. Hislop, Hendrie, Matheson, Whitney, Hon. G. W. Ross, Foy, Crawford, Nesbitt and St. John. The motion then passed and the House adjourned for recess.

More Pay for Teachers.

The pay of public school inspectors and teachers was discussed at the evening session yesterday when Hon. Mr. Harcourt's bill was up. The bill provides for an increase for inspectors, and Messrs. Whitney, Carscallen of Hamilton, and Matheson, while advocating this change, also asked consideration for the teachers.

The House then went into supply, taking up the estimates of the Provincial Secretary's department.

Mr. Evanturel introduced a bill respecting the Ottawa River Railway Co.; Mr. St. John, to regulate the overcrowding of street railway cars; Mr. Richardson, respecting the Neptgon Railway Co.

The following bills passed their third reading: Respecting the assessment of James Graham of Belleville; respecting an agreement between the Grand Trunk Pacific and the town of Barrie; respecting the H. G. and B. Railway Co.

Belleville Gets There.

The Private Bills Committee ratified a bylaw of the city of Belleville for the purchase of the Belleville Gas Company for $50,000. The bylaw was carried by the ratepayers by 350 to 335.

Halifax Mayor's Predicament.

Halifax, N. S., March 16.—At the opening yesterday of the criminal sittings of the Supreme Court, Judge Ritchie ordered an indictment prepared against the Mayor of the city, A. B. Crosby, on a charge of interference with the administration of justice. A prisoner under a criminal charge was released from custody at a city police station, and could not be found. The Mayor is thus held responsible for the release.

10,000 Out of Work.

New York, March 16.—Ten thousand lithographers throughout the country will be out of work to-day as a result of the failure to agree on the acceptance of a plan of arbitration offered by the employers to be operative for one year. Last night an unsuccessful attempt was made by the Civic Federation to bring the two bodies together.

Ex-Governor Dying.

Vancouver, B.C., March 16.—Ex-Lieutenant-Governor McInnes has had another attack of heart trouble, and is in a very critical condition. He is hardly expected to live through the night.

France and Britain.

Paris, March 16.—The recent visits of M. Paul Cambon (French Ambassador at London) to Paris to confer with Foreign Minister Delcasse, have revealed the fact that the negotiations for a settlement of the outstanding differences between France and Great Britain have been resumed, after having been interrupted by the outbreak of war. It is understood that the question for settlement include those relating to Morocco, Egypt and the Newfoundland shore fisheries. Concerning Egypt, it is expected that France will secure a modification of certain restrictions placed on communication with Lake Tchad.

Fire at Cornwall.

Cornwall, Ont., March 16.—About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon fire was discovered in the mule room of the Canadian Colored Cotton Company's Canada mill. It spread very rapidly until the west end of the upper floor was ablaze. The company's fire brigade rendered good service, and with the aid of the town brigade they kept the fire in the room where it originated. The loss by fire was very small, but the water caused considerable damage. It is too early to make a proper estimate of the loss, but it is fully covered by insurance. The mule room will probably be running again in a day or two.

Lord Kitchener's Ruse.

Lord Kitchener, when he was a young engineer, showed that his readiness of resource was even then well developed. He was engaged on the survey of the Holy Land for the Palestine Exploration Fund when cholera broke out at Safed, in Samaria, where they were staying and a cordon of Turkish troops were drawn around the town to prevent any one escaping. Kitchener determined that this should not stop him or his companions, so the party set off on mules for the coast town of Haifa. Of course they were stopped by the Turks before long, when Kitchener announced boldly that he had a firman from the Sultan, and produced a long paper with sign printed on it in chocolate and gold. His party was at once allowed to go, and as it passed the Turks presented arms to the firman, which was a wrapper from a chocolate box.

Got Paid Up.

A party of wits once stopped to dine at an English tavern, and when the feast was over one of them called in the hostess.

"Madam," he said, "I am going to give you a lesson in astronomy. Have you not heard of that great Platonic year when everything must return to its first conditions? Know then that in 26,000 years we shall be here again, on the same day and at the same hour. Will you give us credit until then?"

The hostess, however, had her reply.

"I am perfectly willing," she retorted, "but it is just 26,000 years since you were here before, and you left without paying. Settle the old score, and I will trust you with the new."

CONCENTRATION AT THE YALU RIVER.

Movement of Russian Troops in Strong Force.

PORT ARTHUR IS NOW UNSAFE.

20,000 Russian Troops Concentrated at Kuliencheng in Manchuria—Tokio is Still in Doubt as to Whereabouts of the Russian Port Arthur Fleet—Seven Russian Ships Pass Fort Lazareff.

London, March 17.—There is much interest manifested in the report that the Russian main advance is crossing the Yalu, but this is not yet confirmed, and, according to The Daily Chronicle's Pingyang correspondent, all the Russian troops have left North Corea, 20,000 of them being concentrated at Kuliencheng, north of the Yalu River, in Manchuria.

The Daily Telegraph's Sebastopol correspondent says it is semi-officially announced that Russia has abandoned as impracticable the idea of sending her Baltic squadron to the Far East by the way of Behring Straits.

A Port Arthur despatch says that Admiral Witssof has been appointed chief of Viceroy Alexieff's naval staff and has gone to Mukden.

A correspondent of The Times at Tokio says that the Russians are occupying an area having a forty-mile base from Wiju to Changtong, and extending south to the Pakchon River.

Too Risky.

Paris, March 17.—The Echo de Paris, in a St. Petersburg despatch, which says that the idea of the Russian Baltic squadron going to the Far East by the northeast passage has been given up as too risky adds that the fleet will probably start in July and go by way of the Cape of Good Hope.

Looks Bad For Stark.

St. Petersburg, March 17.—Official orders were published yesterday relieving Vice-Admiral Stark from the command of the Port Arthur division of the navy, ostensibly on account of illness. No successor will be appointed.

Land Forces Crosses Yalu.

Yinkow, March 17.—A credible native arrived here yesterday, bringing a report as late as March 12 from Fonghaungheng, to the effect that the main body of the concentrated Russian forces had crossed the Yalu, leaving small bodies of troops at Antung and other points to guard the river.

Port Arthur Fortress Unsafe.

The last bombardment of Port Arthur rendered every part of the fortress unsafe. Residents assert that fragments of Japanese shells fell everywhere, and that some railway coaches and buildings were destroyed, though most of the damage on the shore was unimportant.

Tokio in Doubt.

Tokio, March 17.—Tokio is unadvised regarding the naval plans and movements of the Russians, and is in doubt whether the remnant of their fleet is still at Port Arthur or en route to Vladivostock.

Late yesterday afternoon a telegram reached the Navy Department; saying that seven Russian ships have been reported as passing Fort Lazareff. The report was not circumstantial.

British Ship Stopped.

Alexandria, Egypt, March 17.—The British steamer Elswick Torer, which arrived here yesterday, reports having been stopped by a Russian warship which was cruising fifteen miles outside of Alexandria.

Revealer of Secrets Shot.

St. Petersburg, March 17.—Capt. Ivkov of the Manchurian Commissariat Service has been summarily court-martialed and shot, for acting as a spy in the pay of the Japanese.

The following sums are asked for in connection with Ontario canals. Cornwall canal enlargement $26,500, decrease of $109,500, Galops canal enlargement $201,300, decrease of $18,700; forming channel and dam of north channel $150,000, increase $50,000, Galops Rapids $40,000, decrease of $35,000, reducing shoals west of Cornwall canal $25,000, decrease of $9,500, Welland Canal electric lighting and power plant, $100,000, to remove obstructions and make other improvements, $225,000; deepening portions of summit level between Port Colborne and Thorold $100,000; improvements at Port Colborne entrance, $300,000; Sault Ste. Marie Canal, construction, $170,000; Trent Canal, construction, $100,000, a decrease of $350,000; Welland Canal, stone protection to banks of new canal, $20,000; change valves and hanging gear of new Welland Canal lock gates, $30,000; build retaining wall lock cut, $70,000; various minor works on Trent Canal, $20,500. Porth Arthur and Fort William are to get $160,000 for harbor and river improvements. The total for this purpose in Ontario is $617,550, of which $226,950 is re-votes. For the present year $809,650 was voted.

Agricultural Libraries.

Mr. Carnegie moved:

That in consideration of the fact that agriculture is the chief industry of the Province, this House is of the opinion that the Government should take an early opportunity of establishing libraries in farming communities for the dissemination of useful information on agricultural topics.

A number of returns of information on various subjects were ordered by the House.

First Readings.

Mr. Whitney introduced a bill respecting the Township of Mountain, Dundas County; Mr. Little (Cardwell), respecting the Simcoe County Mutual Fire Insurance Company; Mr. Powell, to authorize Cyrus B. Parnell of Bowmanville to practice dental surgery in Ontario; Mr. St. John, respecting the Toronto & Suburban Railway Company; Mr. McCart, to consolidate the floating debt of the Town of Osceola; Mr. Pettypiece, respecting the Strathroy & Western Counties Railway Company; Mr. Smith (Peel), respecting the Township of Toronto and the Toronto & Mimico Railway Company; Mr. Cameron (Fort William), respecting the Town of Fort William; Mr. St. John, respecting the Town of Toronto Junction; Hon. Mr. Dryden, to amend the Factories' Act; Hon. Mr. Gibson, entitled the Statute Law Amendment Act, 1904.

Third Readings.

The following bills were read a third time: Respecting the City of St. Catharines (Jessop); respecting the City of London (Beck); to consolidate the debt of the Village of Stirling (Pearce); respecting the Sandwich, Windsor & Amherstburg Railway Co (Auld); respecting the City of Ottawa (Powell.)

Liberal in Guysboro.

Guysboro, N. S., March 17.—The bye-election in Guysboro County yesterday resulted in a victory for John H. Sinclair, ex-M.P.P., the Liberal candidate, who defeated S. R. Giffin, Conservative, by a majority of 396 votes. The total vote polled was very large, being 3,654, an increase of 137 over the total votes at the last general election. Sinclair polled 2,025 votes and Giffin 1,629. At the last general election the present Justice Fraser had a majority of 339, the vote standing: Fraser, Liberal, 1,928; Gregory, Conservative, 1,589. In previous contests, however, Mr. Fraser's majority had not exceeded the hundred mark, being 78 in 1896 and 86 in 1891.

Coming to Ontario.

Halifax, N. S., March 17.—The Allan steamer Sardinian, from Glasgow and Liverpool, yesterday landed 260 passengers, all Britishers, and only three for United States points. A large number of the passengers are for Toronto, Chatham, Brockville, St. George, Sault Ste. Marie and other parts of Ontario.

To Observe the Sabbath.

Ottawa, March 17.—Fifty members of the Commons, presided over by Mr. Gilmour, M. P. for Middlesex, heard Rev. Messrs. Moore and Shearer yesterday explain the necessity for Sabbath observance laws. Another meeting will be held on Friday.

Owen Sound at Last.

Owen Sound, March 17.—The C. P. R. has at last overcome the long-resisting Owen Sound branch. At 9 o'clock last night the very weary army of workers, after over two weeks of continuous labor, entered in triumph. It has cost the railroad over two weeks, and a round sum of money to accomplish the feat, but connection with Orangeville is now established, and is not likely to be disturbed again, since spring is almost here.

Edward Nealon Suicides.

New York, March 17.—Despondent because the girl he loved had entered the Ursuline Convent and had not replied to the letters that he sent to her, urging that she reconsider her resolve to devote her life to religious work, Edward N. Nealon of Toronto, who recently came here, shot himself within a block of the convent in which she had sought retreat. Nealon died instantly.

ADDRESS IS PASSED

Of the Members Who Spoke All But Five Were Conservatives.

ESTIMATES BROUGHT DOWN

Total Amount Nearly Sixty-Three Millions For 1904-5—Less Than Main Estimates of Last Year—Agricultural and Militia Votes Increased—Provisions For Ontario Harbors and Canals.

Ottawa, March 17.—The address in reply to the speech from the throne was passed yesterday afternoon after three days' debate, and the House is now free to settle down to the business of the session. Of the twelve members, in addition to the mover and seconder, who spoke upon the address, all but three sit on the left of the Speaker. Dr. Daniel, the newly-elected representative for St. John, N.B., resumed the debate yesterday afternoon, and accounted for his return by the fact that the Grand Trunk Pacific agreement had nothing in it for St. John. Mr. Chas. Marcil, replying to Mr. Bennett and other Opposition speakers, appealed for a cessation from the unpatriotic attempt to array a solid Quebec against a solid Ontario. Mr. Northup protested against the Grand Trunk Pacific amended agreement, and Mr. Lancaster complained of the silence maintained by the Government benches during the debate, and discussed the statements made by Mr. Bennett in connection with the purchase by the Government of a dock at Midland and the extension and improvement of the dock at Digby, N.S. The Minister of Finance provided ample material to engage the attention of the House on Government days by laying the estimates upon the table just before adjournment.

An Aggregate of $62,935,338.

They reach an aggregate of $62,935,338, which is $5,456,563 less than was demanded in the main estimates for the current fiscal year. Of the total amount to be voted $19,669,551 is authorized by statue. The total for ordinary purposes is $55,017,238, and on capital account $7,918,100. While the aggregate is large, it includes many items that were voted last session, but not taken advantage of. There will of course be a supplementary estimate, which will increase the aggregate for 1901-05.

The Principal Increases.

The principal increases are: Civil Government, $53,719; immigration, $77,085; militia, 886,951; mail subsidies, $135,000; lighthouse and const service, $11,580; mounted police, $115,000; postoffice, $302,625.

There are several noteworthy reductions, viz.: Public debt, $95,371; legislation, $11,388; public works, $1,021,628, ocean and river service, $127,960; fisheries, $93,629. Government of the Northwest Territories, $77,000, Government of the Yukon, $86,450; miscellaneous, $3,634.

Coming to the details of the estimates, it will be noticed that the vote for experimental farms has been increased from $90,000 to $100,000, and that for exhibitions from $150,000 to $200,000. A sum of $50,000 is set apart for the Dominion Exhibition in Winnipeg. There is an increase of $50,000 in contingencies in Canadian, British and foreign agencies, bringing the total up to $533,000.

For the Militia.

Sir Frederick Borden asks for $544,049 pay and allowances to the militia, being an increase of $52,019. This increase is made up of $10,019 additional for headquarters and district staff and $52,000 for pay and allowances for the permanent corps. The sum covering pay of officers and men attending schools of instruction, is reduced by $10,000, and there is but $500,000 for twelve days' training of the whole force as compared with $520,000 for the present fiscal year. The proposed capital expenditure on the Intercolonial is $1,651,500, as against $3,717,284 for 1903-4; of this sum $636,485 consists of revotes. The sum of $18,000 is wanted for a new car for the Governor-General.

Ontario Canals.

Toronto, March 17.—The third division of the session was taken in the Legislature yesterday afternoon on the resolution memorializing the Dominion Government to prohibit the exportation of natural gas. By the usual majority of three a Government amendment providing that no licenses should be cancelled or pipes disconnected until after thorough investingtion by a commission or committee was carried, and the resolution as so amended was adopted. There was some delay in taking the division owing to the absence down town from the House of Mr. Cameron of Fort William. A large number of bills, public and private, were advanced a stage. One by Mr. Hanna aiming at the Grand Trunk Employes' Insurance Society raised considerable discussion. Mr. Taylor's bill to compel hunters to wear red was withdrawn after several members had spoken on the subject.

Hon. Mr. Dryden introduced a bill to amend the Factories Act, one clause of which provides that all girls employed in factories shall roll their hair.

Didn't Know It Was Loaded.

Meaford March 17.—Edward Bennett, 21 years of age, son of Henry Bennett, recently of Kincardine, accidentally shot himself Tuesday night while cleaning his shotgun, not knowing it was loaded. He lived only one hour after the accident.

Majority of 114.

London, March 17.—(C.A.P.)—The Irish development grant debate ended in a handsome majority for the Government of 114.

Saves His Seat.

Ottawa, March 17.—Senator Aikins of Toronto, made his appearance in the Senate Tuesday for the first time since 1902. He came down from Toronto, accompanied by his son and daughter, but remained in the Chamber for a few minutes only. His attendance saves him from being classed as "absent for two sessions," which would have vacated his seat.

Uncle Sam to John Bull.

Washington, March 17.—The United States Senate yesterday passed the joint resolution authorizing the President to negotiate with the Government of Great Britain to secure a review of regulations for the catching of fur-bearing seals in Alaska, so as to obtain an abatement of killing of female seals and thus preserve the seal industry.

Guelph Church Burned.

Guelph, March 17.—Last night about 7 p. m. Knox's Presbyterian Church was discovered to be on fire, and is now a total loss. Fire is supposed to have been caused by an explosion of gas from the furnace. The windows in the basement were blown out.

GREAT MISSIONARY APOSTLE OF IRELAND.

Life and Work of the Patron Saint of the Green Isle.

Engrafted Christianity on Pagan Superstitions of the People With Marvellous Skill.

On March 17, A. D. 465 (the date usually accepted), while at his favourite retreat of Sabhul, or Saul, in County Down, Ulster, the great missionary apostle of Ireland, St. Patrick, died. He was there when attacked with his last illness, and perceiving that the hour of his departure had come, he started to return to Armagh, where he had established his see, that he might there die and be interred. But according to legend, his journey was stayed in obedience to the command of an angel messenger, upon receiving which he returned to Saul. Seven days after his return he breathed his last. Immediately upon the announcement of the saint's death the clergy of Ireland convened in great numbers to celebrate his funeral. But before it could be arranged a bitter feud arose between the Clan N'all and the people of Orior, each of whom desired to obtain possession of his remains. Peace was restored in a manner which bears all the marks of an ingenuous arrangement to prevent bloodshed. Two untamed oxen were chosen to carry the bier of the saint and it was arranged that the oxen should be allowed to go forth of their own accord and without human guidance. Wherever the spot at which they stopped, there the sacred body should be interred. The oxen rested at Dun-da-leth-glaisse, the site of the present Cathedral of Down, a place which had been previously the fortified residence of the chieftains of Ulidia.

CONVERSION OF THE IRISH.

Although St. Patrick was not the first Christian missionary to Ireland there is no doubt that to him was reserved the great work of the general conversion of the people, supported as it is by the Irish adage, "Not to Palladius, but to Patrick, did God grant the conversion of Ireland." He is rightly, therefore, the patron saint of the green isle. Regarding the place of his birth there has been great confusion and controversy. In his own confessions Patrick says: "My father was Calpurnius, a deacon, son of Potitus, a priest of the town of Bonavem Tabernise. He had near the town a small villa, Enon, where I became a captive." In his epistle against Corotticus Patrick tells us that he was of respectable family, his father having been a Decurio, who gave him a nobility for the good of others when he devoted himself to the missionary life. The date of his birth must have been about the year 387, for at his consecration to the bishopric in 431 or 432, a person divulged a fault he had committed thirty years before when a boy of fifteen.

BIRTHPLACE OF ST. PATRICK.

The hymn of Fiech expressly states that Patrick was born at Nemthur (the holy tower), in Britain. This is not inconsistent with the passage in the confessions, as that does not mention the Bonavem Tabarniae, as the place of his birth, but as the place whence he was carried captive to Ireland. The scholiast on the hymn identified Nemthur with Alewith, now Dunbarton, of the Firth of Clyde, in Scotland. But there are doubts as to the accuracy of this identification and some recent authorities incline to the opinion that Bonavem (Ben Avon) "the head land above the river" is the modern Boulogne-sur-mer and that the district of Tabarniae is Terouanne, in which that town in situated. On the other hand, the author of the article on St. Patrick in the Encyclopedia Britannica says: "There can be no doubt that Nemthur was situated at the Clyde end of the wall of Antoninus where Dunbarton now is." It is called Nevtur in the old Welsh manuscript known as the Black Book of Carmarthen.

CARRIED AWAY CAPTIVE

At the age of 16 St. Patrick was carried away captive to Ireland, along with several other youths, by Nial Navigallach, or Niat of the Nine Hostages, an Irish king who in 403 was ravaging the coasts of Great Britain and France. On his arrival in Ireland Patrick became the servant or slave of a man named Miliac, or Milcho, who lived in the district of Dalriadia, now comprised within the County of Antrim, and who gave him the name of Codriage, or, as some of the Lives have it, Quadriga. The hymn of Fiech gives his baptismal name as Succat. It is not known when he adopted or acquired the name of Patrick, which name he certainly bore at the advanced age when the Confessions and the Epistle to Corotticus were written.

With that profound humility which every line written by the saint breathes he confesses that he had been very careless about religion when a boy, but that when he found himself in the misery of slavery God opened his eyes to behold the wondrous things of His law. So while out on the wild brown bog tending his sheep and exposed to every inclemency of the weather he developed his spiritual experience, rising often before daylight that he might "prevent the daybreak with his prayers."

IN SLAVERY SIX YEARS.

Patrick had been in slavery about six years when in a dream he heard a voice saying to him: "Thy fasting is well; thou shalt soon return to thy country." A little later, in a second dream, the same voice said to him: "Behold, a ship is ready for thee." This is his own story and in obedience to the heavenly message although he had never been to the spot where the ship lay, two hundred miles away, he fled from his master; "and by God's power," he adds, "I came to a good end and I was under no apprehension until I reached the ship." At first the master of the vessel refused to take him and Patrick retired to the hut, praying as he went. But before the had made an end one of the sailors called him back, saying: "Come back, they are asking for thee." He returned and was told: "Come, we will take thee on trust." They at once set sail and in three days reached Britain. For twenty-eight days they wandered through a desolate and abandoned country, where they were nearly starved, when the leader of the party exclaimed: "Christian, thy God is powerful. Pray for us, for we are starving." Patrick did so and immediately a drove of swine appeared, many of which they killed.

Patrick reached home about the year 409, being then about 22 years of age, and went to Tours, where he studied for four years. On returning to Bonona he was again captured, this time by a roving band of Frank marauders, but was only detained for 60 days. Not long afterwards he had a dream, in which he saw a man named Victoricus bering innumerable epistles, one of which he gave to Patrick who read at he beginning of it the words: "The voice of the Irish." Then he imagined he heard in his mind the voice of those who were near the wood of Focut, which is near the Irish Sea, crying: "We pray thee, holy youth, to come and walk still in the midst of us." Greatly pricked in the heart, Patrick awoke.

SET APART BY THE POPE.

About 418 he placed himself under the direction of St. Germain of Auxerre and for the next nine years history is silent. In 429 Patrick accompanied St. Germain and St. Lupus of Troyes, to Britain, whence they returned in the following year. In 431 he was sent to Rome and set apart by Pope Clestine for his great mission to the Irish people. Despite the entreaties of his friends he was consecrated at Evreux and landed in Wicklow in the spring or summer of 432. Repulsed at first he landed again at Leccan in County Down, and was taken to the house of Dichu, the lord of the district, who, with his household, was the first fruits of his mission. He was unsuccessful, however, with his old master, Milcho.

"Among the legends current in Ireland with regard to Patrick's coming is one which associates it with a celebrated prophecy attributed to the Druids. This prophecy, in a very ancient dialect of the Irish language, is preserved by the Scholiast in Fiech's hymn and has been thus rendered into English:

He comes, he comes, with shaven crown, from off the storm-tossed sea.
His garment pierced at the neck, with crook-like staff comes he.
Far in his bowes, at its east end, his cups and patens lie,
His people answer to his voice, Amen, Amen, they cry. Amen, Amen!

Having laid the foundation of Christianity in Dalaradia, he resolved to visit the central parts of Ireland and to preach the Gospel in the very citadel of its idolatry at Tara, where the princes and nobles of the whole kingdom were to assemble about Easter, 433. About Patrick's appearance at Tara many marvellous stories of miracles have gathered. He is said to have entered into a contest with the magi or wise men of Ireland and to have discomfited them every time. Among the more absurd of these is a tale regarding one of the magi named Lochu who, to show the power of his religion rose in the air, as though ascending to the skies. Then Patrick prayed and angelic hands flung a snowball at him out of heaven, which knocked him down, head foremost, on a sharp stone at Patrick's feet, and that was the end of him. Probably the whole series of legends arose out of the simple fact that at some period of his Missionary labours Patrick appeared at the court of King Laoghaire and preached the good tidings before the courtiers of Temoria.

It was about this time the saint is believed to have composed his celebrated hymn in the Irish tongue, which is undoubtedly of very great antiquity. The hymn is of the nature of what was called a lorica or prayer to protect those who devoutly recited it, from bodily and spiritual dangers. As early as the seventh century it was certainly believed to be the composition of St. Patrick; it is written in a very ancient dialect of the Irish Celtic and was evidently composed during the existence of pagan usages in the country.

TOUR OF GREEN ISLE

Upon leaving Tara Patrick set out for other places in Meath, where he passed a considerable time. Then he proceeded over the plains of Connaught and on to Sligo and Roscommon, his mission in Connaught lasting in all seven years. Thence he continued his course over Ulster and thence he went on a tour through East Leinster and Munster. Everywhere he made many converts and on his departure was followed by many chieftains and by many people desiring his parting blessing.

Having established the see of Armagh St. Patrick spent the remainder of his life after the completion of his missionary labours between it and his favourite retreat of Sabhul or Saul. In his extreme old age he wrote his confessions, in which he provided how the work was to be carried on after his death. He had been through every province of Ireland and he speaks of the bulk of the nation as then Christian and of his having ordained clergy everywhere. The manner of his death has already been noticed. In art St. Patrick is usually represented expelling serpents and other reptiles from the island with his pastoral staff or holding a shamrock leaf. He is said to have had the golden rod of Jesus, given him by a hermit in Gaul, wherewith he smote and slew the Pelsh-ta More, or Monster of the Lakes, and this is also frequently represented in art.

SECRET OF HIS SUCCESS

The secret of the success of St. Patrick's missionary labours appears to have been that he always addressed himself in the first place to the kings or chieftains. These once secured, the clan usually followed. To have attempted the conversion of the clan against the will of the chief would have been to court immediate death, or at least expulsion from the district. And if the profession of the people was more an external submission than a real acceptance of the Christian faith it at least secured toleration for the missionaries, and the resident clergy as those were ordained and settled, "Nothing is clearer," says Dr. O'Donovan, "than that Patrick engrafted Christianity on the pagan superstitions with so much skill that he won the people over to the Christian religion before they understood the exact difference between the two systems of belief; and much of this half pagan, half Christian religion will be found not only in the Irish stories of the middle ages, but in the superstitions of the peasantry to the present day."

IRELAND'S PATRON SAINT

Whose memory is being honoured to-day by sons and daughters of Erin throughout the world.

GOOD SAINT PATRICK AND HIS NATAL DAY

To-day the world over, everyone who has a strain of Irish blood in his veins is wearing a bit of green ribbon or a shamrock leaf, and thousands of Irishmen parade in honour of their patron saint. Yet in spite of all this preparation for the welcome of the great day, the extent of knowledge of most people in regard to good St. Patrick includes the fact that he is patron saint of Ireland, and, according to popular tradition, drove the snakes out of that country—and there it stops. How he became the patron saint, and why the shamrock is so closely connected with him, but few seem to know. And yet a true Irishman will tell you that if it were not for the great saint Ireland would probably never have had the shamrock as its emblem.

History has not revealed whether St. Patrick came from France, Scotland or Ireland, the three countries to which are attributed his birthplace, but the fact remains that, wherever he was born, he devoted his life to the welfare of the people of Ireland, and they, and those of their blood in this country, are the only people who celebrate his day, and who have any memorials of him, the most noted being the church that bears his name in Dun-Patrick.

Men have come into the world, attained distinction, and their memories have been commemorated for some centuries, but none of them has left a more lasting impression that the "Apostle of Ireland," the memory of whose good works is renewed every 17th of March.

Many and widely conflicting are the accounts which have been handed down from father to son regarding St. Patrick.

He was born in Scotland, at Dunbarton, on the Clyde; at Nantes, in France; at Boulogne-sur-mer, and at various other places, according to many so-called authorities, but his origin still remains shrouded in mystery. Since in his "Confessions" St. Patrick tells of his call to Ireland, it might with reason be inferred that he was not already there. However, Ireland, in his time, that is, about the fifth century, was called Hibernia, or Scotia, and the people Scots, which may account for the apparent discrepancy.

All historians, however, appear to agree in the main as to the story of his life following his birth. He was only a shepherd boy when he was filled with the desire to work for the salvation of pagan Ireland, and soon his fame spread all over the country, with the wonderful tales of his conversions of the people.

Finally he came to the land of one King, Leogaire by name, and there, on the hill of Tara, of which Moore and other Irish bards have sung, he incurred the displeasure of that monarch by lighting a fire preparatory to his celebration of Easter, which was but a few days off. The act of kindling this fire was in direct violation of the pagan festival rites, which were then in progress among the King and his subjects.

King Leogaire ordered the miscreant brought before him, but he was so impressed with the dauntlessness of the man and interested in the wonderful tale he told of a religion of which they knew naught, and of a God of whom they had never heard, that he brought his wise men, or druids, to face the stranger, and question him about his religion. Here, while explaining the mystery of the Trinity, and while replying to questions about the triple personality of the one God, St. Patrick stooped and picked up a shamrock leaf, and, holding it up before the gaze of the people, said: "See, are not these three leaves growing on one stem as remarkable as that there should be three Gods in one?" So it is not the leaf itself which holds significance for the Irish people, but the form of the trefoil. Queen's College, at Cork, was erected to commemorate this memorable conference of St. Patrick with the druids.

When his strange, eventful life was over, St. Patrick, or Bishop Patrick, as he was then called, was burried at Dun-Patrick, Dun-da-lath-glas, or the dun of the broken fetters, and here, until the time of the Reformation, were preserved his relics. The place is still held in veneration by his faithful followers.

Material memorials of St. Patrick are numerous in the country which holds him as its own, but the church bearing his name is the most interesting of all. Passing down the quaint old Nicholas and Patrick streets, Dun-Patrick, one comes to the Cathedral of St. Patrick, so filled with monuments and memorial tablets as to be called the Westminster of Ireland.

The covered well at the base of the first pillar in the south transept is commonly ascribed to St. Patrick, and the baptismal font was used by the worthy Bishop in anointing two hundred and seventy-one of his brethren.

The history of the church itself is intricate and interesting. In the year 1190 Comynan, Anglo-Norman Archbishop of Dublin, adopted an ancient church which was particularly reverenced for its associations with St. Patrick. This he altered into a collegiate church, and it was raised by his successor, Henry de Londres, to the dignity of a cathedral. Subject to many changes since, the original form of this stately pile is almost obliterated.

The tomb of the holy man near the cathedral is marked with a huge boulder, upon which are carved a plain cross and dthe one word "Patrick."

As a record of one of his greatest deeds in his holy work is Slane Abbey, or rather, the ruins of it, standing on Tara Hill, where St. Patrick lighted his fire, and here and there throughout the country one may come upon an ancient "standing stone," with the cross which was engraved on it by order of the saint, thus consecrating it to Christian faith. These standing stones, which were to the early Celt what the totem pole is to the Alaskan of to-day, were thrown down by St. Patrick, to emphasize the fact that paganism was to be left entirely behind. Some of the stones were left, however, but these were marked with the cross.

In the Dublin museum are the good saint's iron bell and cover, the latter being covered with beautiful Celtic engravings. The bell is of a type of those which were rung by hand from the windows of the watch tower, and was probaly used by St. Patrick to call the faithful together.

In Cork the principal highway is named after the good saint, and it is up and down this street that the annual St. Patrick's Day parade takes place.

IRISH MUSIC

By Jean Harvey.

First, let me say that the Irishman as commonly depicted in the ordinary novel, or on the vaudeville stage, exists only in the imagination of the author who produces him. The swaggering, stupid good-natured foolish Pat, with an infinite capacity for saying and doing the wrong thing, always in difficulties, and always in some happy way emerging smiling and scathless from the results of his own blunders, with the same happy-go-lucky "tread-on-the-tail-of-me coat" air with which he calmly walked into them is somewhat like Fenimore Cooper's wild Indian, who, as Josh Billings puts it, belongs to "an extinct race that never existed." Like his cousin, the Highland Scot, the Irish Celt possesses the same dauntless spirit, the same warm heart, the same intense love of his country and for his kin. But there the resemblance largely ceases. Doubtless the difference between the two countries may account for the wide diversity of character between the two peoples so near akin in race. The Highlands of Scotland, with their beauty, awful in its grandeur, have had their effect on the life and character of the people who have lived their lives in their midst. The fire and warmth of the Celtic nature, though it may smoulder and burn beneath, is hidden from view by the cold restraint that is a characteristic of the Scot. Not so with the Irishman. The milder, somewhat enervating climate of the Emerald Isle, the verdure and glow of the land, have developed the softer elements in his character, and we have come to regard him as a living personification of happiness and good-humor, taking life as a joke, and laughing away all his woes.

It is the soft, beguiling harp that is the national instrument of Ireland, in place of the harsh unmelodious bagpipes of the highlander. And because the story of the origin of the harp is so poetical and so thoroughly characteristic of the people, let me tell it, though doubtless it is already familiar.

And it is the dainty little shamrock, growing so green and sweet all over the land, that is the emblem of Ireland. Of course you know there is another story of the shamrock, more generally known and more generally accepted than that of St. Patrick's using the triple leaf as an explanation of the Trinity. One day in the golden years of Ireland when Love, Wit and Valor made their home in the beautiful isle, as they were walking together they spied the dainty little plant, with its trefoil leaf and its sweet little pure white flower, growing along their path. What happened has been beautifully told by Moore in his poem, "The Shamrock":

Says Valor, "See,
They spring for me,
Those leafy gems of morning!"
Says Love, "No, no,
For me they grow,
My fragrant path adorning."
But Wit perceives
The triple leaves,
And cries, "Oh do not sever
A type that blends
Three God-like friends,
Love, Valor, Wit, forever."
O the shamrock, the green, immortal shamrock,
Chosen leaf
Of bard and chief,
Old Erin's native shamrock.

Little remains of the ancient music of Ireland. Probably the fact that the harp has become an almost obsolete instrument, in conjunction with the desolate, restless condition of the country for so many years, may account for the fact. Indeed, but for the genius and patriotism of one of her sons, "Little Tommy Moore," as he was affectionately called, much that is beautiful in Irish song and verse would have been lost to us forever. What Burns has done for Scotland Moore has done for Ireland. It was he who exhumed the Irish music from beneath the dust and rubbish of centuries, cast over it the spell of his own genius, and gave it forth to delight the world with its sweetness and pathos.

"Dear harp of my country, in darkness I found thee;
The cold chain of silence had hung o'er thee long,
When proudly, my own island harp, I
And gave all thy chords to light, free-unbound thee
dom and song!

The warm lay of love and the light note of gladness
Have wakened thy fondest, thy liveliest thrill;
But so oft hast thou echo'd the deep sigh of sadness
That even in thy mirth it will steal from thee still."

The truest and best outcome of the little poet's genius are undoubtedly his "Irish Melodies," and yet, with all their beauty, which is undeniable, and in spite of the smoothness and polish which characterize them, they lack the spontaneity and freshness which make the songs of Burns an ever-fresh delight.

SOME HAPPENINGS IN THE NORTHERN TOWN.

Personal Mention and Other Items of Interest at Lakefield.

An informal dance was held in the town hall here on Thursday evening last. About 80 persons responded to the invitations sent out by the bachelors, and a most enjoyable social evening was spent. Mr. Halpany's orchestra from Peterborough, supplied the music.

A social was held in the Presbyterian church on Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, when a most enjoyable programme was presented by the young people of the church.

Miss Gertrude Wallace is in Toronto, the guest of Mrs. Wood, of that city.

Miss Blewett of North Smith, had a very pleasant gathering of young folks from the village at her home on Friday evening last.

Miss Margaret Cox, of Peterborough, is the guest of Mrs. E. A Tanner.

The regular monthly meeting of the Lakefield council was held in the town hall on Monday evening, March 14th. There were present, the reeve, F. J Moore, in the chair, and Councillors Tanner, Kidd and Lennox.

Communications were received from the Peterborough Board of Trade and the Belleville Board of Trade; also from the Mayor of Peterborough thanking the council for their willingness to lend their fire engine during the Cereal fire; and from the School Board, asking for the sum of six hundred dollars for current expenditure, all of which were on motion received.

Moved by Councillors Tanner and Lennox, that the application of Mr. Rubidon for the lease of the old school building, be referred to Councillors Kidd and Tanner, with power to act.—Carried.

Moved by Councillors Tanner and Kidd, that Collector Dodge's bond be accepted.—Carried.

Moved by Councillors Tanner and Lennox that the sum of two dollars each be given to Messrs. J. C. Grylls, Thos. Tyndall and Captain Reynolds, in recognition of their services in charge of the fire engine at the fire at Northey's store. —Carried.

A bylaw No. 385, entitled a bylaw to appoint Dr. Robert Fraser, Medical Health Officer for the village, received its several readings, and was passed and signed and sealed by the reeve and clerk.

Rule of order No. 50 was on motion suspended for the evening.

A bylaw entitled a bylaw to borrow money for current expenses received its several readings, was passed, signed and sealed by the reeve and clerk.

Moved by Councillors Tanner and Kidd that the reeve be appointed a delegate to attend the meeting of the Transportation Commission at Peterborough on March 24th, to urge the early completion of the Trent Canal, and that he take with him the leading business men of the village.—Carried.

The Finance Committee presented the following report.

To the Reeve and Councillors of the Village of Lakefield,—

Gentlemen, — We your Finance Committee, have examined the following accounts, and would recommend payment of the same:—

P. [illegible]	7 50
	$64 36

We also recommend that the sum of six hundred dollars be placed to the credit of the school board.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

E. A. Tanner, chairman.

Moved by Councillors Tanner and Kidd, that the report of the Finance Committee be adopted.—Carried.

Knew Dr. Chase in 1867.

One of Dr. Chase's oldest patients in Canada is Mr. G. W. Parish, of Sturgeon Bay, Simcoe County, Ont., whom he cured of kidney disease in 1867 by means of his now celebrated Kidney-Liver Pills. Mr. Parish writes that he does not think there is any medicine half so good, and he always keeps Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in the house as a family medicine.

Pro Patria Is Safe.

GET MY BOOK IF SICK

Don't send a penny. Just wait till you see what I can do. Let me take the risk.

Let me prove up first what Dr. Shoop's Restorative can do. The Restorative will gain your friendship, your endorsement, if you try it. And for a whole month you can test it without the slightest risk.

I will tell you of a druggist near you who will furnish six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Restorative, a month on trial.

I will absolutely stand all the cost if it fails. If you say "It did not help me," that ends it, as far as cost to you is concerned. Do you understand me? I am telling it as plainly, as clearly as I can. I want you to know absolutely and without doubt this offer is made on honour. I have the prescription that cures. My only problem is to convince you that Dr. Schoop's Restorative will cure—is an uncommon remedy. A common remedy would not stand a test like that. It would bankrupt the physician making the offer. And I am succeeding everywhere, and here is the secret of my success. I found invariably that where there was a weakness the inside nerves were weak. When there was a lack of vitality the vital nerves lacked power. Where weak organs were found I always found weak nerves. Not the nerves commonly thought of but the vital organ's nerves. The inside—the invisible nerves.

This was a revelation. Then my real success began. Then I combined ingredients that would strengthen, that would vitalize these strengthen, that would vitalize these nerves. That prescription I called a restorative. It is known the world over now as Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

Thousands are accepting my offer and only one in each forty writes me that my remedy failed. Just think of it, 39 out of 40 get well, and these are difficult cases too. And the fortieth has nothing to pay. That is a record I am proud of. It is wrong to stay sick when a chance like this is open. If well, you should tell others who are sick, of my offer. Don't let a sick friend stay sick because he knows not of my offer. Tell him. Get my book for him. Do your duty. You may be sick yourself sometime. Sick people need help. They appreciate sympathy and aid. Tell me of some sick friend. Let me cure him. Then he will show to both of us his gratitude. Your reward will be his gratitude. Send for the book now. Do not delay. Address Dr. Shoop, box 47, Racine, Wis.

Mild cases, not chronic, are often cured with one or two bottles. At druggists.

HON. DR. McINNES DEAD.

Succumbed to Heart Trouble at Vancouver, B.C., Tuesday Night.

Vancouver, B. C., March 17.—Ex-Lieut.-Governor McInnes died about 10 o'clock Tuesday night. For some time he has been suffering with heart trouble, and on Monday had a bad attack. He leaves a widow, two sons, T. S. E. McInnes, barrister, this city, and W. W. B. McInnes, M.P.P., of Victoria, and one daughter, Mrs. James Wilson, wife of the Superintendent of the C.P.R. Telegraphs on the Pacific division.

Hon. Dr. Thos. Robert McInnes was the fourth son of the late John McInnes, a native of Inverness, Scotland, and was born at Lake Ainslie, N. S., in November, 1816.

READ IT THROUGH.

Twould Spoil This Story to Tell it in the Headlines.

To use an eighteenth century phrase, this is an "o'er true tale." Having happened in a small Virginian town in the winter of 1902 it is a story very much of the present. Up to a short time ago Mrs. John E. Harmon, of Melfa Station, Va., had no personal knowledge of the rare curative properties of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. "Last January," she says, "my baby took a dreadful cold and at one time I feared that she would have pneumonia, but one of my neighbours told me how this remedy cured her little boy and I began giving it to my baby at once, and it soon cured her. I heartily thank the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for placing so great a cure within my reach. I cannot recommend it too highly or say too much in its favour. I hope all who read this will try and be convinced as I was." For sale by all druggists.

SIR WILLIAM MULOCK SAYS:

Not Contracts But Common Sentiment Binds the Empire Together.

Ottawa, March 17.—The annual meeting of the British Empire League in Canada, held here yesterday morning was rendered important by a notable speech by Sir William Mulock. The Postmaster-General declared that public opinion here would heartily welcome closer relations between Great Britain and Canada, but he deprecated any interference by Canadians in the fiscal struggle now being waged in Great Britain. He also differed from those people who thought to bind Canada by contract to come to the rescue of the Empire in time of need. The best guarantee that Canada would be ready with assistance rested in the hearts and affections of the people, and from Canada's loyalty her future policy might be gunged. Lieut.-Col. George T. Denison, presided, and the attendance included Messrs. J. W. Clark and John T. Small, Toronto; Sir William Mulock, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Sir Sandford Fleming, Mr. Tarte, M.P., and several Senators and members. A number of appropriate resolutions were passed, and the officers of last year were all re-elected.

Reserve Force.

The healthy body has a certain amount of strength reserved in case of emergency, attacks by disease or unusual physical exhaustion. Without this power of resistance a person is an easy prey to every ill that comes along. By enriching the blood and creating new nerve cells, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food keeps the health at high water mark and fills the body with the vigour and vitality that overcomes and defies disease.

"KILL EVERYTHING BLACK."

Germans Seek Revenge For Awful Atrocities in Africa.

Berlin, March 17.—Letters from German Southwest Africa have arrived here giving details of the ghastly treatment of German settlers, 133 of whom were killed outright or tortured to death in the district of Okahandja alone. Women outraged and dismembered, and with pieces of their bodies nailed to the doors of houses, and boys mutilated are frequent spectacles. The expeditionary columns on coming in sight of a farmer's house would see the hands of its former occupants fastened to the roof.

The letters express longings for revenge and a determination, as one writer says, "to kill everything black."

Defence Committee.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

London, March 17.—Right Hon. Arnold Forster, M.P., secretary of state for war, speaking at the annual dinner of the Institution of Civil Engineers, said that if the defence committee sat day in and day out for six months it would barely overtake the arrears of business.

The Morning Post scores the minister for making the committee too important, and advises that the committee incorporate into itself the secretary of state for foreign affairs and the permanent under secretary.

Duke of Cambridge Ill.

London, March 17.—The Duke of Cambridge, cousin of the late Queen Victoria, is in a critical condition. Recent bulletins regarding the Duke's health have been of a reassuring nature, but yesterday morning His Royal Highness, who has been ill a long time, was seized with a recurrence of hemorrhage of the stomach and an official bulletin just issued admits that grave anxiety is felt regarding the outcome of the attack.

For a Disordered Stomach.

"I have been troubled for some time with indigestion and sour stomach," says Mrs. Sarah W. THE BAKERS MAKE AN APPLICATION.

To Change the Standard Size of Bread to 1½ and 3 Pound Loaves

In the Meantime the Majority of Bakers Continue to Make the Larger Sizes.

In connection with a statement made in the local press to the effect that a change had been made in the weight of bread, made by two local bakers, it is learned that the Bakers' Association has renewed its application to the Town Council to change the standard size of bread from 2 and 4 pound loaves to those of 1 1-2 and 3 pound. During the latter part of 1903 a request came to the Council to make this change in view of the fact that the bread being sold here from Toronto was made into the smaller loaves, and it was thought that in order to meet the competition the local bakers must manufacture their bread into loaves of the same size. The Council did not pass the necessary bylaw empowering the bakers to do as they requested at the time, consequently the matter now stands as before. Bakers can, however, make loaves of any size they wish providing that if they are other than those of the standard sizes, 2 and 4 pounds, they are labelled, giving the weight.

Two bakers, Mr. N. Lush and Mr. John Mann, have decided to, in future, make their bread of the same size as that shipped here from Toronto, labelling each loaf, while the other bakers—Messrs. Hawley, Bates, Stock, Gardner, Grady and Williams and Mrs. T. Lush, will continue to make the 2 and 4 pound loaves, pending the application now before the Council to pass a bylaw making the standard 1 1-2 and 3 pounds.

This application, which was referred to the Legal Committee to act upon, was considered by it, and the town clerk was instructed to write the secretary of the Bakers' Association requesting that the bakers attend the next open meeting of the Council and present their views.

This will probably be complied with.

GOUGH BROTHERS CLOSING DAYS.

Will Retire From Business in Peterborough on Saturday, March 19th.

It seems now to be beyond doubt that Peterborough is to lose the well known clothing firm of Gough Bros. It must be accepted as "the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth," that the firm are pulling up stakes and severing their connection with the town. Most of our citizens have not wished to realize that the town was to lose one of its oldest, largest and most progressive business firms. But the absolute statement is now made in their half-page advertisement which appears in this issue that—"Gough Bros. will close up their business in Peterborough on Saturday evening, March 19th." Along the highway of business, during the past seventeen years, Gough Bros. have left their impress here, and what Peterborough loses Toronto is to gain by reason of its larger field for a go-ahead firm.

It is needless to point out the extraordinary inducements now offered during the next few days in buying clothing, etc., at Gough Bros. Their "Good-bye" sale has furnished many people with rare opportunities, but these remaining days will surpass all previous records in bargain-giving

AN ACCIDENT TO MR. D. J. DeVINE.

Fell on the Ice at Lindsay and Broke a Small Bone in His Back.

A regrettable incident in connection with the recent visit of the T. A.S. hockey team to Lindsay, is the accident which Mr. D. J DeVine, the energetic secretary of the Club, sustained, and from the effects of which he will be laid up for some days, it is feared.

On Tuesday morning the team drove in from Fenelon Falls to Lindsay, and as he was alighting from the sleigh at the Simpson House, Lindsay, Mr. DeVine slipped and fell the result of which was that a small bone in his back was broken. The accident occurred very simply, but for a time Mr. DeVine was in extreme pain. He remained in Lindsay until last night, when he was able to be removed home. When seen this afternoon he was quite cheerful, in spite of his ill-luck, and hopes to be around again in a few days.

Mr. DeVine's many friends will learn with regret of his accident, but will join in the hope that he will soon have fully recovered.

REV. W. R. TANDY AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

Preached Special Lenten Sermon Last Night.

A fairly good congregation greeted Rev. W. R. Tandy, of Havelock, at St. John's church last night. His subject was "The Call to Applied Churchmanship," which he construed to be the call to practical witness bearing. He said that every great nation had a special character genius and message given to it and they worked out their destiny in so far that they gave concrete expression to this message. Thus the Greeks had before them the idea of beauty and their statues and works of art, bear witness to the efficiency with which they fulfilled their mission. The Romans had received conceptions of Divine law and order and left these distinctly marked upon the world. And in modern times Great Britain, the United States and other countries had similar missions which they were carrying out. If this was the case with nations much more so with a divine institution like the church. It had received divine illumination and its main purpose was to practically embody in life its heaven given ideals. The principles of religion were of no avail unless they received this practical application to life. Applied churchmanship corresponded to such things as applied mechanics, the usefulness laying in the application. The speaker then recounted certain definite points in which the principles of religion are to be brought to bear in life. With this conception the ordinances and services of religion become real powers in the world if rightly and steadily directed. Christians should bend themselves towards wards making a practical embodyment of the wonderful principles and powers at their command and apply these to the betterment of life and to the glory of the Almighty.

On page 2 of to-day's issue will be found matter relating to St. Patrick and his life and work. The memory of Ireland's Patron Saint is to-day being honoured the world over by sons and daughters of the Emerald Isle.

MAGNIFICENT ARMOURIES BOOKED FOR PETERBORO'

Col. Buchan, C. M. G., A. D. C., in Town Looking for a Site.

Board of Education Want to Have the Armouries and Collegiate Institute on the Same Lot.

Colonel Lawrence Buchan, C.M.G., A.D.C., Commanding the Third Military District, was in town yesterday inspecting various sites where the Government would find it convenient to erect a new armouries. In the morning Col Buchan inspected the present drill shed, together with Lt.-Col. J. W. Miller. He expressed profound disgust at the accommodations for the local battalion, and criticized the fact that there was no parade ground. He remarked, unofficially, that the Government intended to erect magnificent armouries at Peterborough, which would accommodate, Infantry, Cavalry and Artillery. It was not going to be a drill shed, but a first class building, equipped throughout in the most modern way.

In the afternoon Col. Buchan was in conference with committees from the Council, Regiment and Board of Education. Captain R. F. McWilliams presided and the others present were: Council—Ald. Rush, Mayor Roger and Ald. Best; Regiment—Lt.-Col. Miller and Capt. L. M. Hayes; Board of Education—Messrs. J. J. Hartley, J. Crane, W. H. Hill, H. P. Kennedy, W. G. Morrow and W. G. Ferguson.

The Board of Education unfolded a commendable plan, that of the town and Government co-operating and selecting a site in the central part of the town upon which both the Armouries and the Collegiate Institute could be erected. Among other sites that of the Separate School grounds was suggested. The various representatives of the Board of Education all spoke at some length on the proposition, pointing out that the Cadet Corps in connection with the Collegiate Institute could drill with the Regiment, and by this in the near future the Regiment could rely on enrolling well trained lads. From an artistic point of view, they pointed out, the plan would be a good one.

Mayor Roger, on being asked for his opinion, said that the matter rested mainly in the hands of the miltary authorities and the Board of Education. The Government intended, no matter what happened, to erect an Armouries and the town needed, without doubt, a new Collegiate Institute, and he, himself, was assured that there would be no objections on the part of the citizens to the scheme. His Worship continued by pointing out the advantages to be derived from co-operating the two interests. He suggested that the play and parade ground be behind the two buildings and not in front. The Board of Education had suggested that the two buildings be erected at the extreme west of the lot, and have the play and parade ground in front, extending from the buildings to the Central Park. If this were so, pointed out His Worship, the grass would be worn off before and there would be an unsightly stretch of bare ground. It was only a detail, but His Worship showed that it was one which might be considered seriously when the main difficulties had been surmounted.

The Chairman asked if the Board of Education was prepared to give any details regarding their scheme.

Mr. Hartley — No, we are not prepared at present to give any details. They will be arranged after the main points are fixed.

Captain McWilliams — We, as a town, are prepared to give a good site for the drill shed. I must say here that it must not in the slightest degree hinder the Militia Department from having a good site. In fact the School Board's request is a secondary one compared to the needs of the military.

Lt.-Colonel Miller said that it was a good opportunity and should be grasped at once. The Government intended to erect the armouries, and the town wanted a new Collegiate Institute, and were looking for a suitable site. It is usual for the municipality to provide the site for armouries, and now if the proposed grounds were bought the town would be making a good move. He would like to urge the point to an issue as land fifteen years from now would be two or three times its present value. Thus by purchasing the lot now the town would save in the long run.

Mr. W. H. Hill spoke at some length on the matter, dwelling especially on the fact that having the armouries so close to the Collegiate Institute would give birth to a military ardour in the breasts of the school boys, who would thus in the future, when of age, join the regiment. If all put their "shoulders to the wheel" he did not see why the scheme should not carry.

Col. Buchan — We must at all costs be prepared for any emergency and then we can let the worst come. Lord Dundonald, the officer in charge of the Canadian Militia wants me to say here to you, gentlemen, that the military authorities intend to erect a most modern armouries here at Peterborough, which is of great strategical importance. In fact in case of war in this land Peterborough would be the centre of mobilization for this district. It is for this reason then that the Department intends to erect such a building. We will then be able to accommodate cavalry, infantry and artillery in case of war. The new armouries at London cost approximately, $200,000, and (unofficially) I should say the Peterborough armouries will cost half of that sum. I think the scheme of having your Collegiate Institute and new armouries together a good one. We must have armouries, and if such a co-operation as you suggest can be effected, so much the better.

There was some more discussion on this point, Col. Buchan asking for something definite which he could place before the Department. A committee consisting of the Mayor, Mr. Hartley and Lt.-Colonel Miller was appointed to gather information with reference to sites, and report later.

DECEASED PRIEST HAD RELATIVES HERE.

Rev. Patrick J. Danehy, Whose Death Occurred in Minneapolis, was Cousin of Miss Hanlon.

The Morris, Minn., Times, has the following account of the death of Rev. Patrick J. Danehy, in Minneapolis. The deceased was a cousin of Miss Hanlon, of town, and visited here frequently:

"A recent death that has a good deal of local interest is that of Rev. Patrick J. Danehy, a Catholic priest of Minneapolis, which occurred at St. Mary's Hospital in that city last Saturday morning The local interest in Father Danehy results from the fact that several relatives live in this county, and from the further fact that he was well known to many of our people. An aunt of the dead priest, a sister of his mother was the late Mrs. Dudley Hall, of the town of Horton, and at the time of her death, a year ago last January, Father Danehy conducted the services at the church in this city. George and Frank Hall, who were full cousins, left Sunday to attend the funeral. Another relative is James Hanlon, of Darnen, who is living in Morris this winter. Father Danehy lectured in the Epworth League lecture course in the Methodist church last year, and delivered a notably brilliant and enjoyable address on that occasion. It showed culture, learning, breadth and charity.

"The city papers unite in tributes of the highest praise to the dead priest and his death is most sincerely mourned by all who knew him. He was a young man of exceptional intellectual attainments, and no priest in the North-west had the promise of a brighter future. He was born at Waupun, Wis., in 1858. His parents soon removed to Minneapolis, and there he attained the public schools. He was educated at St. Francis Seminary, Milwaukee, and Grand Seminary, Montreal. After his ordination, he was an assistant to the pastor at the Cathedral and secretary to Archbishop Grace. In 1885 he became pastor of a church at Faribault. He was a member of the first class at the Catholic university in Washington, D.C., taking a post graduate course. In 1891 he went to Europe and there still further pursued his studies. He returned in 1893 and was made a professor of Scriptural studies at St. Thomas' College, St. Paul. In 1901 he decided to return to church work and became the pastor of St. Stephen's, Minneapolis.

"We copy the following appreciation of Father Danehy from the editorial column of the Minneapolis Tribune:—'In the death of Father Danehy this community suffers a loss that will be felt far outside the limits of the church organization with which his life work was identified. Virtually a native of this city, his early education, supplemented by theological training and rounded out by travel abroad, rendered him peculiarly fitted to labour in this field. As an educator he was brought in close touch with the young people of these cities and the North-west and his life was an example in every respect.'"

REPORTS SHOW A GOOD PROGRESS.

Annual Meeting of All Saints' Women's Auxiliary.

The 12th annual meeting of All Saints' Woman's Auxillary was held in the school room on Tuesday, March 15th, when the reports of the last year's business were presented, and showed that the Auxiliary had done most efficient service to the church. Among the improvements undertaken by the ladies was that of having electric lighting installed in the church, 114 lights having been placed in the sacred edifice. The school room has also been painted and kalsomined by the efforts of the Auxiliary, and in addition a large amount of work has been accomplished in the homes. Missionary enterprise has formed an important branch of the Auxiliary's work and the ladies may well feel justified at the success of their efforts in this direction. Clothing has been provided and sent to missions in the newer parts of Canada, the receipt of which has done much to make the lot of the unfortunates living in the more sparsely settled and often poorer parts of the country, easier.

A number of entertainments and teas have been held during the year, each of which has been highly successful.

The election of officers resulted as follows:—

President—Miss Chamberlain.
1st Vice-President—Mrs. Hooper.
2nd Vice-President—Mrs. Loudey.
Secretary—Mrs. Latimer.
Treasurer—Mrs. Gilbert.
P.M.C. Convenor—Mrs. Buller.
Dorcas Secretaries—Mrs Cooney, Mrs. Blois.
President of Junior W. A. — Mrs Blois.
Organist—Miss Bullen.

IRISH SOCIETIES IN PETERBOROUGH.

Ancient Order of Hibernians Only One in Existence at Present.

A Brief History of Irish Organizations That Have Flourished Here The Object of the A. O. H. Memories of St. Patrick's Day.

To trace the history of the organization of the first Irish Society in Peterborough would be a difficult matter, as opinions conflict as to the date of the birth of the first Irish organization in this district. It is a well-known fact, however, as the oldest living son of Erin will attest, that in the early days, whenever "St. Patrick's Day in the morning" came round the Irish residents would gather around the festive board and spend the evening in story-telling of Ireland's past achievements and breathing a prayer and the hope that she might yet attain her past greatness.

About twenty-five years ago or more a thriving Young Irishmen's Society was in existence. This organization flourished like a Green bay tree for many years, and always fittingly observed the anniversary of Ireland's Patron Saint. Many of the prominent Irish Catholics of to-day were members of this organization. Besides this society there was also a St. Patrick's Society composed of Irishmen of all creeds, and it is said that many a son of old Erin who had met with adversity was given a helping hand by this organization, which usually celebrated St. Patrick's Day by a banquet. The late Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald and the late Rev. Alex. Bell, who was one time pastor of St. Andrew's church, were prominent members of this Society, which, however, from some cause or another became defunct. An Emerald Dramatic Club was also in existence and put on the boards many excellent entertainments for St. Patrick's Day.

The town was without an Irish Society for many years until about 1888, when the Emerald Benefical Association was organized. This was a distinctly Catholic organization and while not purely Irish in its nature, had the harp and shamrock on all its regalia and paraphenalia. The Order flourished for a time and always held a concert on St. Patrick's Day, but the Grand Division, at least one of its members, it is alleged, got into financial troubles and the Society was wrecked, not only here, but wherever it was organized in the Province.

No effort was made to organize an Irish Society of any nature until last year when on September 13th, a Division of the Ancient Order of Hibernians was organized in town. The history of the origin of this Order is an interesting one. For many years previous to the struggle of Daniel O'Connell for Catholic Emancipation and during what was known as the penal times in Ireland, it was extremely difficult for the Irish priesthood to offer up the celebration of the mass, and they often had to repair to the mountain fastnesses, where the faithful would assemble, and a rude altar would be erected. They were in constant danger of attack, and guards were placed in order to give warning on the approach of these seeking him. This practice on the part of the faithful guards is said to have been the foundation of the organization of the A.O.H., which was first established in America about 82, and it spread rapidly. In every city place of importance in the American Union, wherever Irishmen can be found, there will you find the A.O.H. In Canada the Society is also very strong. It is one of the oldest and most influential Catholic organizations in the world. It is one of the strongest, both numerically and financially of any similar society on the American continent.

The objects of the society as set forth in the preamble of the constitution, are, briefly as follows:—

The members of The Ancient Order of Hibernianc in America declare that the intent and purpose of the Order is to promote Friendship, Unity, and Christian Charity among its members, by raising or supporting a fund of money for maintaining the aged, sick, blind and infirm members, for the advancement of the principles of Irish nationality; for the legitimate expenses of the Order, and for no other purposes whatsoever.

The motto of this Order is "Friendship, Unity and Christian Charity."

Friendship shall consist in helping one another and in assisting each other to the best of our power.

Unity, in combining together for mutual support in sickness and distress.

Christian Charity, in loving one another and in doing to all men as we would wish that they should do unto us.

This Order is to be formed exclusively of practical Catholics. Therefore, each member is expected to comply with all his Christian duties.

Its membership includes many of the leading Irish Catholics of wealth and influence in America, and is rapidly growing in numbers. The Society has an endowed chair in Washington University, and is erecting a handsome Hibernian Temple in New York costing several million dollars. In Canada also the Order is making rapid strides, and has divisions in 13 counties in this province, and is well established in every other province in the Dominion.

The question of the organization of a division in town had been under contemplation for some time and at a meeting held in September, Mr. R. J. Slattery, LL.B., Provincial Treasurer, and Mr. T. J Monaghan, both of Arnprior, assisted in the institution of the Division Sixty members were enrolled and the following officers were elected and duly installed by Bros. Slattery, Monaghan and Murphy:—

President—Wm. Crowley.
Vice-President—D. Holland.
Chaplain—Father J. O'Brien.
Rec.-Secretary—Jas. Drain
Fin.-Secretary—J. J. Lynch.
Treasurer—Jos. Kelly.
Sergt.-at-arms—B. J Brady.
Standing Committee — Messrs. T. J. Begley, chairman, J. J Hickey, F. Derocher, J. Hanrahan, F. Holland.
Medical Examiner—Dr. Coughlin.
County President—Jos. Maher.

THE T. A. S. TEAM ON LINDSAY ICE.

The Opinion Lindsay Holds of the Fast Champions of the T. V. L.

The Lindsay Post writing on the game in that town Tuesday night between the T.A.S. and home team says:—

"Amid great shouting of young and old hockey enthusiasts last night, the much longed for game between the T.A.S., of Peterborough, and the local Seniors, ended in a tie—11 all. Great interest was taken in the game, and the crowd numbered up in the hundreds. At the beginning, when the T.A.S. appeared on the ice, it was thought that they would win out, they being a much heavier bunch. The ice was in prime condition and the match proved to be very exciting; up to half-time it was impossible to pick out the likely winners. The Peterborough team are hard workers and fast skaters, and used their weight to good advantage, but the Lindsay boys pulled together and gave them a hard tussle."

Of the T.A.S. team this is said:—

"Peterborough got their "com" working, and after many brave attempts, got the puck lodged in their opponents' goal, at exactly 15 minutes from the start of the game, and shortly after, on a nice rush, added another to their tally, making the score 3—2. Peterboro then by good work scored two more in rapid succession, one of which was put in when no one was near enough to prevent the player from getting close to the locals goal. The score now stood 3 to 4 in T.A.S.' favour. The Peterboros had it all their own way for a few minutes longer, and stormed the Lindsay goal, but McGrath stopped everything that came his way. "Goosie" now got a good chance and scored for Lindsay, making the count 4 all at half time."

"The members of the Peterboro T. A.S. hockey team made the Simpson House their stopping place during their stay in town, and conducted themselves as gentlemen."

AMALGAMATION IS SUGGESTED.

Letter From Mr. H. R. H. Kenner on a Subject Which has Been Considerably Thought of.

Mr. H. R. H. Kenner, president of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club has written the following letter on a subject which is of interest to the many admirers of Canada's National summer game here:—

To the Sporting Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Notwithstanding the fact that our "Lady of the Snows" lovingly lingers in the lap of spring, it nevertheless behooves us, with Good Friday so near at hand, to make the best of our lenten fast and make preparations for Canada's national, strenuous game, namely, lacrosse.

The question naturally arises, What are the prospects of Peterborough so far as this game is concerned?

Having withdrawn from all active participation in sports, I may be allowed to speak as an onlooker, and, at the same time, as one who during the last ten years has had more or less experience in the various lines of athletic sports.

Along with others I have, with regret, watched an increasing spirit of hostility between the supporters of the T. A. S. organizations and those not identified with that institution.

This, I am sorry to say, is not as it should be. No club has brought brighter laurels to town than the Peterborough Football Club, and in doing so we have had no more valuable members of that club than Messrs. Crowley, Meagher, Hurtubise and Dennaird, all members of the T. A. S. These gentlemen, I am confident, will testify to the effect that their dealings with the town team have been most harmonious, and justly so.

In baseball, too, we find no unhealthy rivalry.

In hockey, whilst there has been some ill-feeling, yet it has been generally admitted that the T. A. S., drawing from a more limited membership, have been at a disadvantage; but, notwithstanding have conferred honour upon themselves in particular, and the town in general.

In lacrosse there has been a different state of affairs. There has been a determination on both sides to win at all hazards, and the games have been played with discredit to the players and not to the honour of the town.

The officers of the two clubs, and, for that matter, the players, too, have been, for the most part, on good terms, and are actuated by the spirit of good honest sport. There are, however, certain so-called supporters, for the most part unknown to the gate-keepers, who have caused considerable ill-feeling and have lowered the standard of this game in Peterborough.

We have won Provincial Junior and Intermediate Hockey championships; Provincial and Dominion Intermediate Rugby Football championships, and District Association Football championships, and why not a lacrosse championship?

We have the material, but we have not been working in harmony.

My suggestion is that the T. A. S. and the Athletic lacrosse teams amalgamate and forget the past. If we do so, I am sure we can both place a winning amateur team in the field and, at the same time, promote that good feeling and harmony which should at all times characterize true sportsmen.

I would suggest that the secretaries the two clubs agree to call a joint meeting and place a Peterborough lacrosse team in the C. L. A.

I speak only for myself, but I should like, before retiring, to remove, so far as I can, that much-to-be-deplored unhealthy unsportsmanlike local rivalry in sports.

Thanking you for your space,

I remain,
Yours truly,
H. R. H. KENNER.

PUCKERINGS.

Mr. F. C. Waghorne has wired the Secretary of the hockey club that it will be impossible to get together a Marlboro team, or a picked seven, to give the Peterborough team a game on Saturday night in Toronto, as had been suggested, consequently the hockey season, as far as the local team is concerned, has closed. It will be disappointing to many in town to learn that no game can be arranged, as it is believed that the local team would have made a good showing against the city players. However the teams in Toronto have practically disbanded for the season and are not playing games any more.

* * * *

The Belleville Intelligencer, commenting on the proposed game, Peterborough and a picked team from Toronto, says:—"And the Petes could probably beat the best team Toronto could produce, or any other team in the O.H.A., except Belleville."

FOOTBALL.

A meeting of the Old Country Wanderers Football Club was held in the Crown Inn last night and some business of importance transacted. Mr. Head was appointed to the Executive Committee in lieu of Mr. McPhair, who has left town. The next meeting will be held on Wednesday, the 23rd inst.

CURLING.

In the Innis Medal contest the following games will be played tonight:

Neill vs. Ray.
T. Rutherford vs. Giroux
Brown vs. Edwards.

MISCELLANEOUS.

On March 24th the sport lovers of Peterborough will have an opportunity of seeing the two local wrestlers, McDonough and Gauthier, come together again. It is almost two years since the men engaged in a wrestling bout, and the conclusion was not perfectly satisfactory, consequently their coming together again will be interesting to their friends here. A number of other athletic events will be pulled off on the same evening.

IMMEDIATE DEMAND.

Dominion Alliance Executive Wants Bar-Rooms Abolished and Other Things.

Toronto, March 17.—The executive of the Dominion Alliance met yesterday with a pretty good attendance and discussed various matters of interest in the movement. The legislative situation was well threshed out, and as a result two resolutions were unanimously adopted.

The first, moved by Alex. Mills, and seconded by Rev. Dr. Chown, states:

"That the emphatic declaration of the will of the electorate, expressed in the plebiscites and the referendum, and the definite promises of successive Provincial Premiers, warrant us in expecting and demanding immediate effective legislative action; and this meeting therefore calls upon the Government to introduce into the Legislature during the present session a bill providing for the abolition of the bar-room, the treating system and drinking in clubs, and the imposition on the liquor traffic of such other restrictions as shall most effectually curtail its operation and remedy its evils."

Rev. Dr. Carman moved, and D. Graham seconded, the other resolution, which was:

"That this meeting believes it to be the earnest desire of the temperance electors of the province that their representatives in the Legislature of both parties shall advocate and support legislation such as has been above set out."

G. F. Marter occupied the chair.

Sunday and After Hours Traffic.

Toronto, March 17.—The Brewers' Association hold their annual meeting for the transaction of the usual routine business yesterday. A good deal of discussion occurred over the proposed change in temperance legislation. It was the general feeling of the meeting that the present license law was very satisfactory. Instead of new legislation a rigid enforcement of the present law was all that was required. The sense of the meeting was decidedly in favor of imposing heavy penalties for violations of the Sunday closing and the early closing regulations. John Carling was re-elected president.

WHY WM. DOEG SPEAKS OUT.

His Rheumatism was Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Four Years of Terrible Suffering made him Hopeless The Great Canadian Kidney Remedy made him a new man.

Sunbridge, Ont., March 16.—(Special.)—Of the many remarkable medical cures recorded of late few will compare with that of William Doeg, who lives on lot 19, concession 13, Strong township. His was a case of Rheumatism of the worst kind, and the story of his complete restoration to health reads like an account of one of the miracles of old. Mr. Doeg tells the story himself as follows:

"For four years I suffered torture. During all that time I was scarcely an hour free from pain. The trouble commenced in my back, and the pain got so bad that I could scarcely lie down but had to sit all day and night in a chair.

"The pain would at times remove to other parts of my body, and when it was in my knees I was unable to walk, and was confined to my room. Different doctors treated me but did me no good, and I thought that I would never again be free from pain.

"The stories of wonderful cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills led me to try them. The first box did me good, so I kept on until now I can say I am a new man, entirely free from pain."

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid in the blood. Healthy kidneys keep the blood clear of uric acid. Dodd's Kidney Pills make healthy Kidneys.

Will Be No Strike.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 17.—At the national headquarters of the United Mine Workers of America late yesterday, estimates on the vote of the miners had been computed by the national officers. They are positive the scale has been accepted and there will be no strike. Of the 190,000 miners in the States, about 135,000 voted, and of these 85,000 voted for the scale and 46,000 voted against and in favor of strike.

In the Toils Again.

Windsor, March 17.—A. L. Shambeau, ex-county treasurer of Kent County, was arrested in Detroit yesterday morning in connection with the charge of embezzlement, on which he was acquitted at Chatham last fall. His arrest is the result of the non-fulfilment of the terms of the settlement upon which he was given his liberty.

London, March 17.—George R. Parkin sailed for New York yesterday from Southampton on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, in connection with the holding of examinations in the United States and Canada for Rhodes' scholarships at Oxford.

A Thrilling Experience.

London, March 17.—The passengers on the Grand Trunk No. 2 fast express from the west were given a thrilling experience. The train was approaching the station at a high rate of speed and when in the centre of the York street bridge the engine jumped the track, but fortunately did not run over into the town river. It plowed over the ties to the end of the bridge and stopped with a heavy jolt. The sudden stop set fire to the baggage car and the fire brigade was called out. It was quickly extinguished without much damage to either car or baggage. The wrecking auxiliary was called out and had the engine back on the track in the course of an hour and a half.

Earthquake at Victoria.

Victoria, B. C., March 17.—At 8.18 o'clock last night the smartest shock of earthquake felt in Victoria for twenty years shook the city. Clocks were stopped and bed-ridden invalids were so alarmed that in many cases, it is reported, they sprang from their beds, screaming with terror. The shock was felt in all parts of the city and district. The seismographic recorder at the meteorological station cannot be touched until Saturday, but the curator says the recorder will show a spasm of unusual violence.

Bannerman Dares Balfour.

London, March 17.—In the House of Commons last night Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Liberal leader, gave notice that he would move the following vote of censure:

"That this House disapproves the conduct of His Majesty's Government in advising the Crown to disallow the ordinance for the introduction of Chinese labor in the Transvaal."

The Rabbits Understood Latin.

Here is a story which is credited to Lord Bacon: A company of scholars going together to catch rabbits had one scholar with them who had not much more wit than he was born with, and him they cautioned to be silent if he saw any rabbits for fear of scaring them. But he saw a company of rabbits before the rest and cried out in Latin, "Behold, many rabbits!" He had no sooner said this than the rabbits ran to their burrows. Being reproved by his companions for it, he answered, "Who the devil would have thought that the rabbits understood Latin?"

"NOT MUCH, NOT MUCH."

One of the Best Stories Told in Britain's Art Circles.

Tit-Bits relates the following: One of the best known R. A.'s has a favorite anecdote—one often told but always good—of which he claims to be the original narrator. Moreover, it is a true one.

An old country couple (so he relates) had strayed into the Manchester Art Gallery, catalogue in hand, and were wandering from room to room looking at the pictures, which were numbered anew—one, two, three, and so on in each division, instead of continuously throughout the whole exhibition. The two old people stopped in awe and admiration before Madox Brown's heroic picture, "The Death of King Lear."

"Wha's this 'un, Jinny?" asked the old man.

"A'll see, Jarge—a'll see, ef ye'll give me a minute."

The old lady hastily turned to the catalogue division of another room, and read off the number corresponding to that of the picture before them. It chanced to be that of Landseer's famous picture of a collie fallen over a cliff, and just reached by the anxious shepherd, who announces the result of his examination of the poor beast's injuries to his comrades on the rocks above. She read off the title of the picture to her husband:

"There's Life in the Old Dog Yet."

Looking compassionately on the picture form of the aged and forsaken King, "Jarge" failed to perceive anything wrong in the name.

"So there is, gal!" he exclaimed, in a burst of pity, adding, with dropped voice and a shake of the head at Lear, "But not much, not much!"

Couldn't Have Done Better.

In Academy and Literature a good story is told of Mr. Whistler in connection with his first official visit to the art school established in Paris as the Whistler Academy. The great man, advancing into the room where the students were working, took his stand, hat and stick in hand, and addressed them, apparently seriously, in a few words expressing the honor he was doing himself and themselves in showing Paris and the world that he, Whistler, was in his school and that they, the students, were also there. Then followed a tour of the room, Mr. Whistler speaking to each student in turn somewhat as follows: "Ah, and where have you studied before?" "At John's." "Ah, you couldn't have done better!" And to the next one, "Ah, and where have you studied before?" "With M. Bouguereau." "Ah, you couldn't have done better!" So Whistler went the rounds, repeating the formula in each case without perceptible alteration in tone. Finally, the question being put to a very young man, the answer almost upset the general gravity. "Ah, and where have you studied before?" "I have never studied before." For just the fraction of a moment Mr. Whistler eyed him curiously and then, with perfect gravity, but with an enthusiastic accent, he said: "Ah, you couldn't have done better!"

You Can Keep the Liver Active

And Ensure the Regular and Healthful Action of the Bowels by Using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The bile is nature's cathartic. So long as the liver filters the bile from the blood and passes it into the intestines, the bowels will be regular and active.

Constipation can never be permanently cured until the liver is set right.

Because they act directly on the liver as well as the bowels Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are wonderfully successful as a cure for constipation and liver troubles.

They rid the system of accumulated poisons, thoroughly cleanse the system and invigorate the organs of digestion and exertion.

No family medicine was ever so universally used by the people of Canada, and none so generally endorsed.

Constipation, biliousness, kidney disease, liver complaint, backache and stomach troubles are among the ailments which are promptly cured by this treatment.

Mr. Jas. H. Harvey, baker, 641 George street, Peterborough, Ontario, states;

"I was troubled very much with constipation and pains in the back. At times the pains were sharp like a stab with a knife and caused me great suffering.

"I heard of many being cured by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and decided to try them. I am pleased to say that they soon helped me and I used them right along until cured. I never have pains in my back now and only occasionally take a pill in order to keep my bowels regular."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 11

Purified by Suffering

BY MARY J. HOLMES,

CHAPTER XVIII.

The last days of June had come, and Wilford was beginning to make arrangements for removing Katy from the city before the warmer weather. To this he had been urged by Mark Ray's remarking that Katy was not looking as well as when he first saw her one year ago. "She has grown thin and pale," he said. "Had Wilford remarked it?"

Wilford had not. She complained much of headache, but that was only natural. Still he wrote to Mountain House that afternoon to secure rooms for himself and wife, and then at an earlier hour than usual went home to tell her of the arrangement. Katy was out shopping, Esther said, and had not yet returned, adding, "There is a note for her up stairs, left by a woman who I guess came for work."

That a woman should come for work was not strange, but that she should leave a note seemed rather too familiar; and when going to the library he saw it upon the table, he took it in his hand and examined the superscription closely, holding it up to the light and forgetting to open it in his perplexity and the train of thought it awakened.

"They are singularly alike," he said, and still holding the note in his hand he opened a drawer of his writing desk, which was always kept locked, and took from it a picture and a bit of soiled paper, on which was written, "I am not guilty, Wilford, and God will never forgive the wrong you have done to me."

There was no name or date, but Wilford knew whose hand had penned those lines, and he sat comparing them with "Mrs. Wilford Cameron," which the strange woman had written. Then opening the note, he read that, having returned to New York and wishing employment either as seamstress or dressmaker, Marian Hazelton had ventured to call upon Mrs. Cameron, remembering her promise to give her work if she should desire it.

"Who is Marian Hazelton?" Wilford asked himself, as he threw down the missive. "Some of Katy's country friends, I dare say. Seems to me I have heard that name. She certainly writes as Genevra did, except that this Hazelton's is more decided and firm. Poor Genevra!"

There was a pallor about Wilford's lips as he said this, and taking up the picture he gazed for a long time upon the handsome, girlish face, whose dark eyes seemed to look reproachfully upon him, just as they must have looked when the words were penned, "God will never forgive the wrong you have done to me."

"Genevra was mistaken," he said. At least if God has not forgiven, he has prospered me, which amounts to the same thing," and without a single throb of gratitude to Him who had thus prospered him, Wilford laid Genevra's picture and Genevra's note back with the withered grass and flowers plucked from Genevra's grave just as Katy's ring was heard and Katy herself came in.

As thoughts of Genevra always made Wilford kinder to his wife, so now he kissed her white cheek, noticing that, as Mark had said, it was whiter than last year in June. But mountain air would bring back the roses, he thought, as he handed her the note.

"Oh, yes, from Marian Hazelton," Katy said, glancing first at the name and then hastily reading it through.

"Who is Marian Hazelton?" Wilford asked, and Katy replied by repeating all she knew of Marian, and how she chanced to know her at all. "Don't you remember Helen wrote that she fainted at our wedding, and I was so sorry, fearing that I might have overworked her?"

Wilford did remember something about it, and then dismissing Marian from his mind, he told Katy of his plan for taking her to the Mountain House a few weeks before going to Saratoga.

"Would you not like it?" he asked, as she continued silent, with her eyes fixed upon the window opposite.

"Yes," at last Katy drew a long weary breath. "I shall like any place where there are birds and rocks, and trees, and real grass, such as grows of itself in the country; but Wilford," and Katy crept close to him now, "if I might go to Silverton, I should get strong so fast! You don't know how I long to see home once more. I dream about it nights and think about it days, knowing just how pleasant it is there, with the roses in bloom and the meadows so fresh and green. May I go, Wilford? May I go home to mother?"

Had Katy asked for half his fortune just as she asked to go home, Wilford would have given it to her, but Silverton had a power to lock all the softer avenues of his heart, and so he answered that the Mountain House was preferable, that the rooms were engaged, and that as he should enjoy it so much better they would make no change.

Katy did not cry, nor utter a word of remonstrance; she was learning that quiet submission was better than useless opposition, and so Silverton was again given up. But there was one consolation. Seeing Marian Hazelton would be almost as good as going home, for had she not recently come from that neighborhood, bringing with her the odor from the hills and freshness from the woods? Perhaps, too, she had lately seen Helen or Morris at church and had heard the music of the organ which Helen played, and the singing of the children just as it sometimes came to Katy in her dreams, making her start in her sleep and murmur snatches of the sacred songs which Dr. Morris had taught. Yes, Marian could tell her of all this, and very impatiently Katy waited for the morning when she started for No.— Fourth Street, with the piles of sewing intended for Marian.

It was a fault of Marian's not to remain long contented in any place. Tiring of the country, she had returned to the city, and thinking she might succeed better alone, had hired a room far up the narrow stairway of a high, sombre-looking building, and then from her old acquaintances, of whom she had several in the city, she had solicited work. More than once she had passed the handsome house on Madison Square where Katy lived, walking slowly, and contrasting it with her one room which was not wholly uninviting, for where Marian went there was always an air of comfort; and Katy, as she crossed the threshold, uttered an exclamation of delight at the cheerful, airy aspect of the apartment, with its bright ingrain carpet, its simple shades of white, its chint-covered lounge, its one rocking-chair, its small parlor stove, and its pots of flowers upon the broad window sill.

"Oh Marian," she exclaimed, tripping across the floor, and impulsively throwing her arms around Miss Hazelton's neck, "I am so glad to meet some one from home. It seems almost like Helen I am kissing," and her lips again met those of Marian Hazelton, amid her joy at finding Katy unchanged, wondered what the Camerons would say to see their Mrs. Wilford kissing a poor seamstress whom they would have spurned.

But Katy did not care for Camerons then, or even think of them, as in her rich basquine and pretty hat, with emeralds and diamonds sparkling on her fingers, she sat down by Marian.

"Tell me of Silverton: you don't know how I want to go there; but Wilford does not think it best, at present. Next fall I am surely going and I picture to myself just how it will look; Morris's garden, full of the autumnal flowers—the ripe peaches in our orchard, the grapes ripening on the wall, and the long shadows on the grass, just as I used to watch them, wondering what made them move so fast, and where they could be going. Will it be unchanged, Marian? Do places seem the same when once we have left them?" and Katy's eager eyes looked wistfully at Marian, who replied, "Not always—not often, in fact; but in your case they may. You have not been long away."

"Only a year," Katy said. "I was as long as that in Canandaigua; but this past year is different. I have seen so much, and lived so much, that I feel ten years older than I did last spring, when you and Helen made my wedding dress. Darling Helen! When did you see her last?"

"I was there five weeks ago," Marian replied; "I saw them all, and told them I was coming to New York."

"Do they miss me any? Do they talk of me? Do they wish me back again?" Katy asked, and Marian replied, "They talked of little else, that is your own family. Dr. Morris, I think, did not mention your name. He has grown very silent and reserved," and Marian's eyes were fixed inquiringly upon Katy, as if to ascertain how much she knew of the cause for Morris's reserve.

But Katy had no suspicion, and only replied, "Perhaps he is vexed that I do not write to him oftener, but I can't. I think of him a great deal, and respect him more than any living man, except, of course, Wilford; but when I try to write, something comes in between me and what I wish to say, for I want to convince him that I am not as frivolous as he thinks I am. I have not forgotten the Sunday school, nor the church service; but in the city it is so hard to be good, and the service and music seem all for show, and I feel so hateful when I see Juno and Wilford's mother putting their heads down on velvet cushions, knowing as I do that they both are thinking either of their own bonnets or those just in front."

"Are you not a little uncharitable?" Marian asked, laughing in spite of herself at the picture Katy drew of fashion trying to imitate religion in its humility.

"Perhaps so," Katy answered. "I grow bad from looking behind the scenes, and the worst is that, I do not care, and then Katy went back again to the farm-house, asking numberless questions and reaching finally the business which had brought her to Marian's room.

There were spots on Marian's neck, and her lips were white, as she grasped the bundles tossed into her lap—the yards and yards of lace and embroidery, linen, and cambric, which she was expected to make for the wife of Wilford Cameron; and her voice was husky as she asked directions or made suggestions of her own.

"It's because she has no such joy in expectation. I should feel so, too, if I were thirty and unmarried," Katy thought, as she notice Marian's agitation, and tried to divert her mind by talking of Europe and the places she had visited.

"By the way, you were born in England? Were you ever at Alnwick?" Katy asked, and Marian replied, "Once, yes. I've seen the castle and the church. Did you go there—to St. Mary's, I mean?"

"Oh, yes, and I was never tired of that old churchyard. Wilford liked it, too, and we wandered by the hour among the sunken graves, and quaint headstones."

"Do you remember any of the names upon the stones? Perhaps I may know them?" Marian asked; but Katy did not remember any, or if she did, it was not "Genevra Lampert, aged 22." And so Marian asked her no more questions concerning Alnwick, but talked instead of London and other places, until three hours went by, and down in the street the coachman chafed and fretted at the long delay, wondering what kept his mistress in that neighborhood so long. Had she friends, or had she come on some errand of mercy? The latter most likely, he concluded, and so his face was not quite so cross when Katy at last appeared, looking at her watch and exclaiming at the lateness of the hour.

Katy was very happy that morning, for seeing Marian had brought Silverton near to her, and airy as a bird she ran up the steps of her own dwelling, where the door opened as by magic, and Wilford himself confronted her, asking, with the tone which always made her heart beat, where she had been, and he waiting for her two whole hours. "Surely it was not necessary to stop so long with a seamstress," he continued when she tried to explain. "Ten minutes would suffice for directions," and he could not imagine what attraction there was in Miss Hazelton to keep her there three hours, and then the real cause of his vexation came out. He had come expressly for the carriage to take her and Sybil Grandon to a picnic up the river, whither his mother, Juno and Bell, had already gone. Mrs. Grandon must wonder why he staid so long and perhaps give up going. Could Katy be ready soon? and Wilford walked rapidly up and down the parlor with a restless motion of his hands which always betokened impatience. Poor Katy! how the brightness of the morning faded, and how averse she felt to joining the picnic, which she knew had been in prospect for some time, and had fancied she should enjoy! But not today, with that look on Wilford's face and the feeling that he was vexed. Still she could think of no reasonable excuse, and so an hour later found her driving into the country with Sybil Grandon, who received her apologies with as much good-natured grace as if she too had not worked herself into a passion at the delay, for Sybil had been very cross and impatient; but all this vanished when she met Wilford and saw that he was disturbed and irritated. Soft, and sweet and smooth was she both in word and manner, so that by the time the grove was reached Wilford's ruffled spirits had been soothed, and he was himself again, ready to enjoy the pleasures of the day as keenly as if no harsh word had been said to Katy, who, silent and unhappy, listened to the graceful badinage between Sybil and her husband, thinking how differently his voice had sounded when addressing her only a little while before.

"Pray put some animation into your face, or Mrs. Grandon will think we have been quarreling," Wilford whispered, as he lifted his wife from the carriage, and with a great effort Katy tried to be gay and natural.

But all the while she was fighting back her tears and wishing she were away. Even Marian's room, looking into the dingy court, was preferable to that place, and she was glad when the long day came to an end, and with a fearful headache she was riding back to the city.

The next morning was dark and rainy; but in spite of the weather Katy found her way to Marian's room, this time taking the — avenue cars, which left her independent as regarded the length of her stay. About Marian there was something more congenial than about her city friends, and day after day found her there, watching while Marian fashioned into shape the beautiful little garments, the sight of which had a strangely quieting influence upon Katy, sobering her down and maturing her more than all the years of her life had done. Those were happy hours spent with Marian Hazelton, and Katy felt it keenly when Wilford at last interferred, telling her she was growing quite too familiar with that sewing woman, and her calls must be discontinued, except, indeed, such as were necessary to the work in progress.

With one great gush of tears, when there was no one to see her, Katy gave Marian up, writing her a note, in which were sundry directions for the work, which would go on even after she had left for the Mountain House, as she intended doing the last of June. And Marian guessed at more than Katy meant she should, and with a bitter sigh laid it in her basket, and then resumed the work, which seemed doubly monotonous now that there was no more listening for the little feet tripping up the stairs, or for the bird-like voice which had brought so much of music and sunshine to her lonely room.

Kidney trouble was the trouble.

Doan's Kidney Pills

Cured Mr. George Graves, Pitts Ferry, Ont., of a very bad case of kidney trouble.

He tells about the cure in the following words: "I cannot recommend Doan's Kidney Pills too highly. I never took anything that did me so much good. I had a severe pain in the small of my back and could scarcely get up or down without help. I could hardly urinate, but when I did the pain was terrible. I was in the Hotel Dieu, Kingston, last winter and when I came out I was some better but not cured. It was then I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised. Since taking them I have been completely cured and have not had any trouble with my kidneys since."

Loading Figures at Gaelic Mod.

The Marquis of Tullibardine, who, with the Marquis of Breadalbane, will be one of the leading figures at the forthcoming Gaelic Mod at Greenock this year, is one of the few members of old Highland families who still retain the Gaelic. He does not lay any claim to fluency in the language, although Gaelic was his first language, and as a child he was compelled to speak it in the family circle. But his English schooling and his subsequent soldiering in Egypt and South Africa have knocked much of the native language out of him, though it has not quenched his Celtic spirit. He can get along quite well with a Gaelic ghillie, and now that he is at home, and is establishing the Scottish Horse, a body which is to be composed of men accustomed to the hills, he has promised to recapture his old ability in the ancient tongue.

Deterioration of British Workmen.

It appears (says The Lancet) that the most probable explanation of the alleged deterioration of the working classes is placed upon a misconception of the facts, and that what we are witnessing may be merely one of the effects of the improved well-being of the people and of the greater attractions offered to the worker by civil employment. If this be so, the recruiting sergeant is really carrying on his work in a lower social stratum in which, by force of circumstances, the proportion of the unfit is greater than was the case when he was appealing largely to a relatively better class. It is, too, conceivable that, although the fact is not recognized, a somewhat higher standard as regards fitness may now quite unconsciously be set, and that perhaps more stress than formerly is being laid upon defective teeth, imperfect vision and the like.

Dog Changes Color.

A Newfoundland puppy nearly all white was chased by a big dog in Brussels and terribly frightened. He had a violent epileptic fit, and in a few hours he was completely changed, black markings have appeared all over his coat, which have become permanent.

Do not play with poison!

It is an established fact that constipated people are far more likely to contract infectious disease—smallpox, typhus fever, scarlet fever, etc., than those who enjoy natural regularity.

Is it wise to run needless risks?

Brewery Purity.

The outward general appearance of a brewery is a true indication of the methods followed within.

Carling's brewery is clean, tidy and always well kept—no cobwebs, murky corners, dusty shelves, tainted malt, sour kegs, etc., to be seen, as in common breweries.

The plant includes a perfect system of cold storage, modern machinery for cleansing bottles and kegs, and a large staff of skilled men devote their entire time to keeping everything spic and span.

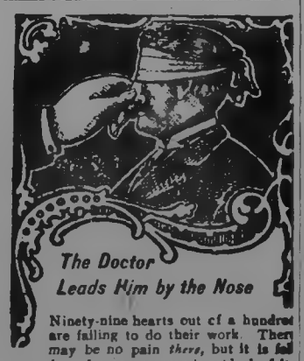
THE FARMER FAILS

In health just as does the city-man, and he fails commonly from the same cause, "stomach trouble." The farm is a wholesome place to live; the farmer's life is a healthy life; but no external advantages can overcome the effects of a diseased stomach. When the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition are diseased, the food eaten is imperfectly digested and assimilated, and the consequent loss of nurtition results in physical debility.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food. It builds up the body with sound flesh and solid muscle.

"I used ten bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and several vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets' a year ago this spring, and have had no trouble with indigestion since," writes Mr. W. T. Thompson, of Townsend, Broadwater Co., Montana. "Words fail to tell how thankful I am for the relief, as I had suffered so much and it seemed that the doctors could do me no good. I got down in weight to one hundred and twenty-five pounds and was not able to work at all. Now I weigh nearly one hundred and sixty and can do a day's work on the farm. I have recommended your medicine to several, and shall always have a good word to say for Dr. Pierce and his medicines."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains; you lose, therefore accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."



The Doctor Leads Him by the Nose

Ninety-nine hearts out of a hundred are failing to do their work. They may be no pain there, but it is fail somewhere for some organ is robbed of its proper need of blood by this insidious heart failure, and distress follows. Common sense says, cure where the trouble and pain begin. Use because it begins at the blood's distributing organ, healing that rapidly and making it strong and able, quickly sends strength and health to every other organ. It is the only way that combines science and sense and relieves and cures.

DR. AGNEW'S HEART CURE,

HENRY AKEY, of Peterboro, Ont., writes: "I suffered with my heart, nerves and general debility. The best doctors said I must die within a month. On my wife's advice I tried DR. AGNEW'S HEART CURE. Relief from the first dose. I am fully cured. Weighed 128 pounds—now 180 pounds."

DR. AGNEW'S OINTMENT will drive Piles away forever. Relief on the instant. Speedily removes all skin blotches and pimples, tetter, salt rheum, etc. Price, 25c.

FEAST OF ST. PATRICK WAS DULY CELEBRATED.

High Mass Celebrated at St. Peter's Cathedral by Rev. Father McColl.

The Feast of St. Patrick was duly observed at St. Peter's Cathedral this morning, when Mass was sung at 7 o'clock, and High Mass at 9 o'clock. The High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father McColl, while Father Francis O'Sullivan of Lindsay, preached the sermon.

The speaker began by expressing his pleasure of having the opportunity of addressing the Irish Catholics of the Parish of Peterborough, and at seeing so many venerable Irish men and women present, who had laid the foundations of the parish. The speaker took for granted that the congregation was conversant with the life of St. Patrick, and dwelt rather on the effects of his mission to Ireland, and pointing out its beneficial results. In conclusion he exhorted his hearers to imitate the example of the great National Saint, whose feast they were celebrating.

COL. BUCHAN ENTERTAINED.

Officers of 57th Reg. Gave Smoker in his Honour.

The officers of the 57th Regiment held an informal dinner last night in honour of Colonel Buchan, C. M. G., A.D.C. The event, which was held in the officers' mess, was a very, pleasant one and was largely attended by the local officers. There were also, present Mayor Roger, Lt.-Col. H. C. Rogers, Lt.-Col. E. B. Edwards, and Messrs. T. A. S. Hay, W. H. Hill and J. H. McClellan.

Many patriotic speeches were made, the chief subject naturally being the Volunteer Service. Col. Buchan spoke at some length on Peterborough as a point of mobilization in case a force had to be organized to fight in the Dominion. He dwelt on the absolute necessity of being prepared for any emergency which might arise and also spoke briefly concerning the new armouries which the Government intended to erect here. He hinted that their size would depend on the site which the town could offer—the better the site the bigger the armouries.

The evening was brought to a close with the National Anthem.

TOLEDO BLADES.

Those of Modern Make Not Comparable With the Ancient Ones.

Toledo blades are still made in the government weapon factory, but those of modern production do not compare with the ancient work. It seems to be a lost art. The genuine Toledo blades, made by the Moors, were so elastic and tough that they could be curled up like a watch spring. You can see them in the armory at Madrid, but only ordinary swords and bayonets for the army are made there today. The secret seems to have been forgotten. The steel came from England. It is the same as is used for ordinary purposes, and, as in Japan, where the art reached an equal degree of superiority, the difference in the product lay in the skill of the armorer and the process he used.

In the secondhand shops of Toledo and of the bric-a-brac dealers you can buy old swords for reasonable prices, but genuine ones, made before the sixteenth century, when the best were produced and the art began to decline, are very rare and are promptly picked up by connoisseurs whenever they are offered. The names of the old makers are as well known as those of the painters of great pictures, and a sword made by Nicholas or Dune or Don Isio or Correntes in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries is worth several times its weight in gold.

Each armorer of Toledo in ancient times, as in Japan, had his cipher, which is to be found on his blades, and there was as much rivalry among them as there is today among the opera singers. Julian del Rei, the most famous of the Moorish swordmakers, always cut the figure of a dog on the blades of his swords near the hilt, and Morrillo, who was also famous, used a wolf for his cont of arms. The swordmakers of Toledo had a guild for mu tual protection, but they worked separately. Each had his own secrets for refining and tempering steel, which he concealed from his rivals, but transmitted to his children, who inherited the business.

One of Barrie's Letters.

A correspondent writes to The London Chronicle: "You had in your paper a reference to the 'to-be-lost calligraphy' of Mr. J. M. Barrie. That just describes it. I have had several letters from Mr. Barrie, some of which I have been able to read. I remember that once I was at a Scotch gathering, the chairman of which intimated that he had received a letter from Mr. Barrie, apologizing for his absence, and that he would now read it. He never did. As a matter of fact, the letter had been got by the chairman just as he was leaving home. He had glanced at the signature, and gathered that the communication would be a reply to an invitation that he had sent to Mr. Barrie to be present at the meeting. On the platform he was unable to decipher more than the words "Dear Mr. So-and-so" and "yours truly, J. M. Barrie." He passed the letter to the reporters, one of whom had it yet.

Orangemen in Session.

Kingston, March 17.—Grand Master Monroe of Cornwall presided at the Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East yesterday, which is holding its forty-ninth annual meeting here. His address referred to Kingston as the "Derry of Canada," and paid a tribute to the bravery of Kingstonians on the field of battle, specifying Capt. Carruthers. He urged the appointment of a paid, organizer, under the control of each provincial grand lodge.

Well Again.

The many friends of John Blount will be pleased to learn that he has entirely recovered from his attack of rheumatism. Chamberlain's Pain Balm cured him after the best doctors in the town, (Monon, Ind.) had failed to give relief. The prompt relief from pain which this liniment affords is alone worth many times its cost. Sold by all druggists.

Give Space to C nada.

London, March 16.—(C.A.P.)—J. G. Colmer, reading Notes on Some Canadian Questions to-day at the Colonial Institute, urged the British papers to devote more space to Canadian affairs. J. M. Courtney said the belief that the future of Canada depended on the United States was as extinct as the buffalo.

Comfort for the Aged.

ENDURANCE OF THE JAPANESE TROOPS.

Wonderful Marches Made Despite the Severe Weather.

RETREAT FROM YALU RIVER.

Reported Movement of the Russian Army — Russian Fleet at Port Arthur—Rumours as to its Whereabouts Now Settled—Choo Foo Story Says Another Torpedo Boat Destroyer Has Been Sunk.

London, March 18.—The correspondent of The Daily Mail at Che Foo, who has just visited Chinampo, Corea, says:

"On the way to Chemulpo we passed a constant succession of Japanese transports. Three thousand Japanese landed at Chemulpo at the end of last week."

The correspondent adds that the Russians are retreating across the Yalu River before the advance of the Japanese outposts, and that their force in this district numbers 20,000.

The Daily Mail's Wei-Hai-Wei correspondent learns that Viscount Aoke, formerly Japanese Minister to Germany, is going to Seoul to establish practically a Japanese Administration of Corea.

Under date of March 17, the Che Foo correspondent of The Standard reports that provision trains are arriving hourly at Port Arthur, the railway being intact.

The Russian Fleet.

The Daily Telegraph's Tokio correspondent, cabling March 17, asserts that the Russian fleet has returned to Port Arthur. If this is correct, the correspondent adds, it is evident from Rear-Admiral Baron Von Stackleburg's report that the Russian cruisers which left Vladivostock returned to that port without an attempt having been made to unite the fleets, or if an attempt was made it was unsuccessful.

The Che Foo correspondent of The Paris edition of The New York Herald, cabling under yesterday's date, asserts that a portion of the Russian fleet made several cruises within a radius of 50 miles of Port Arthur without finding any trace of the enemy.

London papers also have vague rumors of alleged movements of the opposing forces in the vicinity of the Yalu River.

It is stated that the Russians are again negotiating for the purchase of Welsh coal, and it is reported from Hamburg that Russia is trying to place contracts with German shipyards for several new torpedo boat destroyers to be delivered this year.

According to a despatch from Antwerp to The Daily Telegraph, Russia has acquired twenty large Antwerp transport steamers and has insured each of them for $250,000.

A Tokio correspondent of The Times says that the Russian and the Japanese scouts are now separated only by the River Chengcheng, just north of Anju. The despatch adds that the foreign correspondents will leave for the front either on March 20 or 23, but their destination is still unknown.

Japs Now Hold Anju.

A Times' correspondent at Wei-Hai-Wei, cabling under yesterday's date, says: "I arrived at Pingyang Inlet March 15, and proceeded to Chinampo. Navigation was difficult, owing to the drift ice. I found anchored there both war vessels and transports. Disembarkation has been difficult, but the Japanese have brought all necessary appliances. Pontoon jetties have been built and extend for hundreds of yards, and the transports brought their own landing barges."

The correspondent describes the landing movements and the disposal of the forces with some detail, and says: "Despite the terrible weather the infantry marched 25 miles daily, each man carrying nearly 100 pounds. It was a severe test, but they did well. Covered by this force, a larger force is now disembarking within easier distance of the Japanese objective, while preparations are reported to be proceeding at the only practicable port on the east coast of Corea. The Japanese are now holding Anju and the line of the Chengcheng River. The actual land front points to a further retirement of the Russian forces.

"Despite their command of the sea the Japanese omit no precaution. It would be unfair to the Japanese to give the numbers and designation of their forces, but landings were made long enough ago to permit a general reference to them without prejudice to the operations. The weather generally is improving."

Russian Torpedo Boat Sunk.

Che Foo, March 18.—While entering Port Arthur Wednesday, the 16th inst., the Russian torpedo boat destroyer Shorri struck upon an unplaced mine and was blown up. Four of the crew were saved.

Tientsin, March 18.—Lloyd's agent wires: "Port Arthur will be open between March 15 to 30, and steamers have been chartered for spring shipments."

Liaoyang, Manchuria, March 18.—Troops are still concentrating here and are forming guerilla detachments.

Omak, Siberia, March 18.—The troops passing through this town are well supplied with warm clothing. The Cosacks supplied their own.

Che Foo, March 18.—Warnings have been received here confirming previous reports to the effect that the Russians have laid mines along the Liaotung Peninsula.

Seoul, March 18.—Marquis Ito arrived at Chemulpo yesterday. He was greeted by a delegation of high Corean officials.

Che Foo, March 18.—A letter from Port Arthur says that the garrison there consists of 2,500 men.

St. Petersburg, March 18.—The first headquarters of the Manchurian army after General Kuropatkin's arrival will be at Liaoyang.

Tokio, March 18.—Gen. S. P. Hamilton of the British army in India, arrived here yesterday. He will accompany the Japanese forces as a military observer.

An Important Question.

London, March 18.—Answering a question in the House of Commons yesterday regarding the movements of the Russian armored cruiser Dmitri Bonskoi in the Mediterranean, her searching merchant vessels, etc., after repairing at Suez, and as to what steps His Majesty's Government proposed to take to stop these operations, Premier Balfour, while admitting the great importance of the question, said he must have time to inquire into the facts before he would be able to give a complete answer.

Canadian Missionaries All Right.

Ottawa, March 18.—Lord Strathcona has cabled as follows to the Secretary of State: "Admiralty received telegram from Commander-in-Chief, China station, reporting His Majesty's ship Phoenix arrived at Gensan with Canadian missionaries from Songchin, who did not require further passage."

IRELAND, A NATION.

John Redmond Urges Voters to Put Home Rule Above Everything Else.

London, March 18.—A banquet was held at the Hotel Cecil last night, presided over by John Redmond, the Irish leader, and attended by the members of the Nationalist party in the House of Commons and prominent Irishmen in London.

John Redmond, proposing the toast of "Ireland, a Nation," said that the opportunity for which they had waited for so many long and weary years had almost arrived—the opportunity for Ireland to be the deciding factor in the making or unmaking of the Government of Great Britain. The coming general election would witness the defeat of the Unionist Government.

Mr. Redmond urged the Irish voters in Great Britain at the next election to put the question of home rule above everything else. He said that the future depended upon the power and unity of the Irish party in Parliament.

A SAD FATALITY.

Sergt. Mitchell and Wife of Toronto Die From Effect of Burns.

Toronto, March 18.—One of the saddest fatalities that has happened in Toronto in a long time occurred yesterday. Patrol Sergeant Samuel Mitchell of the police force and his wife are both dead from injuries received from fire.

About 10 o'clock yesterday morning, while Mrs. Mitchell was attending to the furnace, her clothing caught fire. Her screams awoke her husband, who had a short time before come off duty. He rushed to the basement and in his endeavors to save his wife was badly burned. Both were taken to the General Hospital. Mrs. Mitchell died at 2 p. m. and the husband at midnight.

Bodies Badly Stabbed.

Urumiyah, Persia, March 18.—An investigation of the death of the Rev. Dr. Benj. Labaree, the American missionary, announced from here, March 11, shows that Dr. Labaree, whose son is superintendent of the American missions, was returning from Koia to Urumiyah on horseback, accompanied by a servant, when both were found dead by the roadside. Their bodies had been stripped and mutilated and had numerous stabs.

Stead's Permit Cancelled.

Cape Town, March 18.—Lord Milner, Lord High Commissioner in South Africa, has cancelled the permit granted to W. T. Stead, the well known English writer, to travel in South Africa, owing to the character of the speeches recently delivered by Mr. Stead.

Student Disorders.

Vienna, March 17.—The palaces of Emperor Francis Joseph and Archduke Clothilde at Budapest were stoned by a mob of students and workmen because the buildings were not decorated in honor of the anniversary of the revolution of 1848.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

Ontario Assembly Bright With Green Favors—Legislators Did a Good Day's Work in Committee of the Whole.

Toronto, March 18.—Shamrocks were worn yesterday in honor of St. Patrick's Day by members on both sides of the Legislature, and there was no evening session.

The new Taxation Bill was considered in committee, but none of the contentious clauses were touched.

In committee, Hon. Mr. Latchford's resolution re the Temiskaming Railway loan was passed.

In committee, Hon. Mr. Stratton amended his House of Refuge Bill by limiting the amount of debentures for a site to $40,000 instead of $50,000.

Sveral other bills were also considered in committee.

The Attorney-General moved for the suspension of the rules to receive a petition from F. H. Clergue and others composing the Kaministiqua Company asking for incorporation.

Third Readings.

The following bills were read a third time: To consolidate the debt of the town of Trenton (Morrison); to incorporate the Brantford and Erie Railway Company (Little, of Norfolk); respecting the town of Orillia (Tudhope); to incorporate the Windsor and Tecumseh Electric Railway Company (Lee); respecting the town of Collingwood (Duff); respecting the Canadian Casualty and Boiler Insurance Company (Graham).

A PROPER SETTLEMENT.

France Let Go Her Rights to Shores of Newfoundland.

Paris, March 18.—It is asserted positively in authoritative quarters that the agreement between France and Great Britain concerning Newfoundland has been concluded. The officials say the negotiations relative to Morocco, Egypt and Siam are progressing in such a satisfactory manner as to promise early conclusions similar to those in the case of Newfoundland. The differences over Newfoundland are of long standing.

Died in 100th Year.

Bowmanville, March 18.—Mrs. Eliza Werry, one of the oldest residents of Durham County, is dead, at her home near Solina, about eight miles northwest of this town, in her 100th year. Deceased was born in Cornwall, England, in 1805, and with her late husband, who died in 1880, came to Canada in 1824, settling on the farm where she died. She was the mother of eleven children, six of whom survive her, besides sixty-three grand-children and over seventy great grandchildren.

Arrested and Shot.

Vienna, March 16.—Captain Leontieff of the Russian general staff was arrested and shot at Warsaw for having sold to a foreign power a list of the secret agents maintained by the Russian general staff in the frontier districts of Russia's western neighbor.

Breach of Promise Suit.

Hamilton, March 18.—Miss Gauley has instructed Washington & Beasley to issue a writ for $10,000 damages against James Salmon, Reeve of Binbrook, for alleged breach of promise, unless he consents to accompany her to the altar by next Saturday. The Reeve, who is 55 years of age, is between two fires. It is said that he really wants to marry the girl, but was talked out of it by his sisters.

Sealers Tied Up.

Halifax, N. S., March 18.—A special from Meat Cove, C. B., reports three sealers in the ice at St. Paul's Island, one being in a critical condition. Names not obtainable.

Fixed For March 21.

London, March 18.—Replying to the Liberal leader in the House Mr. Balfour fixed March 21 for the debate on the vote of censure.

DEATH OF 'OLD DUKE'

Commander-in-Chief of 40 Years Passes Away Peacefully.

COUSIN OF QUEEN VICTORIA

Duke of Cambridge Served in the British Army For Many Years—A Career That Was Varied in the Character of Its Incidents—Soldier of the Crimea—His Happy Marriage.

London, March 18.—The Duke of Cambridge died peacefully at Gloucester House at 10.35 yesterday morning. The aged Duke has been confined to his house for some weeks, but until compelled to take to his bed he was about with his accustomed activity, being, as was his custom, a constant attendant at functions of a national or charitable character.

King Edward and Queen Alexandra were constant visitors to the sick room, and yesterday afternoon visited Gloucester House and tendered personal condolences.

The title of Duke of Cambridge died with the late Duke, his sons being born of a morganatic marriage, and his death also places at the disposal of the King a field marshal's baton, as well as an Order of the Garter.

It is expected that the remains of the Duke will be buried at Kew. A imposing military display will be made at the funeral.

His Career.

H. R. H. George William Frederick Charles, second Duke of Cambridge, Earl of Tipperary and Baron of Culloden, a Prince of the United Kingdom, Duke of Brunswick-Luneburg, K.G., K.T., K.P., etc., was born at Hanover on March 26, 1819. He was the son of H. R. H. Adolphus Frederic, tenth child and seventh son of King George III., and sixth brother of the Duke of Kent, the father of the late Queen Victoria. Her late Majesty and the first deceased Duke of Cambridge were thus first cousins.

In 1837 the Duke became a colonel in the British Army, and succeeded his father, the first Duke of Cambridge, in 1850. Before his succession he married morganatically, Miss Louisa Fairbrother, a burlesque actress, who died in 1890, by whom he had two sons, Rear-Admiral Adolphus Frederick Fitzgeorge, born in 1836, and Col. Augustus Charles Fitzgeorge, born in 1847. A morganatic marriage is a German institution, not specifically recognized in Great Britain, and is expressly entered into as such on account of the lower rank of the wife; it is lawful wedlock and renders the children legitimate, but excludes both them and their mother from any claim to the father's rank or inheritable property. In the case of the late Duke his marriage was a happy one, and his wife stood on terms of intimacy with and was highly respected by the late Queen.

In the Crimea.

In 1854 the Duke was raised to the rank of major-general on his appointment to command the two brigades of Highlanders and Guards, united to form the first division of the army despatched to the Crimea, and served at the battles of Alma, Balaklava and Inkerman, and at the siege of Sebastopol, for which he received the medal with four clasps and the Turkish medal. Made a general in 1856, he virtually acted as commander-in-chief of the British Army, an appointment formally sanctioned at a later date and subsequently perpetuated by letters patent in 1887. That position he held till 1895, when it came to an end with the scheme of army reform put in force in that year.

The loss by fire of Knox church, Guelph, amounts to $10,000

CHILD'S PLAY.

Children with whiskers, is what the Opposition in the Ontario Legislature are in their childish ways of dealing with public questions. With an ingenuousness worthy of childhood, they cannot conceal their anxiety for office. They have been waiting for office for a generation, vainly waiting till the people should send them a majority to the legislature. Hope deferred has made them desperate, and now they fain would have the treasury benches suffer violence and be taken. We have from time to time puerile clamours for the resignation of the Government, and on the most absurd grounds. The Government should resign because the member for Manitoulin brought charges against the Government, which were not only not proved, but actually disproved. A bye-election or two went against the Government and left them with a narrow majority, but still a majority, and therefore the Government should resign, and permit the Opposition to carry on the government of the province without a majority. Then the absurd claim was made that the Government had a popular majority against them, and they should resign. Hon. Mr. Ross showed that this alleged popular majority, which, even if it existed, could not prevail against the Government's majority in the House, was made up largely by reason of the padded voters' lists of the City of Toronto. But, perhaps, the most absurd reason that the Government should resign, was urged by Mr. Murphy of Ottawa, who declared that Hon. Mr. Latchford should, as Commissioner of Public Works, have built the Temiscamingue Railway, and that turning it over to a Railway Commission, was an insult to that gentleman, and that, therefore, he should "resign." Eternally harping on resign. Eternally breaking the tenth commandment, by coveting the places which belong to the present members of the Government, by virtue of a parliamentary majority. It looks like child's play — begging a bite of the apple of office. When the Opposition have a majority in the Legislature, if that day should ever come, the Government will bow to the requirements of constitutional usage, and resign their places, but not while they have a working majority in the House.

GRAIN TRANSPORTATION BY CANADIAN ROUTES.

The United States government has published a brochure written by U. S. Consul A. W. Edwards, of Montreal, relating to American exports of grain through Canadian routes.

The removal of the tolls on the Canadian canals, says Mr. Edwards, has resulted in a heavy movement of grain over the Canadian lake route and thence down the St. Lawrence, as the exporters can now handle corn for 3 cents less a bushel than by the part-lake and part-rail route to Boston.

The Montreal Board of Trade reports up to August show that during the year 1903, 9,000,000 bushels of wheat and 4,500,000 bushels of corn have passed through the port of Montreal, as against a little more than 1,000,000 bushels of wheat and 4,000,000 bushels of corn shipped from Boston.

The matter has drawn attention to the channels in which Canadian grain at present moves to the seaboard. A striking fact is the importance of the Canada Atlantic route, from Depot Harbour. From a pamphlet compiled by the Northwestern Miller, the information is gleaned that last year there was shipped from the two Canadian Lake Superior ports, Fort William and Port Arthur 35,625,798 bushels of grain. Of this total 13,500,654 bushels, 38 per cent. was shipped to Buffalo and Port Huron, the balance—62 per cent.—going to Canadian ports, as follows:

	Bushels.
Owen Sound	1,508,160
Midland	8,316,972
Depot Harbour	3,315,760
Point Edward	192,904
Meaford	972,684
Goderich	2,759,484
Kingston	4,945,176
Total	22,051,140

The following is the grain drawn from Duluth to Canadian ports:

	Bushels.
Owen Sound	102,000
Midland	1,633,000
Depot Harbour	3,591,000
Meaford	1,065,000
Quebec	574,000
Goderich	100,000
Kingston	56,000
Port Sarnia	19,000
Total	7,142,000

In addition there was also handled 813,000 bushels of flaxseed.

Chicago shipped extensively to Canadian ports as follows:

	Bushels.
Montreal	354,000
Depot Harbour	4,691,000
Port Sarnia	2,349,000
Midland	3,707,000
Collingwood	2,366,000
Meaford	186,000
Goderich	271,000
Other Canadian ports	81,000
Total	13,985,000

Altogether these two United States ports (Duluth and Chicago) shipped to Canadian ports 21,129,0 bushels of grain, as compared w 13,500,654 bushels shipped from the two Canadian ports (Port Arthur and Fort William) to American ports. In other words almost 20 per cent. of the grain crop of the United States shipped by water from these two leading American inland ports passed through Canadian waterways. The points shipped directly to are of interest. They were:

	Bushels.
Midland	13,736,972
Depot Harbour	11,797,760
Kingston	5,043,176
Goderich	3,130,484
Port Sarnia	2,368,000
Collingwood	2,366,000
Meaford	2,223,684
Owen Sound	1,410,160
Quebec	574,000
Montreal	254,000
Point Edward	192,904
Other Canadian ports	81,000
Total	43,171,140

These figures show that 48 per cent. of the grain making use of the Canadian transportation routes was grown in the United States.

Those people in England who are talking of how the United States could shut out Canadian grain from United States ports might take note of the foregoing facts.—Ottawa Journal.

If the Trent Waterway were completed the quantity of American grain going to the seaboard through Canadian territory would be largely increased.

IS IT CURABLE?

A Question Often Asked by Those Afflicted With Piles.

Is a strained joint curable? Is local inflammation curable? Of course, if properly treated. So is piles.

People often become afflicted with piles and ask some old "chronic" who has always persisted in the wrong treatment, and naturally he discourages them by telling them that their case is hopeless.

They in turn discourage others, and thus a disease that can in every case be cured by careful and skillful handling is allowed to sap the energy of thousands who might free themselves of the trouble in a few days.

Pyramid Pile Cure will cure the most aggravated case of hemorrhoids in an astonishingly short time. It relieves the congested parts, reduces the tumors instantly no matter how large, allays the inflammation and stops the aching or itching at once.

Thousands who had resorted to expensive surgical treatment have been cured by the Pyramid Pile Cure—in a number of instances persons who had spent months in a hospital under a pile specialist.

It is a remedy that none need fear to apply even to the most aggravated, swollen and inflammed hemorrhoidal tumors.

If you are afflicted with this stubborn disease you can master it and master it quickly.

This remedy is no longer an experiment, but a medical certainty, and is sold by druggists everywhere for fifty cents a package.

Write Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., for their free book on the cause and cure of piles.

Half a Million to University.

London, March 18.—Sir Donald Currie has donated $500,000 to the University College and London University. It is intended with this sum to build a school of advanced medicine and it will also enable the university to incorporate the college in its system.

Canal Lighted By Electricity.

Ottawa, March 17.—It has been determined not only to light the Welland Canal by electricity instead of gas, but by the same motive power to operate the gates, valves, bridges and sluiceways of the canal.

WORKING GIRLS

A Cordial Invitation to Every Sick and Ailing Working Girl.

It is to these girls that Mrs. Pinkham holds out a helping hand and extends a cordial invitation to correspond with her. Her long record of success in treating woman's ills makes her letters of advice of untold value to every ailing working girl, and from her wide experience and skill she quickly points the way to health. Her advice is free, and all letters are held by her in the strictest confidence. Address, Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. Don't put off writing her until your health is wrecked.

Girls who work are particularly susceptible to female ills, especially when obliged to stand on their feet from morning until night. Day in and day out, month in and month out, the year through, the working girl toils; she is often the bread winner of the family, and must work that others may live; whether she is sick or well, whether it rains or shines, whether it is warm or cold she must get to her place of employment and perform the duties exacted from her.

Among this class the symptoms of female diseases are early manifest by weak and aching backs, pain in the lower limbs and lower part of the stomach; in consequence of frequent wetting of the feet monthly periods become painful and irregular, and frequently there are faint and dizzy spells, with loss of appetite, until life is a burden and it is hard work to drag along. All these symptoms point to a derangement of the female organism, and if taken in time can be easily and permanently cured.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Grateful Words from Working Girls Who Have Been Helped.

"I wish to thank you for the wonderful cure you have discovered for suffering girls. I am a working girl and do not believe there is a girl of my age in the country who has suffered more than I have with female disorders.

"Although ever so many physicians with their various remedies were tried, nothing seemed to relieve me of the terrible pains, and it seemed as though there was no help for me, until I was finally persuaded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"It worked like magic, for I had scarcely finished the second bottle when a great change was noticed in my whole general health, and in the three months time I felt like a new person."—Miss M. E. Paulson, 914 Willow Ave., Hoboken, N.J.

"Seeing so many women and girls being helped by your medicine I thought I would try it. I was very irregular in regard to menstruation, and had had no menses for four months.

"I obtained a bottle of your medicine just to see if I could cure myself without going to a doctor. One bottle gave me great relief, and now I am a different girl altogether.

"I will never be without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as I know I would not be working to-day if I had not used your medicine."—Miss Laura Risse, Standard Tea and Grocery Co., 766 Mass. Ave., Indianapolis, Ind.

CONSERVATIVE TRIBUTE TO CANADIAN PROSPERITY

How Dominion Interests Thrive Under Liberal Rule.

Set Forth by President Ellis. Toronto Board of Trade.

The annual address of President J. F. Ellis, of the Board of Trade makes a congratulatory reference to the prosperous conditions enjoyed by the city and by the Dominion at large. In a general review of business conditions the trade statistics of the last fiscal year are cited, with special emphasis on the record of expansion. An aggregate trade of $167,0644,685, made up of $241,214,961 imports and $225,819,724 exports, is the climax of a continuous series of increases. The aggregate for the year is more than double that of eleven years ago, and is $28,944,803 greater than the formerly unsurpassed record for the previous year. These figures have frequently been published, but while they indicate a condition of such general prosperity a repetition is certainly welcome, especially to an organization of business men and manufacturers. An interesting retrospect of the Dominion's exports of manufactured goods shows that a total value of $2,000,000 in 1868 grew to $9,000,000 in 1896, and $20,000,0000 last year. Another evidence of prosperity cited was the record of failures, the total for the year being 976, the lowest aggregate during the past ten years. The total liabilities amounted to about seven and a half millions, or over three and a quarter millions less than for the previous year. These and many other records cited merely substantiate the evidence of prosperity that must be patent to all business men.

President Ellis took a most hopeful view of the Grand Trunk Pacific project, and endorsed the broad policy of a second transcontinental line. He regarded it as certain to prove of inestimable value in developing and settling the fertile lands of northern Ontario and the west. While the Dominion as a whole will benefit largely by the construction of this line, it will be specially advantageous to Ontario, and particularly to Toronto. The settlement of western land was among the important lines of development reviewed in the address. While last year made a new record, there is abundant evidence that the present year will see a far more rapid advancement. The rush has already commenced, and a few weeks ago 2,000 immigrants landed in Halifax on their way to the Canadian west. Many of these will settle in New Ontario. Last year there were 9,377,561 acres of land acquired for settlement in the west, while the total arrivals of immigrants were 128,364, of whom 41,793 were from the British Isles and 49,173 from the United States. The many evidences of prosperity tersely reviewed are specially satisfactory as a proof that Canadian development does not depend on outside influences. We take no pleasure in the fact that our neighbours to the south are passing through a period of depression. But it is certainly fortunate that our own commerce and industry can prosper in spite of such adverse influences.

THEY KNOW IT.

Thousands of people throughout the country know that the ordinary remedies for piles—ointments, suppositories and appliances — will not cure.

The best of them only bring passing relief.

Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid is a tablet taken internally that removes the cause of Piles, hence, the cure is permanent. Every package sold carries a guarantee with it.

It is perfectly harmless to the most delicate constitution. A month's treatment in each package. Sold at $1.00.

Further information in regard to it at the drug store of James Lynch, 168 Hunter street. 5

NEW MILITIA BILL

Measure Introduced in Commons by Sir Fred Borden.

GIVES BETTER PAY ALL ROUND

Strength of Permanent Force to Be Doubled—Disabilities on Canadian Officers Removed—May Take General Command—Training of Cadet Corps An Important Feature —Mr. Bourassa and the Flag.

Ottawa, March 18.—The new militia bill, introduced by Sir Frederick Borden yesterday, was received with marks of approbation by members on both sides of the House. The features of the measure which are of most general interest are the provisions for increased pay to the rank and file of the active militia and the permanent force, and for the augmentation of the latter to double the strength authorized at present. The general enrollment, drill, training and equipment of the cadet corps in connection with the schools, the senior corps being attached to the local corps of the active militia, and arms and ammunition being furnished, together with rifle practice under proper supervision, is somewhat in the nature of an innovation in Canada. While no reference is made in the bill to a naval militia, the Minister intimated that this branch of the national defence will be provided for in a measure to be introduced by the Minister of Marine. The measure removes the restriction which has hitherto prevented the appointment of an officer of the Canadian service to the general command of the active militia, and also the discrimination, which has been the source of much heartburning, whereby officers of the Imperial service outranked their seniors of the same rank on the Canadian list. Another important change which the new bill makes is that the militia cannot be called out to quell riots except when the permanent force is not available or is insufficient for the purpose. Colonel Sam Hughes urged the Minister to go still further and relieve the militia altogether from liability to be called out for such purposes.

Having Wednesday broken the record by laying on the table no less than eighteen departmental reports and returns, the Government followed it up yesterday by bringing down several other reports and returns.

The Grain Movement.

A number of questions were asked by members and replied to by Ministers. Hon. Mr. Paterson informed Mr. Bennett that the receipts of grain direct from the upper lakes at Quebec during the season of navigation were 511,000 bushels by vessels and 813,199 by rail; 2,376,000 bushels were shipped from Port Arthur and 5,527,162 bushels from Fort William to Buffalo; 1,002,358 bushels went direct to Montreal by vessel without bulk being broken, and receipts of grain at ports during the season of navigation, 1903, were as follows: Midland, 13,545,000; Deport Harbor, 14,765,000; Collingwood, 1,605,000; Meaford, 4,004,000; Owen Sound, 3,248,000; Goderich, 3,289,195, and Kingston, 7,791,000.

Hon. Mr. Emmerson, in reply to Mr. Roche, stated that the surveys now being made west of Winnipeg are being made under the direction of the G.T.R., but the line has not been approved by the Government, and until it is finally approved no statement of the location can be made.

The National Flag.

Mr. Bourassa said he noticed that the red ensign which had always floated over the Parliament buildings had disappeared, and that the flag raised on opening day and also that raised to-day in honor of St. Patrick was the Union Jack. He asked why the change had been made.

The notice was not on the order paper, and the Premier replied that he was sorry he could not to-day satisfy Mr. Bourassa's, he thought, rather fastidious curiosity. He promised to make inquiry and give the desired information next day.

Hon. Jas. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works, who had just entered the Chamber, volunteered the desired information. He said the flag which had formerly floated over the building was the merchant marine flag, and not the national flag or the Canadian flag in any sense. The national flag for Canada, as he understood it, was the Union Jack. Many complaints had been received at the Public Works Department on previous occasions that the flag floating over the House of Parliament was not the flag authorized for the purpose. When buying a new flag the department had purcahsed the flag authorized for that purpose all over the world.

A number of motions calling for papers were allowed to pass and the House adjourned at 4.40 o'clock.

VICTORY FOR LIBERALS.

Capture the Parliamentary Division of East Dorset By 82 Votes.

London, March 18.—The polling Wednesday for a candidate to fill the vacancy in the Parliamentary division of East Dorset caused by the accession of Hon. Humphrey N. Sturt to the peerage on the death of his father, Lord Alington, resulted in a victory for the Liberals, C. H. Lyell, the Liberal candidate, defeating Mr. Van Raalte, the candidate of the Conservatives, by 82 votes. At the general election of 1900 Mr. Sturt defeated A. Allen (Liberal), by 96 votes, while at the previous general election in 1895 Mr. Sturt was returned unopposed.

Thamer Committed For Trial.

Berlin, March 18.—The adjourned Thamer case came up before Police Magistrate Weir at 11 o'clock yesterday and Thamer was committed for trial on each of the two Ayr charges. There were two other charges laid by Chas. J. Fox, manager of the Western Bank, New Hamburg. The first alleged forgery and utterance took place May 14, 1901. The note was made payable to the Western Bank ten days after date, and was for $1,582, Jesse Clemen's name was signed to this note, along with Thamer's. The other note, also alleged to be a forgery, was uttered at the Western Bank, New Hamburg, Nov. 28, 1900. It was a six months' note for $1,770.

Train Leaves Tracks.

Galt, March 18.—The C.P.R. main line was closed up yesterday owing to an accident that took place near Schaw shortly after midnight Wednesday night. A freight train passed through Galt and when reaching Schaw was derailed. Twelve cars in all left the rails and of these ten are badly damaged. All the cars were loaded. It was not until the afternoon that the debris had been lifted clear of the tracks. Traffic was completely blocked.

Fear Absorption.

New Orleans, March 18.—An alliance has been formed by Brazil, Ecuador, Argentina, Chile and Bolivia, to guard against absorption by the United States. The belief prevails throughout Brazil and Argentina that in the event of a revolution in either republic President Roosevelt will intervene and recognize the revolutionists, thus paving the way for the annexation.

Want Pledge Enforced.

Hamilton, March 18.—This resolution was adopted by the Royal Templars yesterday afternoon.

"This Dominion Council respectfully claim at the hands of the Ontario Government the fulfilment of its pledge to legislate to the full of provincial powers in the direction of the prohibition and sale of intoxicating liquors as beverages."

Armours Made Millions.

Chicago, March 18.—With the closing out of a line of 20,000,000 bushels of May wheat on Tuesday the Armour people brought to a close the most remarkable wheat deal on record. Four million dollars—a million for each month the deal was pending—is the lowest estimate made of the profits that accrued to the big packer and his lieutenants. Several careful calculators believe $7,000,000 was added to the assets of the bulls.

Stratford's Radial Road.

Stratford, March 18.—An agreement has been signed by the Radial Railway Committee of the City Council and H. M. Sloan of Chicago, whereby work will be commenced on an electric railway connecting Stratford, Mitchell and St. Mary's by July 1. The road is to be finished by Dec. 1.

"Poor Health"

Is the worst kind of poverty. However rich a woman may be, if her health is "poor" she is poor indeed. She has no appetite for food and the choicest dishes cannot tempt her. She turns and tosses through a restless night on a couch which might woo an empress to slumber. She has no strength for household cares, no delight in social pleasure. She sits "pined up in a glistering grief wearing a golden sorrow." She is a wife and mother. But she has no happiness in either relation. She knows her husband's life is set in tune and time to the minor music of her own misery. If her child laughs or cries her nerves quiver with pain.

Ask such a woman if she would like to be well; to be her husband's comrade, her child's playmate. Could there be but one answer?

Such a woman can get well if she will. All her symptoms indicate a diseased condition of the delicate womanly organism. Cure that condition and the woman will be lifted up to the full enjoyment of health.

In ninety-eight cases out of every hundred Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will cure womanly diseases, will restore the womanly health. It has cured tens of thousands of women many of whom had been given up by physicians and friends. It is essentially a medicine for woman's ills. It dries enfeebling drains. It heals inflammation and ulceration. It cures female weakness and bearing down pains. It tranquilizes the nerves, restores the appetite and gives refreshing sleep.

"Favorite Prescription" differs from almost all other medicines put up for woman's use in that it contains no alcohol and is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics. It is in the truest sense of the term a temperance medicine.

A Constant Sufferer.

"I had been a constant sufferer from uterine disease for five years," writes J. A. Steorts, of Yankee Dam, Clay Co., West Virginia, "and for six months previous to taking your medicine I was not out of my room. Could not walk or stand, as there was such pain and drawing in left side and bearing down weight in region of uterus, accompanied with soreness. I suffered constantly with headache, pain in back, shoulders, arms and chest, had palpitation, nervous prostration, constipation, dizziness, ringing in ears; could not sleep, and breathing was so difficult at times I could not lie down. Words fail to describe my sufferings when I wrote to you for advice. In a short time I received a kind letter from you telling me I would be greatly benefited, if not entirely cured, by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. When I had taken one bottle of the Prescription, together with Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets and the local treatment which you advised, I could walk (with the support of a cane), the drawing and pain in side and bearing down weight were not so bad, and when I had taken three bottles of the medicine the periods were regulated. I was not so nervous, could sleep well, and the pain in side and bearing down had vanished. I have taken six bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' two of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and four vials of 'Pellets,' and my health is better at this time than it has been in five years.

"With grateful thanks for your kind advice, and with best wishes."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a most effective laxative for women. They cure biliousness and sick headache.

Will You Help a Sick Friend?

Get My Book for Him Now.

Which Shall I Send? Book 1 on Dyspepsia / Book 2 on the Heart / Book 3 on the Kidneys / Book 4 for Women / Book 5 for Men (sealed) / Book 6 on Rheumatism

You certainly know of someone who is sick—some sufferer who will be grateful for the help my book offers.

And that book tells of a way to help. Tells of a way so certain that I, as a physician, offer that help on trial. The book tells how, for thirty years in hospitals and at bedsides I searched for a way to cure deep-seated and difficult diseases. It tells how I perfected my prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. How by scientific experiment I traced out the causes that bring on chronic diseases.

I found invariably that where there was a weakness the inside nerves were weak. Where there was a lack of vitality that the vital nerves lacked power. Where weak organs were found, I always found weak nerves. Not the nerves commonly thought of, but the vital organs' nerves, the inside—the invisible nerves.

This was a revelation. Then my real success began.

Then I combined ingredients that would strengthen, that would vitalize these nerves. That prescription I called a restorative. It is known the world over now as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. After that I did not fail to cure one case in each hundred. In the extremely difficult cases my failures for five years were one in each forty treated. I found cancer incurable. Cancer is for surgery, not medicine.

Then how to get this prescription to sick ones everywhere was my thought. I must announce it in the public press. But, thought I, will they realize the truth of my discovery—the real power of Dr. Shoop's Restorative? Then a way came to me—like an inspiration. "I will offer it to the sick on trial. Then they will know I am sincere."

I wrote a reliable druggist in each city and village in America. They agreed to co-operate with me.

Now by any sick one

DR. SHOOP'S RESTORATIVE

can be taken on trial. For a full month I will let you use it entirely at my risk.

Send me no money. Just write me for the book you need. When I send it I will tell you of a druggist near by who will permit the month's trial. Use the Restorative a month—then decide. If you say to the druggist, "It did not help me," that will relieve you of any expense whatever. He will bill the cost. This is my way of clearing your mind of all doubts as to what Dr. Shoop's Restorative can do. No matter how prejudiced, you cannot dispute this absolute security I offer. You cannot resist an offer like this if you are at all sick.

If you have a weakness, write me. If you can't do things like you used to do them, tell me about it.

Write in confidence. As a physician I will tell you a way to help. Get my book now—to-day.

DEATH OF PROF. CHAPMAN.

Former Member of Toronto University Staff Dies in England.

News was received in Toronto the other day of the death in England of Prof. Chapman, for so many years on the staff of the University of Toronto, and who, after retiring from the active work of teaching and inheriting a property in England, went several years ago to reside there. The late E. J. Chapman, Ph. D., LL.D., whose death occurred at The Pines, Hampton Wick, England, on January 28th, was well known among the higher educationists of Canada, and particularly of Toronto. Following a military career for some time, he served in the Foreign Legion of the French army in the Algerian campaign, and his service as an officer on the Geological Surveys of Austria and Germany led him into his chosen profession, for in 1853 he received the appointment to the chair of Mineralogy and Geology at the University of Toronto, a post which he ably filled until the year 1896. Several distinguished men received their appointment to the professoriate of Toronto University at the same time, among them being the late Sir Daniel Wilson, Prof. Orneri, Prof. Hincks, and Prof. Cherriman. Although an octogenarian, the late Prof. Chapman retained mental and bodily vigor to the last. Shortly before his death he was engaged in issuing a book which he had just seen through the press. He was the author of a large number of papers containing the results of original observations in his own field of work. Amongst his books were textbooks on Canadian Minerals and a textbook on Blow-Pipe Work, another being on the Geology of Ontario. The original papers are scattered among various societies and publications of England, Canada and the United States. He was a fellow of the Royal Society of Canada, and received the degree of Ph. D. from Munich. Prof. Chapman was twice married, and his widow, who survives him, was a Miss Sutherland, an artist well known in Toronto. His son by his first wife died several years ago. He leaves no relatives in Canada.

Goldwin Smith and Journalism.

To his interesting article on the Treaty-making Power in the new number of The Canadian Magazine, Mr. Goldwin Smith appends a little autobiographical note: "I may say that I never was a member of the political Association of 'Canada First,' nor had I anything to do with the founding of The Nation. I was in England at the time, though on my return I was persuaded to contribute. I also contributed a few articles to The Liberal. The attacks made upon me in The Globe gave me an artificial prominence, but it was well understood at the time that they were really directed against Mr. Blake, whom the Browns feared to attack directly. It is untrue, also, that I have ever sought or desired to enter public life in Canada. I had declined it in my native country, and have again more than once declined it since I settled here."

Eating at Night.

Every living bird and beast strives its utmost to cram itself with food before retiring for the night, and this food is digested as the night progresses. The evening feed is the feed of the day with the brute creation, and yet doctors tell us to refrain from eating heartily at night, and even advise us to retire to rest with a more or less empty stomach. Are we following nature when following this advice?—Country Gentleman.

SUICIDE FIGURES.

Soldiers, Hotelkeepers, Doctors and Druggists Head the List—Drowning and Hanging Most Used Method.

Soldiers, hotelkeepers, doctors and druggists—in that order—furnish the largest proportion of suicides. Drowning and hanging are the most common methods, and in May, June and July the tables show the cases are most numerous. These statements were part of a lecture on "Suicide" delivered by Prof. J. G. Hume of the University of Toronto, at the Canadian Institute on a recent Saturday evening.

From statistics on the subject Prof. Hume pointed out that (1) although the numbers of insane of the two sexes are approximately equal, suicides among men are much more numerous. (2) There are many child suicides. (3) While the record of crime is greatest in middle life, suicides are, in the case of men, more numerous in later life. With women, however, the percentage is largest in early life. (4) Men are influenced chiefly by domestic troubles, business failures and crimes and vices, such as drunkenness and gambling. (5) Women by domestic infelicities and to a slighter extent by drunkenness. (6) Children by fear of punishment. (7) Cases of suicide among criminals and accused persons commonly occur with first offenders and for minor classes of crime, where the feeling of shame exists in as yet undiminished force. (8) Unmarried persons are more prone to suicide than the married, family ties acting as a powerful deterient.
